ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDING

Notes from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold E. Kohn

Living with Limitations

What a queer world this would become if suddenly the limitations of size and time were removed from everything. Then ants would grow larger than cows, and violets and wild strawberries would tower higher than houses. I've thought of this while reflecting upon the vast variety of living things that live and grow at our woodland retreat. Most living things are about the same size, well-nigh microscopic at the time of their conception. But how different they are upon reaching maturity!

Although the germ-cell that initiates a fox squirrel's life is almost identically the size of the cell from which a whitetail deer develops, no mature squirrel at Hidden Brook or in North America of in the entire world ever attains the size of our Michigan deer. Why?

The seedlings of giant Pacific Coast sequoia trees were once no larger than our infant spruces now growing on the brook bank, but no Hidden Brook spruce will ever reach the 300-foot height nor the thirty-foot diameter nor the 4,000 years of age of one giant redwood in the Calaveras Grove of California. Why?

Living things of every kind seem to have built-in limitations. Some times it is a limitation of size, a physiological optimum, so that no mouse, no matter how healthy or well-fed, ever achieves the enormous proportions of an elephant. In other cases the limitations is a kind of life-tether, a time boundary, beyond which the creature cannot reach. Thus a well-fed brook trout will continue to grow as long as it lives, but it is an exceedingly rare trout that reaches the age of fifteen years.

Man, too, is a limited creature. Nature sets boundaries to what he can be and do. Man cannot greatly alter his height. A man eight feet tall is a freak, and a man of fifteen foot stature has never been known. Modern medicine has extended our life expectancy, but it is still limited and always will be. Many a tortoise (perhaps the longest lived animal) lives to be more than a hundred and fifty years of age, but seldom does a human being, and no man has achieved the age of an ancient cypress tree, The Big Tree of Tuile, near Mexico City. Biologists estimate the age to be over five thousand years.

One of life's most important discoveries is that of finding our possibilities, what we can do with ourselves and with the opporunities for good that are presented to us. (I have dealt with this vital matter in another article published some months ago.) Another significant insight all of us need is the revelation of our limitations. Said the Chinese philosopher, Lin Yutang, "Sometimes one can do."

When we have limitations and act as if we have none, we are like a person with fifty dollars in savings who spends like a lavish millionaire. We are soon bankrupt. The social climber who tries to be all things to all people so as to please them and gain favor with them is headed for insolvency of character. She can be but one person and still maintain integrity. When she ignores that limitation her character is ruined. She loses her real self amidst the pretensions.

Basically, I suppose, much of the sin of ignoring our limitations is founded upon the folly of playing God. We behave as if we were the Infinite, Almighty, all-Knowing.

Some play God by trying to reform the chaotic world as if the Creator, upon viewing His mismanaged universe, had in shame abdicated His throne, and they were appointed to succeed Him and remedy the botched-up job. With smug, critical, and confident mein they start with human beings God blundered in making. They are nosy, attempting to pry into all their neighbor's affairs and making snap judgments about the morals and motives of others, as if they were God and could see all, know all, and stand in lofty judgement upon all human activity. They are the neighborhood busy-bodies, the holier-than-thou critics. Godness knows there is enough evil in the world that needs righting, and everyone should assist in combatting it. But these people who play God seldom will assume responsibility without paying the price of being redemptive and helping to change people and alter circumstances.

Others play God by assuming too much responsibility—unlimited responsibility—for the conditions of the world and everyone in it. They seem unable to see where their accountabilities end. They continue to treat their children as infants long after the youngsters should be responsible for themselves. They are the doting mothers and dads

Brownie Scouts Entertain Parents To Conclude Five Day Camp Event

Five days of Brownie Day camp were concluded Friday with a program for parents at the camp site, the Charlevoix Rod and Gun club, early Friday evening.

Dressed in the pirate garb they had fashioned, the 64 Brownies entertained their parents and friends at the brief program before camp broke up at 7 p. m. Friday. The program ended five days jam-packed with fun for the younger members of the local Scouting program.

Following the pirate theme, the Brownies made skull and crossbones flags, eye patches, hats and swords on opening day. Each following day featured a special program and though rain made it necessary to curtail some plans it did not dampen the spirits of the young campers.

Wednesday was Hobo day with Judy Cellner, Kathy Elenne, Paulette Hansen, Ginger Russell, Sue Cooper and Sandy Sundberg winning the prizes for their respective troops.

Janet Krulik was camp director and was in charge of an interesting program of nature study during which the girls studied living habits of native animals by gathering different things that they used in their way of life. They also had a lesson on rocks. Mrs. James Hiller had a fairy stone and told them the legend of his stone. They also made terrariums. Square dancing was enjoyed every day.

Mrs. Byron Wright was camp craft consultant. Besides making the pirate accessories, she supervised the older troops in the making of marionettes; the middle group, treasure chests and the younger troops, colored macaroni beads.

Another special feature enjoyed by the girls was a daily story hour conducted by Mrs. William Ratigan assisted by her daughter, Anne.

Mrs. Floyd Brown was camp nurse and was on hand every day to care for any emergencies. Mrs. E. D. Hawley was in charge of music and daily conducted song-fests. Mrs. Glenn Snider and Mrs. Keith Bruhl took care of the small children of leaders. Mrs. Joseph R. Williams was camp visitor.

Troop leaders and their assistants follow: Troop 13, Mrs. Robert Pearl and Mrs. Robert McCall; Troop 3, Mrs. Russell Dohm and Mrs. Paul Burkhardt; Troop 4, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Ivan Phillips; Troop 2, Mrs. Jack Radner and Mrs. Gordon Freedman; Troop 15, Mrs. Gerald Lakies, Mrs. Hiller and Mrs. Frank Nov-who make interfering, meddling parents-in-law because they insist upon managing a daughter's or son's home life after the child is married. They tell their grown children what kind of a house to buy. They try to direct their investments. They boss the grand-children. Spreading their misdirected and exaggerated feelings of responsibility still further, they join too many committees, attend too many benefit luncheons, get elected to positions in too many societies and clubs, and then they are not content to be a cooperating part of the organization. They must direct it. Their plan of action is the only one that can be adopted or certain disaster will confront the group. Such people are playing God, assuming the direction of the virtually the whole universe. And since the universe is not built upon their wishes and will not be governed by their whims, they are constantly upset, irritated, and disappointed. Because they have faith in none other than their own designs and plans, they are constantly anxious and worried since the universe is run on a scheme concerning which they were never consulted.

Whenever we squander our time as if it were unlimited, we are playing the part of the Eternal.

Whenever we are bigoted in our opinions or maliciously assume that we know all a person's motives and intentions and therefore have a right to judge him lightly, we are playing the part of the Omnipotent.

Whenever we try to bring everyone under our control and assume direction of all the activities in which we are engaged with others, and whenever we worry, fret, and fume about a multiplicity of events that stretch from our doorstep to Timbuctoo as if the universe would go to smash if we were not constantly awake and at the helm, we are opportunists who know what playing the part of the Omnipotent.

The World's real servants are people with a balanced insight knowing what they cannot do. But just as important, they have a peace-bestowing humility. And what they cannot do they leave in the capable hands of One who can.

only. Others who assisted on a part-time basis were Mrs. Delbert Terrill, Mrs. Richard Edwards, and Mrs. Franklin Cellner.

Troop 3 and 13 had a special 'fly-up' ceremony Friday with each of the girls receiving her wings and Girl Scout pin.

Mrs. Pearl, Camp chairman, and the Girl Scout Council would like to express its gratitude to the Rod and Gun club for the use of the clubhouse and facilities, the clean-up crew headed by Mrs. Lakies who cleaned the clubhouse, Robert Cook and his students who cut out wood marionettes, and all others who joined in making the camp a success.

Robert Fulton, inventor of the steamboat, was an avid submarine enthusiast. He built several submersible warships, one of which was known as the Nautilus.

KNOW A JUNE BRIDE?

Who doesn't! The question is—what about a gift? Well, one of the most practical and stylish gifts is an extension phone in color! Additional phones make life so much easier, and they're appreciated all year long. As gifts, they're not likely to be duplicated by others. An extension phone costs only about a dollar a month, plus one-time charge for installation and color. The charges can appear on your regular telephone bill. Choose from eight smart decorator colors.

HOW OFTEN do you use a public phone? If you're like a lot of people, you're using them more and more. Especially since they're getting so convenient. Wherever you go, you're likely to find a public phone—inside drugstores and restaurants, and outside for people on-the-go. Outdoor phone booths are lighted at night and open 24 hours every day in the year. It's a natural thing, when you're out, to use a public telephone—your "phone-away-from-home."

PLAN YOUR VACATION

TRIP by Long Distance—the fastest, surest way to get information on resorts and travel facilities all over the country. Make your reservations by Long Distance, too—no mistake about dates or rates. Then you can call Long Distance anywhere along the way and have the calls billed to you at home. Phone our telephone business office and ask about a credit card.

Warm Weather
Increases Cases
Of Food Poison

Cases of food poisoning as an aftermath of picnics or community meals are reported more often in the warm weather season, says Mrs. Clare Brown, Charlevoix county home demonstration agent. She states the mistaken belief that once food is cooked it will keep for hours, even in a warm place, seems to be responsible for many of these outbreaks. A safe rule to follow when cooked foods must be kept is: Keep it chilled or keep it very hot but never at a warm-in-between temperature. Foods which cause food poisoning often show no signs of spoilage, so you cannot rely on taste, odor or appearance.

The soft protein foods, particularly those handled in preparation, are especially subject to rapid and dangerous spoilage in a warm place. These include soft custards, cream-filled pastries or cakes, cooked salad dressing, stuffed eggs or egg salads, and all cooked meats, poultry, and fish. These foods cannot wait in picnic baskets or out on the table.

To keep a kettle, roaster or casserole of food hot for a short time such as from home to the picnic, wrap it in several thicknesses of paper with overlapping edges. Tie it in a towel, poke fashion, for ease in carrying. If the picnic is delayed, unwrap the food and keep it very hot by the fire or uncover it and cool it.

If the food can't be kept hot, get it ready soon enough that it is thoroughly chilled before you wrap it. To do this, set in cold water, the cellar, or the refrigerator.

Justice Court News

Justice John Connolly has reported the following cases which appeared in his court during the past week:

Ralph James Pollitt, 24, of East Jordan, charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, was fined $50, ordered to pay $5.00 costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail. If fine and cost are not paid, he will be required to spend an additional 50 days in jail. Summons issued by the sheriff's department.

Martin Bule, 31, of Grand Rapids, charged with operating a car without a valid license, was fined $5.00 and ordered to renew his license. Summons issued by the State Police.

Bernard Cross, 43, of Pontiac, charged with being drunk and disorderly was fined $10 and ordered to pay $5.00 costs. Summons issued by city police.

George D. Burek, 21, of Pasadena, Calif., charged with reckless driving was fined $25, and ordered to pay $5.00 costs, summons issued by city police.

Gene J. Slomkowski, 25, of Saginaw, charged with passing without due caution, was fined $5.00 and ordered to pay $5.00 costs. Summons issued by State Police.

Clair Gibelony, 19, charged with making excessive noise with a motor vehicle, was fined $5.00 and ordered to pay $5.00 costs. Summons issued by city police.

William T. Murray, 18, held on a morals charge, waived examination in justice court was bound over to circuit court. Bond was set at $10,000 and he was taken to the county jail when he failed to furnish it. Summons issued by State Police.

Examination of Bradley N. Stanton, 28, held on a morals charge, was postponed until such time as a court reporter will be available. The examination was previously scheduled for June 14.

The mink is merely a large weasel of somewhat specialized habits. He has a more robust build, is darker in color and semi-aquatic in habit.

YOU GET MORE QUALITY AND VALUE AT IGA BRANDS BARGAIN STAMPEDE

Hi Neighbor! IGA Food Stores sell for less because of many basic reasons. One of the most important reasons is that your IGA store owner sets his own price. He knows the people of his community, he is in a better position to cut his prices to meet with or may not understand the problems of your particular community. Conditions in your community may be different from those in another town or even a few miles away. The man on the scene can better position to understand these problems than a man many miles away, who sets the price for IGA companies. Better understanding not only brings you better prices, but courtesy and gratitude that can only come from a man who owns his own business.

See actual road-test proof! DODGE outpulls "other two" low-priced trucks!

Here's the scientific way to measure the actual pulling power a truck can deliver to its rear wheels. All three low-priced trucks were hooked up, one by one, to a special dynamometer truck. Each was comparably equipped and test-loaded.

Super-sensitive gauges inside the dynamometer truck register the maximum pull of each truck at 10 m.p.h. Insets in photos above show actual gauge readings in each case. To convert these readings into pounds, simply multiply them by three.

The results are conclusive evidence that Dodge Power Giants give you a third more pulling power than either of the "other two" low-priced makes. And this is just one of a series of tests that prove Dodge is the best truck of the low-priced three.

● Your Dodge truck dealer has proof that Dodge leads in many ways. Come in . . . see other certified test-photo sequences . . . and take a demonstration ride!

Caring for the newborn — year 1883

This 1883 engraving from the Bettmann Archive shows a 19th century incubator. Heated by warm water, it was used in caring for premature babies. This is a far cry from the scientifically controlled nursery of the modern Blue Cross participating hospital of today!

...thank goodness times have changed!

The 19th century incubator was considered quite remarkable in its time. Even so, early attempts to provide special care for fragile young lives were crude.

Of every 1,000 babies born in those days, more than 150 died . . . infant deaths today have dropped to 25 per 1,000.

Modern hospitals are equipped with incubators that supply life-saving oxygen as it is needed . . . automatically regulate temperatures to assure proper warmth . . . and even sterilize the air.

Precision equipment . . . skilled hands . . . tested drugs . . . all these are costly and they mean higher hospital bills than ever before.

But isn't the cost of living worth it?

And isn't it comforting to know that as a member of Michigan Blue Cross you and your loved ones will have necessarily higher basic hospital costs like these paid for . . . automatically . . . whenever hospital care is needed? And with the companion plan, Michigan Blue Shield, you have help in paying for the finest doctor care in the world today.

"Don't Fence Me In"

Wildlife youngsters, like this fawn, present a temptation at this time of year for well-meaning persons who wish to capture wild animals and keep them as pets. However, that "helpless" wildlife baby will grow up rapidly and, if kept in captivity, can become both troublesome and dangerous. Best advice is: "Leave wildlife youngsters alone."

County Agent Offers Ideas For State Water Right Law

Charlevoix county is blessed with plenty of water. It contains many lakes and streams that supply good fresh water for the people in the county. Charlevoix county is located on the shore of Lake Michigan and lake boats are able to enter Lake Charlevoix and reach parts of Boyne City and East Jordan. In spite of this abundance of water, many people are going to great expense to obtain more water. Farmers are spending several thousands of dollars to set up irrigation systems. Small industries spend much money to obtain water and to dispose of plant wastes. Also the city owners want to water his lawn during the drought season. Several of them are even drilling their own wells to be assured of water for irrigating their lawns.

At the present time there is much discussion about a water law for the State of Michigan. Michigan is now operating on a reasonable use basis. Many individuals, communities and companies have gone to great expense to obtain water. The 14th Amendment of the constitution of the United States protects this right of private property that these people have obtained over the years. If this private property is taken away just compensation must be made.

In setting up a water law the three major uses of water, recreation, industry and agriculture, must be recognized. The law must be so managed that it is simple and direct. It should be placed into an agency operating at the present time rather than creating a new agency. Conservation of water should be one of the main aims of this program.

The present rights of the people regarding the uses of water must be protected. This is guaranteed by the constitution. Compensation must be made for those rights taken away. Machinery must be set up to study the situation and protect those rights.

It might be better to operate a water law on a district basis comprised mainly of one watershed. Local water districts could be established in Michigan under present laws. Finally, any legislation for a water law must also be declared constitutional.

Need Funds For School Library

At a meeting of the library committee held at Banks school Monday night the needs of the library were discussed and plans laid to earn money to supplement the funds which are now available and which are desperately inadequate.

Miss Golda Sherer, school librarian, is chairman of this committee.

In a recent inspection of the school in relation to its qualifications for accredited standing, it was revealed that one of the greatest needs was a more adequate library in the junior and senior high school.

Letters are being sent to parents in the school district explaining the needs. Contributions containers are being placed in Atwood and Ellsworth for the convenience of those who wish to help.

Should these sources prove inadequate other means will be planned to raise funds.

Schools Ask Voters To Approve 3 Mills At Annual Election

When the voters of the Charlevoix school district go to the polls July 8 to cast their ballots in the annual school election they will be asked to vote on a millage issue which would give the school district three mills to be used to pay off a deficit of $30,000.

This deficit developed from two sources including an old deficit of $15,000 which has been forming for a period of years and a deficit of $14,530 on the 1957-58 budget, according to a report compiled by the Charlevoix board of education.

The first deficit of $15,000 resulted from the capital outlay for the present heating plant that was voted at the annual meeting in 1954; an increased enrollment each year requiring additional text books, furniture, equipment and supplies; the continuous increase in the cost of oil materials and the increase in teacher's salaries.

The second deficit, that of $14,530 on the 1957-58 budget, developed when the schools did not receive an increase in state aid and county millage to meet the increased costs of materials and teacher's salaries.

This year the school district will receive approximately the same state aid as in the past and the same county millage, that is, seven mills. This is not enough to balance a budget which mounted annually despite the fact that there has been no monies for new equipment and other needs.

Here are only a few of the reasons why the school's income is not sufficient to meet the growing needs of the school.

The year 1957-58 faces continuous increase in enrollment. The enrollment has increased from 770 in 1953 to 860 in 1957. The census has jumped from 906 in 1953 to 1,134 this year which shows that there will be a continued increase in membership.

The library budget has been drastically curtailed to a point that any further curtailment will jeopardize the approval of the University of Michigan and the North Central Association of Secondary Schools.

The science laboratory must have additional equipment and supplies to offer a minimum program; the shop department must have a maintenance increase plus an increase in supplies if it is to continue as it is; the commercial department needs four new typewriters as replacements for older machines and the homemaking department has had no increase in equipment for several years.

Text book requirements are increased steadily with the increased enrollment. Added to this, the cost of textbooks has nearly doubled. There is also the need for a limited number of replacements.

Automation Means Change

Automation in the home, on the farm, and in industry adds millions of leisure hours to American life each year.

The trend toward a shorter work week is moving at such a pace that economists and representatives of business and labor anticipate a four day work week in the near future.

Every time the working hours of an individual is reduced, that individual becomes a potential customer for new goods and services. Consumer buying may be expected to increase and drastically change as the work-week becomes shorter. There will be a bigger market for sports clothing, garden tools, fishing and hunting equipment, picnic and camp supplies, prepared foods, record players, books, transportation commodities, and thousands of other goods and services—many not yet developed.

Advertising must play an important role in guiding the new and changing leisure-time market. The consumer buying recreational commodities for which he has had no previous use does not move blindly in the strange market. He becomes an avid reader of advertising. From advertising he obtains counsel on how to spend his time and his money.

Here is a rare chance for the alert merchant to develop new, and permanent clients. Retail advertising becomes a real service to the new shopper for recreation.

The prospective fisherman or gardener must move carefully. He seeks market information in a medium that can be trusted and studied—a medium that can give him comparative details which may be reviewed at leisure. The local newspaper is the only advertising medium which fully satisfies these requirements.

Notice to Seat Cutters

Cutting or otherwise destroying theater seats is a serious offense subject to a maximum penalty of $100.00 FINE plus 90 DAYS IN JAIL.

During the first two nights last week, five seats were mutilated. This wanton destruction is entirely senseless and necessary steps are being taken to protect my large investment.

Desiring to be fair, I am issuing this warning and requesting patrons to cooperate by not destroying my property.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

Did you ever see anything as red as those . . . the doors on our fire station . . . Got the jolt of a lifetime when we passed there recently . . . just can't get next to that color . . . in that setting. We understand, however, that there's a reason for the new paint job . . . It's to tell people that it's the site of the fire hall and that they are not to park opposite them . . . in case the fire truck has to tear out of the place on the double.

Now we're hearing about . . . the trip the Charlevoix high school band made to Mackinac Island for the Lilac Festival . . . Seems there were more than a thousand delegates from around the world at the MIRA meeting at the organization's beautiful headquarters there . . . And when we say 'around the world' that's what we mean . . . They were there from Australia, India, and several places in Africa to name a few . . . Many had never seen a marching band such as ours so it was quite a treat for them . . . Many of these same people wearing their native costumes, participated in the parade . . . In addition, the weather was ideal and everyone had a grand time . . .

Cheep . . . cheep was the sound heard the other day when we were in the postoffice . . . and, sure enough there were boxes of the cutest little yellow fluffy baby chicks . . . always so much fun to watch.

In the event you're interested, Christmas is less than six months away . . . in fact, just six months from last Tuesday . . . So don't say you weren't reminded.

But with the weather we've been having who can think of anything but how to keep cool in late September . . . by the calendar, that it . . . Let's hope that what he predicts is true . . . We could use a good summer in Charlevoix.

And summer's really here . . . camps, hotels, motels, restaurants and other resort operators . . . Everyone poised for a good season . . . The people who operate these varied resort places and camps are people you know and like . . . but you sort of forget, from year to year, how very nice they are, how much they're interested in their respective businesses and the people they serve . . . Another thing that struck me was the kind words they had for others in the resort business . . . which makes for good relationships and therefore for a better community . . . So lots of good days this summer . . . we'll see you in the fall.

Our very best wishes to our oldest couple . . . Mr. and Mrs. George Meggison who will observe their sixty-fourth wedding anniversary next Wednesday . . . Can you imagine that . . . 64 years together . . . And we're sure they've been happy years.

We're looking for a picture . . . a picture of the old Mormon Print shop on Beaver Island as it once was . . . We hope later this year to do a picture story on it and the Emerald Isle so if you have a picture of the old shop as it was 100 or even 75 or 50 years ago may we borrow it long enough to have one made from it . . . please?

Everyone was really happy last week when the theater reopened for the summer . . . It was great fun seeing some good pictures . . . over the weekend . . . and making plans to attend other good movies that have been scheduled . . .

BABY TALK

Births recorded recently at the Charlevoix hospital include:

A son, Mark Lee, born to Mr. and Mrs. William Shaw of East Jordan, June 19.

A daughter, Dianna Maxine, born to Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Reibel of Ellsworth, June 20.

A son born to Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Blecken of Boyne City, June 22.

A daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Goss, June 22.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace of Lansing announce the birth of a daughter, Kristin Mary, on June 21.

deduced . . . We said everyone was happy but we will have to make one exception . . . The management was most unhappy and when we tell you why we're sure you will understand . . . On the first two nights five . . . we repeat . . . five seats were slashed with knives . . . we don't mean nicked we mean what we said . . . slashed to a point where the covering has to be replaced . . . One of the five also had a hole the size of a 50 cent piece bored through the covering . . . We'd like to know why people—and it's believed to be teenagers—feel that a ticket to the theater entitles them to destroy other people's property . . . What must the homes of these people look like if they practice such things there . . . In our book such people come under the heading of "hoods", a word we dislike but descriptive of such people.

Never went much for art . . . just something we never cared for . . . But we sure fell for it in a big way Saturday when we visited the Left Bank at the Weatherlane which is scheduled to open this weekend . . . There were many lovely pieces there . . . some pastels we loved . . . some others done in the more vibrant shades and we enjoyed seeing all of them until we came to one which, for lack of a better name, could be called "Girl with a white cat" . . . and now we couldn't tell you about anything else . . . It's lovely . . . and when you see it Saturday you'll agree . . . It's done by a Michigan artist named Pucci and if someday, he isn't among the great ones of our day it will only be because no one else saw this one painting . . . the only one that's ever made us feel that perhaps there's something to this thing called art.

Adjustable Coping Saw Is Patented By Frank Oleksy

Frank M. Oleksy, former manual arts instructor and well known local building contractor, has been granted a patent for an adjustable coping saw.

The patent was awarded by the U. S. Patent office on June 11.

The invention relates to new and useful improvements in coping saws and had for its primary object to provide a saw which will readily accommodate blades of various lengths and types.

Other objects of the invention are to provide an adjustable coping saw which will be comparatively simple in construction, strong, durable, compact, of light weight and which may be manufactured at a low cost.

In answer to the question of how he happened to develop improvements on a type of saw which had been in use for so long, Mr. Oleksy said that a coping saw is a 'must' in carpenter work. However, since the type of blade needed depended on the kind of wood and type of work, it was necessary for a workman to have a number of different sized frames and blades. "It seemed so unnecessary," he continued, "so I worked on the existing type of saw until I had what I wanted in an adjustable saw which will handle the usual run of blades."

Albert Russell Named Commander Of Legion Post

Albert Russell has been elected commander of the Leslie T. Shapton post, American Legion, to succeed Clifton Sundberg who served in the office for the past year.

Other new officers are senior vice commander, Harry A. Stewart; junior vice commander, E. J. Edwards; adjutant, Fred V. Tyler; finance officer, Kenneth W. Cellner; historian, Ted S. Kibbe; chaplain, Charles J. Pontus; sergeant-at-arms, Clifton Sundberg and post service officer, Kenneth B. Forbes.

Members of the executive committee are George Hallam, Harrison Trimble, Simon B. Carey, James R. Earl and Charles A. Hamlin.

School Asks Voters For Three Mills

each year and the demands in both in the elementary and high schools are very pressing. The replacement cost for high school books alone is approximately $200.

Maintenance costs have risen and there is need for new equipment including a scrubbing machine and other time-saving equipment and other necessary repairs, though minor, are high on an old building.

Capital outlay has been kept at a minimum. Among the needs are the following which the school board has been unable to meet because of lack of funds: bleachers in the gymnasium replacing old ones now approaching the point of questionable safety; new furniture replacements of at least two rooms per year; sound equipment for the auditorium and lockers sufficient for each student to keep his belongings.

The board of education has recommended that an additional three mills, or $3.00 per thousand, be approved for a period of one year to continue the present program. This increase would place Charlevoix schools with the average school district in Michigan in taxes for school purposes.

In asking the support of the millage issue, the school board spokesman said that the community is judged as much by its schools as any other factor, and youth deserve the same preparation as any other youth and industry requires training for the people who become a part of it.

ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDING

Notes from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold E. Kohn

What Can We Afford?

Looking from my study window across the bay I see Charlevoix lying there on yonder shore, a town of nearly three thousand people of all ages, of various colorings, of many heights and girths, of all manner of shades of thinking and faiths. They live in homes that range from hovels to mansions and they are of a wide range of economic status.

In some yards the passerby can see shabby little rowboats, recently purchased second-hand and now being sanded and readied for painting by the proud owners. Those boats aren't much, but they are the best the owners can afford, and when used for trolling for bass or fishing for perch, they may be enjoyed as the biggest, fanciest yacht. At the city docks yachts are beginning to assemble, some small ones with sleeping space for two. Others are nearly liner size with accommodations for a sizeable crew and many guests.

But whether the vessel is a two-place rowboat or a magnificent sea-worthy ship, the enjoyment of the lake this summer will depend not upon the size or cost of the craft but upon the inner appreciations of the people who own and handle them. The poorest owner of the smallest boat on the lake and the richest proprietor of the most splendid ship in the harbor are alike in this: they can both afford the best that the lake region has to offer. The best is within reach of everybody here. Anyone, regardless of the dimensions of his boat or the size of his bank account can absorb the wholesomeness and beauty spread around him in the Northland if he has developed the inner qualities of curiosity, wonder, reverence, worship, and a desire to merge himself with all the good that lies out there beyond himself.

That is not to say "the best things in life are free." They are not. Beauty is not free. Beauty is about ten per cent the loveliness of a view and ninety per cent appreciation in the viewer, and appreciation of beauty costs time and attention that we must withdraw from the busy whirl of activities that tend to absorb us. Knowledge is not free, hanging ripe from handy trees to be casually plucked by every passerby. It lies deep beneath surfaces. Knowledge is an ore that must be mined and smelted with tremendous expenditures of labor. Happiness is not free, but elusive

Eastport Baptist Church To Show Religious Film

The religious film, "Martyred Men" will be shown at the Eastport Baptist church at 8 p. m. Sunday evening.

The inspiration film features testimonials of the wife and father of one of the five missionaries slain in the jungles of Ecuador last year. It also includes official photographs of the Aca Indians. The picture of this triumph over tragedy in the jungles of South America is a 16 mm picture in color.

The public is invited to view this film at the church Sunday evening.

More than two dozen glaciers cling to Mt. Rainier, in Washington state, says the National Geographic Society. Their 40 square mile expanse constitutes the largest single peak glacier system in the United States.

free, are within our reach. We all can afford them. We have the wherewithal to buy them if we are willing to pay the price in time, in concentration and appreciation, in digging beneath surfaces, and in sacrifice and struggle.

Then, again, there are some things too expensive for any of us, the poorest and wealthiest alike. When I hear people complaining of the things they cannot afford, I wonder why they don't include the things that cost the most: envy, haughtiness and self-protective pride, and malice.

One of life's greatest tragedies is that so many people are spiritually bankrupt, harboring feelings that no one can afford, and one of earth's chief glories is that we all can have the best things in life if we are willing to pay the price.

54th Anniversary Celebrated with Family Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Feiereisel celebrated their fifty-fourth wedding anniversary with a family dinner at their home.

Joining the couple in the observance of the event were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Left, their grand-

Mr. and Mrs. Feiereisel lived in Chicago until several years ago when they came here to make their home.

Nearly 2,000 species of shrimp exist, the National Geographic Magazine says. The young pass through 10 larval stages. Most adults apparently spawn only once and have a life span of one year.

Our sad-faced friend is Bill McGoo,
Who thought he'd bought a car brand-new;
And while he got a "special deal"
His disappointment he can't conceal
While others drive in Swept-Wing style
Poor Bill just mutters curses vile:
"They got new styling, features, too—
"I bought a 'deal'—boo-hoo, boo-hoo!"

are no bargain at any price!

No car is a bargain if it's obsolete in styling and engineering features. And the Swept-Wing Dodge actually obsoletes other cars in its field with its low, low look of tomorrow and revolutionary advances like Torsion-Aire Ride, Push-Button TorqueFlite and Total-Contact Brakes. So don't get "bargain-talked" into yesterday's styling and features. The same money buys the car that's years ahead. See your Dodge dealer. Join the swing to the Swept-Wing Dodge.

Blood transfusion — an 1874 experiment

This 1874 engraving from the Bettman Archive is an artist's conception of a 19th century blood transfusion. Compare this with the life-saving care you get in a modern Blue Cross participating hospital of today!

...thank goodness times have changed!

In 1874, a blood transfusion was little more than an experiment . . . a procedure doctors knew little about and seldom tried.

They didn't know that blood types differ. If a patient received his own blood type, it was by pure chance. Even then, the shock of the crude transfusion was often fatal.

Consider how far we've come in three generations.

Blood transfusions are a routine life-saving function in today's modern hospital . . . not a last minute gamble. Transfusions play a vital role in bringing about the recovery of countless accident victims . . . they make delicate new miracle operations possible . . . and send many a patient home happy and healthy because the right type of blood was on hand for immediate use.

The intricate laboratory equipment . . . the time and personnel it takes to type, process, and safeguard blood, however, are just a few reasons our hospital bills are higher today than ever before.

But isn't the cost of living worth it?

If you are a member of Michigan Blue Cross (and half the people in Michigan are) you don't have to worry about higher hospital bills. For Michigan Blue Cross—the non-profit hospital plan—pays the full cost of basic hospital services. And Michigan Blue Shield—the non-profit medical plan—helps pay for the finest doctor care in the world today.

Miss Karen Smith Married Saturday in Service at Christ Episcopal Church

Karen Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Smith of Charlevoix and Lake Worth, Fla., became the bride of James G. Lewis, son of Mrs. Ira Olney, in a ceremony solemnized in Christ Episcopal church Saturday afternoon.

The Rev. G. Donald Swinton, pastor of St. Francis Episcopal church in Orangeville, officiated at the single ring service in the presence of relatives and close friends. Arrangements of white gladioli and peonies and tall white candles decorated the altar for the occasion. Mrs. A. J. Stetter, at the organ, played a program of traditional music and the wedding marches.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a ballerina length gown of white imported French organdy for her wedding. It was designed with a fitted bodice, scoop neckline, short puffed sleeves and a bouffant skirt. Her short veil fell from a hat of lilies of the valley and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

Patricia Ratigan and Georgie Smith, sister of the bride, as bridesmaids wore gowns identical to the honor attendants', matching blue picture hats and bouquets of white daisies.

Thomas J. Fessenden assisted the bridegroom as best man and groomsmen were Gordon Mol and Ronald Barabino of Long Island, N. Y., Vane H. Smith, cousin of the bride, and William Mosier, sister of the bride.

Mrs. Smith chose an aqua sheath dress accented with white lace and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Olney, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy suit dress and white accessories. Each had a corsage of yellow carnations.

A reception followed at Hous-ton's at 313 Michigan ave. Petal pink geraniums and mock orange decorated the refreshment table which was centered with a tiered wedding cake. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. William Ratigan, Mrs. Herbert Campbell, Mrs. C. M. Bice and Mrs. Ivan Whitley.

After a wedding trip through northern Michigan, Ontario, Quebec and the New England states, the couple will reside in East Hartford, Conn. For traveling the bride chose a blue printed silk sheath dress, matching blue coat and white accessories.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lewis are graduates of the Charlevoix high school. The bride attended Western Michigan University. Mr. Lewis is a graduate of Michigan College of Mining and Technology where he was affiliated with Tau Beta Pi national honorary engineering society, Eta Kappa Nu, a national honorary electrical engineering fraternity and the student branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. William Ratigan and daughter, Patricia, entertained at a rehearsal dinner at their home.

Earlier in the week, Mrs. Herbert Campbell entertained the bride-elect at a miscellaneous shower. Mrs. H. E. Paddock and Mrs. Louis O'Neill.

Handicapped to Have Six Weeks Summer Program

Mr. and Mrs. George Meggison To Observe 64th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. George Meggison, pioneer residents and the community's oldest couple, will celebrate their sixty-fourth wedding anniversary Wednesday, July 3.

An informal open house will be held at their home at 215 Antrim st., Wednesday afternoon and evening in observance of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Meggison were married in Charlevoix on July 3, 1893, and with the exception of winters spent in Florida have always resided in the Charlevoix area.

For six years following their marriage, the couple lived in Charlevoix and Mr. Meggison worked as a carpenter. In 1899 they moved to Marion township where they continued to make their home until Mr. Meggison retired from farming in 1942 and they moved to their present home.

Mr. Meggison was widely known for his fine herd of Jersey cattle when he farmed and was recognized by Michigan State University as a Master Farmer. Both Mr. and Mrs. Meggison are charter members of the First Methodist church here and of the Marion township Grange. They are also members of the Farm Bureau and the Ancient Order of Gleaners.

Mr. Meggison, a native of Canada, came to Charlevoix county at the age of 18. He observed his nineteenth birthday anniversary on Dec. 26. Mrs. Meggison, the former Edith Phelps, was born at Norwood March 20, 1873, and at the age of eight years moved to Charlevoix with her family.

Mr. and Mrs. Meggison live alone at their Antrim st. home. Both continue to have a keen interest in people about them and in community affairs. They credit this plus a keen sense of humor for a happy married life.

The couple has one son, Clarence B. Meggison, representative from the Charlevoix district who resides here and three daughters, Mrs. L. E. (Florence) McGhan of Charlevoix, Mrs. Grant (Beryl) Mudge of Detroit and Mrs. Theodore (Linda) Gravelin of Barstow, Calif. They also have eight grandchildren and 17 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Glenna Banwell, a teacher in special education for orthopedics in Royal Oak, has been secured to make a survey and personal contacts for the summer school. She will also teach in the special school. Miss Banwell is a native of Emmet county and attended the Littlefield Public school at Alanson.

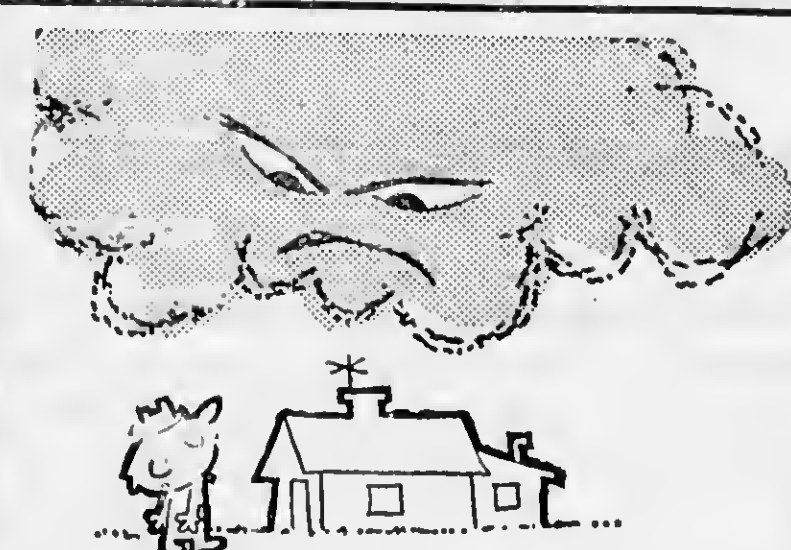

Further information regarding the program may be obtained from Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools.

Historical Print Shop on Beavers To Be Restored

A contribution to the Beaver Island Historical Society by the Beaver Island Civic Association has made it possible for the historical group to purchase the Mormon Print Shop, it has been announced.

The $500 donation by the civic organization will serve as a down payment on the purchase of the first daily newspaper north of Grand Rapids, the Northern Island, was once published. A mortgage contract for the remaining $2,000 will be payable within the next five years.

The print shop located in St. James where the newspaper was published by "King" James Jesse Strang, head of a Mormon colony, was about to be razed two years ago when A. J. Roy of Pontiac and Russell P. Hoffmann of Plymouth purchased the structure in order to save it.

The Historical Society plans to restore the building as a museum as soon as funds are available. A fund-raising project which will conclude Labor Day when an outboard motor and a radio will be awarded is now underway.

The generosity of the Beaver Island Civic Association in making the initial contribution for the purchase of the print shop is credited with making the Mormon Printing House Museum a reality. Now that it is owned by the Historical Society, it and other historical spots on the island will be restored so that vacationers and visitors to the historic island may learn more about the Mormon colony which flourished there in the early 1850's under the rule of the only king ever crowned within the borders of the United States.

Schools Ask Voters Grant 3 Mill Levy for Operations

The new addition to the Charlevoix hospital, a solarium for convalescent patients, is approximately 65 per cent complete. Fred Willis, president of the hospital board of directors, announced this week.

He added that the completion date is expected to be about August 1.

Work on the project which started early in June has been delayed by weather and materials.

Ernest Priebe and Son construction Co., of Petoskey, is building the addition which will cost approximately $22,000. It is being financed by a grant of $12,600 from the Ford Foundation and contributions by summer residents.

The addition is designed for use as a ward in the event of an emergency.

Charlevoix Area Extends Welcome to Summer Visitors

The summer resort season in Charlevoix will shift into high gear this weekend as hotels, motels, restaurants, cabins and rooming houses roll out the welcome mat for the anticipated visitors.

As the temperature reached the 80 degree mark Wednesday, resort operators hoped for a break in the weather this summer as they opened their doors for the 1957 resort season.

Hospital Plan Is Approved by Supervisors

The Charlevoix county board of supervisors, at a special meeting Monday night, approved plans for the new 60-bed addition at Grandview hospital near East Jordan and voted to advertise for bids for construction of the facility for the aged. Deadline for submitting bids has been set at 4 p. m. July 31.

The plans accepted by the board were made by the J. & G. Daverman Co., of Grand Rapids and were approved earlier by the hospital building committee. The project will be financed by a $500,000 bond issue approved last year by the voters of the county.

In other action, the board approved a resolution to apply to the Municipal Finance Commission for permission to borrow $32,691.70 against the anticipated revenue the county would receive in 1958 from the one-mill court-house sinking fund. The money will be used to complete the new county building now under construction here. Earlier the board was granted permission to borrow approximately $26,000 on this year's anticipated revenue from the one-mill levy.

Approval was also given the county road commission's request to place its employees under Social Security, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1956.

The employees earlier had voted to come under the plan.

By a vote of 12 to 10 with three members absent, the board turned down the county Welfare Commission's appointment of a welfare director to succeed the late Roy Gregory. Since his death on March 31, Mrs. John (Doris) Reynolds has served as acting director.

Another special meeting of the board has been tentatively scheduled for Aug. 5.

Establish Oneway Traffic on Dixon

Effective this week, Dixon ave., from Michigan ave. to Meech st., has been made a one-way street with traffic moving from west to east.

West bound traffic will be routed across Meech st., to Petoskey ave., and then westerly via Petoskey ave., to Michigan ave.

Signs have been placed along Dixon ave., in the six block area notifying the driving public that Dixon ave., is now a one-way street.

The ruling which will remain in effect until after Labor Day was made necessary because of the heavy traffic on the narrow street.

Entries Open For City Golf Tournament

Entries for the third annual city golf tournament for the Frank Poole award are now being accepted at the municipal golf course, Keith Carey, manager of the course, announced this week.

Deadline for entering the tournament has been set for 6 p. m. Friday, July 12. Play will begin July 13 with participants having one week in which to play the first round.

In announcing plans for the annual tournament, Mr. Carey said that 58 golfers entered the meet last year and it is hoped that the number will increase this season. Don Meggison is the defending champion.

The Frank Poole award was established by Mrs. Poole in memory of her late husband who, for many years, was manager of the municipal golf course here.

The winner's name is inscribed on the plaque which remains at the clubhouse and he receives a cup which is suitably inscribed.

A special holiday blind bogey has been scheduled at the course for the July 4th holiday weekend. All players are eligible to enter the daily event, Mr. Carey said.

Sixty players participated in the mixed two-ball foursome held at the course Sunday.

Using the Callaway system, participants played in three flights.

Winners in the meet were: first flight: Mrs. Al Bergmann and Perry Smith with a low gross score of 52. Tying for second place were the following twosomes: Mrs. Lyle Miles and Bob Livingston, Mrs. Jake White, Jr. and Lyle King, Mrs. William Supernaw and Jesse Penn and Ken Celler.

Winners in the second flight: Mrs. Perry Smith and Bill Baker with an actual low score of 55. Dick Edwards and Mrs. Rex Davis, using a handicap, came in with a net score of 32 to take second place.

Mrs. Don Meggison and Frank Ochs, with a score of 35, were third flight winners.

Mrs. William VanRaaphorst and Bob Withers won a special prize for having the highest score on the second hole.

An informal lunch at the clubhouse followed the meet.

Miller's Northern Guest House at 109 Petoskey ave., is open under the management of Mrs. Esther Miller of Flint.

Missing from the Michigan ave., scene this season are the beautiful Sunset Lodge operated for many years by the William T. Butterses which was destroyed by fire Oct. 6, 1956, and the Palmer House at 304 Michigan ave., whose owners, the C. A. Palmers, now live in St. Joseph, Michigan.

East Dixon ave., also features houses including Brock's at 103

Amateur Golf Tournament To Open Friday

The first of 200 entries in the 1957 Michigan Amateur Golf tournament will tee off at the Belvedere Golf course at 7 a. m. Thursday to open the four-day tourney which has been returned to Charlevoix for the first time since 1953.

The players having the low 63 scores in the qualifying round will join defending champion, Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile in the match play elimination that will start Friday.

Mr. Johnson has won the State Amateur Championship for the past three years in tournaments held at the Country Club of Jackson at Jackson. The runner-up last year was Dr. Robert Corley of Jackson who has also entered this year's meet.

Among the others entered in the tourney are J. David Hill of Jackson, 1956 medalist, Robert N. Babbash of Detroit, Tom Draper of Birmingham, Sam Kocsis of Detroit, Fred Turner of Flint, and Lou Wendrow of Lansing, all former state amateur champions and Hermie Miller Jr., of Grand Rapids, state high school champion.

Owing to the fact that there is only one course available at Charlevoix, it was necessary this year to cut the handicap requirements to six or under and limit the field to 200 entries plus the defending champion who is exempt from qualification, Charles L. Kendrick, chairman of the State Championship Committee, said this week.

Charlevoix has two entries in this state meet. They are Bob Livingston and Bob Wallace. A former local resident, Charlie Fairbanks, now of Ishpeming, is also entered in the tourney.

Organize Staff For Handicapped Summer Program

A staff of five therapists and teachers is ready to start Monday in a school program for the physically handicapped. A central location in the area has been obtained at the Lincoln school in Petoskey. Enrollment will begin at 9 a. m.

On Monday and Tuesday the sessions will run from 9 a. m. to 12 noon. The regular daily schedule for the remainder of the six weeks program will then be set for the needs of the individual students.

No tuition will be charged for attending the school which is financed by a private donation and state aid.

According to Miss Olive Chase, director of the school, the requirement for enrolling is a physical handicap such as caused by polio, muscular dystrophy, cerebral palsy, accidents and other mild or serious crippling conditions.

The school program will offer physical therapy, speech therapy, to meet the needs of the individual students.

Various schools, agencies, and individuals have expressed considerable interest in the possibilities in this pilot project for assisting children and youth with crippling handicaps to become as self sufficient as possible and to be accepted by themselves, their parents and their community.

A well qualified staff has been carefully selected with a great deal of assistance from Miss Mary Blair, consultant for special education in the Michigan Department of Public Instruction and from others.

Miss Chase, director of the school, has worked in summer camps and has been a teacher of physical handicapped for the past four years. She is a graduate of Arizona State College and received special training for teaching the handicapped at Eastern Michigan College. She has also taught school in Lansing for four years.

Three Candidates Seek Election For School Trustee

A contest for the office of trustee on the Charlevoix board of education and two proposals to increase the tax limitation by three mills for a period of one year in order that the school district could levy an additional three mills for operating expenses is expected to attract a record number of voters to the polls Monday.

The polls at the Charlevoix high school will be open from 10 a. m. until 8 p. m. so registered qualified voters may cast their ballots.

A meeting at the high school hand room will follow at 8 p. m. At that time a financial report will be given and other business discussed.

Three candidates are seeking election to the board of education for a term of three years to succeed Vernon L. Mathews who was not a candidate for re-election. They are John L. (Jack) Boss, Norwood township turkey and potato grower, Harry E. Hooker, retired business man and former city councilman and Henry P. (Junior) Supernaw, local businessman.

Two proposals will be offered for the approval of the electors of the school district. The first, to increase the present tax limitation of 15 mills by three mills, is necessary before the second proposal, to authorize the Board of Education to levy a maximum of three mills for a period of one year, can be come effective.

Any qualified voter in the school district may cast his vote for trustee and to increase the tax limitation by three mills. However, only a qualified elector who is also a taxpayer in the school district, i. e., pays taxes on either real or personal property or both, may vote on the second proposal to authorize the levying of the additional three mills.

The Charlevoix Board of Education has asked for the additional three mills to cover a deficit of approximately $15,000 which has been forming over the last few years and to cover a deficit of $14,530 on the 1957-58 budget.

If the school board is to balance its budget and continue its present program with out curtailing stands to lose the approval of the University of Michigan and the North Central Association of Secondary Schools, this additional three mills is necessary, a spokesman for the board said Wednesday.

Only by paying in accordance with present day costs can the Charlevoix schools hope to continue.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Kipke and Mr. and Mrs. Hazen Gibson of Pinconning.

The Rev. Harold E. Kohn officiated at the double-ring service in the presence of 100 guests. Arrangements of white gladioli and yellow daisies and lighted tapers formed a setting for the ceremony.

Mrs. Robert G. Hummon sang "Because," "Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Charles Bellinger who also played the wedding marches.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a ballerina length gown of white lace and tulle for her wedding. It was styled with a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and tulle cummerbund with back streamers which fell over a bouffant skirt. Her veil of bridal illusion fell from a cap of seed pearls in a scroll design and she carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli.

Bennie Lee Kipke, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Mary Ann Ecker of Pinconning was bridesmaid. They wore identical ballerina length gowns of light green polka dot nylon over tulle with green tulle cummerbunds and back streamers. Their head bands of net and tulle matched their gowns and they carried cascade bouquets of yellow and white mums.

Kathy Rae Bambach of Holland, niece of the bride, wore a gown of light green polka dot nylon over tulle and carried a miniature bouquet similar to the bride's.

Lewis Fenton of Pinconning assisted the bridegroom as best man and Tom C. Moore of Muskegon was groomsmen. Robert G. Hummon and William R. Hummon of Detroit seated the guests.

Mrs. Kipke wore a pale blue sheath dress, blue and white embroidered duster and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of white gladioli. Mrs. Gibson, mother of the bridegroom, chose a gray and green floral print dressmaker suit, pink accessories and a corsage of pink gladioli.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at Friendship hall of the church. Mrs. Donald J. Bambach of Holland, Mrs. Robert G. Hummon of Detroit assisted. The Mary Burns circle was in charge of the reception.

After July 5 the couple will be at home at Pinconning. Following their northern Michigan wedding trip the bride wore a blue and white printed sheath dress, a blue duster and white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the Charlevoix high school and a 1957 graduate of Michigan State University School of Elementary Education. The bridegroom graduated from the Pinconning high school and will complete his studies at Michigan State University in December.

Wedding guests were present from Pinconning, Lansing, Pentwater, Holland, Manistique, Muskegon, Grand Rapids, Detroit, and Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibson Sr., were hosts at a rehearsal dinner for the wedding party and other guests at the Belvedere Golf club Friday evening.

The bride-elect was honored at a tea in Pinconning June 18 given by Mrs. Hazen Gibson and on June 20 at a shower given there by Mrs. L. G. Shearer. Mrs. Hubert E. Paddock entertained at a bridal shower on June 24. She invited 20 guests for a social evening and refreshments honoring Miss Kipke.

Congregational Church to Observe 75th Anniversary

On Sunday, July 7th, Charlevoix's First Congregational church will observe the first of a series of 75th Anniversary celebrations. This will be one of two anniversary Sundays the church officials have planned, one being on July 7th and the other on September 22nd.

The First Congregational church was organized on September 19th, 1882, after congregational services had been held intermittently since 1866.

Dr. Skidmore has just returned from the Cleveland merger meeting of Congregational Christian churches and the Evangelical and Reformed church, when the United Church of Christ was formed, and besides preaching the morning message, he will reveal some highlights of the historic Cleveland meeting.

James A. Gallagher Retires After 22 Years in Coast Guard Service

A 22 year career in the U. S. Coast Guard was brought to a successful conclusion at noon Monday when James A. Gallagher, Ensign (Light) first class, retired from the service.

M. F. Cramer, CBM, acting commander of U. S. Coast Guard Group Charlevoix presented Mr. Gallagher with his official retirement papers at the Group headquarters here and wished him "smooth sailing" in the years ahead.

The event marked the conclusion of one career for Mr. Gallagher, a member of one of Beaver Island's most sea-going families, but it also initiated another... that of relief skipper aboard the motorship "Emerald Isle", which operates between Charlevoix and the island in northern Lake Michigan known as America's Emerald Isle, Beaver Island.

"You didn't think I'd travel far from the water, did you?" Mr. Gallagher, a handsome man with prematurely gray hair and dancing Irish blue eyes, replied in answer to a question regarding his future plans.

"I grew up on the water, left high school to fish with my father, and then, while we were having a new fish tug built, enlisted as a surfman at the U. S. Coast Guard lifeboat station on Beaver Island", he relates. That was on Nov. 2, 1934.

"At the end of my first enlistment, Beaver Island was in the grip of the great depression of the 30's so I decided to sign up for another three years", he continued.

Then came 1941 and threats of war. Trained men were at a premium so Mr. Gallagher, who had been stationed at the Beaver Island Lifeboat station since his enlistment, was sent to the east coast where he served as an instructor with the amphibious command at Norfolk, Va., and aboard the USS Alcyon before returning to Beaver Island in Nov. 1941 as officer in charge and instructor at the lifeboat station which at that time, was a command station.

In 1944 he was assigned to engineer and machinist school, and was returned to the lifeboat station at St. James for one year before being sent to Aids to Navigation school in Detroit in January, 1946.

Upon completion of his schooling in April 1946 he was assigned to the Beaver Island light station located on the south end of the historic island on the edge of Lake Michigan's two major shipping lanes where he served out his 22 years.

Has he ever regretted his decision to make the service his career? "Not a day of it!" was his quick answer.

As one hears him talk of his experiences in the service, one gets the idea that he gave his best at all times and enjoyed

Schools Ask Voters To Grant 3 Mills

Funds available to the Charlevoix schools have not kept pace with rising costs. For instance, in 1955, the Charlevoix school district was allocated eight mills on the county's equalized valuation as its share of the 15 mills limitation allowed by the state of Michigan. This year, as in 1956, the allocation was cut to seven mills despite the rising costs of operating the schools.

In most counties in the state the allocation to schools is approximately nine mills; some receive as much as 10 and others eight mills. In Antrim county schools receive nine mills. In the Charlevoix district the schools must operate on seven mills unless the electors vote at the regular election Monday to increase the millage by three mills.

For several years all capital outlay in the Charlevoix schools has been taken from the regular allocation and as a result very little has been made.

In urging the voters to approve the millage proposal in Monday's election, the spokesman for the board said that there are three important factors that make a good school. They are good teachers, satisfactory classrooms and sufficient equipment.

Good teachers can be available and retained only by paying salaries that are in line with other schools in the state; a satisfactory classroom must be heated and lighted properly, decorated to be livable and cleaned properly and certain equipment including furniture, textbooks, maps and other consumable supplies must be furnished if the students are to be taught.

Because the Board of Education feels that the children of the Charlevoix school district deserve schools that compare favorably with the best and more than favorably with the other and because the additional millage is needed to continue the present program, the members are asking the voters of the school district to give their approval to the two proposals in the election Monday. Remember, the polls at the Charlevoix high school will be open from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. Monday.

William Henry Harrison was the oldest U. S. president to take office. He was 68.

Trek to Charlevoix Area Summer Camps Now in Full Swing

By train and plane, by bus and private cars they came to increase Charlevoix's summer population during the next two months . . . the more than 400 campers, boys and girls, who arrived en masse last week to spend the summer at three camps, all located on the north side of Lake Charlevoix.

At Camp Charlevoix 170 boys in the seven to 16 year age group arrived Saturday; at Camp Sea Gull, which has been enlarged this season, 120 boys and girls in the six to 14 year age group opened camp on Thursday and at Camp Ta-Wa-Ma-Na 47 girls in the seven to 15 year age group have taken over for the season.

Of these Camp Charlevoix is the oldest and largest. This summer will mark the thirty-second for the camp, the twenty-third for Mr. and Mrs. Ken Smith and the ninth under their ownership.

A lodge, 21 cabins and a large recreation hall are included in the camp buildings. In addition there is a caretaker's cottage occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Barney Englehart, a camp hospital and, some distance from the camp, the stables where riding horses are kept.

Twenty-two colleges will be represented among the 62 staff members, including 32 counselors, who will assist in the operation of the camp which features a complete waterfront program, riding, trips, active sports, crafts, nature study and other recreation included in a well-rounded camping program.

Among the camp personnel are Harry Bingham, business manager, and Mrs. Bingham; Bill Townsend, a coach at Fountain City, Ind., who is returning for the second year as assistant director; Bill Wall, coach at Ripon College, athletics; John Muehle, professor at the University of Michigan, trips; Bill Evans, teacher at Akron, Ohio, handicrafts; Bob Miracle of Miami University, waterfront; Mrs. Evans, camp nurse; Dean Hogenboom of the University of Michigan graduate school, riflery; Al Kristensen, University of Iowa, crafts and Ron Wilson, Harry Kinner and Don Halbeisen, all of Colorado A and M, cowboys.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Shaw of Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, will again be in charge of the kitchen; Mrs. Harry Elzinga will begin the kitchen and Mr. Elzinga will again be in charge of the stables.

Campers are from 10 different states.

Another of the older camps in the area, Camp Sea Gull, has been commonly known as the whistler because of the sound made by its wings during flight. The whistler, a common migrant of Michigan, is an expert diver and is able to remain under water for nearly a minute in some instances.

Wrecking of Old Charlevoix County Jail Is Tough Job

One hears today of jails that are escape proof but law enforcement officers here have found evidence that escapeproof jails are nothing new . . . at least not in Charlevoix county.

The evidence is the first county jail discovered in the old courthouse which the Lake Construction Co. has been razing to make way for the new county building.

Pictured above is the jail which is still standing. Sheriff Glenn E. Rose (in plaid shirt and his deputy, Phil Sumner, look over the structure which was built of 2 inch by 6 inch lumber piled one on the other making a wall six inches thick. The planks were nailed together by long square spikes which were placed every four inches. In order to make certain that the prisoners could not escape through the floor, it was constructed of 2 inch by 8 inch planks laid on edge thus making the floor eight inches thick.

Only openings in this cell block which boasted six small cells were small barred windows near the top of the 15ft. ceiling. The openings were too small to squeeze through even if a prisoner was able to climb the wall and saw the bars.

The 24 by 26 ft. cell block was enclosed within the brick walls of the courthouse.

This, Charlevoix county's first jail, was used until the early 1920's when the present jail was constructed. At that time, windows and doors were cut in the old jail and the section of the courthouse remodeled for use as the prosecutor's office.

The offices of the probate judge and the register of deeds, adjacent to the prosecutor's office in the old building were used as living quarters for the jail keeper.

Those who have examined the old cell block are ready to concede that if such a structure was needed to house prisoners, then perhaps the willians in those days were as rugged as one has been led to believe in stories of the 'good ole days'.

William Ratigan's New Book 'Straits of Mackinac' Published

The fifth Great Lakes book written by William Ratigan, entitled "Straits of Mackinac", was published this week by the William B. Eerdmans Publishing Co. of Grand Rapids.

This north country saga dramatizes the fabulous territory of Michillimackinac as a state of mind, an unruly and rambunctious overflow of irresistible high spirits sweeping all barriers and obstacles aside, a combination of creativeness, skill and drive that has produced for today's men and women the greatest bridge in world history.

With a foreword by Rear Admiral Emmet P. Gorrestel, Commandant, Ninth Naval District, Great Lakes, Ill., and an introduction by Dr. David B. Steinman, the engineer who designed and has supervised the construction of the new Mackinac bridge, the book has already received the compliments of Stewart Holbrook and Kenneth Roberts, the latter permitting the main character in "Straits of Mackinac", the Watchman on the Mackinac Bridge, to speak appropriate lines from his famous best-seller, "Northwest Passage."

More than the biography of a great bridge, this book is the biography of the great hearted spirit that brought men to the Straits of Mackinac in search of a fabled Northwest Passage and that will continue to bring adventurers to the Crossroads of the Great Lakes, in canoes, in sailboats, in ore and grain carriers, in automobiles.

Mr. Ratigan is widely known as the author of "Soo Canal!", "Young Mr. Big", "Hiawatha" and "America's Mightiest Mile" and "The Adventures of Captain McCargo".

For those who are not familiar with one of Charlevoix's best known residents, Mr. Ratigan has resided here for the past eight years. He is past president of the Blue Key, World War II newsman, honorary member of the San Francisco Press Club and of the Camp Lucas Officers' Open Mess at Sault Ste. Marie. Only recently in recognition of his leadership and patriotism as demonstrated by volunteer services to his fellow citizens and the United States Navy, he was appointed to the Advisory Council of Naval Affairs, Ninth Naval District, Great Lakes, Ill.

"Straits of Mackinac" will have a lot of local interest since many local residents and boats are mentioned in the book. A picture of the author and Roy Ranger appears inside the attractive jacket of the book which carries a drawing of the famous bridge.

Elmer J. Hanna Takes Post with Catsman Company

The appointment of Elmer J. Hanna of East Lansing as director of customer relations for the Catsman company, makers of ready-mix concrete with general offices in Flint has been announced by Samuel M. Catsman, president of the Catsman company.

Mr. Hanna, who assume his duties on July 8, recently resigned as administrative assistant to the state highway commissioner, a position he held for the past 8½ years. Previously, Mr. Hanna owned and published the Emmet county Graphic for 25 years and had served as administrative assistant to Governors Harry P. Kelly and Kim Sigler. He is a former president of the Michigan Press Association and past state department commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Michigan.

Before assuming his new position Mr. and Mrs. Hanna will spend a week at their summer home, Windy Hill, near Bay Shore.

Stop and Look in Charlevoix

Mrs. Wexstaff's First Book Now in Book Stores

Bernice C. Wexstaff's first book, "Black Panther of the Great Lakes", made its appearance in bookshops during the past week.

Published by the William B. Eerdmans publishing Co. of Grand Rapids, this attractive book designed for the teen-age reader, is the story of what happens to a boy, an old sailor and a boat during two summer vacations. The locale of the story is a summer resort similar to Charlevoix wonderful world of open sky and water and where adventure and excitement are always near.

You will enjoy turning the pages of this fresh book, so appropriately illustrated by the Harold E. Kohn, and therein making the acquaintance of young Benji who was thrilled by every kind of boat. His experiences, as related by Mrs. Wexstaff, will recall many experiences readers have known, particularly if they have always loved the water as Benji does.

The author, Mrs. Wexstaff first became interested in writing when she worked on the Charlevoix Courier. However, it wasn't until years later that she became serious about it. Enrollment in a creative writing class at the Charlevoix high school renewed this long-dormant interest. This book, "Black Panther of the Great Lakes" is the result of this renewed interest.

Rep. Meggison Is Kiwanis Speaker

Clarence B. Meggison, State representative from the Charlevoix district, was the guest speaker at the regular dinner meeting of the Kiwanis club held Monday at the Masonic Temple where summer meetings will be held during the summer months.

His subject was taxes. Guests at the meeting were Richard M. Lawrence of Petoskey, Kenneth L. Wilson of Royal Oak, Floyd Livermore of Dearborn and Earl Bancroft of Detroit.

Jail Houses One More

The Charlevoix county jail may be filled to over-flowing but there's one 'guest' who has been assured a home regardless of the crowded conditions.

His name is Herman and at six weeks he may seem too young to be confined to a house of correction but his guardian, Sheriff Glenn E. Rose, feels that the environment will have no lasting effects on the youngster.

Driver Students Get Certificates

Fourteen students and four adults received certificates of proficiency in driver training recently at the conclusion of the first Driver Training program held on Beaver Island.

Among those participating in the final program were Robert Schenck, instructor and member of the State Department of Public Instruction staff. Sheriff Glenn E. Rose, Edward Edzina of the Driver and Vehicle Service and Frank Swenson of the Division of Plates and Titles, the latter being branches of the office of Secretary of State.

Sheriff Rose deputized Elton Pischner and authorized him to examine applicants and issue licenses on the island. This is the first time this service has been available on Beaver Island.

Still residing, the pair was taken to the jail where they were placed in special confinement, a curtain strong enough to keep them imprisoned.

Within a few days one was placed in a 'foster' home under the care of a little girl who loves animals.

Herman is still under the care of Sheriff Rose who reports that he is a model prisoner... except when he's hungry which is a good part of the time.

Diagnosis by X-ray —year 1900

Compare the early x-ray equipment in this 1900 print from the Bettmann Archive with the modern x-ray equipment used in today's Blue Cross participating hospitals, and you have an idea of how far medical care has advanced in the last 57 years.

...thank goodness
times have changed!

The early x-ray machine... medical marvel of its time... was a crude looking affair that was of little or no help to doctors in delicate diagnosis. It was used primarily to confirm major bone fractures and could detect little else.

This, thank goodness, is no longer true.

Today's x-ray machine is a remarkably precise instrument. So sensitive it can reveal the smallest bone fracture... show up irregularities in skin tissue... detect lung and intestinal diseases in the early stages, when prompt treatment is so vitally important.

Every new development in life-saving equipment like the modern x-ray machine means better hospital care for all of us. Costly, precision equipment like this... and the skilled hands it takes to operate it... quite naturally mean higher hospital bills, too.

But isn't the cost of living worth it?

If you are a member of Michigan Blue Cross (and half the people in Michigan are), then you need never worry about increased hospital costs at the time of your illness. Furthermore, as a member of companion Blue Shield, you are assured of generous payments toward the cost of surgery and x-ray services.

New Riding School Opened

The Charlevoix school of Horsemanship Inc., which will feature horsemanship instruction for riders of all ages and abilities opened this week at the Loeb Farm three miles southeast of here on M-66.

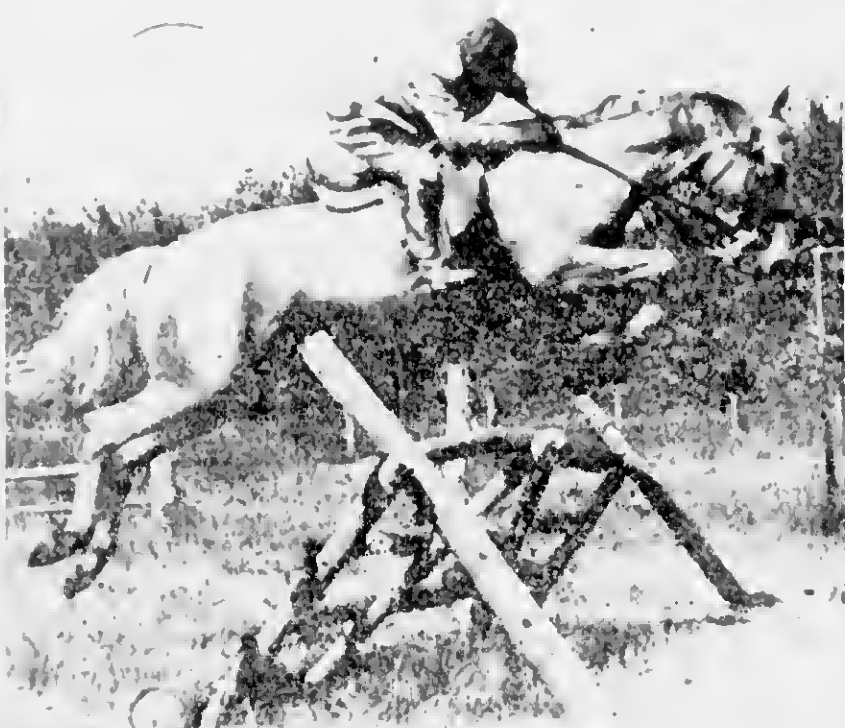

Supervised classes and instruction for beginners, intermediate and advanced riders as well as jumpers will be available to interested horsemen.

President of the newly organized school designed to offer riding facilities to residents of the area is one of Michigan's best known horsemen, John Wallace of Northville.

John McNeirney, also of Northville, who has assisted Mr. Wallace at his schools in southern Michigan, will manage the local school which is located on the beautiful grounds of the Loeb Farm. He will be assisted by Mr. Wallace's daughter, JoAnn, an excellent horsewoman.

The horses, numbering 16 at this time, will be housed in the barns whose design is reminiscent of old Norman castles. The riding circle and other facilities are nearby.

Mr. Wallace's students in the Detroit area recently won the jumping championship at the

Sponsor National Safe Boating Week June 30 to July 6

The U. S. Coast Guard, through its affiliate the Coast Guard Auxiliary is sponsoring National Safe Boating Week June 30 through July 6, according to an announcement by vice Admiral A. C. Richmond, U. S. Coast Guard Commandant.

In making the announcement, Admiral Richmond said that boating has become America's number one family recreation. With some 28 million Americans taking to the water in approximately six million pleasure boats of every description, a special effort must be made to focus attention on the growing need to know and observe basic safe boating rules and regulations to maintain boating's outstanding record as one of the safest of all outdoor sports. This is the objective of the Coast Guard and the Auxiliary in sponsoring Safe Boating week.

If boating is to remain one of the safest outdoor activities, the Coast Guard and the Coast Guard Auxiliary must have the support and cooperation of the boating public and everyone interested in the safety of the citizens.

In conclusion Admiral Richmond called upon every boating enthusiast to join in this effort to advance the cause of boating safety.

WHAT TO DO WHEN BREATHING STOPS

These five figures illustrate, from top to bottom, the steps in mouth-to-mouth resuscitation now being taught in Red Cross First Aid courses.

(1) Mother, using middle finger of one hand, clears child's mouth of any foreign matter. With same finger, she holds the tongue forward.

(2) Mother places child in a face-down, head-down, position, and puts him firmly on the back with the free hand, to help dislodge any foreign object in the air passage.

(3) The child is placed on his back, and the mother, using middle fingers of both hands, lifts the lower jaw from beneath and behind so that it "juts out."

(4) With one hand only, the jaw is held in this jutting-out position.

(5) The mother, covering the child's mouth and nose with her mouth, breathes into the child with a smooth, steady action. The free hand applies continuous moderate pressure to the child's abdomen, between navel and ribs, to prevent the stomach from being filled with air.

News Round-up at Camp Charlevoix

"Once Again We Come Together" was the song that rang through the rafters Saturday night at Camp Charlevoix as the thirty-second year of the camps operation started off with 170 boys from eight different states, and boys and staff were glad to see old friends and to renew friendships started here last summer.

Many of last year's staff are back with Mr. Harry Bingham, principal of Charlevoix high school, back for his twenty-second year as business manager, and Mrs. Bingham assisting with the office work; Joe and Helen Shaw, of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. Bill Townsend, athletic coach at Fountain City, Indiana, is back for his second year as director of activities. The cowboys this year are Harry Kinmer, and Ron Wilson from Nebraska, and Don Halbeson from Colorado. The staff numbers sixty-two persons and they come from twenty-three different colleges or universities, in many parts of the country.

Saturday night, the annual pillow fights were held, and the boys enjoyed seeing their buddies either win or lose, and many boys were introduced to the camp during the many matches.

Sunday morning the first service in the outdoor chapel was held, with Ken Smith giving the talk. It has become a tradition that Ken gives this first talk. His subject was "Building a Foundation and a Reputation". In the afternoon the doctor and the nurse gave the physical exams and in the evening, vesper services were held in all sections.

Week's Softball Schedules Upset By Rainy Weather

Rain played havoc with the city softball league during the past week, making it necessary to cancel eight games because of weather, Dean Davenport, softball manager has announced.

These games will be made up during the forthcoming week. In action last week, Freedman's lost their grip on first place when Carson-Klooster handed them their first loss by a 10 to 7 score. John Swanson's two-bagger scored two runs in the bottom half of the seventh to send the game into extra innings. However, Carson Klooster combined a walk, a single and Ken Balch's home run for the winning margin. Fritz Puffpaff had two singles for Freedman's while Charlie Dennis and Ken Balch had three hits apiece for the victors.

American Mold held Ellsworth to two hits for five innings before the visitors exploded for eight runs in the sixth inning with the aid of eight errors, four hits and a walk to win by a score of 12 to 0. Bob Klooster and Bill VanLoo each had homers. Bud Balch had the only hit for American Mold off Bob Klooster.

U. S. Coast Guard felt the sting of Ellsworth bats as they were defeated 17 to 2 behind the tight pitching of Bob Klooster and Ellsworth's steady hitting. Klooster homered for the victors. In the Class B league many of the players are showing vast improvement and are only a ball.

A pair of saw-whets were discovered recently with a brood of four youngsters in a wood duck nesting box at Rose Lake wildlife station near East Lansing. This was only the fifth nesting of saw-whet owls on record in Michigan since 1888.

Six registrants have been called for pre-induction physicals for July 16. They are John N. LaFreniere and Eugene R. Palmer of St. James, Keith D. Evans of East Jordan, Kenneth C. Shepard, Renny S. Aft Light Required On All Motor Boats

The U. S. Coast Guard will not require that all-around white light aft be on the centerline of motorboats during the current season, Rear Admiral E. H. Thiele, Commander of the Ninth Coast Guard District, has announced.

However, this federal requirement will be enforced on the navigable waters of the United States beginning with the next boating season.

While this light may be placed anywhere on the centerline aft of the mid-length, it should be as close to the stern as possible. Admiral Thiele suggests that in the interest of safety, motorboat owners make this change now.

Changes in Riparian Doctrine Poses Constitutional Angles

Some ideals for modification of the water law in Michigan was discussed in last week's issue of this newspaper. This told about some of the uses and some of the proposed changes in the water law. The big question is whether or not some of these changes may be constitutional.

Many of the references used to discuss these suggested changes have been drawn from the western states. In some of the earlier articles it was stated that 17 of the western states use the doctrine of prior appropriation. The other thirty-one use the riparian doctrine. Whether or not the rulings in the court cases in these western states will pertain to Michigan is a big question.

The proposed law in Michigan defines riparian land. This states that land lying (1) within the watershed in the water course or lake, (2) contiguous to such watercourse or lake, and (3) consisting of the smallest tract held under one title in the chain of title leading to the current owner. The first requirement is very easy to understand. The second means the land must border on the lake or stream in order to be called riparian land. In the third requirement, however, no Michigan courts ever held that this is so. On the other hand, a constitutional issue would arise if the courts refused to limit riparian rights to the smallest tract.

Class A rights in the proposed legislation are listed as domestic use, power, recreation and fishing. In the past courts have recognized other uses such as reasonable pollution, commercial breeding of fish and ice harvest. If the proposed law was accepted it is possible that the courts would declare it unconstitutional if all the rights and uses of water were not listed.

Riparians might suffer by loss of former rights by being regulated to lower priority. In this case a user would have to show that his property has been impaired. If the owner can prove this, he will be compensated for the damage.

The big question is how far may a riparian vested right be modified by police power, remembering the specific limitations of the 14th amendment. In some of the western states they have upheld modification of riparian rights. In some of these states, however, the changes have not been as extensive as proposed in Michigan.

A water user in Charlevoix county should have a definite interest in this proposed water law. The law preserves existing valid rights and the use of water for public purposes. On the other hand, the definitions are not clear and could be changed by court action. Again, everyone, farmer, city dweller, manufacturing plant municipalities and etc., should carefully study the proposed water law.

Battle of Pine River Fought Here 78 Years Ago Saturday

The battle of Pine River was fought on this site the evening of July 13, 1883, between a party of Mormons from Beaver Island and fishermen of the settlement of Pine River, later named Charlevoix in 1879.

The above legend is told on a tarnished bronze plaque placed on a native rock overlooking the shores of Lake Charlevoix where the battle took place and today is the only reminder of one of the dramatic hours in the community's early struggle for existence.

As one views the marker at the corner of Park ave. and Grant st. and survey the battle site where the municipal bath house and bathing beach are now located, it is hard to envision it as a battle ground.

Of course, it wasn't much of a battle compared to modern day warfare but to the early settlers of this small community then known as Pine River, it was a battle against the unjust practices of the Mormons.

It happened on a hot July day, according to an account of the historic skirmish found in the history of the Great Lakes Region published in 1883. The women of the community had gathered at the Morrison home, overlooking the mouth of Pine River, for a quilting bee. The men of the community, all fishermen, were mending nets at a site along Lake Michigan to the west.

At mid-afternoon the men, with the aid of a spy glass, identified two boats approaching from the northwest as those of a group of Mormons from Beaver Island.

The fishermen were not too surprised, so the story goes, at the visit from the Mormon officials for three men who had rebelled against the Mormons law had sought refuge among the local people.

At that time, sections of northern Michigan later to become Charlevoix and Emmet counties were organized under the name of Emmet county with St. James, Beaver Island, as the county seat. All the county offices were held by members of the Mormon colony and among the men in the boats were a number of law-enforcement officers.

James Jesse Strang had proclaimed himself king of the Mormon colony he had taken to Beaver Island and ruled them with an iron hand, according to his own laws. It was against these laws that the three men named Savage, Hull and Moon, had sought to escape when they came to Pine River.

Before the fishermen could come along the shore to the settlement, the Mormons had landed on home. As the local men-folk arrived they heard a spokesman for the group demanding the residents to them or "blood will be spilled today."

The fishermen ignored the threats and ordered the Mormons from the settlement.

The Mormons retreated to their boats and were about to push off when a local resident named Louis Gebau, recognizing one of the Mormon party, started toward the beach to speak to him. As he walked toward the beach he raised the gun he was carrying. This gesture brought a blast from a horse pistol of one of the Mormons later identified as Jonathan Pierce and Gebau fell to the ground with a leg wound.

Council OK's Improvements On Waterfront

The Charlevoix city council at its regular meeting Monday night, approved waterfront improvements.

In the major action at the meeting City Supt. Hal M. Hill was authorized to employ the Roe Marine Construction Co. of Harbor Springs to do certain dock and waterfront repairs and construction according to plans on file in the office of the city superintendent.

The council also agreed to ask the Michigan State Highway Department to close Bridge st., from Upright ave to Clinton st., a distance of four blocks, from 1 to 3 p. m. Sunday, July 28, so the Kiwanis-sponsored Soap Box Derby could be held on south Bridge st. hill.

Approval of the application for an S. D. license by Richard L. and Louis A. Edwards, was given. A copy of the council resolution was forwarded to the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

George LaBlanc's application for a building permit for a car port to be constructed at 402 Park ave., was also approved. Bills totaling $18,535.94 were approved and ordered paid.

Charlevoix to Be Represented at Cherry Festival

Charlevoix will be well represented at the National Cherry Festival in Traverse City tomorrow (Friday).

The Charlevoix high school band will appear in two parades, the grand floral parade at 2 p. m. and at 8 p. m. will appear in the Mummers parade which climaxes the annual festival.

In place of a float which was originally planned, Charlevoix will be represented in the floral parade by a surrey with the fringe on top. Riding in the surrey and wearing costumes reminiscent of that area will be Mrs. E. D. Hawley, Mrs. Charles Bellinger and Mrs. Karl J. Erber. Barney Englehart of the Camp Charlevoix staff will be at the reins of the horse-drawn surrey which will be pulled by horses furnished by the camp.

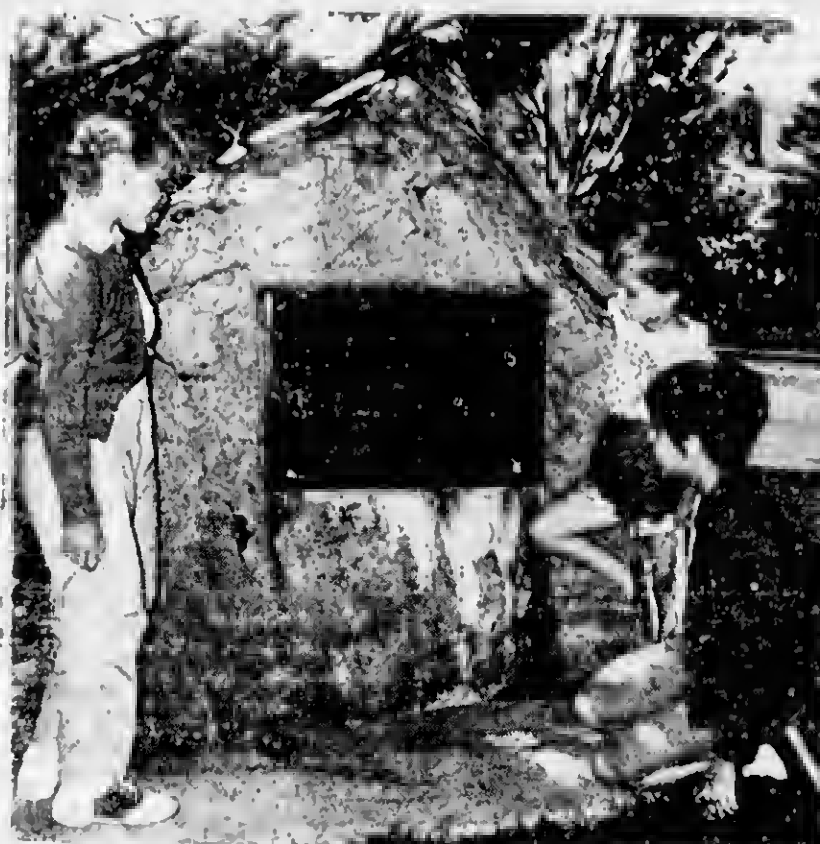

Approximately 100,000 people are expected to view the festivities. Charlevoix's band will be one of 23 bands participating in the five-mile long parade which takes several hours to pass.

C. A. Odmark said that 75 Charlevoix musicians including the high school band and ninth graders of the reserve band have been contacted concerning the trip. Employers of handsmen are urged to do everything possible to free these people for this important engagement. Mr. Odmark reports great difficulty in putting a representative group on the street in the summer time and the cooperation of the area employers will be greatly appreciated.

Voters Turn Down 3 Mill Tax Levy for School Operation

A proposed three-mill tax levy for a period of one year to provide additional funds for operating costs was defeated in the annual election of the Charlevoix school district held Monday.

The proposal was defeated when Proposal No. 1 which would have increased the tax limitation was turned down by a vote of 175 to 170 although the second proposal to allow the levying of the millage was approved by a vote of 179 to 172. Only tax payers could vote on Proposal No. 2.

Eight votes for proposal No. 1 were declared void and two on Proposal No. 2 were thrown out for various reasons while six voters were ineligible to cast ballots on the second proposal.

John L. (Jack) Boss polled a total of 172 votes to win the post of trustee on the board of education for a three-year term. He defeated Henry P. Supernaw who polled 163 votes and Harry F. Hooker who received 71. He succeeds Vernon L. Mathews who was not a candidate for re-election.

At the annual meeting which followed in the high school band room it was proposed that the millage issue for operating funds be brought to a vote at a later date.

The possibility of exchanging the north side or former Washington school for the American Legion post home on Garfield ave., if it was agreeable with the American Legion, was discussed. It is not possible it was suggested that the property be sold.

The feasibility of establishing a building fund for a new school was given consideration but was presented in a motion for a vote. While the proposal met with quite general approval for future action, it was not considered advisable now due to the financial picture on the school district.

Entries Slow For Annual City Golf Tourney

Deadline for filing entries in the third annual city golf tournament for the Frank Poole trophy has been set at 6 p. m. Friday by Keith Carcy, tournament manager as well as municipal golf course director.

Mr. Carcy said that entries were coming in slowly and that if persons wanted to participate "they would have to file before" the deadline. "Tomorrow night, at year 58 golfers participated in the event. Don Meggison is the defending champion. Chuck Bennett, the 1955 winner, is expected to enter the handicap tournament as is Bob Wallace, the runner-up in both 1955 and 1956.

Pairings will be made late Friday with the first round of match play scheduled to begin Saturday. Participants have a week in which to play their first match. The tournament will be played in the night with the player's handicap determining the flight in which he will be entered. There will also be a consolation bracket again this season.

Ninety-nine golfers participated in the kicker's handicap held at the course over the four-day holiday weekend.

Des Milligan, Grover Genett, and Lyle Anee were the winners in the men's division and Mrs. William Supernaw and Mrs. Fay Davis in the women's division.

Low scores for nine holes were turned in by Mr. and Mrs. William Supernaw in their respective divisions.

Chuck Bennett and Chum White had the fewest number of putts in the men's division and Mrs. John Swanson and Mrs. J. F. Webb in the women's division. Herb Schofield turned in the most sixes; Bill Baker, highest holes, and Fay Davis had the drive nearest the green on the third hole.

Mr. Carcy said that play on the course was heavy over the long weekend, putting the course ahead of last year in the number of players.

We Can't Hide Our Heads in Sand

Results of the voting to place the Charlevoix schools on a sound financial footing revealed an unusual situation. Voters qualified (taxpayers) to vote on Proposition II, granting the Board of Education authority to levy three mills for operational expenses for the year 1957-58, approved the measure. Proposition I on which all qualified electors were permitted to vote was defeated 175 to 170.

Seldom do taxpaying voters approve a tax levy only to have it turned down by the vote of the general electorate. Because it has happened the Board of Education apparently has one of two alternatives. First, reduce the school program to a point where the anticipated revenue for the ensuing year will cover the cost. This policy would, without doubt, bring an outcry of general disapproval. The second alternative is to call for another election and ask for a vote of approval to levy up to three mills in order to erase the deficit and have sufficient money to operate our schools at their present level.

We do not believe it is the general intent of our citizens to want our school program jeopardized in order to save $3.00 per $1,000 of assessed valuation for one year. At the same time, we believe that taxpayers have every right to expect our school authorities to exercise every feasible economy in the operation of the schools.

The Board of Education is faced with the problem of setting up a school budget on the basis of anticipated revenue to a great extent. When that revenue falls short as it did last year we go into debt. Now we are facing the last year's debt plus interest along with the problem of having sufficient funds to operate our school during the coming year.

We believe it good business to vote the necessary three mills to erase the deficit and set up future budgets with a fair margin of safety with respect to the anticipated revenue.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

Did you see the sunset Friday night? . . . neither did we for we'd gone off to the movie but several people called to tell us about it . . . Seems that it was one of the most unusual ones a lot of people had ever seen . . . and the after glow was right out of this world . . . Its was certainly one of the few beautiful sunsets we've had this spring . . . and summer . . . Can't understand it when we've seen so many lovely ones in the past.

We're told the northern lights were lovely too one night recently . . . For some reason we always seem to miss things like that . . . We always watch the northern sky for the elusive lights which seem to tumble across the horizon but we always seem to miss 'em . . . Seem all these unusual things have something to do with sun spots or something.

As you probably noticed, Mrs. Badger's puppet group presented a play one night last week entitled "Rocket's Red Glare" . . . Its title was taken from our group does the play with puppets which the story told . . . The little group does he plays with puppets and in addition studies the history, makes costumes, props, etc. . . One of the scenes was laid in the office of President Madison and there was some discussion as to what props would be found on the president's desk . . . One little fellow said he was sure there should be a box of aspirin and when asked why answered, "in all seriousness, 'because being president is a head-ache'" . . . That's perhaps the reason why little Jose Olsen will never seek the office of president . . . These young fry learn early!

Remember that Dodge ad which had Charlevoix's railroad station as a background? . . . It appeared in many major magazines during early spring and here's proof that people noticed it . . . Hugh Mayne told us this about the couple who stopped last week at the Sinclair station and asked him to settle an argument . . . Seems this fellow's wife insisted that this was the town whose depot appeared in the ad . . . He insisted that it wasn't because who would bother to come to a small town like this just to take pictures . . . Hugh assured them that the Dodge advertising agency had taken the pictures here and directed them to the station . . . As they pulled out of the service station the Mrs. was wearing a very smug look while her husband was still sputtering about it all . . . Seems this was their first trip to this part of the country . . . And Hugh, not being news-minded at the moment, neglected to ask where they were from . . . But the incident proves that somebody did notice the ad.

We goofed . . . in a great big way . . . and we'd like to put the record straight . . . A couple people called to correct our error . . . about the drugstores . . . Seems the present Rexall store owned by Harley Ochs was the original Chappel Drug . . . which was later operated by Mr. Herman before Mr. Ochs took over . . . The Ivy Drugstore was another one . . . owned by the Fleischers which took its name from the ivy which ran all around the store . . . It was later owned by the late Frank Metcalf and was located in the I.O.O.F. building where the children's shop of the Poly Kay is now located . . . Hope that takes care of the drugstore situation.

Wouldn't you have loved to see Charlevoix as it was a hundred years or so ago? . . . Too bad we can't be treated to flash backs in time . . . when Pine River, for instance, was a slow shallow stream with trees over-hanging its banks and old logs across it . . . Did you know that the original river bed was at the foot of the bluff which overlooks Lake Michigan . . . the present Coast Guard station is in the old river bed and the back yards of the houses on Palmer st. are too . . . It must have emptied into Lake Michigan about where the bath house is now located . . . The old river bed was abandoned when the entrance to the channel was dredged . . . Thus today's Pine river . . . the channel to you, is a man made river in most spots.

The other day we were down on the walk to the lower level of the Weathervane taking pictures of the models in the fashions to be shown in the Hospital Guild style show next Tuesday . . . The gals were pretty and looked very lovely in their gowns . . .

Carol Stephens Becomes Bride of Donald Anderson in Chapel Service

The Paul W. Voorheis Memorial Chapel at the Bay View was the scene Saturday afternoon of the wedding of Carol, Delight Stephens and Donald J. Anderson of Springfield, Ill.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Stephens of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Anderson of Springfield.

The Rev. Lloyd M. Schlopp, pastor of the First Methodist church here, officiated at the double ring service. Baskets of summer flowers and greenery decorated the chapel.

Mrs. Walter Fairbairn of Alanson played the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Bertram Rowe of Bay View.

Mr. Stephens gave his daughter in marriage. For her wedding she chose a street length gown of white lace over taffeta. Her short veil fell from a matching cap and she carried a bouquet of carnations and orchids.

Mrs. Linford Davis of Hart, as matron of honor, wore a gray silk sheath dress and a small white headpiece similar to the brides. Her bouquet was of lavender mums and white carnations.

Dr. William Anderson of Danville, Ill., assisted his brother as best man.

Mrs. Stephens chose a pastel print jacket dress, white accessories and a white glanella corsage for her daughter's wedding.

Mrs. Anderson, mother of the bridegroom, wore a powder blue dress, white accessories and white corsage.

The couple received guests at the chapel following the ceremony. A reception was held later at the home of the bride's parents.

THE CHARCOAL PIT
At Weathervane Inn

Charlevoix, Long Island, Ft. Lauderdale

An angry man is Sylvester T. Bly,
Who today was sold a piece of "blue sky."
He'd stepped in a showroom—out of the rain,
Was sold a new car before he could explain!
How he hated the styling—so high and square
And in new features it was really bare.
"I got a real bargain—the buy of my life—
But how do I ever convince my own wife?"

Moral: You're paying for a new car... make sure you get one!

When you buy a new car, put your money on tomorrow—not yesterday. Swept-Wing Dodge actually obsoletes other cars in its field. Should you invest in high, boxy styling when Dodge offers the low, low look of tomorrow? Should you invest in outmoded coil springs when Dodge offers new Torsion-Aire Ride? Should you invest in an old-fashioned lever-type transmission when Dodge offers the ease of Push-Button Driving? In other things, too—engines, brakes, interiors—Dodge is years ahead. So put your money on tomorrow. See your Dodge dealer. Join the swing to the Swept-Wing Dodge!

Must Establish Formula of Values For Water Control Legislation

The control of any water rights, or water uses must be based on a set of values. Many things are easy to evaluate. Uses of water such as domestic use, irrigation, air conditioning, waste disposal and others are very easy to measure. It is easy to figure costs for supplying these uses and to determine what the public will pay for them.

There are many other uses of water that are not so easily measured in terms of dollars and cents. These uses might include health, saving lives, scenic locations, recreation and etc.

Flood control, for instance, everyone will agree is very important. Setting up measures to hold water for flood control in certain parts of the country is very hard to determine the benefits of such a program. These benefits, of course, will depend entirely on how much water comes on the ground to produce a flood. This amount varies from year to year.

Recreation is another use of water that everyone will agree is important. The State of Michigan receives considerable income from the sale of Licenses of fishermen. Many resort developments are based on location of water. Here again, it is more difficult to determine the value of water than if one was to apply an inch of water to a field of strawberries for irrigation.

All water programs should take into consideration both tangible and intangible uses. Actual cost and market figures should be used as much as possible in all cases. When such figures exist, best estimates should be made. This will insure that all uses of water will be treated fairly in any legislation.

Careers In Conservation

With school soon out, young people are faced with the choice of a vocation. Many annually choose conservation and find it so rewarding as to remain in this public work on a career basis. These park rangers, busy at one of Michigan's public picnic areas, are learning their trade "from the ground upward."

Top Teams Running Close In Two Softball Leagues

As the first round of play in the summer softball league draws to a close all three leagues could end up in tow or three way ties, Dean Davenport, softball director, reports.

In the Class A league, Ellsworth and Freedman's ended play with identical 4 and 1 records and Carson's, if they defeated American Mold Wednesday night, could also end the first round with the same 4 and 1 record. Play-offs will begin tonight (Thursday).

In the Class B league Zephyr, Edwards and Dutchers with two wins and one loss each are tied for first place. In the elimination one-game play-off series, Dutchers are scheduled to meet Edwards at 7:30 p. m. tonight and at 7:15 p. m. Friday night Zephyr will take on the winner of the Edwards-Dutchers game.

In the peanut league all sorts of possibilities have presented themselves. The White Cross Tigers could win the round outright, tie with Morts Cardinals or lose it to Morts. The outcome depended on last night's game between the two squads.

Action during the past week found American Mold edging City Merchants 5 to 4 as Terry Rice scored the winning run in the bottom of the seventh inning. Nathan Boss had two hits for the losers.

Freedman's Fritz Puffpuff pitched a two hitter and doubled and singled twice to lead the Artcraft nine to an 11 to one victory over the Coast Guard. Joe Battle doubled for the service team for their only extra base hit.

Ted Potter hit two long home runs, one with the bases loaded and the other with two men on to lead Carson's to their easy 18 to 8 win over the Coast Guard. Ken Wojan and Norm Russman led the service men with two hits apiece.

In the only B league action, Zephyr sent a previously undefeated Dutchers squad into a three-way tie for first place with a 10 to 7 win. Stan Smith's homer, Tom Lakies' single and Larry Lederman's two-bagger and two walks scored the three winning runs in the sixth inning.

In the peanut league action Corky Curtis' grand slam homer was the big blow in the LaBlance Dodgers' 11 to 1 victory over Terrill's Pirates.

Morts Al Wojan pitched a shut out to defeat Lieberman's Cubs 10 to 0.

In the best game of the season, The White Cross Tigers edged LaBlance's Dodgers 3 to 2. Larry Kolker doubled home two runs in the sixth to provide the big runs.

The Cadillac Red Sox scored three wins in the last of the seventh but fell short of the Cub's 5 to 4. Billy Marme's third hit, a homer, and Herb Cummings' triple and two walks almost spelled defeat for Lieberman's but the Cubs held on to win.

The Pirates whipped the Cubs 8 to 3 by scoring four runs in the second on Jack Ulrick's bases loaded three-bagger.

All six teams in the Peanut • Fenton R. Bulow, Charlevoix county clerk, will return home tonight (Thursday) from Sault Ste. Marie where he has been attending the annual convention of the Michigan Association of County Clerks.

Campau - Spoelman Vows Exchanged Saturday at Pilgrim Holiness Church

Potted palms and bouquets of garden flowers provided the setting for the wedding of Miss Karen Campau and Mr. Nelson Spoelman, solemnized Saturday, June 29 in the Ellsworth Pilgrim Holiness church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John Campau of Ellsworth and Mr. and Mrs. John Spoelman of Central Lake.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. L. Silvers.

Miss Golda Sherk, pianist and Mrs. W. L. Silvers at the electric vibraharp played the traditional wedding marches. Dean Fiedler, accompanied by Miss Sherk, sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the entrance of the attendants; "At Dawning" just before the bride entered; and "The Wedding Prayer", as the couple knelt following the speaking of their vows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a wedding gown of lace and net over satin, fashioned with fitted lace bodice, featuring a small winged collar and long sleeves, and a full gathered skirt of lace and net over satin. A seed pearl trimmed tiara secured her fingertip length nylon veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of American Beauty carnations and English ivy.

Attendants were Janice Campau, sister of the bride, as maid of honor; Mrs. Ted Spoelman of Muskegon, sister-in-law of the groom and Miss Maxine Black of Charlevoix, as bridesmaids; Joyce Campau and Roy Campau, the bride's sister and brother, as ring bearers, and Yvonne Campau, the bride's sister as flower girl.

Assisting the groom as best man was his brother, Ted of Muskegon. James Campau, the bride's brother, and Dwayne Evans brother-in-law of the groom seated the guests. Wayne Brabaw of Detroit, cousin of the bride, served as junior usher escorting the mothers of the couple.

The floor length formals of the attendants were styled on princess lines in sky blue taffeta. The men of the bridal party were resplendent in dark navy trousers and light summer coats, accented with white carnation boutonnières.

The bride is a graduate in the 1956 class of Banks Township school and attended Central Michigan College in Mt. Pleasant this past year.

The groom, a graduate of the 1955 class of Banks Township school, attended Michigan State University in East Lansing and plans to continue his schooling.

Guests from a distance included Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Doms, and Mrs. Libbie Campau of Standish; Mr. and Mrs. James Forsang and four children of Dryden; Mr. Thomas Bailey and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mikesell and four children of German town, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. C. Spoelman and daughters, Linda and Joan; Mrs. Jacob Byhara and Miss Ida Spoelman, all of Hudsonville; Mrs. Richard Wagonmaker, son Kenny Dole and daughter, Marcia, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Spoelman and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Spoelman and son, all of Muskegon, and Mrs. Alvin Zylstra of Grand Rapids.

A reception and dinner in Banks school dining room, followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Spoelman, brother and sister-in-law of the groom from Muskegon, assisted as master and mistress of ceremonies.

After a short wedding trip through northern Michigan, the couple are at home in Onaway, the base for the groom's work for the State Highway this summer. This fall they will reside in Lansing where Mr. Spoelman will continue his studies at Michigan State University. For travel the bride chose a posted blue shantung dress with white accessories and a corsage of white baby mums.

Treating a nerve disorder in 1989

This early engraving from the Oliver Collection shows how inadequate hospital treatment of nerve disorders in 1889. How fortunate we are to have the care our modern Blue Cross participants receive.

...thank goodness times have changed!

In the long history of nerve disorders, one of the most unusual treatments of all was the suspensory treatment.

The unfortunate patient was virtually "hanged from the rafters" in an attempt to stretch his nerves back to normal and thereby relieve his condition.

While the suspensory treatment was not a success... it did serve a purpose. It was among the countless experimental treatments that over the years have given our doctors the knowledge and means to relieve so many nerve disorders today.

In neurology, our surgeons now perform sensitive operations that were thought to be impossible even a short ten years ago. Remarkable new miracle drugs are proving to be highly successful. And through physical therapy—now a wonderfully advanced science—many a patient who once might have been considered hopeless can lead a useful life.

Medical progress like this means better hospital care for all of us. The larger hospital staffs... the costly drugs and equipment... the skilled hands it takes to administer this care mean higher hospital bills, too.

But isn't the cost of living worth it?

If you are a member of Michigan Blue Cross, you need never worry about higher hospital bills at the time of your illness. For Michigan Blue Cross pays the full cost of basic hospital services. And Michigan Blue Shield—the companion plan—helps pay for the finest doctor care in the world today.

DODGE outpulls
"other two" low-priced trucks!

Here's the scientific way to measure the actual pulling power a truck can deliver to its rear wheels. All three low-priced trucks were hooked up, one by one, to a special dynamometer truck. Each was comparably equipped and test-loaded.

Super-sensitive gauges inside the dynamometer truck register the maximum pull of each truck at 10 m.p.h. Insets in photos above show actual gauge readings in each case. To convert these readings into pounds, simply multiply them by three.

The results are conclusive evidence that Dodge Power Giants give you a third more pulling power than either of the "other two" low-priced trucks. And this is just one of a series of tests that prove Dodge is the best truck of the low-priced three.

● Your Dodge truck dealer has proof that Dodge leads in many ways. Come in . . . see other certified test-photo sequences . . . and take a demonstration ride!

ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDING

Notes from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold C. Kohn

Sign of A Vital Mind

The black bass, although often wily enough to frustrate a fisherman intent upon his life, could hardly be called a brilliant creature. Yet he is intelligent enough to learn from his own bitter experience and the experiences of his fellows. When he is pricked by the hook and escapes, his sore mouth reminds the bass to avoid suspicious looking lures. Every bass fisherman has suspected this to be true, but it has recently been proven—beyond a shadow of doubt by Robert Mann and David Thompson of the Illinois State Natural History Survey. These men planted 1,027 marked bass in an experimental lake and then began to play the lake with attractive lures. The men averaged only twenty-four minutes in catching each of the first fifty bass. But after that the bass became more cautious. At the end of the first day of the experiment it took more than two hours to catch one. On the second day Mann and Thompson's began to ebb strikingly. It took more than five hours to catch each bass. During the following three days their fishing was rewarded with a catch no more than once in ten hours! Sore-mouthed bass had learned their lesson, and perhaps others had been warned of danger by some sort of fish communication.

This capacity to register experience and to use it profitably is one of life's basic essentials and can be found even among plants. For example, the Venus flytrap of the Carolinas is a plant with leaves hinged in the middle so that they can close tightly over venturesome insects. There are spine-like triggers on the leaves that cause them to close when a blundering insect steps upon them or brushes against them. Experimenters have tricked the Venus flytrap by artificially stimulating the triggers so that the hinged leaves closed on nothing. When the plant has been frustrated in this fashion several times in succession, it will no longer respond. Its leaves remain open. It has learned from experience.

The ability to benefit by experience is so fundamental to life that one of the world's greatest biologists, Sir J. Arthur Thomson, has said, "We are not sure that a living creature was worthy of the name until it became able to register its experience, until it was able to profit by what happened to it."

Bass learn to avoid the hooks that prick and tear. Venus flytraps learn to ignore the stimuli that bring them no satisfaction. A sure sign of vital life in fish or plant or man is the capacity to profit by experience.

Then why don't we do it? After discovering that resentment and hatred hurt the resenter and hate more than the person upon whom the emotions are vented, why does a man repeat his mistakes with all the accompanying irritation and fret, the sleeplessness and nagging distraction those feelings engender.

With all the foul and tragic aftermath of World War I, why did the nation not avoid World War II?

Since we all know that "haste makes waste" as well as mental confusion, high blood pressure and ulcers, why don't we slow down? And since we are aware that arriving late for engagements is embarrassing to us and upsetting to those already there, why don't we learn to start earlier?

Since saying too much usually causes more trouble than silence, why don't we learn to reflect upon what we are about to say rather than regretting what we have just said?

Aren't most of our troubles due to a negligence of this primitive intelligence common to most living things—the capacity to benefit from past experience?

More positively, one of the simplest ways of becoming a better person is to find what are those experiences that make you worse and engage in less of them, and to discover what are the experiences that improve you, even momentarily, and to indulge in more of them.

It is often inconvenient to take time and to make effort to cheer the saddened, call on the lonesome, say a word of gratitude or write a note of appreciation to someone who unknowingly has meant much to you. But when better. In fact you are better. Then do it often.

Probably no one ever passes away in our community without someone having regrets. Someone says, "I wish I had shown him more appreciation," or "I wish I had seen her more frequently," or "I had a notion to stop in and see her only a few days ago and tell her how much she meant to me when I passed through that double two years ago." Sometimes that someone has been you. Learn from experience. Have no more ranking regrets. There are still many living near you who need to know that they "count" for something. When a good impulse seizes you let them know, act.

A love of beauty is one of man's capacities that lift him into pre-eminence among his animal brethren. When you stand wrapped in awe at a star-lit sky or a flaming sunset or before a great work of art, you feel better. Beauty cleanse the mind, sweeping away the sordid and trashy. Beauty raises your standards so that you are no longer satisfied with the mediocre or with yourself. Inviting a touch of beauty into your life is like buying new draperies. Then you have to purchase new carpeting and new wall paper to go with the draperies and new upholstery to go with the new carpeting. So with a thoughtful exposure to beauty, it makes for radical changes. Well, then learn from the cleansing, transforming experiences you have had with loveliness. Repeat, them, often. There is hardly a human being on earth who would not have been a better person if his ideas of beauty had been higher and his exposure to beauty more frequent.

Occasionally you have entered into a soul-widening, mind-stretching experience with a great book or by entering wholeheartedly into worship, and your inner life never slunk back to its former dimensions. If you are intelligent about that experience, you will repeat it, your inner life becoming more and more spacious.

The surest sign of a vital mind is the capacity to benefit by experience.

Ford wins the battle of the builds

• Sure! Many people buy Fords because of their long, low, whistle-collecting looks. Do you blame them? But beauty alone isn't enough to earn for a car the No. 1 spot in America's heart. And that's just what Ford has earned. The real secrets of Ford's success are the extra values that go into building a Ford. Let's look at a few of these features. Ford shares them only with a select number of America's most expensive cars. But you get them at low Ford prices.

1. Only Ford in its field offers a frame design that lets you ride within the frame side members for greater roominess, more smoothness and increased safety.
2. Only Ford in its field gives you a modern V-8 engine with rigid, deep-block design for smoother, quieter, longer-lived operation.
3. Only Ford in its field offers automatic variable-rate rear springs that automatically adjust to give a smoother ride no matter how rough the road conditions.
4. Only Ford in its field offers new sweep-back ball-joint front suspension that "rolls with the punch" on rough, bumpy roads.
5. Only Ford in its field offers as many as five strengthening roof cross members for a more rigid roof... greater quiet and safety.
6. Only Ford offers such a savingful car. A Ford Six beat all other cars in the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run in the miles-per-gallon department.
7. Only Ford in its field offers a frame with 3 tubular cross members. There are 5 cross members in all... enabling the frame to withstand stress from all directions.
8. Only Ford, among all makes, electronically balances every V-8 engine while it's operating under its own power.
9. Only Ford in its field offers so much soundproofing for a quieter ride under all road and weather conditions.
10. Only Ford in its field offers such a well sealed body for greater freedom from dust and weather wherever you travel.
11. Only Ford in its field offers rear door assist springs and two-position front door checks for easier entrance and exit.

More than 750,000 persons purchased licenses for Michigan's 1956 small game hunting seasons. These hunters bagged almost five million birds and animals in the nine major small game species.

"The deer belongs to the group of animals called Percora, which includes the true ruminants or cud-chewers, with four-chambered stomachs. Other members are giraffe, antelope, ox, goat and sheep."

51st Annual Michigan Amateur Golf Tournament Opens Today

Play in the 51st annual Michigan Amateur Golf tournament got underway at the beautiful Belvedere Golf course this morning.

At 7 a. m. sharp the first foursome teed off and were followed by the remaining 200 players who are scheduled to participate in the 18-hole qualifying rounds of medal play today. Foursomes teed off at eight-minute intervals until 2:04 p. m.

On Friday the players with the 63 best scores in medal play will join the defending champion, Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile, in the rugged first round of match play. Johnson will be trying for his fourth successive win when he takes to the links tomorrow.

By mid-day the number of contestants will be cut to 32 as they start the second round Friday afternoon. The third and fourth rounds are scheduled for Saturday with the four remaining contestants meeting in the semifinals Sunday morning.

The championship match will be played Sunday afternoon. Competition will be tough in this tournament which has attracted the outstanding amateurs in the state. There will be the 1956 runner-up, Dr. Bob Corley of Jackson who is in the foursome scheduled to start at 11:40; the 1956 medalist, Dave Hill of Jackson who turned in a score of 142 last year to win the honor; Sam Kocsis and Bob Babbish, both of Detroit, Tom Draper of Birmingham, Fred Turner of Flint and Lou Wendrow of Lansing, all former state title-holders and Hermie Miller Jr. of Grand Rapids, former Michigan high school champion.

The defending champion will be seeking new laurels when he enters the meet tomorrow. Last year he won the distinction of becoming the second golfer in history to hold the Michigan Amateur title for three successive years when he matched the record of Johnny Malloy of Ann Arbor who won the state title in 1927, '28 and '29.

Four other players, Chuck Kocsis, James D. Standish Jr., Carlton F. Wells and Howard B. Lee, all of the Detroit area, have also won the title three or more times but not successively. Kocsis has a record of six victories over the years while Standish has won the title four times.

Charles L. Kendrick of Detroit is chairman of the State Championship committee which has made all the arrangements for the current tournament.

When the Michigan Amateur was returned to the Belvedere course this year, it marked its first appearance here since 1953. Golfers will find the 6,614 yard rolling course in top shape for the tournament. The fairways are wide and the greens in excellent condition. Recent rains, however, have softened the turf on the fairways, thus limiting the roll, Ray L. Kipke of the golf club staff said.

Mr. Kipke listed the tough holes as the 242-yard par 3 fourth hole because of the yardage and the slight elevation of the green, the 345 yard 16th hole with a par 4 because of its slight elevation and a long narrow green and the 2nd, 3rd and 5th fairways where Stover Creek runs across the field of play.

The Belvedere course, site of the 1957 tournament, was opened for play in 1927 by the Belvedere Association. Work on the rolling course was started in August 1925. William Watson, golf pro at the Charlevoix Golf course for many years, planned and laid out the present Belvedere course.

In the late 1920's and early 1930's it was the site of the Great Lakes Open for several years. The Michigan Amateur has also been held on the course several times.

The course whose rolling terrain gives golfers a view of both Lake Michigan and Lake Charlevoix was built on farms once owned by H. B. Hooker, Howard Blackwood and Frank Supernaw. The latter has been in charge of maintenance at the course since it was built.

News Round-up at Camp Charlevoix

The first week of camp started off on Monday morning, July 1, with the three different sections, Juniors, Intermediates, and Seniors, being taken around camp where each activity man told each group all about his activity and the way he is going to instruct the campers. Boys were enthused to meet the men and to see the many, and varied activities that are offered.

Tuesday the boys were busy going to the activity of his choice. The Green and Grey sides were chosen and as the entire camp is divided into the two teams, it was quite a job. Captains and lieutenants were chosen by each side in each section with the following boys being chosen to lead their respective sides to victory. In the Senior Section, Peck Kunzel was elected captain of the Greens, with David Smallwood and Davy Barnes as his lieutenants. Don Ringsred was chosen captain of the Greys with Jim Baird and Tom Layne as his lieutenants. In the Intermediate section, the Greys chose Teddy Schmidt as their captain to be assisted by John Baird and Mike Huber. The Greens picked Greg Hefferan, captain, with Mac Greene and Glen Moller. In the Junior Section, the Greys elected John Chappin as captain, with Rusty Smith and Bob Claycombe as his lieutenants. The Greens chose Bobby Wilson.

The Fourth of July dawned bright and sunny and a great day was planned. In the afternoon, Bill Wall, head of athletics ran a Green-Grey track meet and the events were arranged so that every boy in camp was in at least one event. Some of the winners were: Howie Holmes, John Baird, Don Ringsred, Tom Lyane, Doug Bethke, Phil Madouse, Rusty Smith, Bob Scholten, Freddy Gagel, Mike Huber, David Evans, David Angst, Greg Hefferan, Doug Elliott, Larry Johnson, Jim Strutz, Jon Steffenson, Frank Baird, David Sawyer, Donald Witter, Sam Rea, David Smith, Jonsey Alderman, Pete Willsey, Richard Woodward, Ralph Meisel, Bob Claycombe, Cal Matthews, John Richardson, Pete Davey, David Pfeiffer, Roy Gettel, and Bob Hicks. It was a great meet and the Greys picked up three points to start off our Green-Grey competition with a mighty fine lead.

During the afternoon, our cooks, had dug a huge pit down on the shore, and cooked large rolled roasts of beef over a charcoal fire. Boys enjoyed turning the spit and it was quite an adventure for the campers to see how this was done. Supper was served along the shore with the cooks slicing off the beef and giving each boy a large serving of beef for sandwiches. It was such a successful venture that we are planning on another such supper. When it got dark, the campers assembled on the shoreline down at the dock to see our fireworks display. It was the first time that we had ever ordered such an elaborate display, and Buz Fender and his committee did a fine job of shooting of the fireworks. The campers and staff all enjoyed the show very much.

Friday morning we slept until eight-thirty with breakfast at nine fifteen, as campers were all good and tired after a busy but happy Fourth.

Saturday evening we held our first skit night with three cabin groups entertaining the camp with a skit. Cabin 5, under the leadership of Mitch Paul, put on "The Value of a College Education". The boys taking part in this were: Harry Carlson, John Chapin, "Rusty" Smith, Phil Madouse, Sandy Pfeiffer, Ben Tate and Bobby Wilson. Cabin 10, with Bob Miracle in charge, put on "A Typical Camp Inspection". These boys were: Jim Sprow, Tom Coakley, Douglas Bethke, Roge Lundgren, Cay Matthews, John Richardson, Fred Tucker. Ross Hadley of cabin 15, had his boys put on a skit showing "The Ladies' Bridge Party". These bridge players(?) were: Arthur Brown, Teddy Schmidt, Bob Borden, Jack Hogan, Tom Huguenor, Mike Mans, and Dick Ward. The assistant counsellors ended the program with their version of "The Day the Atomic Bomb Went Off".

At Sunday morning chapel, the newly formed chapel choir made its first appearance. Bill Sheaffer gave the talk on "Being a Good Sport". The boys are enjoying the new Esty Organ which Ken plays at chapel. It has added much to the service. In the afternoon, the Greens and Greys met in a "Capture the Camper". In this event the campers all hide in the woods and the counsellors capture them. Our camp doctor "Casey" was high man among the counsellors as he captured 20 campers. The Greens had the least number of men caught so they won two points as the Greys won one point. In the evening the usual Sunday evening vespers were held, and the Senior Vespers were especially well done with Bill Wall and Bud Campbell.

The boys are all looking forward to the first trip to Mackinac Island which is given each year to the first fifty boys enrolled. Thursday is the day and a great trip is looked forward to.

Would Install Dial Phones on Beaver Island

Beaver Island will have a modern dial telephone system by fall if the Michigan Bell Telephone Company's application to the federal communications commission for a permit to operate a microwave radio relay system out of Charlevoix is approved. It was announced recently in Lansing.

The new system would replace the present one-line system operated by the U. S. Coast Guard which has been in use for many years.

Articles of incorporation and application to the Michigan Public Service Commission for a new telephone company are expected to be filed shortly.

If the Michigan Bell and the Island applications are approved, it is hoped that the system will be ready to be placed in operation at a later date.

A spokesman for the Island said that it is expected that 36 telephones would be connected as soon as the system was placed in operation and more would be added at a later date.

The U. S. Coast Guard which operates the present system, a one-line submarine cable which has served the Island for many years, served notice earlier this year that it was going out of the telephone business. This move by the Coast Guard accelerated the present plan for a microwave radio relay system. It will be comparable to the one used at Mackinac Island.

Announce Guest Speaker at Church Of God Meeting

The Rev. Emory Williams of Anderson, Ind., will be the guest speaker at the Community Church of God Sunday and the evangelist at special services to be held at the Church of God Camp ground next week, the Rev. George L. Majors, pastor of the church has announced.

The Rev. Mr. Williams is widely known in the Church of God movement as a speaker and baritone singer, the Rev. Mr. Majors said. This will be his second visit to Charlevoix. In 1955 he was the guest speaker at a series of services at the local church.

Thirty-two boatmen have been invited to participate in the parade and compete for cash prizes totaling $ 225.00.

As in the past the boats, decorated in a variety of themes, will enter Round lake from Lake Charlevoix and parade about the lake as a canopy of fireworks are released from Little Island near the Chicago Club.

The parade will begin as soon as darkness falls. A program in East Park featuring the Charlevoix Marine Band, the Camp Charlevoix Chorus singing sea chanteys and a number of acts will be presented in East Park preceding the parade.

Cole Circus to Present Show Here Tuesday

The circus is coming to town and that is an event of the year for youngsters and oldsters too who are still young at heart.

The big white trucks and vans of the Geo. W. Cole three ring wild animal circus are scheduled to roll into town early Tuesday morning. An afternoon and evening performance is scheduled for the one-day stand, July 23, under the auspices of the Leslie T. Shapton post, American Legion. Setting up the "city of tents" is always a fascinating feature of a circus and the Cole Circus always welcomes visitors to see this spectacular and highly organized feat.

Truck-mounted spools carry the "big top", spread it on the ground mechanically and then it is raised into the air with the help of ponderous elephants wearing special leather work harnesses. The big show goes into the air with amazing speed and efficiency.

About ten o'clock in the morning on circus day all of the wild animal cages will be open for nearly an hour's inspection by visitors to the circus grounds. This special morning event of the Cole circus has proved a great attraction and affords townspeople and opportunity to judge the quality and calibre of the show.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

How did you like the golf tournament we had last week? It was really something... with every round jam-packed with thrills... Everyone had his favorite and followed him with great interest... But, like all tournaments, there's only one winner... and as far as we can find out, the new champion is someone who's never been a wheel in golfing circles.

The young fry in the tournament sure had their hour... when several of them upset old-timers to come quite a ways in the meet... Even the former champion, Glenn Johnson, came close to being upset by one of these youngsters... What a blow that would have been!

We hope they enjoyed their stay here... and that they'll be back another time.

Of course you've heard about the reunion of the class of 1932 had recently... Like all reunions it was a howling success with all those who came swearing it was the best time they had ever had and those who didn't turned several shades of green (with envy) because they didn't get there... There are two more coming up this summer so we hope the members of the classes will make an effort to go... You'll never forgive yourself if you don't.

You've no doubt heard about the cherry pie baking contest one of our local stores sponsored recently... The winner turned out to be one of the best cooks in town, Mrs. Edward Olach, who earned the right to be called the best cherry pie baker... For years and years the family lived on a cherry farm... where they had scads of all the beautiful fruit... and added to that Mrs. Olach has a family of six who loved cherry pie... So it's easy to understand why she should bake such a delicious cherry pie.

"What am I supposed to do about the dogs? Ask them, in a polite way, to go home?" That's the problem that's facing the lifeguards on our beaches... Dogs are fine animals... we love 'em and think every family should have one... but they should also take care of their own pooches... To our way of thinking there's nothing quite so awful as to have a dog come out of the water and shake himself all over us... And then too, some people are afraid of dogs... and some dogs aren't fussy who they snap at... So we think it would be a much nicer place if everyone would leave his pooch at home when he goes to the beach... And you'd sure make those in charge of the beaches like you a lot more.

If you're looking for us next Tuesday don't look past the circus tent at the American Legion grounds... There's going to be a circus in town and that's where we'll be spending as much time as we can... There's something mighty interesting about the circus and if we had an opportunity there's nothing we'd like better than to be a part of one... Don't you think it would be great sport... seeing the country from the train or the top of a van... however they travel... A new audience almost every day... the excitement... the people in the circus held together by their love of the canvas, the applause and the song of the open road... if we go off the deep end about it, it doesn't mind... And if we should ever have another chance to come back to this good old world you'll find us in the circus or the carnival... just because we think it's a grand way to live.

Isn't it amazing how fashions repeat themselves through the years... The saying "There's nothing new under the sun" sure applies to styles... Doonie Heise showed us a page from an old magazine dated April 1884 and also loaned us a copy of Peterson's magazine of the same date... The styles then featured the draped skirt, the fitted waist and the tailored look... of course the skirts were a little longer and necklines more conservative... but it's amazing how much they resembled some of today's styles... And the stories in the magazines... The utterly utter Boston Browns, My Unnatural Persecution, Miss Carlyle's Lovers, A passing fancy to name a few... And gee, they weren't near as exciting as their titles would have you believe.

As you know, the Cherry Festival floral parade was held in Traverse City Friday... Charlevoix was well represented in the event with three of our girls riding in the surrey, with the fringe on top driven by Barney Englehart who had his trouble with a horse that didn't like crowds... with our wonderful band and our Queen, Deanna Anna Left, Judy Cunningham and Mona Davenport riding in a convertible... And then it rained... Judy, in a bathing suit on water skis was the only one in character... But everyone had a grand time despite the weather...

News Round-up at Camp Charlevoix

The second week of camp started off with more beautiful sunny weather, and boys starting their second week of activities. Many of the boys have become so engrossed in their chosen activity of last week that they are repeating this week. In the evening, the Senior Section had two games of Comandoo Soccer, while the Juniors saw two movies. This is the first year that we have had a movie projector in camp, as it has always been against the philosophy of the camp. Now we have movies only when the ground is wet, or it is raining. We still feel that camp is a place for outdoor activity and not a place to sit and watch a movie. To us, it is easy programming, and not a good camp activity. However, we did break down this year and purchase a projector and have films arriving weekly. But we are only going to use them in case of an emergency, and not as a regular weekly diet. There is too much to do in the great outdoors. But to get back to Monday night, the Juniors saw two films, and they really did enjoy them.

On Tuesday, the first of this summer's trips left camp for Mt. McSawba over on Lake Michigan. It was an overnight trip, and Dave Whittingham and Bob Miracle took their boys to start off our trip season. Ricki White accompanied the trip, while the boys on the trip were: Jim Sprow, Doug Bethke, Tom Coakley, Roger Lundgren, Cal Matthews, John Richardson, Jim Standish, Fred Tucker, Don Johnson, Stephen Giegler, David Hause, Peter Pinkham, David Runciman, Craig Wilson, Kent Jacobs, and Larry Johnson. In the Senior Section, Paul Bozzo of cabin 20 took his boys over on Lake Michigan for the afternoon, supper, and then into town for a movie. These boys were: Stuart Billstein, Bill Bodine, Bill McKenzie, Mark Wenner, David Wilson, Dave Evans, Paul Lindberg, David Mans, and Joe Schmidt. They reported having had a great time. Wednesday was a regular day in camp with boys accomplishing much in the activities. In the evening an all camp movie was shown. "Danny Boy", the story of a dog returned from the war zone to his family, proved very enjoyable and the boys loved it.

Thursday morning dawned sunny and bright and Ken took the first trip to Mackinac Island. These boys were among the first fifty enrolled away last summer to the season. They boys spending the day on the island were: Tom and Bob Huguener, Freddy Gagel, Phil Madouze, Dave Smith, Teddy Schmidt, Peck Kunkel, John and Danny Orman, John Lossing, Dirk and Bob Scholten, Jim and John Baird, Greg Hefferan, John Harmon, Frank Witter, Dick Daley, Stephen Wardrop, Roger Zvone, Mike Grass, Rusty Smith Roy Gettel, Roger Lungren, Stuart Crampton, John Baxter, and Billy Birkhill. The men on the trip with Ken were Don Halbeison, Mitch Paul and Bob Neff. It was a wonderful day, a great trip, and boys came back with presents for mom, dad, and uncle "Joe". The second trip to Mackinac Island will be around the first week in August.

Friday evening, cabin 19 went to the movies in town. Jim Moore took Jim Baird, Stewart Crampton, Peter Davey, Harold Emmons, Frank LaPointe, Bob Huguener, Bill Rands and David Pfeiffer.

On Saturday we had several visiting parents in camp and it was so good to see them. We always enjoy having the parents visit, and the day was warm and sunny and everyone had a good time. In the evening, we had our Annual Initiation Council Fire for which the new campers were blindfolded and led by the old campers on the long march to the Council Ring. "Chief", Ken and Warrior Bill

Townsend, ably assisted by young braves, Tom Richardson, Doug Graham, and Ricki White were in the Council Ring to welcome the tribe of Charlevoix. Bob Miracle did a sunshine dance, the spirits were dug up after being buried all winter, and Ken read some of the messages to the campers. All the heads of activities spoke on the pleasures derived from their own particular activity, and some very fine talks were given. Dave Whittingham had charge of the ceremony.

At the Sunday morning chapel service, we were pleased to have several parents as visitors. The Counselor's choir led the singing of the hymns, Ken played the organ, and Bill Fors, head of the Junior Section, gave the sermon. The title of his talk was: "Call Camp for Teht".

In the afternoon, a waterfront meet was held with the Greys winning two points and the Greens getting one. A feature of the meet was a watermelon scramble for the Juniors, with the Greens getting the prize and eating it as fast as was possible. Vesper services were held in the evening, with the Juniors meeting in the Paul Bunyan Ring. The rest of the camp met in the clubhouse, with Bud Campbell in charge.

Also on Sunday, the cabin groups elected their representatives to the Camp Council which meets and decides to which charities we are to send our Sunday morning chapel collections, the money taken in at the carnival, and rodeo concession money. The boys elected to the Camp Council are: George Coakley, George Steinhardt, Mike Steindler, Terry Summerfield, Harry Carlson, David Sawyer, Roger Witherill, Nelson Smith, Don Norria, Tom Coakley, David Hause, Jon Steffensen, John Baird, "Ace" Hoyt, Arthur Brown, Joe Mapes, David Smith, Ricki Croy, Jim Baird, Bill McKinzie, and David Smallwood.

We would like to remind parents, that the first four week boys are to leave before noon on July 27th, as the new boys are to arrive between one and two that same day. The annual carnival is held on that afternoon, July 27th, from three until five, and it is an ideal time to visit

Seventeen Matches Played in First Round of Annual City Golf Tourney

The third annual City Golf Tournament for the Frank Poole trophy has attracted 60 golfers. Keith Carey, club manager, said this week. A number of entries came in too late to be included in the tourney or the figure would have been larger, Mr. Carey added.

Seventeen matches were played over the weekend. All first round matches must be played by Saturday night.

All participants who were defeated in the first round will be moved into the consolation bracket so that all entries will have an opportunity to play at least two rounds in the meet, Mr. Carey said.

First round matches completed over the weekend are as follows:

defeated Kit Carson Jr., 2-1. Second flight: Ron Cunningham over Dave Hardy 4-2; John Swanson over Tip Riley 2 up; Grover Gencit over Guy Swanson 2-1; Ralph Shapton over Junior Supernaw 4-3.

Third flight: Larry Ingalls over Fritz Puffpatt 4-3; Herb Schofield over Ralph Hess Jr., 2-1; Charlie Dennis over Dick VanRaaphorst 5-4; Homer Brady over Bill Baker 3-1 and in the second round Brady won over Lyle Miles 3-2.

Fourth flight: Bob Anderson over Bill VanRaaphorst 7-6; Del Terill over Scott Supernaw 7-6; Bob Pearl over Pat Hawley 2-1; Al Bergmann over Bill Casey 1 up; Des Milligan over Tom Carter 5-3; Jim Lawver over George LaBlance 2 up.

When over-protected, deer multiply beyond the carrying capacity of winter range, deplete the available food and suffer die-offs. Michigan lost about 36,000 deer to starvation during the 1955-56 winter.

ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDING

Notes from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold E. Kohn

On Keeping Your Balance

If most people were asked, "How does a fish swim?" they would answer, "With its fins, of course." But this is one of the many "of course's," the natural assumption about Nature's children, that are not so. Most fishes do not swim with their fins at all.

Take our Lake Charlevoix yellow perch, for example. They, like their bass and sunfish and pike cousins, swim with their tails rather than their fins. The appendages we know as "fins"—the dorsal fin lying on the ridge of the back, the pectoral fins that just back of the gills, the pelvic and anal fins that lie along the abdomen—are all used by perch for steering and stabilizing the fish, and most of all for maintaining balance. Actual swimming is done with the tail, which whips from side to side in a sculling motion, propelling the fish forward.

Even a slight knowledge of the anatomy of the earth's children is enough to convince the observer that the Creator has given much attention to providing His Creatures with equipment for maintaining their balance. Fins on perch, long bushy tails on fox squirrels, the heavy stout tails of kangaroos, the tails of the king crab, the semicircular canals in the inner ear of such mammals as man—all serve the purpose of helping the creature to maintain its balance.

But balance in nature is far more than a matter of creatures possessing special equipment for remaining upright. Balance is a fundamental principal integral with nature and essential to life as we know it on this planet. We see the essential nature of balance illustrated in the proportions of birds to insects and small mammals on a certain acreage of land. Song birds feed upon insects and weed seeds. Hawks and owls devour large numbers of meadow mice and whitefooted mice, which consume remarkable amounts of grain. If straw, half-wild cats or boys with air rifles kill off the songbirds, the insects and weeds thrive and become serious threats to the farmers. If boys and men shoot down every hawk and owl they see, the grain-hungry mice multiply prodigiously. Farmers suffer when on the face of the earth is lopsided virtue. The scribes and Pharisees of Jesus' time were affected with it. They cherished the past, which is good and commendable, but they were blind to new insights that the present day offered them. They were aware of what God had said to Moses but deaf to what God was saying to them in their own time. They were excited about enforcing the minute, fine points of the law, but they often missed the grand and sweeping spirit of their religion. That sort of lopsidedness has not disappeared from religious circles. It is a sign of a diseased spirit. The person who abides by all the rules of religion and still is ungracious and spiritually unattractive is unbalanced. The ultra-pious, who can find a Scripture text to support every prejudice but who cannot read in current events and in the lives of their contemporaries, in nature and in their own life-adventures, what God is saying to them now, are only half-alive.

One is equally wrong in having an arrogant sense of his own self-importance or in groveling in whining inferiority. Both are persons who are so rigid that he can never change his opinion and the one who is constantly changing his mind are mentally unhealthy. Some people are so indifferent to others' needs that they will do nothing for others unless they are sure of reward. Others are so soft-hearted that they are foolishly victimized by their husbands, wives, children, and acquaintances and help make of them self-seeking ingrates, and both are miserable and contribute to the spiritual hardship of those near them.

If we are to be at our best, we need to claim for ourselves some of the balance God has built into nature. Here are some balances we can profitably seek:

1. A balance between getting and giving
2. A balance between withdrawing into the shelter of our faith and going out into the world to expose our faith.
3. A balance between fighting against evil and building the good.
4. A balance between acquiring more knowledge on how to handle life and applying what knowledge we already have.
5. A balance emphasis between life's means and its ends, between the techniques of living and the purpose for which we live.
6. A balance between life's restraints and its freedoms, having enough but not too much of each.
7. A balance between fretful discontent and contented lethargy.
8. A balance between hard work and satisfying rest.
9. A balance between seeking privileges and assuming responsibilities.
10. A balance between life's tough outward circumstances and rich and dependable inner resources.

Many a patient in a hospital, imprisoned in casts and swathed in bandages, has explained his fall by saying, "I just lost my balance." Loss of balance explains many a moral and spiritual tragedy, too.

There is an old benediction which says, "Now unto Him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy, to the only wise God our Saviour, be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and forevermore. Amen." He "that is able to keep you from falling"—how does He do it? Usually by showing us how, in the life of the Supreme Example, a man keeps his balance.

Pulitzer Winner Lauds State in August 'Holiday'

The past, present and future of America are all tied up together in a hard knot in the state of Michigan, writes Bruce Catton in the August issue of Holiday Magazine.

In a 14-page tribute to his native state, the Pulitzer Prize-winning author writes, "Michigan is the 20th Century incarnate and if you look closely you can also see the twenty-first coming in; but it is also the 19th Century, the backward glance and the authentic feel and taste of a day that is gone forever. It is the skyscraper and the mass production line as well as the golden sand blue water and green pine trees on empty hills."

Detroit is described as a place which "didn't exactly invent the automobile, but picked the thing up when it was nothing better than a costly and unreliable toy for the rich and made it a necessity for everybody in America."

Mr. Catton continues, "Detroit sets the pace because this is where the muscle and the knowledge are; and if you don't think the future belongs to America, you should come here and breathe the air for a while."

The Holiday article discusses the entire State from the wilderness areas of the North Country to the industrial centers of the lower peninsula. It is illustrated with 17 photographs.

More salt is present in the Atlantic than the Pacific.

DODGE outperforms
"other two" low-priced trucks!

They're off! All three low-priced trucks are lined up at the bottom of a test grade equal to the steepest hill in San Francisco. The flag drops, and this grueling test of climbing power is officially underway. Dodge takes an early lead.

Halfway up. The extra V-8 power under the hood of the Dodge sends it quickly ahead. It's already two lengths out front. And there's a 1000-lb. test load on each one of these comparably equipped trucks. What's more, Dodge is still gaining!

Dodge flashes past the finish five lengths ahead of competition. Truck "C" and truck "F" just couldn't match that 204-hp. Power Giant. And this is just one of a rugged series of tests that prove Dodge is best of the low-priced three.

• Your Dodge truck dealer has proof that Dodge leads in many ways. Come in ... see other certified test-photo sequences ... and take a demonstration ride!

Bounty Payments Cost State $34,215

Bounty payments cost the state $34,215 for foxes, coyotes and bobcats taken during May by hunters and trappers.

Including the May total, more than $97,000 has been paid this year in bounties in Michigan. Bounties are paid from the Game and Fish Protection Fund, created by revenue from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses.

During the month of May, 6,318 foxes, 140 coyotes and 30 bobcats were presented for bounty. All of the bobcats and all but 24 of the coyotes were taken in the upper peninsula, while foxes were bountied generally throughout the state.

Cutting traffic death to a low figure is not just a police matter, it needs your help and support.

The bonds will be dated June 1, 1957, will be coupon bonds of the denomination of $1,000.00 each, and will consist of fifty-two (52) bonds of $1,000.00 each, numbered consecutively in direct order of maturity from 1 to 52, both inclusive, payable serially as follows:

$5,000.00 March 1st of each year from 1959 to 1967, both inclusive; $7,000.00 March 1, 1968.

Said bonds shall be coupon bonds, registrable as to principal only on the books of the City Treasurer, and shall bear interest at a rate or rates not exceeding five per cent (5%) per annum, expressed in multiples of 1/4 of 1%, payable March 1st of each year. The interest rate for each coupon period on any bond shall be at one rate only. Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank or trust company designated by the purchaser of the bonds. Accrued interest to date of delivery of said bonds shall be paid by the purchaser at time of delivery.

Bonds numbered 1 to 20, both inclusive, maturing in the years 1959 to 1962, both inclusive, shall not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.

Bonds numbered 21 to 52, both inclusive, maturing in the years 1963 to 1969, both inclusive, will be subject to redemption prior to maturity, at the option of the City, in inverse numerical order, on any interest payment date on or after March 1, 1962.

Bonds so called for redemption shall not bear interest after the date fixed for redemption, provided funds are on hand with the paying agent to redeem said bonds.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds, the interest costs of each bid will be computed by determining at the rate or rates specified therein the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from August 1, 1957, to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the City. No proposal for purchase of less than all of the bonds herein offered, or at a price less than 100% of their par value will be considered.

Five Ordered to Make Restitution; Now on Probation

Five East Jordan youths who had pleaded guilty to breaking and entering several cottages in the East Jordan area, Jan. 20, received their final probation orders after being arraigned earlier. They were placed on two years probation, ordered to make restitution of $127.65 and pay court costs of $22.35 each to observe a 10 p. m. curfew and ordered not to drive a car without permission from their probation officer. However, they may drive an employer's car but only during working hours.

They were Calvin Darbee, 18, Robt. Johnson, 15 Gary Cihak, 16 David Nachazel, 18, who appeared Monday. Jon Bos, 18, the sixth youth involved in the charge, appeared earlier.

City Recognizes Pictorial Work By Robt. C. Miles

The Charlevoix city council, at its regular meeting Monday night, adopted a resolution commending Robert C. Miles, local photographer.

A resolution commended him for his talent in preparing and publishing the color booklet, "Charlevoix the Beautiful" and for the time and research spent in preparing the many fine old pictures of the early days of Charlevoix for display during the city's centennial year. A copy of the resolution is to be forwarded to Mr. Miles.

The council also voted to purchase 500 copies of the booklet to be used for advertising purposes.

In other action the council issued a building permit to Mrs. Elizabeth Scramlin of Petoskey for a varnished log house to be constructed at 212 W. Upright ave. A petition to the council to stop construction of the house was denied as the building was in accordance with the city zoning ordinance.

Mackie Predicts New Free-way From Ohio to Benefit North Area

Northern Michigan residents connected with the resort industry should "have no cause to worry" about the completion of the Mackinaw Bridge because of a soon-to-be-constructed free-way from the Ohio border north, John Mackie, recently-elected State Highway Commissioner, told a meeting of local Democrats here Monday.

Mr. Mackie described the limited-access highway that would connect a population area of more than 40 million people with this northern resort country. He suggested that the new highway would change time-distance relationships, whereas previously people had spoken in terms of miles, the new connection would have people speaking of so many hours to Charlevoix, rather than miles.

The highway, similar to turnpikes in other states, would have turn-offs only at towns along the way. The federal government would pay 90 percent of the cost, justifying the expenditure mainly in terms of the defense system.

In addition, Mr. Mackie said that lifted road restrictions for trucking would aid the area's interest in small industry. If highways are properly constructed, "frost laws" can be eliminated except for certain portion of the spring, he said. The upper load restrictions of 32,000 pounds for trucking would remain the same, however.

Prior to the meeting with local Democrats at the city hall, Mr. Mackie conferred with Mayor James Miller and city superintendent, Hal M. Hill regarding the resurfacing of a portion of US 31 south. Mr. Mackie told them that it was unfortunate that the bids for the project were received

Bids for County Hospital Will Be Opened Wednesday

Bids on construction of a medical care facility for residents of Charlevoix county will be opened here Wednesday.

The $500,000.00 bond issue to finance the cost of building the one-story fireproof structure was approved last year. Final plans were approved by the Charlevoix county board of supervisors earlier this month. The J. & G. Daverman Co. of Grand Rapids drew up the plans.

The facility which will be located on the site of the present Grandview hospital near East Jordan is expected to be completed in 1958.

Officials of the Daverman company said that the design of the 60 bed building follows the newest concepts in care of older citizens. All patients facilities are located on one floor and lavatories and bathrooms are designed for use by wheel chair patients.

Generous use has been made of glass throughout the building. Wide canopies on the building exterior prevent sun glare in the summer. Special draft-prevention features are also incorporated in the building.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

A visitor from the deep south received a bit of northern hospitality the other day . . . and rather liked what he found . . . So says the crew at the city hall . . . The visitor was a homing pigeon which walked into the city hall Friday afternoon and sorta made itself at home . . . Wanting to show him that the south doesn't have a monopoly on hospitality our city treasurer, Nelle Hammond, rushed to her apartment across the street to bring refreshments (in the form of oatmeal) . . . It was found the bird was banded in Atlanta, Ga., in 1954 by the Audubon Society . . . After resting a while and eating the food placed before him, he was sent on his way . . . But he was reluctant to leave his new-found friends who had to close the doors on him so he'd go away . . . What he was doing this far north no one knows . . . but one can't help but wonder . . .

We were telling Jake White, our fisherman friend, about it and he was telling us about one that found refuge on his fish tug in a fog off Ludington one time . . . It seems that the bird's navigation system just don't operate in a fog . . . and just about any time there's a heavy fog or bad snowstorm early in the fall at least one bird will lose its way and land on the top of the tug . . . Once this year there were four including two little goldfinches . . . As soon as the boat got into the harbor or near land if the fog has lifted they'll fly away . . . He was also telling us about the big beaver he once saw swimming between Beaver Island and the mainland near Waughashank.

If we hadn't seen it we never would have believed it . . . that people would come for miles and miles to an auction sale . . . There was one in our neighborhood Saturday . . . scheduled for noon . . . They started to arrive at 11:30 and by noon you could n't find a parking place for blocks . . . Since we're not an auction addict, we just don't get it . . . But some people love and will go and spend the day.

It's that time of year again . . . Venetian night . . . Come Sunday and our lovely queen, Deanna Left, will receive her crown in a special coronation ceremony scheduled for 3 p. m. . . Then, come Sunday night, the boat parade and the fireworks . . . Oh yes, and there's to be a street dance Saturday night along with a lot of other things in the way of entertainment . . . So, see you over the weekend . . . OK?

Happened to be at the beach the other day . . . and with one of the nicest weekends we've seen on tap, it was crowded . . . You know, we sometimes wonder if the people of Charlevoix appreciate what we have at our doorstep . . . or perhaps we should make that plural . . . for at our front door we have Lake Michigan with its miles of beaches which are a joy just to look at . . . and at our backdoor there's Lake Charlevoix . . . where the boats with the pretty white sails hold forth every sunny afternoon . . . Of course, there's always the cruisers and smaller craft darting about the lake throwing up a wake that matches the sails of other boats . . . And the water's so blue these days . . . and the sand so white . . . and the sun so hot . . . Why can't we enjoy it

A son, John Louis, born to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Wojan July 15.
A son, Steven Lloyd, born to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Newstad of East Jordan July 15.
A daughter, Joy Lynn, born to Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Goebel of East Jordan July 18.
A daughter, Charlotte Marie, born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Howard of East Jordan July 18.
A daughter, Marjorie Alice, born to Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Norton July 19.
A son born to Mr. and Mrs. James Beards July 21.

as our visitors do . . . and not have to work!

It will be a great day for the island . . . Come Aug. 11 . . . the day of the annual home coming . . . Beaver Island whose harbor is located some 34 miles northwest of here is already rushing plans for the big event . . . And if you want a good time just take in this homecoming . . . it's something you'll never forget . . . we promise you!

Have you seen the new books on Charlevoix which made their first appearances in the stores last week . . . We'd like to tell you a little story about those . . . A couple winters ago Bob Miles taught a class in photography in the adult education program . . . Along with several others interested in photography we were enrolled . . . At that time Bob told us about this book . . . at that time just the wisp of a dream . . . last week he came in with a copy of it . . . a dream come true . . . It's a lovely little book with beautiful, beautiful pictures . . . all in color . . . of our Charlevoix . . . If you know anyone who once lived here and loves it as much as you do, send them one of these . . . We think they're terrific and we know you'll like 'em

We have a candidate for the orchid of the week . . . or perhaps we should say a trio of candidates . . . They're our life-guardians, Joe Etienne, Bob Doctor and Ron Geer . . . who are doing a grand job on our beaches . . . It may look like fun but it's not an easy job . . . but these three have taken it in their stride . . . a lot of mothers we know have voiced their appreciation . . . we'd like to pass it along to the guys concerned.

It's now Chief William to you . . . oh yes, and Princess Eleanor . . . she who smokes the peace pipe . . . Of course we mean the Ratigans who were among those honored at the Ottawa Indian Naming ceremony at Harbor Springs Friday and Saturday night . . . Wonder if Chief Bill will put up a teepee front on the Dockside Press and take to sitting cross-legged at the door smoking his pipe . . . Could be!

Four youngsters we know took off on a camping trip near Mt. McSaub last week . . . Because of the weather they weren't allowed to take fresh meats, vegetables, etc., because of the lack of refrigeration . . . But the second night out came an SOS . . . Bring us food . . . we have an ice box . . . Everyone was skeptical and one couldn't blame them . . . But sure enough they did have . . . Seems they'd been digging in the sand at the foot of the mountain where it's shaded by the trees and undergrowth all day . . . and there they found a snowbank covered by the drifting sand . . . So they utilized it by storing their meats, milk, soft drinks and what have you in it . . . If you don't believe us ask Jack Stewart, Darrell Somerville, Jock Rader or Jim Bergmann about it . . . They're the campers.

One of our local cabin operators called us with a comment she'd had from one of her guests . . . The couple from Ohio was real impressed with all the lovely flowers she found in bloom at the cabin site as well as all over town and asked about them, adding that it's no wonder that the town's called Charlevoix, the beautiful . . . So, all you people who do your bit to keep Charlevoix beautiful . . . take a bow.

Ever hear of a night-blooming cerus? . . . We hadn't either until Monday night when Mrs. Harry Gebeau called to say that one she had raised from a slip and had been nursing along for a couple of years finally unfolded . . . We didn't get to see it but it sure sounded as lovely as its perfume.

Charlevoix Telephone Lines

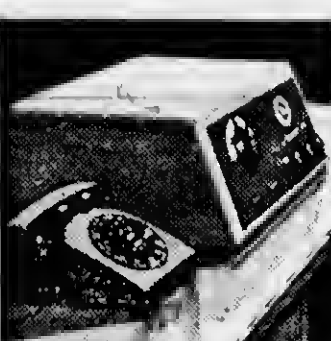

LES JOHNSON
Michigan Bell Manager

VACATION BOUND?
Before you go, you may save yourself a lot of trouble by phoning ahead to be sure of your reservations. And if you're delayed on the way, call ahead from a handy Public Telephone and let them know. If it's friends or relatives you're planning to visit, phone and tell them when you'll arrive. They'll appreciate your thoughtfulness. Long Distance rates are low. You can call places a day's drive away for about a dollar. So don't let anything upset your vacation. Plan by Long Distance.

AN ADDITIONAL PHONE is an awfully handy thing, especially if it's a bedside phone. Think of all the times the phone rings while you're in the bedroom—and you have to run to another part of the house to answer it. You'd certainly save a lot of tiring steps if you had a phone in your bedroom. It's a nice quiet place to make those personal calls, too. And if you're ever ill, a bedside telephone is mighty convenient and comforting. Why not order one now? You can select from eight modern decorator colors.

CALL ANY TIME—this person's phone will be answered and messages taken whenever he's out. Many professional and business people are giving customers the convenience of Michigan Bell's telephone answering set. Soon you may make a call and hear "This is a recording. There's no one in the office. After you hear the two beep-tones, you'll have half a minute to leave a message, your name and phone number..." When he returns, your message will be played back and your instructions followed. Quite a service, isn't it?

News Round-up at Camp Charlevoix

The third week of camp started off with most every cabin group planning an overnight trip somewhere, and the boys are getting anxious to sleep out under the stars, and getting the thrill of cooking their own meals and learning how to make themselves comfortable in the great outdoors. Cabins 3 and 4, with Glenn Stark and Al Kristensen as leaders, went down to Eastport with their junior boys to the State Park. The boys on this trip were: Sandy Coakley, Fletcher Cole, Ken McLean, Mike Steindler, Doug Elliott, Dennis Ortmann, Mike Roberts, Howard Holmes, Bob Scholten, Robert Woolford, Terry Summerfield, Tommy Quail, Tom Coyle, and Russell Washburn. Cabin number 6, with Bill Fors and Tom Richardson as leaders took their boys down to the Richardson's summer home on South Arm of Lake Charlevoix. They had a great time, and came back to camp after an afternoon of fun, and much swimming.

One of the "big" events of the season started this day. The "Mug-Wump" was started. This is a piece of wood which is supposed to resemble a duck, and the Greens and the Greys try to keep it away from each other by hiding it in the woods, though they must run it through the three sections at least once each day. It is a lot of fun, and the boys love it.

Cabin number 8, Buz Fenders boys, went on an overnight to Bayshore. These boys were Nelson Smith, Charles Sullivan, Bobby Sutherland, Mike Hall, Gil Haynie, and Steve Irmischer. Cabin number 20, some of our oldest and biggest boys in camp, took canoe and with their counselor, Paul Bozzo, left for a trip on the Crooked River, Bay Lake, and Indian River. These young hussies were Stuart Bilsen, Bill Wenner, David Wilson, David Evans, Paul Lindberg, David Mans, and Joe Schmidt.

On Tuesday, two more of our junior cabins, numbers 1 and 2, went down to Eastport. These are the smallest and youngest boys in camp, with Dean Hogenboom and Bud Campbell in charge. The boys on this trip were: Hank Boyer, Geoffrey Browning, George Coakley, Howard Morgan, and Parky Smith. Billy Allendorf, Tom Bonelli, Tom Rotz, Bruce Claycombe, John Foley, Jeff MeLean, Ralph Meisel, George Steinhardt, Butch Allendorf, and Howard Rehphan. Cabin number 5, with Mitch Paul and Bobby Wood in charge took the camp station wagon over to Lake Michigan for the boys to enjoy supper out and a swim. These boys were: Harry Carlson, Sandy Killins, Rusty Smith, Phil Madouse, Sandy Pfeiffer, Ben Tate, and Bobby Wilson. In the afternoon, cabin number 14 left with canoe to come down the Jordan River and into Lake Charlevoix and up the South Arm. This is Bob Neff's group, and the boys were: Grey Hefferan, Ace Hoyt, Phil Huber, John Reedy, Tom Smith, Freddy Gagel, Glen Moller, and Pete Willsey. We had three cabins into town to the movies that night, and they all enjoyed a Bob Hope picture. Cabin number 19 with Jim Moore as the counselor took an overnight fishing trip, the boys being: Jim Baird, Stewart Crampton, "Pete" Davey, Harold Emmons, Bob Hicks, Frank LaPointe, Bob Huguener, David Pfeiffer, and Bill Rands.

Before I forget it, I'd like to request parents who have any books cluttering up the bookshelves, children's books or adult novels, to please bring them to camp to help build up our camp library. We'd especially like to get more "Hardy Boys" books, or other sets of boys' books. They would indeed be appreciated.

Wednesday was kept free of trips leaving camp as the camp photographer, Paul Gach, of Grosse Pointe, Michigan, was here to take the camp pictures. Boys were all dressed in their whites, and Mr. Gach was kept busy taking activity pictures, and cabin groups.

On Thursday, more pictures were taken, with once more a few cabins taking to the road. Cabin number 7, "Casey", took a horseback trip over to Mt. Maunabo on Lake Michigan. The boys on this trip were: Billy Birkhill, Geoffrey Carroll, Paul Kravitz, Stephen Wardrop, Roger Witherhill, Scott Campbell, and Randy Grossman. Harry Kinner, one of our cowboys from Neb-rasga accompanied this trip, and the boys got quite a thrill out of riding this distance on horseback. Cabin number 9, with Roger Wooten in charge, was taken to Bell's Bay on Lake Michigan for an overnight. These boys were: Judd Freeman, Roy Gettel, Mike Huber, Don Norris, Jim Coyle, Mae Greene, and Charles Ruifrok.

Another trip which left camp for Wilderness State Park, up at Mackinaw City were the two cabins of Ross Hadley and Bill Schaeffer. These boys were: Arthur Brown, Ted Schmidt, Bob Borden, Jack Hogan, Tom Huguener, Mike Mans, Dick Ward, Chris Cannon, Ricki Croy, David Meister, Merrick Pease, Tim Wurtz, Richard Beard, Chip Elliott, Bill McMullen, and Kent Smith.

Friday evening ended the running of the "Mug-Wump", and though it was run several times, only the Greens gained a point through a successful running.

We had several visitors in camp on Saturday and it was a perfect day for camping, hot and sunny and the boys loved it. The afternoon was devoted to waterfront activities with everyone in swimming. In the evening three cabin groups and the counselors of the Intermediate put on skits in the "Bigwam" much to the amusement of everyone. Cabin number 6, with Bill Fors directing, put on their skit called "The Wild Animal". The boys in this were: Jonsey Alderman, Scotty Emmons, Mike Hagge, David Sawyer, Stuart Leslie, John Ortmann, Donald Strutz, and Danny Schaefer. Kent Gibbs and his boys put on their skit called: "Push-button Radio". These boys were: John Deane, Peter Girardin, Paul Hunter, Wes Murfin, Jon Steffensen, Frank Witter, Neil Funk, and Steve Wilson. Cabin 18, with Bill Schaeffer as counselor put on "Precision Incision" with Chris Cannon, Ricki Croy, David Meister, Merrick Pease, Tim Wurtz, Richard Baird, Chip Elliott, Bill McMullen, and Kent Smith. The Intermediate Counselors climaxed the evening under the direction of Ross Hadley with their skit called "Col. Ketchum". It took place in darkest Africa and the men in the skit were: Bill Neuman, David Whittingham, Bob Miracle, Roger Wooten, Buz Fender. The evening closed with the singing of "Taps".

On Sunday morning, chapel was held in the woods with Malcolm "Bud" Campbell as the speaker. He took as his subject "Patience", and it was a most thought-provoking talk. The counselors choir led the hymn singing. At the noon meal, a mock-wedding ceremony was given for the benefit of our camp doctor, Casey. It was a complete surprise and with the entire staff in on the deal, it was quite a show, with bridesmaids, mother of the bride, grandma, aunt from Paduca, and many other guests. It was a great success and the campers and "Casey" loved it. In the afternoon a treasure hunt was held with Paul Bozzo in charge. The Greys won three more points putting them far in the lead in the Grey-Green competition. Sunday evening Vespers were held in all three sections.

Charlevoix's waterfront pictured at the turn of the century when schooners crowded the docks and slips much as they do today. Today's boats are mostly pleasure craft, many of them those which participated in the recent Chicago to Mackinac and Port Huron to Mackinac races.

Local Harbor Is Stage for Water Spectacle of North

Charlevoix's land-locked harbor formed by Round Lake is one of the finest on the Great Lakes.

This weekend this fine harbor will digress from its usual role as a haven for pleasure craft from throughout the area and become a stage for the colorful Venetian Night boat parade, the most spectacular water event in the north.

The many yachts, cruisers and schooners which line the docks and slips will become box seats for the parade which features boats decorated in countless themes by the use of colored lights and lanterns.

More than 25 boats will vie with each other for the prizes offered by the Charlevoix Board of Commerce but more important than that, each boat owner will try to outdo the other in clever and unusual ideas portrayed in color and decoration.

Two lines of boats, towed by lead boats, will enter the stage from Lake Charlevoix via the upper channel at a signal planned in advance . . . the first flash of fireworks.

As the boats move slowly around the lake, one to the north and the other to the south, the reflection of their lights mingle with those of the fireworks, turning the water into a spectacle resembling glittering jewels in a myriad of colors.

The decorated boats will pass over the festivities. In her court the judges' boat off East Park where the judges, John Anderson, and John Williams of Station WPBN-TV in Traverse City and their respective wives, will view the boats and select the winners. Their task will not be an easy one for already boatmen, closed behind locked doors, are working their imaginations overtime planning the themes and gathering materials for their boats.

The first Venetian night was held back in 1934. It seemed a "natural" for the community which is built around Round Lake. Terraces about the lake formed a natural amphitheater for the spectacular production.

Through the years it has grown in scope, and except for the years of World War II has been presented annually.

The idea of a Venetian queen was introduced in 1949 and each year since then a queen has been selected from among Charlevoix's many beauties to reign over the Venetian weekend which is held each year the last Saturday and Sunday in July.

This year Deanna Left, a brown-eyed brunette, will rule over the festivities. In her court will be Sue Grate, Judy Cunningham and Nancy Wallace.

During its 23 year history Venetian night has become one of the outstanding tourist attractions in the north. In recent years it has been enlarged to a two-day event with a variety of entertainment designed for the enjoyment of the many visitors from the midwest to view it.

Retired Workers in County Get $38,863 in Monthly Benefits

More than 675 retired workers in Charlevoix county are receiving monthly social security insurance payments totaling $38,863 at the end of 1956.

In addition, monthly benefit payments were going to 220 widows or aged dependent husbands of old-age beneficiaries and to 70 widows or dependents aged widows and parents in the county.

These increases result in part from the protection provided to farm families and to the lowering from 65 to 62 of the age at which a woman may qualify for benefits. E. O. Wiles, Social Security Administration District manager in Traverse City, said this week. The lowering of the retirement age for women was one of the provisions of the 1956 Amendments to the Social Security Act and became effective last November. It applies to retired women workers, wives of old-age beneficiaries, and widows or dependents mothers of insured workers. Many women who would have had to wait up to three years longer before starting to get benefits under the old law became entitled to benefits in the last two months of 1956.

Noting that OASI coverage has taken hold rapidly in recent years, Wiles pointed out that three-fourths of the men becoming 65 this year will be eligible for social security benefits. Of all people over 65 years of age, 62 percent are now drawing benefits or will be entitled to draw them when their income from work stops.

In December, 1956, 135 children in Charlevoix county were being paid a total of $4,559 monthly. They are largely minor children of a deceased insured parent; a smaller number were children under 18 whose insured father or mother had retired. All of these were unmarried children under 18. While child benefits ordinarily stop at age 18, attention is called to a recent change in the law which makes payments possible for a child over 18, based on the insured account of a retired or deceased parent, if the child became totally disabled before reaching 18. Payments will be made also to a mother who has a disabled child in her care. This provision did not become effective until January 1957, consequently, disabled child beneficiaries are not included in the total given above.

Health Officers Start Inspection Of Resort Areas

John B. Reynolds, chief sanitarian, and Francis McDowell, sanitarian for District Health Dept. No. 3, are in the process of making inspections of resort establishments in the four county area served by the district unit, it has been announced by Dr. A. F. Litzenberger, Health Department director said this week.

Motels, tourist cabins, summer camps and similar business in Charlevoix, Antrim, Emmet and Otsego counties are scheduled to be inspected. The accommodations of such businesses as well as their water supply, sewage disposal and food handling facilities will be checked.

Persons planning to construct new resort facilities of this type or to remodel existing buildings are urged to contact the health department so their plans can be approved before construction begins. Such action will enable resort operators to secure information about the new state-wide water supply regulations that became effective in November 1956.

Resort owners who comply with state and local sanitation standards are awarded a metal "HDA" sign for roadside display "HDA" stands for Health Department Approved. These signs are now displayed by more than 2,000 Michigan resorts.

Plan Library Project

The library committee of Banks Township school, with Miss Golda Sherck, librarian, as chairman met last week to plan projects to help build up the library to at least the minimum standard recommended by the state, for an accredited school of this size.

Since the library budget allowed by the school board was set up prior to the inspection of the school and the subsequent recommendation, it was necessary to plan projects to earn enough to meet present needs. This is an emergency measure because next year and in the years following, the budget of the school can allow for the needs of the library.

Several plans were discussed and projects in the next few months will be revealed whereby the community can do its part, for it is truly a library for the school and the community since there is no public library.

By the way, would any of you readers have a good used sink that would be available for Miss Sherck to use in her library?

work room? If so, please contact Mrs. Henry Ruis, Mrs. Harvey Essenberg, or Mrs. Grant Hastings.

ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDING

Notes from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold E. Kohn

Stings and Nectar

The bee that gathers nectar serves itself, its colony of fellow bees, and fertilizes the flowers from which it draws its harvest. But the bee that stings in backward-pointed barbs pulls the imbedded stinger from its body as it struggles to leave its victim, causing itself irreparable injury and death.

People are like bees. If they seek the good and the best wherever they go, they ennoble themselves, inspire and assist their fellowmen, and improve the world. But if they are hostile and sting with sharp words and painful deeds, they not only hurt their intended victims but mortally injure their own souls.

Every child of God must decide what kind of "bee" he will be — a gatherer of nectar or a creature that inflicts pain.

William Ratigan Honored at Indian Naming Ceremony

During the traditional Indian naming ceremony at the annual Ottawa Indian Pageant celebrated at Harbor Springs Friday and Saturday nights, William Ratigan, author of the current Great Lakes best seller "Straits of Mackinac" was adopted into the Algonquin nation as a chief of the Ottawa, Chippewa and Pottawatomi tribes. Mrs. Ratigan, in accordance with ancient tradition, became an Indian princess.

The "paleface" names of the couple were written on a birch bark scroll by Chief Pipiwa and burned to ashes in the ritual campfire. Mr. Ratigan then received his new name of Opwa-nan-ian Kanatong, "Interpreter of Dreams" while his wife became Waka-igan Ogima-kwe, "Rainbow Princess".

In addition to "Straits of Mackinac", Mr. Ratigan has written historical novels, all containing sympathetic portrayals of the Great Lakes tribes, "The Adventures of Captain McCargo", "Young Mr. Big" and the ever-popular "Soo Canal". He also

Dr. Louis Mann Will Be Guest Preacher Here

One of America's leading ministers, Dr. Louis L. Mann, Rabbi of Chicago's famed Sinai Temple, will be the guest preacher at Charlevoix's First Congregational church on Sunday morning, August 4th, at the 11 o'clock worship service. His sermon subject will be, "You Can Be Happy."

Widely known and deeply respected for his leadership in spiritual, humanitarian and intellectual matters, Dr. Mann has been in the forefront of many movements that have effected for the better the moral climate of America. Together with Charles Evans Hughes and Newton D. Baker he was one of the founders of the Round Table of Christians and Jews, and in company with Charles Dawes and A. D. Lasker he founded the Chicago Round Table of Christians and Jews.

Dr. Mann helped establish the Hillel Foundation in American Universities. His wide and all-inclusive interest in human welfare is witnessed to by his vice-presidency of the Big Brothers Movement of America, his membership in the White House Conference on Child Welfare, his position as arbitrator on the United States Government Labor Board, and his membership on the executive boards of the Carnegie Foundation church and of Peace Union. With Margaret Sanger and others Dr. Mann was one of the founders of the American Birth Control League.

In academic circles of this country and abroad Dr. Mann is well recognized and highly esteemed for his scholarship, and has notably succeeded in spreading his enthusiasm for learning. He studied at Johns Hopkins University, the University of Cincinnati, Hebrew Union College and received his Doctor of Philosophy degree at Yale University. Dr. Mann served as lecturer in Comparative Ethics at Yale, and has been, for many years, Professor of Oriental Languages at the University of Chicago, in addition to his duties as Rabbi of Sinai Temple. Among his many degrees, besides Doctor of Philosophy, this outstanding minister holds the A. B., M. A., B.H.L., D. D., S. T. D., and Litt. D. degrees. Some years ago the French Government made him a member of the French Academy, a very rare honor. Dr. Mann has served as president of the scholastic honorary society, Phi Beta Kappa, in the Chicago area.

A prolific writer, Dr. Mann's publications are too numerous to mention, but among them might be cited the New Thorndike Dictionary, of which he was a collaborator, the Dictionary of American Biography and the World's Best Sermons on Peace to which he contributed. Dr. Mann is Editor of the New Universal Jewish Encyclopedia and the author of "In Quest of the Bluebird."

Charlevoix will enthusiastically welcome Dr. Mann's appearance in the pulpit of the First Congregational church next Sunday morning.

Thousands Flock To City for Annual Venetian Festival

One of the largest crowds in recent years witnessed the special events which were climaxed by the Venetian boat parade on Round Lake under a canopy of fireworks as darkness fell.

Funeral services were held at Bethesda Monday with burial in the east.

A graduate of Western Reserve College, Mr. Bailey practiced law here with the late Rollie L. Lewis in the mid-1930's. He later went to Washington where he was associated with the Federal Trade Commission until his retirement several years ago.

He is survived by his wife, the former Abbie Price, and one son, Charles B. of New York.

Service Station And Garage Opened By Bruce Donaldson

The South Gate Service Center located on US 31 south has been opened by Bruce Donaldson, well known local mechanic.

The center will offer garage and repair service, a service station stocking Leonard gasoline and DX motor oils and parts.

Mr. Donaldson who has resided here for many years plans to operate. He is also a diesel and marine mechanic as well as an auto mechanic.

Highlight of the weekend event was the coronation of Venetian Queen, Deanna Left, in East Park Sunday afternoon. Buddy Rogers, Hollywood personality who with Mary Brian, another film capital celebrity came here from Traverse City where they appeared last week at the cherry County Playhouse, officiated at the coronation. The two celebrities, the first from Hollywood to visit Charlevoix, captured the hearts of all who saw them.

Appearing with Queen Deanna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Left, were the members of her court, Sue Grate, Nancy Wallace and Judy Cunningham. Merrie Case, 1956 Venetian Queen, was also present to relinquish her crown to her successor. A crowd of several thousand people gathered in East Park for the coronation ceremony.

Music was by the Charlevoix high school band directed by C. A. Odmark. Dr. Walter F. Hoffman was master of ceremonies. Mayor James Miller spoke briefly welcoming the visitors to Charlevoix for the Venetian Night festivities. The stage was set with special chairs supplied by Hess Furniture for the occasion.

Earlier the band led a parade through the business district in which the Queen and her court, Miss Case, Mr. Rogers, Miss Brian, Mayor Miller rode. Also in the parade was an old Nicholas Shepard steam engine owned by A. A. Schaefer who collects them as a hobby. He was assisted by Ray Garlinghouse of the Boyne City railroad company. Gene Gibel you with a display of century-old guns also rode with them. Local Boy Scouts rode in the wagon towed by the engine.

Mrs. E. D. Hawley, Mrs. Charles Bellinger and Mrs. Karl J. Erber, dressed in costumes of a century ago, rode in a surrey with the fringe on top driven by Barney Englehart and drawn by horses from Camp Charlevoix. An old horse-drawn wagon from Camp Charlevoix was also in the parade as was Bill Ratigan with his old model car in which the Shamrock Queens rode.

Charlevoix's centennial year was observed with the appearance of the engine, the surrey and other participants.

The Venetian boat parade as darkness fell attracted 17 gaily decorated entries. Jim Elliott of Sterling, Ill., captured first place with his banana boat theme. E. A. Loop of Charlevoix and Grand Rapids whose entry was a massive clown won second prize with two entries tied for third place.

They were a lighted birthday cake atop the Ralph Hess boat and a Venetian gondola entered by Tom Moore, Frank J. Bill Fowle and Ted Boals, all of Winnetka, Ill.

Other boats were entered by Henry Mies, David Silberman, Phil Lawrence, Jim Hilton, Bernie Ward who entered two, Bud Fowler, Mrs. L. S. Bisbee, Bob Bridge, Bruce Withers, Bob Christian, Jerry Murdiek and Gill Shaeffer.

On Saturday and Sunday nights there were variety programs in East Park for the entertainment of the crowd. The Charlevoix Marine band directed by Mr. Odmark on Sunday night was a feature of the program. Several specialty acts were also presented each evening.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

Balated birthday greetings...

to Mrs. Stella Allen, a former local resident who now resides at 2328 Fernwood ave., in Ann Arbor. Mrs. A. celebrated her 90th birthday anniversary Tuesday. And from what we've heard about her from her many friends, she no doubt did something in observance of the occasion for she enjoys life to the utmost and loves to do all sorts of things. She lives with her daughter, Mrs. Bessie Dean, another former resident.

And belated greetings, also, to three of our wonderful summer residents. Congenial Uncle Jimmy Reis and Mrs. Charles Rice who celebrated their anniversaries at a whole of a party on July 23. And to Mrs. Milton Florsheim who celebrated an anniversary Friday.

Ever see that collection of fire arms Gene Gibelyou has? We didn't either until last weekend when he happened to mention it and then brought some pieces for us to see. And they're not just for display purposes either. He has all the equipment including the powder in real powder horns, the shot, the cap and all the things you need to fill the gun and fire away. He's rebuilt a number of them, making the parts that are missing when he gets them. The one he showed us was found in a garden where it was being used to mark rows. Some of them date back more than 100 years.

We hope you had an opportunity to see them when he had them on display during the parade Sunday.

Do you remember the beautiful ad, in color, which appeared in Life magazine during the winter and spring, advertising Swanson's frozen cherry pies. In case you didn't, you should have recognized the beautiful Montmorency cherries for they came from our own Longview Cherry Farm. Seems that the advertising firm, Tatham-Laird Inc., has the cherries stems, leaves and all, air expressed to New York where they were quick-like made up into pies and photographed in color. For advertising purposes next winter. John Rosquist, owner of the orchard, has also been asked to furnish peaches and blueberries for similar pictures. So from now on we hope you'll recognize these wonderful fruits which come from our own Charlevoix area. Oh, yes, Mr. R. had a very fine letter from the National Red Cherry Institute commending him for the fine fruit he furnished the firm.

There's no two ways about it. We must live right in Charlevoix—with a threat of rain hanging over the area all day Sunday our Venetian night festivities went off without a hitch. Or a drop of rain.

And wasn't it nice this year? At least we thought so. Of course when you have as many lovely gals around as we had in the person of Deanna Left, and her court, Sue, Nancy, and Judy, our former queen, Merrie Case, and the setting formed by Round Lake as a backdrop. And our guest who took the crowd by storm. Everyone loved them and more gracious people you'll never meet. Buddy Rogers and Mary Brian. Isn't it amazing that when you meet people like them they turn out to be as wonderful as you've always imagined. These two can come back to Charlevoix just any time and the whole town will greet them with open arms.

The soap box derby created a lot of interest too. It was first one we'd had and we think it was most successful. With three fine winners.

And did you take time to watch those fellows pitch horseshoes? Everyone at some time has done it, we're sure, but those guys just never missed. Or so it seemed.

The street dance sure attracted a lot of people too and as far as we can find out it was a huge success with everyone having a whale of a time.

In fact, as Venetian Night week-ends go, we think this was an especially good one. Thanks to Irish Coleman and all those kind people who helped. In one way or another. We won't attempt to list them because we'd miss someone but you know who you are.

We'd like to call special attention to one of our departments which does a terrific job on week-ends like this as well as through out the year. Did you, by any chance, get a look-see at East Park early Sunday or Monday morning? We understand that it looked as though snow had drifted over it there was so much debris. But thanks to Leo Allard and his competent workers the place looked just like new come the time most of you were around. It's a department that operates like that 365 days of the year.

4-H Club Leaders to Picnic at Whiting

The 4-H leaders of Charlevoix county and their families are meeting for a picnic this Thursday evening, August 1, at Whiting Park, according to Ed Rehnman, county agricultural agent. This group of leaders meets four times a year and it was decided at their last meeting that they would have a picnic at Whiting Park for the summer session.

Families are asked to bring their own food and table service, and they can eat when they arrive. This makes it possible for those who can arrive earlier to eat, and those that have to come later can still attend the picnic.

Following the picnic there will be a very short business meeting. Several important items will be discussed. Among them, plans for the Fall 4-H Show at Whiting Park on Labor Day, Sept. 2, and the future plans of the 4-H camping program.

All 4-H leaders and their families are invited to attend this picnic at Whiting Park.

Farm Gas Refund Deadline Is Sept. 30

The time is here for farmers to fill out their form for their federal gas tax refund, according to Ed Rehnman, county agricultural agent. They will have until Sept. 30, 1957, to request a refund of federal tax on gasoline for farming purposes that was used between July 1, 1956 and June 30, 1957.

Farmers who received a refund of federal gas tax last year will receive their own forms through the mail. Those who did not receive their forms may call the Extension Office at Boyne City and receive their forms.

News Round-up at Camp Charlevoix

The fourth week of this season started off on Monday morning, with Kent Gibbs taking his cabin number 12 on a canoe trip down the Jordan River. The boys were packed early so that they could get a good start on a wonderful day of river paddling. The boys were: John Deane, Peter Girardin, Paul Hunter, Wes Murfin, Jon Steffensen, Frank Witt, Neil Funk and Steve Wilson. Our cabin of oldest boys, cabin 21 with Bill Evans in charge, took off on a horseback trip over night to Mt. McSaubia. These boys were: Charles Eberly, Charles Killingsworth, Tom Layne, Don Ringsred, Dirk Scholten, David Smallwood, Richard Woodard, Devy Barnes and Peek Kunkel. One of our cowboys, Ron Wilson accompanied the riders. In the evening, "Casey" our camp doctor, took his boys into town to the movies, as did Ross Hadley with his cabin number 15.

Trips, play such an important part of good camping as it teaches the boys how to live comfortably in the out-of-doors. We like our campers to have as much experience at this as is possible, and therefore trips are coming and going constantly. It takes a lot of organization, and Jim Foulk, Roger Wooten, and Jim Smith are doing a great job keeping things on schedule.

On Tuesday, cabin number 17, with our canoe instructor in charge, took to the Jordan River. These boys were: Jim Cahalan, John Coakley, Jay Coe, Mike Grass, John Lossing, Chris Morgan, David Smith, Bob Boyle, and Sam Rea. Bob Gersabeck was in charge. Cabin number 5 and 6 took off for Eastport and the State Park on Lake Michigan. In charge of this trip were: Bill Fors, Tom Richardson, Mitch Paul and Marty Burke. The boys were: Harry Carlson, Rusty Smith, John Chapin, Sandy Killins, Phil Madouse, Sandy Pfeiffer, Ben Tate, Bobby Wilson, Don Strutz, Danny Schaeffer, John Ortmann, Stuart Leslie, David Sawyer, Michael Hagge, Scotty Emmons, Jonesy Alderman. In the evening, cabins 11, and 18 went into town to the movies. Cabin number 9 took to the miniature golf course.

On Wednesday morning, our sailing instructor took his cabin number 19 on a two night, three day sailing trip and the boys enjoying this trip were: Jim Baird, Stewart Crampton, Pete Davey, Harold Emmons, Bobby Hicks, Frank LaPointe, Bob Huguonot, David Pfeiffer and Bill Rands.

In the evening we took fifty boys over to Camp Ta-Wa-Ma-Na to help them celebrate Christmas Eve at a dance. The boys were excited and reported a very fine time, everyone coming back filled with tales of the "swell" gals at the camp. The boys were from cabins 21, 20, 18, 14, and 11. Of course the usual contingent of counsellors, assistant counsellors and counsellors-in-training went along.

Cabins 13 and 14, under the leadership of Bill Neuman and Bob Neff left Thursday morning for the Sleeping Bear Dunes on Lake Michigan. These boys were: John Baird, John Baxter, David Craig, Jack Sluiter, Bill Ward, Roger Zvone, Trigger Campbell, Mark Lindsay, Greg Hefferan, Ace Hoyt, Phil Huber, John Reedy, Tom Smith, Fred Gagel, Clem Moller, and Peter Wilsey. Bob Miracle took his cabin on a horseback overnight to Mt. McSaubia. Harry Kinner, one of our cowboys from Nebraska went as long as did John Jacobs. The campers on the trip were: Jim Sprow, Doug Bethke, Tom Coakley, Roger Lundgren, Cal Mattews, John Richardson, Jim Standish, and Fred Tucker. The camp is beginning to feel the excitement of the coming weekend with the Carnival on Saturday and then Venetian Night on Sunday. We expect a great many parents in camp this coming weekend, and it will be a pleasure to see them.

The new song-books have arrived and the boys are enjoying some real song fests. The Camp Charlevoix Chorus is rehearsing for its appearance at the Venetian Night program in town, and they sound great. I know they will do a fine job.

On Friday morning, Ross Hadley took his cabin of boys on a day's horseback trip. Arthur Brown, Ted Schmidt, Bob Borden, Jack Hogan, Tom Huguonot, Mike Mans, and Dick Ward were on this trip. Glenn Stark and Phil Holiday took their cabin number 3 on a day's outing to Lake Michigan. Sandy Coakley, Fletcher

Cole, Ken McLean, Mike Steindler, Doug Elliott, Dennis Ortmann, and Mike Roberts. In the evening, all the cabin groups were busy getting their Carnival Booths in shape for Saturday's big day.

Saturday dawned bright and sunny and peanuts started to arrive early. The boys leaving were all packed and many tears were shed by the boys having to leave all the fun of camp. Final work was done on the booths and when the bell rang at three o'clock, things really started to move. We had a terrific crowd, and everyone was in a gay, holiday mood.

Sunday morning Chapel was held in the woods at our inspiring chapel and we had many visitors. Bill Neuman gave a most thought-provoking talk in "Individualism". The counsellors choir sang. It is always surprising to me the way boys retain some of the things said in these sermons. Several times this summer I've had boys quote from a chapel talk some of the things that one of the men has said. In the afternoon a waterfront afternoon was held. Dave Smith won the sailing race with John Baxter in second place. The Greens won 1 1/2 points and Greys won 1 in the afternoon competition. In the evening we took the entire camp, 170 boys, in town for Venetian Night. Thanks to parents, we had 34 cars in our procession going into town. We do want to thank most sincerely those parents who so kindly came back to camp and drove the boys into town. It was most thoughtful and kind. Our campers counsellors chorus of 54 sang a program of "Sea Chanty" in town as we have done for the last twenty years.

We always enjoy having the parents visit with us, and as we have eight boys in camp whose fathers are alumni of the camp, it was very pleasant to see these men here revisiting the camp and to hear them relive their own camping days.

New Petoskey Playhouse Affords Unique Setting for Production

A dream has come true!

The new Petoskey Playhouse is a reality . . . a tribute to the imagination and hard work of the theater-versed Lenhoffs and the patrons of the past three years.

It is Michigan's only theater built for the use of a professional summer stock company and is expected to provide further impetus for creative summer stock in the area.

The structure is located on Crooked Lake at Oden on US-31 north of Petoskey. George Hartwell, the designer of other playhouses, has utilized a rustic theme throughout the structure which is divided roughly into three sections. The large Yador stage provides not only the acting area but dressing rooms and set storage. The seating is arranged amphitheater-style yet the corner location of the stage gives many of the illusions of theater-in-the-round with its felt audience participation. The capacity of the new Playhouse is approximately 500.

Thirdly, the western end of the theater houses the lounge with its large fireplace, a comfortable location for between-act breaks. The lounge opens on a small patio on the shore of Crooked lake where well-lighted piers furnish mooring for those who chose to come by boat. The Playhouse boasts excellent accountical and lighting facilities.

Bentley Lenhoff, the familiar producer-director, known for the ambition of his productions and the quality of his rapid-fire offerings of a summer season, is once again the head man. Ernest Schwarz is technical director, Kay Ingram his assistant while Sylvia Lenhoff serves as business manager. Nancy Lenhoff handles publicity for the Playhouse.

The troupe is headed by seven Equity performers with considerable experience in New York and a variety of seasonal enterprises. The Playhouse management has awarded three fellowships for the season to younger performers. The remaining 30 performers are apprentices, most of whom are studying dramatics in colleges or under Eastern coaches.

This week the Petoskey Playhouse is presenting "Bus Stop" and beginning Tuesday will present the midwest premiere of "Hot Corner," a story about baseball designed for the entertainment of the entire family.

Curtain time is 8:30 p. m. Tuesday through Friday; 9:15 p. m. Saturday and 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

Softball Results

As the summer softball league schedule progressed, six exciting games were played in the Class A league during the past week, Dean Davenport, softball director reported.

Carsons 7: U. S. Coast Guard 4
The servicemen played their best game of the season only to fall short by three runs as they were defeated by Carsons. Harvey Cole homered for the Coast Guard. Guy Swanson wielded the big bat for the winners with two singles.

American Mold 17: City Merchants 16
In a wild, free-scoring ball game American Mold scored four runs in the top of the seventh to defeat the Merchants. The big inning for the Merchants was the fourth when they scored 13 runs, with the benefit of only four hits for the biggest single inning in many years at Kipke field. Jim Alger's triple with the bases loaded in the seventh scored the winning run. Larry Petersen with three hits led both teams in the hit department.

Dean Davenport, Bill Mosier and Bob Doctor had two hits each for the Moldmen.

Ellsworth 4: Freedman's 2
Ellsworth scored two runs in the second and third innings then stalled off a Freedman rally to win 4 to 2. Bob DeYoung's two safeties led Ellsworth and Fritz Puffpa's homer and single led Freedman's attack.

Carson 7: American Mold 4
Carsons scored only one earned run but pushed across six unearned tallies to defeat the Moldmen 6 to 4.

Jim Utley's three-run homer gave American Mold a boost but errors paved the way for two runs in the fifth and sixth inning, enabling Carsons to win their third game of the second round.

U. S. Coast Guard 2: City Merchants 12
Seven fourth inning runs sewed up a close game and gave the Merchants their first win and sent the Service team into the league cellar.

Ellsworth 6: Carsons 4
Ellsworth tightened its hold on first place by scoring two runs in the final two frames to edge Carsons 6 to 4. Carson's Gary Vandenberg led both teams with a single and a double.

In the only Class B game played during the week Lake Construction won over Zephyr 14 to 9. The game was definitely an upset as the Construction nine won its first game of the season over unbeaten Zephyr. The victors scored 10 runs in the fifth inning to come up with a win. Rod Osterum homered for Zephyr.

PEANUT LEAGUE
Red Sox 13: Pirates 9
Billy Marm's hitting and pitching gave the Red Sox their second win of the second round as he homered, doubled and singled. Warren Belding tripped and

Cardinals 9: Cubs 3
The Cubs brought their two-game losing streak to a halt as Roger Towsley took over the pitching duties and limited the Cubs to only three hits. Denny Wojan doubled and singled for the Cards.

Red Sox 6: Tigers 5
The Red Sox took advantage of Tigers errors in the bottom of the seventh to score the tying run. Bill Marm then promptly singled home the winning run with two men out. Bruce Kroken had a home run for the Tigers, matching one by Marm for the Red Sox.

Dodgers 11: Cubs 6
The Dodgers scored nine runs in the first two innings to coast to their fourth straight win.

Cardinals 16: Pirates 9
Nine runs in the fifth inning was all the Cardinals needed to trounce the Pirates. Danny Wojan had two hits for the victors.

Islanders Begin Annual Journey To Homecoming

The 57th annual homecoming will be held at Beaver Island this weekend.

Former residents, the majority of whom were born and reared on America's Emerald Isle, are already starting the pilgrimage back to their island home for the homecoming which annually attracts several thousand visitors.

The homecoming dinner at Holy Cross parish hall will be the highlight of the planned event. Food prepared by the island's excellent cooks will be served from 12 noon to 3 p. m. or until all are served.

Later in the afternoon there will be the parade in which all island groups enter decorated floats. This will be followed with games for the young fry.

The grand ball will be held at the parish hall Sunday evening with music by the Don Garthe trio of Traverse City. However, modern day music will share the spotlight with the Irish fiddler who will play for the Irish dances, so much a part of the homecoming activities.

But homecoming time is also family gathering time and island homes will be thrown open to all comers. Families and their friends alike... as they gather for this 57th annual homecoming. Special ferry schedules have been planned to permit visitors to attend the homecoming and return the same night.

The Years Lend Romance

Few of our readers will recognize the photo appearing on page 11 but if you do recognize it as Charlevoix when it was a thriving lumbering town you are correct.

In the center is the first swing bridge over Pine River. At the left end of the bridge is the old opera house and to the right is the Argo Milling Co., now the site of the Weatherhane building.

Opposite the opera house, first in line, is the Bonthron building and next to it is the Fred Meyers building, said to be the first business structure on the main street.

The third building was home of the first newspaper, the Charlevoix Sentinel.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

Wonder if they belong to the musicians union... the countless crickets which one hears chirping these days... Go past any vacant lot and you can hear at least a thousand, we swear, harmonizing in a symphony... But it's a nice sound which we enjoy so very much.

Don't know where the superstition started but some say it means good luck if one moves into your house.

Our apologies to two of our servicemen whom we do-moted last week without a qualm... Charles Pierce and Clayt Walker who are now privates, first class yet, and not mere buck privates as mentioned... In our book all, and we mean all, servicemen are five star-generals, even if we can't put it in print... so we hope you will forgive us.

A belated birthday greeting to one of our north side neighbors, Lou Comfort, who celebrated a birthday one day last week... We understand that he and Jack Benny have this one thing in common... they're both 39... But no matter what the age, we'd like to join his many friends in wishing him many, many more.

Did you haul out the red flannels over the weekend... Not that it actually got real cold but after the temperatures in the 90's on Friday anything below 72 was cold... And everyone was shuddering all over the place... But it looks as tho' we're going to have more good weather so hold on... summer will return.

We'd like to offer the bouquet of orchids this week to one organization which we think has earned it... In fact, each of its members has at least one coming... It's the Charlevoix city band... There's no group of people as generous with their time and talents as this one... All year long they practice weekly... and then all summer long they give another evening of their time so you can enjoy the weekly concerts in the park... They receive no compensation for their efforts but the joy of giving... So next time you see some of these people tell them how very much you appreciate what they are doing for you and for Charlevoix... We think they're a mighty fine outfit and we want them to know what we think... So to Odie Omark and his grand musicians... a bouquet of the loveliest orchids.

Last week we were asked why Charlevoix did not have a centennial celebration this year...

Several people mentioned it and oohed and aahed and said 'how wonderful it would have been... It would have, that we don't deny... But you have to have the support of the entire community if you're going to put a thing like that over... And when the council tried last winter and spring to create interest and get some support for the project people turned out for the meetings... We give the council credit for not plunging into it when the community wasn't solidly behind them... What a black eye it would have been had it been started and then fallen flat... If you want things like that you have to support them... It's all very fine to say that this or that community has one... but when you look behind the scenes you find everyone's behind it not just a few are carrying the ball... Does that answer your question regarding a centennial?

This may be the midway mark in the baseball season but King Football will take over Friday night for the All-Star game at Soldiers' field in Chicago... Now we like the All-Stars... so if you'd like to make a little wager... To our way of thinking football is THE sport of sports so we'll be right there watching every play... via television... This is one time we will watch television... to those of you who know we don't have time for the newest invention... And in another seven weeks or two months this football will become regular fare with high school, college and pro-ball on tap every week.

Guild Notes...

It's been a busy summer for the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix hospital.

The season opened with a bake sale which netted the Guild $130. Next event was the fourth annual fashion show and luncheon at the Charcoal Pit which added $640.00 to the treasury.

Only recently Guild members assisted with the sale of items made by the Detroit League for the Handicapped and realized 15 per cent on all sales.

Proceeds from all these events will be used to purchase some wonderful new equipment for the Charlevoix hospital. What it will be will be decided at the meeting scheduled for Aug. 13. Success of all these events have been due to the generous response of all the friends of the hospital and the Guild as well as the assistance given by members in presenting the events.

The Ways and Means Committee would like to express its appreciation to all those who assisted and attended all the events it had planned... and to such people as Mrs. Edward Lemcke for her beautiful and unusual poster, to the Polly Kay Shop and the Shop of the Gulls for the lovely fashions which had everyone oohing and aahing... to the management of the Charcoal pit... in fact, just everyone who helped in any way.

The Library cart which is such a joy to those who are confined to their rooms is operated three times weekly... Mrs. R. G. Bennett who has been taking the cart around on Wednesday has been replaced by Mrs. Stanley Epstein, a summer resident. A big thank you to both for giving their time to this project.

Particle Board Boom Forecast For Michigan

Michigan can share in the wood industry's newest bonanza, says a University of Michigan wood technologist.

The new product is particle board, whose impact upon the world's forest industries has been phenomenal, says Alan A. Marra, an associate professor in the U-M School of Natural Resources.

Particle board, Professor Marra explains, is wood reduced to small particles—flakes, chips, slivers, sawdust, planings, shavings, splinters—and bound together with glue under high heat and pressure. It is used like plywood for wall materials, underlayment in floors, and furniture.

Raw materials for such panels is not restricted by size, shape, or species. Hence, it is possible to utilize not only low grade logs, but materials which has in the past been wasted, the professor says.

He believes development of particle board will mean greater decentralization of the panel and industry from the Pacific Northwest to all over the world.

He says that Michigan has a lot of low grade timber—jack pine, aspen, and scrub oak—suitable for making particle board, and planning companies are building or planning to build in the state, although the only particle board plant so far is the Hartwood Products, at Hart.

"Expanding even more rapidly than plywood, which demands the highest grade timber and is now becoming more and more scarce, this new industry has swept through the wood industry like it was the answer to all problems," Professor Marra says.

He adds that particle boards made from fiberized materials have been known for many years as Masonite, Celotex, or insulating board, but the introduction of resin adhesive binders removed many manufacturing limitations on this type of product.

"There is renewed interest in developing cheaper special glues for particle board because glue is the best in Chicago beef at Dutcher's Super Market, the house of quality meats.

presents a high percentage of the cost and affects many properties, even though it comprises only about five percent of the finished product," the professor notes.

Particle board, he says, gives wood-using companies an opportunity for increased profits by utilizing materials that used to be wasted. As a means of utilizing low-grade timber, it gives forest managers the chance to introduce forest improvement practices under profitable circumstances. Ultimately, the result appeals to conservationists who see a more complete utilization of our resources.

The professor says current yearly production of particle board would cover 50,000 acres—more than two townships.

ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDING

Notes from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold E. Kohn

The Big Assurances

On these Lake Charlevoix shores, where waves whisper secrets to killdeer at play, and soft summer breezes collect wild scents and bring them as friendly offerings to our door, and the emerald waters dance beneath the blue immensity of the sky, it is easy to believe in the greatness of God. There is little here that is human, or that the human mind could invent or the human hand fashion. The natural world is obviously a created world, and the Creator plainly exceeds man's skills and his wisdom and might.

One of the chief reasons why we are an anxious and fear-ridden generation is that we live in a man-made civilization. Upon every hand we are surrounded with what man has created—skyscraping buildings, rushing automobiles, spreading ribbons of concrete, machine-made, and machine-run homes, machine-made clothes, machine-processed foods, machine-made necessities and machine-made luxuries, and man-made machine. Even the country dweller, once so "close to nature" now works with power tools, lives in a gadget-controlled house and is surrounded with factory made conveniences.

Depending so entirely upon human ingenuity for his necessities and comforts, it is any wonder that the twentieth century person is anxious and filled with foreboding? His world seems to be man's doing. He dwells in a man-centered civilization. And yet he is aware that the earth's chaos, the searing slaughter of war has been man's doing, too. Now with earth-shattering weapons in his trembling, fumbling hands blundering man seems to control the future. Such a future seems bleak, hellish. As someone has rephrased a familiar proverb, "The road to hell is paved with good inventions." Our technical advances have outdistanced our souls, and we are not sure we can catch up in time.

In spite of a record high in church attendance these days, we are also piling up unmatched statistics in numbers of sleeping pills and tranquilizer tablets and headache potions consumed. There is a high rate of psycho-somatic diseases, of suicides and admissions to mental hospitals. Why is our religion doing us so little good? What has happened to our capacity for inner peace? What has become of the big assurances that, once made for a spirit of trust, even among the hard pressed and troubled?

Our distress is due, at least in part, to having a cut-flower religion, where we have any religion at all. We try to maintain our faith, our belief, our trust apart from the experiences in which they were once rooted. When we do this, our beliefs and faiths and trusts—without roots—wither and die.

Many of the big assurances that once made for trustful living were deeply rooted in man's observation of nature. From his experiences of creation the sensitive soul inferred a faith about the Creator. Nature had a sacramental meaning to him, presenting outward and visible signs of inner and spiritual growth.

It was natural for the farmer to develop a profound faith in God's dependability. He saw that the seasons moved in a reliable succession. Autumn always followed summer. He could count on winter succeeding autumn. And no matter how long and bleak winter might be, some bright day the last snow would melt. Brooks would swell and overflow. Silver-gray pussy willows would emerge from their long sleep. Drowsy bees would drift along on warm breezes. Winter would be at an end. Spring would come. He could depend, too, on carrot seed growing into carrots and not into cabbages, and horses having foals and not colts, and chickens hatching chicks from their eggs and not ducklings. While there were unaccountables enough in farming, the vagaries of weather, the capricious winds, mysterious diseases afflicting crops and flocks and herds, it was the basic dependability in nature that made farming possible. To his belief in these the husbandman clung, and from these he inferred trustworthiness as an attribute of his God. That God could be counted upon was one of the big assurances by which farmers lived and worked.

The Planter and herdsman knew the meaning of patient and trustful waiting upon God's power and goodness. When he had planted his seed there was nothing more a farmer could do but to wait for a Power beyond himself, whose servants were sun and rain and fertility of soil, to perform for him what he could not achieve for himself. Only when these forces beyond the farmer's control had discharged their duties would seeds sprout and grain grow. When a herdsman's cattle and sheep were bred there was no way of hurrying the advent of their young. Calves and lambs would come in due time, but not before time. One must wait a slow development that man could not hasten nor direct. It was one of man's big assurances that he could afford to wait for God.

One is tempted to say that we need in our time as much faith as our forefathers had in their day. But that is not so. One thing we do not need in our generation is more faith. We have too much of faith already—in the wrong things. Much of personal foolishness and interventional folly is due to our superabundance of trust, invested in all sorts of nostrums ranging from rabbit's feet and astrology to money, dictatorships and ill-conceived schemes for putting an end to war. We don't need more faith. The great want is for the investment of such faith as we already possess in the principles that make for inner peace and social concord. And for these basic truths we can do no better than to search for them where Jesus and the great teachers of all time found them—in nature.

One of the big assurances expressed by nature is that God cares for all His creatures. As Alfred North Whitehead, the Harvard philosopher, put it: "The image under which the nature of God can best be conceived is that of a Father who is not a Father in the sense that nothing is lost." And long before Whitehead, another teacher said, "Are not five sparrows sold for two farthings, and not one of them is forgotten before God?" But even the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear not, therefore, ye are of more value than many sparrows." A walk through woods will convince an observer that this pronouncement of philosophy and religion has wide application. Nothing in a forest is ever lost. Many things are transformed—but nothing is lost. Leaves fall. Forns wither and drop to the forest floor. Birds and animals die, and all are gathered to the earth, transformed into humus and become the life-stuff of future generations of vegetable and animal life. Water evaporates from a woodland pond and disappears into the atmosphere, but is not lost. Transformed into water vapor, it has descended, and will sometime descend as rain to refresh a thirsty earth. Wherever we go in God's world, we see all things being transformed, but nothing lost, not even a sparrow, a hair, a fallen leaf, or a molecule of water vapor. That is one of nature's assurances of what God is like. We can trust a God like that.

Again, nature demonstrates that the Creator has so fashioned this universe that the best can emerge from the worst. Where forest fires once raged, Jack pines and birches now thrive. The stubborn cones of Jack pine often remain tightly closed, withholding their seeds from the soil, until fire forces them open. As a consequence, fire has given some Jack pines their only chance to get started on the earth. White birch craves open places where they can get light and air for growth. Fire burns such openings into the forest and gives white birches their opportunity. During the second World War ninety-five types of flowers and shrubs unknown for decades were found in London, in holes where nitrates from bursting and burning bombs had enriched the soil. Seeds of grain are freed to multiply in the soil when the wind has whipped them or the threshing machine has threshed them. The pearl in an oyster is formed when an irritant, such as a grain of sand, causes the oyster to secrete a soothing substance around the aggravation. The secretion becomes a jewel. A moth's wings are strengthened for flight when the creature struggles to get free of its imprisoning cocoon; no struggle, no strength. Nature is life with trouble that ends in blessing. One of the big assurances that this created world offers us is that trouble can be made to serve high purposes.

Once more, nature reminds us that this earth is a growing and changing place. Look around you and see. Seeds sprout and grow into plants. Saplings become trees. Fingerlings become game fish. Cubs become foxes or bears. Puppies grow into dogs, kittens into cats, children into adults. Nothing is meant to stay the way it is. For those who do not want to stay the way they are, nature is reassuring: you do not need to remain as you are. Indeed you cannot remain as you are. All things must change, including you. What is important is the direction in which you change. Moreover, nature witnesses to the great assurance that we are surrounded by inexhaustible resources. We may fail to use them intelligently, but they never fail us. There is more air in the atmosphere than we can breathe. There is more interesting, exciting and mysterious activity going on in the earth beneath our feet, in the grasses and flowers, shrubs and trees, and in the heavens above us, than we can ever be attentive to or understand. The earth has springs too deep and abundant ever to dry up.

We live in a universe that is intelligible and sacramental. The things we see testify to verities that are unseen, but nevertheless real, just as a visible handshake may denote an invisible feeling of friendship. Creation witnesses to what the Creator is like—dependable, caring, so imaginative and resourceful as to make the best of the worst, providing us with capacity for change and growth, and with resources of power beyond our need. If that is what God is like, we can live trustfully.

Tornado Alley

New Tools Detect Births Of Storms

"Tornado Alley", the incubator of nature's deadliest storms, is being watched this year as never before.

Once a twister has bored down to earth, the only defense is to get out of the way. To save lives, however, Weather Bureau scientists are leveling new tools to quicken forecasting systems and learn more about the nature of the complex storms.

One new instrument forces potential tornadoes to flash their own alarm. Called a "pressure-uplift indicator," it records the slightest rise in pressure that often signals the birth of a tornado in storm-breeding squall lines.

It is these long frontiers of thunder, wind, and rain that turn unstable air currents into roaring, spinning funnels of destruction, the National Geographic Society says.

This year, more than 100 pressure-jump indicators are being operated in the severe storm belts—Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, and Texas. The instruments have been set up in police stations, fire houses, city jails, and other places where attendants voluntarily keep an eye on them 24 hours a day.

If barometric pressure rises suddenly, a light goes on and a buzzer sounds until turned off. The observer alerts the nearest weather station by telephone. Radar then starts tracking the dangerous squall line, according to Dr. Morris Pepper, chief of the Bureau's severe-storms research unit.

In recent years, the Bureau has organized a radar network among key cities east of the Rockies. Volunteer ground corpsmen in a danger zone scan radarscopes for any sign of the dark pendent cloud that makes the earth like a giant elephant's trunk.

Spotters notify communities, which warn residents to take cover.

One obstacle in learning more about the mechanism of tornadoes is their habit of striking quickly, devastatingly, and locally. Delicate instruments can't withstand 500-mile-an-hour winds. Few persons caught in a twister can be expected to give a scientific account of what they see—even if they live through it.

Pilot James Cook, who flies under contract to the Bureau, is again storm-hopping out of Kansas City this season. Cook ventures into squall lines in a plane laden with instruments to record pressure, temperature, moisture, wind speed, and other phenomena.

Not the least of a tornado's terror is its electrical display. Forked lightning—vividly outlined with yellow, green, blue, and purple—often dances against the dull glow of continuous sheet lightning.

At several stations, the Weather Bureau has installed special equipment to record the presence and direction of such a display. If two stations spot it, the storm can be pinpointed by triangulation.

Spring brings tornado weather. Though factors are numerous, the time is ripe when cold, dry fronts moving easterly from the Pacific overrun warm, moist air from the Gulf of Mexico. Under certain conditions, the slightest updraft may trigger one or a series of twisters.

Created in 1953 in the first year of the Eisenhower Administration, the Small Business Administration, in three years, made over 6,500 loans totaling $175 million, nearly 4,000 of which were for rehabilitation in disaster areas.

Choice Chicago beef always available at Dutcher's Super Market, the house of quality meats.

Litterbug's Calling Card

Bottles, cans, paper and other debris mark the trail of the litterbug throughout Michigan. Each year, thousands of dollars must be spent to clean up unsightly conditions left by careless visitors at state parks, recreation areas and beaches.

Rare Owl Slumbers Easily

It sound sleep is a sign of a clear conscience, the Saw-whet owl must have very few sins on its mind.

The Saw-whet, Michigan's rarest and smallest native owl, debates the popular notion of cats as wide-awake and wise. This little brown and white bird can get so deep in slumber he is an easy victim for predators, or sometimes is captured alive by man.

Fortunately, Saw-whets usually select as a bed an old woodpecker nest—or a hollow tree which affords comparative safety. This tiny owl, which is only about eight inches in length when full-grown, is generally North American, but sometimes nests as far south as Michigan. Since 1888, five broods of young Saw-whet owls have been recorded in the state's latest this year at the Conservation Department's Rose Lake wildlife experiment station near East Lansing.

A pair of the rare birds is raising a brood of four young in a wood duck nesting box at Rose Lake. The last previous nesting in Michigan was reported in 1942 when a pair was found using a squirrel nesting box at the Department's Swan Creek wildlife experiment station in Allegan county.

Although diminutive, the Saw-whet is a fearless hunter and has been known to kill such animals as red squirrels, rats and birds much larger than itself. Its diet generally consists mainly of mice and shrews, however.

The Saw-whet owl's cry, most frequently heard during March and April, has a peculiar rasping or scraping quality which suggests the sound made by a popular name.

Hungarian "Pat" Released In U. P. Making Progress

Michigan's attempt to establish the Hungarian partridge in the eastern upper peninsula showed encouraging, though limited, results during 1956.

At least seven broods, totaling 70 young birds, were known to have hatched, but wet, cold weather during nesting season may have kept brood production generally low.

And during the year, various observers reported seeing a total of 250 to 300 birds. An unknown number of these observations were probably "repeated", that is, some birds may have been counted twice or more.

The "Hunkie" experiment started in February, 1954, when 49 of the game birds, which are slightly larger than quail, were live-trapped in eastern Ontario and released in two areas of Chippewa county, south and west of Sault Ste. Marie.

Some of the birds and broods of young have been seen in the area each year since, indicating that a population may be developing.

No marked movement, however, has been noted from the area and, so far, no birds have been seen four or five miles from the release points, but none farther.

Paris Composer Now Entertaining At Charcoal Pit

Luc Poret, vibrant French band leader and songwriter, opened recently at the Charcoal Pit and Grist Mill bar of the Weather-vane Inn.

With his guitar and songs from the heart of Paris, he has already attracted the lovers of the unusual to the dining room and bar.

His singing and playing earlier attracted such comments as "Another offbeat click . . . really different stuff" from Herb Lyons of the Chicago Tribune and "Nothing he does is commonplace . . . the man radiates an effortless charm which is rare in the day of the 'sincere singer' from Will Leonard, also of the Tribune, as well as similar comments from columnists and critics throughout the west and midwest.

Born in Versailles, Mr. Poret has a fabulous background and war record. It was not until after the war that he returned to Paris to work seriously with music and to achieve some renown as a songwriter.

He came to this country in 1953, made a successful tour and returned to Europe where he visited all the major entertainment spots in the continent. In 1955 he returned to the United States appearing in the Empire room in Chicago and other popular spots. Later he was engaged to perform the new folk music club in Chicago, Gate of Horn.

After an engagement in Montreal, he went to New York, returned to sing in the Petite Pigalle in St. Louis, the Black Orchid in Chicago, the Caucus Room and the London East in Detroit. More recently he has made his third appearance in these popular clubs.

Foresees Future Legislation To Control State Water Usage

Michigan some day will have a new water law. All laws must be administered by a certain agency. In this State the feeling is to use present agencies rather than to create new ones. This would probably turn the administration of water regulations to the Michigan Water Resources Commission.

This Michigan Water Resources Commission is composed of seven men. Four of these are members by virtue of their office and they are as follows: Director of Agriculture, Director of Conservation, State Health Commissioner and State Highway Commissioner. The other three members are appointed by the Governor of the State with the approval of the Senate. One of these is to represent municipalities, another conservation and the third to represent industry.

The representation is such that it is believed that all water interests are represented. This is important in a state where there are such varied uses of water. This Commission meets usually once a month. The July meeting is generally held in the northern peninsula.

The Commission employs a staff to help them with their problems. They go out to make surveys, attend meetings and answer mail.

The most important job of the Commission at the present time is water pollution. Whenever they hear of any pollution problems an investigation is quickly made. Following the investigation the situation is studied and a recommendation is made. Sometimes orders are issued in order that pollution may be cleared up.

This Commission has many other jobs that are carried out. Among these are hydrology, flood control, beach erosion, water use studies, water fact finding and water law control. It is up to the Commission to know the needs of the public and to protect them in a water program.

List Causes of Most Frequent Farm Accidents

What causes fatal accidents on the farm?

Here are the leading causes as listed by Dr. A. F. Litzenger, director of District Health Department No. 3, in connection with National Farm Safety Week July 21 to July 27.

1. Improper use of machinery.
2. Children driving or riding on tractors.
3. Poor stairways, such as those in barns and silos.

4. Blind corners on rural roads.
5. Mishandling of firearms.
6. Injury by farm animals.

Dr. Litzenger suggested that every person living on a farm make an inspection of his living and working conditions during National Farm Safety week to make sure that all hazards to life and limb are eliminated or brought under control.

"Farming is the third most dangerous occupation in this country," Dr. Litzenger said. "Its 1955 fatality rate of 55 deaths per 100,000 persons employed are outranked only by mining and the construction industry. Farmers must be alert to the dangers around them. Only by remaining alert can they remain alive."

Says Tractor Is Most Hazardous to Farm Children

One of the most hazardous places on the farm for children under 14 is the tractor.

In Michigan last year, 10 children under 14 were killed in tractor accidents, according to Richard Pfister, extension farm safety specialist in the department of agricultural engineering at Michigan State University.

This week, National Farm Safety Week, may be just the time for your family to talk over some of the hazards around your farm and home. Maybe you should take another look at some of the jobs that you are asking your children to do.

A family conference may also be a good time to look at each other's jobs. You know, it's easier to see the dangerous work habits of someone else than it is your own. Why not spend a few minutes pointing out these hazards?

"Safety Makes Sense", the theme of Farm Safety Week, brings out an important point—if you can understand just what the main hazards or causes of farm accidents are, you're in a better position to do something about them.

And let this week be a springboard to a full year's efforts to develop safe working and living habits around your farm and home.

Whistling Duck

The American golden-eye duck is commonly known as the whistler because of the sound made by its wings during flight. The whistler, a common migrant of Michigan, is an expert diver and is able to remain under water for nearly a minute in some instances.

Traffic in Karachi, capital of Pakistan, is complicated by a wide variety of conveyances, the National Geographic Magazine says. There are 18 types of registered transport, ranging from new American automobiles to pedicabs and camel carts.

New Chemical May Be Answer To Controlling Sea Lamprey Eels

They've got 'em coming and going—the hated sea lamprey that is.

With the announcement this week by the Great Lakes Fishery Commission, located at The University of Michigan, of a new chemical compound which is toxic to sea lampreys in the larval and migratory stage, researchers now have effective weapons for catching and killing the game fish killer.

Coming upstream, the lampreys are blocked from their spawning grounds by electrical barriers. During the larval stage and when they are ready to go downstream to attack game fish the chemical has proved effective.

Passenger Pigeon Nesting Area Is Marked by Plaque

A state historical marker commemorating the now-extinct passenger pigeon will be unveiled Aug. 12 at the Oden state fish hatchery northeast of Petoskey on US 31.

The site overlooks Crooked Lake where millions of the birds settled to nest in 1878. It was one of the last mass meetings of the bird in Michigan.

At the brief ceremony at the marker site, Eugene T. Petersen, head of the state historical museum in Lansing, will unveil the monument.

The passenger pigeon once virtually darkened the skies of Michigan with its migratory flights. However, market hunters killed masses of the birds during their last years and some say this brought the pigeons to extinction. Others say a great storm caught the bird during migration and wiped it out.

The marker, at one of a series of state-approved historical sites, carries a brief history of the bird in Michigan.

The marker will be of the type erected on the waterfront here commemorating Beaver Island as the site of the Mormon Kingdom more than a century ago.

The upstream method, catching the eel-like creature before it has a chance to spawn, was developed by the internationally operated GLFC and the U. S. Wildlife and Fishery Service about five years ago.

In essence, electrical control barriers are set up in streams which empty into Lakes Superior and Michigan. The lampreys must go upstream and if thwarted will die without spawning. The electrical barrier stops them and other fish are trapped and then allowed to go upstream.

Thus, if the female lamprey cannot lay its eggs (which average about 62,000 per animal, of which less than one per cent survive) the hordes can be cut down.

Leo Erkkila, supervisor of lamprey control for the GLFC, says that since the last week of March when the barriers began operating, 57,069 sea lampreys were killed at 39 barriers on tributaries of Lake Superior. Another 64,396 met death at 37 control barriers on Lake Michigan and at an experimental station on Lake Huron, 8,163 failed to pass the electrical barricade, bringing the total to 130,618.

By eliminating the lampreys before they spawn, Erkkila said, several million eggs have also been destroyed by the electric barrier method so far this year.

The new chemical, dubbed Dowlap by the Dow Chemical Company which aided in its development and now produces it, was one of two compounds of the 4,346 tested by Dr. Vernon C. Applegate and John H. Howell at the Hammond Bay, Mich. laboratory of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service over a three and a half year span.

Meanwhile, Applegate and Howell have begun experimenting with the second chemical, which also shows promise as a lamprey killer, in their artificial raceway at Hammond Bay which was constructed from materials taken from local rivers.

Also used by the researchers, to simulate actual river and stream bed conditions in their raceway, are three trout species, miscellaneous panfish, rough fish, turtles, frogs, forage minnows, salamanders, crawfish, and aquatic insects and food organisms common to trout streams.

The benefits were indicated by the fact that low concentrations of the laricide when tested at toxic to the mature adults going the raceway was found to be upstream on their spawning run and to the recently transformed adults on their downstream migration after almost five years in the larval stage.

During the Hammond Bay tests other experiments were being conducted by the researchers to determine the complete range of effectiveness including tests on mammals which frequent streams. The results were favorable; in fact, the Michigan Conservation Department, testing Dowlap's effects on deer, found that the deer actually preferred the Dowlap treated water to undiluted.

Now the big question arises: Will the combined efforts of the chemical compound and the electric blockades reduce the lamprey hordes rapidly? Stream research, now going on, will alone provide the answer, the GLFC said.

TALK ABOUT ECONOMY... FORDS COST LESS PER MILE!

Fords cost less to buy!

No doubt about it! Model for model, Ford cars are the "lowest priced" of the low-price three. And don't be fooled by those "low prices" now being quoted for some "stripped down" models in the medium-price field. Remember, a '57 Ford equipped the way most people want a car today—with automatic transmission, heater and radio—costs hundreds of dollars less than these medium-priced cars, similarly equipped.

*Based on comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices

Fords cost less to trade!

Latest official auction sale figures on used cars show clearly that the new kind of Ford commands a higher price than either of its two low-priced competitors. The men who bid at these auctions are professional buyers—men whose very livelihood depends upon their expert knowledge of cars. They pay more for used Fords because they know that Fords hold up in value. Like thousands of Ford owners from coast to coast, they have discovered that Ford is worth more when you buy it... worth more when you sell it, too!

Fords cost less to run!

In the only nationally recognized test of gasoline economy, the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run, a Ford Six delivered more miles per gallon than any other car entered! This, remember, was no "private test" conducted for the benefit of a single manufacturer. This was grueling competition between 12 different makes of cars... supervised by the United States Auto Club. And when the test was over, Ford led all other cars in the thing you want most—actual miles per gallon!

Getting Money's Worth?

How is a merchant to judge the worth of his advertising?

A reliable way of judging the value of advertising is to consider the number of prospective customers that may be reached at a given cost.

The advertiser may be misled by total circulation or by the total number of radio or TV sets in an area. Total circulation of a medium may differ greatly from the number of prospective customers reached.

Large circulation is of no value to the advertiser unless that circulation is among real prospects who are in a position to buy from the advertiser. For this reason, advertisers often pay for circulation which is wasted.

When 90 percent of a direct mail circular is promptly dropped in a post office trash can, some advertiser has paid dearly for waste circulation. When a New York theatre advertises in a national magazine, less than one percent of the circulation may be to prospective customers. Such advertising may be profitable but it is expensive in terms of cost per real prospect.

The retail merchant who advertises in the metropolitan or regional newspaper suffers similarly from waste circulation. For he pays for circulation which extends far beyond his primary market area. The same is true of most radio and television advertising.

Of all advertising media, the small newspaper gives the local merchants the highest percent of real customer circulation. Virtually every family receiving the community paper is a potential customer of local stores. Subscribers to the paper and shoppers in the local market are identical publics. Waste circulation is not a commodity of the small newspaper; the local newspaper advertiser gets what he pays for.

Make Boating Safe For Summer Pleasure

Boat safety can mean the difference between enjoyment and tragedy this summer for many persons on Michigan's lakes and streams.

Each year in Michigan, several deaths are caused by failure to observe basic boat safety practices. Fishermen and others using boats should be mindful of these safety rules:

Don't stand or walk in a small boat. When boarding, be sure to step in the center of the boat. Change positions only in shallow water where a sudden mishap will not be tragic.

Don't overload the boat. In most cases, two or three adults may be a full load. Equip your boat with a life preserver for each occupant.

Use judgement selecting an outboard motor. Too much power can damage the boat and might even swamp it.

Balance the load in the boat, with passengers distributed evenly, from side to side and from bow to stern.

Watch the weather. When conditions look threatening, it's safer to put off that boat trip. If you are on a lake when a storm breaks, head for shore and keep passengers seated on the floor.

Avoid sharp turns and other "hot rod" maneuvers. Fast sharp turns are hard on the boat and can have dangerous consequences. Keep your boat under full control at all times, especially near swimming areas and other boats.

If an accident does occur and your boat capsizes, don't leave it. A floating boat will support many persons clinging to its sides. Stay calm and wait for help.

Home Demonstration

"Iron rayons and acetates immediately after washing, if possible," advises Clare Brown, home demonstration agent.

Laws requiring that the label must state whether the fabric is rayon, acetate or a blend of these, have made it much easier to know how to care for these garments.

The two are washed similarly. Both should be washed before they get too dirty; the colored garments should be separate from the white ones (in both washing and drying); they should not be allowed to soak because rayon fibers weaken when wet; and they should be rinsed in water which is the same temperature as the wash water.

Bleaching is not necessary; rayon is a naturally white fiber. To dry, roll the garment in a turkish towel and knead out the moisture. However, do not leave the garment in the towel because colored, especially printed, fabrics tend to streak.

If the fabric is all acetate, only a warm iron is needed; a high temperature will melt and fuse the materials. The garment should be evenly damp and ironed on the wrong side with very little pressure. Iron the material smooth, but don't try to dry it. After ironing, hang on a hanger in an open space; the steam left in the fabric will smooth out the wrinkles as it dries.

All rayon materials can be treated the same way except that the temperature of the iron should be somewhat higher than that used on acetate.

If the material is a blend of the two, follow the ironing directions for acetate.

Fishing Fun for Everyone

This Michigan fisherman, like thousands of others, finds recreational opportunity at one of the state's numerous public fishing sites. Since 1940, more than 660 of these sites have been acquired.

Shaving was originally a protective measure since long beards were easy for opponents in combat to seize.

Thirteen pieces in a "baker's dozen" originated when King of France warned all bakers who gave under measure that they would be beheaded.

Naturalized citizens of the United States are entitled to all privileges except that of becoming president.

Wedding rings are placed on the third finger of the left hand because of an old Egyptian belief that a nerve ran from that finger to the heart.

Government run by women is called gynarchy.

When over-protected, deer multiply beyond the carrying capacity of winter range, deplete the available food and suffer die-offs. Michigan lost about 36,000 deer to starvation during the 1955-56 winter.

Mich. Popular State With Sportsmen

Michigan continued its reign last year as the most popular state for outdoorsmen, according to license reports from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Approximately 2,370,000 hunting and fishing licenses were issued in Michigan during the 1955-56 fiscal year, topping all other states in combined sales of hunting and fishing permits.

The Wolverine state also retained its No. 1 status with hunters—as some 1,218,000 hunting permits were issued during the fiscal year, an increase of more than 32,000 over the previous year. Michigan annually is the only state to issue more than 1,000,000 hunting licenses.

Fishing license sales in the state exceeded 1,150,000 during the year, surpassed only by California and Minnesota totals.

Increasing hunting and fishing pressure was also recorded in many other parts of the nation as a record total of 33,163,831 hunting and fishing licenses were sold, and increase of 117,470 over the previous record set in the 1954-55 fiscal year.

Pioneer Days of Charlevoix

A history of Charlevoix written and presented by Mrs. Albert F. Bridge at a meeting of the Shakespeare club in 1923.

In memory of his parents and in observance of Charlevoix's centennial year, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bridge have had "Pioneer Days of Charlevoix" reprinted in a booklet. It will be reprinted in the Charlevoix Courier during the next few weeks with early pictures of the community.

We allow Father Time to drag us along at his own gait oblivious of the passing milestones until something happens to cause us to look back. Then we realize how fast we have traveled and how large a part of our journey is behind us.

Years bring some distinctions, however, and at present I find myself the oldest "old settler" having an active membership in this club (Shakespeare Study Club). But there are at least two others on the list who came to Charlevoix as early as I and one, Mrs. Frederick W. Mayne, can claim priority in both years and residence. Her father brought his family here in 1867, nine years before my father brought us.

We came in June, 1876 and by that time the real romantic pioneer days had passed and Charlevoix was a thriving little town of about 500 inhabitants.

It contained a sawmill, three general stores, two drug stores, a hardware store, hotel, post-office, newspaper, four-room school house (only two rooms being in use. And the Methodist church under construction. Religious services including Sunday school were held in the school house.

There was a daily mail and passenger stage between here and Petoskey, the nearest station, and two passenger steamers, the "Fountain City" and the "Idaho" running between Buffalo and Charlevoix stopped regularly at our dock each week usually staying two or three hours and taking on cord wood enough to last until they returned, this being the fuel used to make steam. Another steamer, the "Van Raalte" running between Traverse City and Mackinac made daily stops here, one day going north and the next going south.

We also had a small steamer running on Pine Lake (later renamed Lake Charlevoix) to East Jordan and Boyne City, obligingly stopping at any house that might flag them in. To speak of a steamer stopping at houses sounds exactly like an old-timer's yarn, but it is a true one in this case, as the pioneer homes were built on the banks of the lake, that being the only throughfare, if it may be called such, in the early days before the roads were cut through the woods.

I have often heard Mother and Father, the Hon. and Mrs. John Nicholls, speak of the fine class of people who were here when we came, and Charlevoix pioneers have always pointed with pride to the fact that this was not a typical lumber town. There were the families: Dixon, Nettleton, Stockman, Mason, Miller, Smith, See, Carpenter, Bartholomew, Green, Eaton, Butters, Ainslee, Dougherty, Aldrich, Washburn, Cooper, Fox, and other of like sterling qualities. Andrew B. Dougherty, our present State Attorney General, so far as I have heard, most distinguished "Old Timer" was then a school boy here.

Charlevoix was primitive, of course. There were no sidewalks and streets were paved with six inches or more of sand. This condition did not trouble us of the younger generation, but to father who found that it involved the necessity of buying new shoes for each one of his seven children about once a month it seemed a serious drawback.

We found neither automobiles, telephones, nor electric lights, but had one landed in New York or Chicago in 1876, we would have found only horse drawn vehicles, kerosene or gas lights and boys carrying the messages. Electricity was still unharnessed and the horseless carriage considered a joke or the fore-runner of the millennium as predicted in a crazy woman's prophecy.

Family Gathers to Celebrate Belated Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William Vermeulen of the Barnard community, who observed their golden wedding anniversary on Dec. 27, celebrated the occasion at a family gathering Saturday.

The Messmore cottage where there son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Koehler of Detroit have been vacationing was the scene of the buffet supper attended by relatives and a few friends.

Arrangements of gold and white poinsettias decorated the refreshment table which was centered with a tiered wedding cake which had touches of gold. A gold "money" tree and white center-bury bells also decorated the rooms.

Here for the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Koehler, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Garver and daughter, Paula Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. William Koehler and daughter, Marilyn, Charles Lehman, Larry Steffes, Robert Muldoon, Don Hellebuyck and Rodney McLeod, all of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bennett and children, Joan, David and Pamela, of Lansing.

News Round-up at Camp Charlevoix

We slept late on Monday morning to start off the fifth week of camp, as after Carnival Day, and then being up late for Venetian Night in Charlevoix and everyone was happy to have this extra sleep. The new boys in camp started on the activities of their choosing, and they were thrilled to find out all about the many things that we offer. No trips left camp, as the day was more or less the calm after the storm.

On Tuesday, our Intermediate softball team had a game with a team from Charlevoix and the boys were very pleased as we emerged the victors. Now they are eagerly awaiting a return game. Cabin number 19, with Jim Moore in charge went into town to the movie.

Wednesday morning found Bob Mirale's cabin number 10 going down to the Richardson's summer place on the South Arm for the day. The boys were picked up by boat and returned to camp by boat. This, of course, they loved. The boys enjoying this outing were: Jim Sprow, Doug Bethke, Tom Coakley, Roger Lundgren, Dick Hicks, Don Smith, Tom Ditzler, and John Richardson, whose parents were so thoughtful and gracious. In the evening the all camp evening committee showed a "Joe Palooka" movie to the boys in the Bigwam.

Thursday found trips starting out again, and cabin 9 and 11 went to Sleeping Bear and dunes way down below Traverse City for an overnight. Roger Wooten, Jim Faulkner, and David Wittigman took these boys on this trip. Dick Daley, Judd Freeman, Roy Gettle, Mike Huber, Don Norris, Leeds Davis, Kim Goldberger, Jim Sweeterman, Stephen Geigle, David Hulse, Peter Pinkham, John Rotz, David Runciman, Craig Wilson, Leonard Hooper, Douglas Rogers, and David Vass. Cabin 2, under the leadership of Bud Campbell and Monte McPadden took off for a swim in Lake Michigan, and supper on the sand over there. These boys were: Bruce Claycombe, John Foley, Jeff McLean, Ralph Meisel, George Steinhardt, Howard Rephan, Todd Carroll, and Tom Case. Cabin 15 went into town for miniature golf, and cabin number 10 went to the movies.

On Friday we were hosts to Camp Algonquin in a day of inter-camp competition in various sports and activities. We were very pleased at the end of the day as our teams won the majority of the events so the Camp Charlevoix boys were happy and excited. Our rifle team lost by 11 points, which was very close for a rifle match. The campers on the team were: Bill Rands, David Meister, Dick Woodard, John Baxter, and Stewart Cramp-ton. The tennis team won 7 matches to two. The men on our tennis team were: Jim Baird, Peck Kunkel, George Davis, "Doc" Danner, Mark Wenner, Bob Hicks, Mike Milson, Frank LaPointe, Greg Hefferan, Richie Lange, John Baird and Joe Mapes. In the swimming events, Camp Charlevoix won all but two events, thus piled a big score, the boys were delighted at their victory. The boys on the swimming team were: John Baird, John Baxter, Dick Daley, Jon Steffen-sen, David Craig, Harold Emmons, Howard Holmes (the only Junior camper on the team), Clark Thomas, Jim Baird, Bill Rands, and Peck Kunkel. In the Senior softball game, we lost by the one-sided score of 18 to 6. Jim Baird pitched a good game, but the errors behind him piled up the score for Algonquin. In archery we were again the victors with the boys really hitting the bulls-eye. Our winning team in this sport were: Cabin 17, with Bob Gersabeck as the leader took an overnight horseback trip along with one of our head cowboys in charge, Ron Wilson. The boys on this trip were: Jim Cahalan, John Coakley, Jay Coe, Mike Grass, John Lossing Chris Morgan, David Smith, John Appel, and Jonathan Howard.

On Saturday evening two cabin groups put on skits in the Bigwam. Glenn Starck and his boys put on a skit called the "Camp Charlevoix Choir". Ken McLean was the choir director and his choir was made up of Sandy Coakley, Fletcher Cole, Mike Steindler, Mike Roberts, Jim Baldwin, Tom Steffe, and John Weidner. Cabin 9 with Roger Wooten as the counselor put on a Chinese play that was very well done. These boys were: Dick Daley, Judd Freeman, Roy Gettle, Mike Huber, Don Norris, Leeds Davis, Kim Goldberger, and Jim Sweeterman.

On Sunday morning, the church service was held in the outdoor chapel, with Bob Kelley as the speaker. It was one of the finest talks we have had in years, and he gave the boys much to think about. In the afternoon, the annual "Capture the Counselor" was held. The Counselors all had a price on their heads and the team capturing the most men with the highest number of dollars won the contest. The Greens won 2 points with the Grays getting 1 point. In the evening Vesper Services were held in all three sections.

We would like to remind the parents and friends of the Annual Rodeo coming up on the afternoon of the 23rd with the Final Indian ceremony that same evening. Do Plan to be here for that final day to see the final two big events of the season.

South American to Make Harbor Call

The S.S. South American will make Charlevoix a port of call early in September while on a chartered cruise, an official of the Chicago Duluth and Georgian Bay Transit Co., has notified Joseph F. Howard, harbor master.

The Westinghouse Electrical Supply Co. of Cleveland has included Charlevoix as one of its ports of call and will visit the harbor for two hours on Sept. 5. The boat will dock here from 10 a. m. to 12 noon.

The U. S. Naval Training Ship PCE-845 docked in the harbor over the Venetian night weekend, docking here Friday and departing early Monday.

Start Survey to Study Needs for Hospitalization

Charlevoix County residents soon will be receiving medical survey questionnaires mailed today from Lansing by the Michigan Health Council.

The mail survey will seek public opinion regarding the cost and extent of medical-surgical coverage to be offered by pre-payment plans and health insurance policies.

The Michigan Health Council, a voluntary health educational organization, is conducting the survey for the Michigan State Medical Society. This is the first phase of a four-part study sponsored by Michigan doctors to determine: (1) what the public wants covered by medical-surgical policies, (2) how much coverage families feel they could afford to purchase, (3) what the public's medical-surgical needs are, as compared to desires, and (4) to determine how doctors feel about the present operation of Michigan Medical Service (Blue Shield).

Charlevoix County residents will be asked to select certain features such as out-patient x-ray, diagnostic services which they would like to see added to the average contracts or policy available at present. Other choices will include services that are not now covered in the doctor's office. Survey results will be made available to requesting insurance companies and the public following a formal report to the State Medical Society's House of Delegates in September.

'Who's Who' Lists Local Author

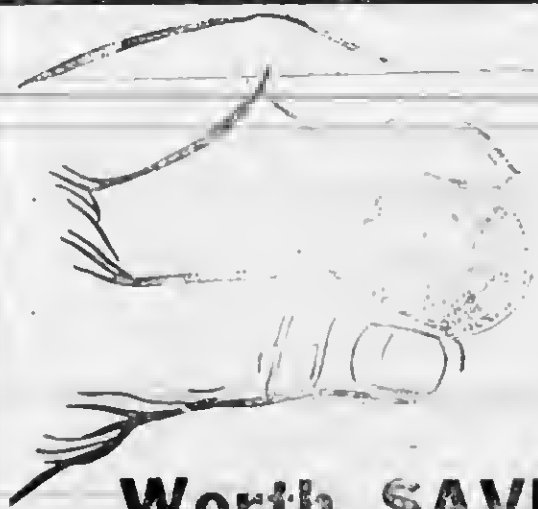

The biography of William Ratigan, local resident and author of five Great Lakes books, is contained in the current supplement of "Who's Who in America".

The name of the author whose latest book "Strails of Mackinac" is at the top of the best seller list in Michigan was selected for entry in Who's Who earlier this year.

Before his name appeared in Who's Who in America, the State Library in Lansing following the publication of his book "Soo Canal" in 1954, already had included the Charlevoix writer's biography in its progress to preserve records direct from "picked personalities" who have achieved success in their chosen fields and contributed in some way to Michigan's development. In all, more than 1,000 biographies of outstanding Michigan personalities including those of Julie Harris, Edgar Guest, Gov. G. Mennen Williams have been chosen and placed on file in the library for the reference of future generations.

In Mr. Ratigan's current biography in Who's Who one of Charlevoix's quaintest landmarks, The Dockside Press, 1 Shipyard Run, Charlevoix, Michigan, is listed as his office address.

Worth SAVING?

"Hardly", you might say, "there's not much a penny will buy anymore." But wait a moment.

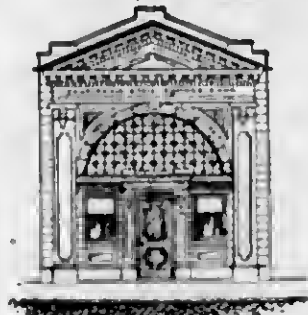

Look at it closely. In spite of wars, depressions, rising tensions, inflation, Communism and all the other troubles that plague this old earth, that coin has maintained its value better than most currencies.

The word "Liberty" on the left side still spells freedom and truth in this proud land of ours.

"In God We Trust" has helped us produce a nation that is the envy of all mankind.

Yes, that humble penny still represents sound value and is worth saving... and as long as it is there will be a future for you, your family and our country.

Community Chest Goal to Be $9,150

The goal for the 1957 Community Chest fund drive tentatively set for Oct. 1, was placed at $9,150 at a meeting of the Community Chest board of directors held Monday, William Foehman, president of the board, has announced.

Knox Claims Inferior Fish Are Imported

Representative Victor A. Knox (R) 11th Congressional District of Michigan declared in a House speech August 7 that diseased and grubby fish imported from Canada are ruining the reputation of Great Lakes fish.

Knox said, "It is apparent that these infected, grubby and diseased fish are coming from the Canadian inland lakes, particularly from the Alberta and Saskatchewan area. These fish are being imported and sold into the United States in many instances as Great Lakes fish."

He added that reports from the Michigan Fish Producers' Association indicate that "this is ruining the fine reputation of the Great Lakes commercial fishermen as well as destroying their market, not to mention the health of the consumer which is of primary concern."

Knox said the Food and Drug administration indicated their willingness to cooperate but had stated "it is not possible with our facilities to examine all lots of food offered for entry." However, they informed him criminal proceedings were now being instituted by them against a Michigan firm for interstate shipment of Ciscoes and whitefish infested with parasite worms. These fish were allegedly of Canadian origin.

Knox said, "It is time something was done to safeguard the American public against a market of inferior fish infested with parasite worms and to protect those fishermen producing a high quality product."

"It is my understanding that high grade Canadian producers especially the Great Lakes fishermen are equally concerned about these inferior imports of fish, which are unfit for human consumption."

Knox added that 293 of Michigan's 695 licensed commercial fishermen are from the 11th Congressional District.

H. S. Shop Dept. Adds Course in Motor Mechanics

The shop department at the Charlevoix high school will enlarge its program this fall to include motor mechanics, Supt. R. G. Bennett said this week.

In announcing the expansion of the program Mr. Bennett said it has been made possible by the presentation of two new gasoline engines, completely assembled, by Brown Motors of Charlevoix and Petoskey and the Chrysler Corp. of America.

The first year the motor mechanics course will not be a complete one but will be an added unit to a program already in force, Mr. Bennett said.

This is a desirable addition to the program in this day when the motor plays such an important part, not only in earning a living, but in living itself, Mr. Bennett said in expressing the appreciation of the shop department and the high school for this splendid contribution of equipment.

Plane Downed In Lake Still Not Located

The search continued Wednesday in Lake Michigan off Good Hart 20 miles north of here for the plane which presumably carried four Boyne City men to their deaths last Thursday afternoon.

The plane was piloted by Don Watkins, 66, Boyne City insurance agent. Passengers were Edward Starback, 57, Michigan Conservation officer at Boyne City and his two sons, Major Richard, 32, a career man in the U. S. Air Force who was home on leave from his duties at an airfield near Washington, D. C. and Carlton, 26, control towerman at Willow Run airport in Ypsilanti, who was visiting in Boyne City.

The plane was enroute to Beaver Island when it went into a spin and fell in Lake Michigan about two miles off Good Hart. Al Phillips who operates the Phillips Flying Service out of the Emmet county airport saw the plane fall into the lake.

Coast Guardsmen from the Charlevoix and Beaver Island Lifeboat stations and aircraft from Traverse City Coast Guard Air Station joined in the search for the plane. Papers including the plane's license and debris including a tire and piece of the fuselage were found in the area. The Coast Guard returned to the scene Friday and after failing to locate the plane which is believed to be in 200 ft. of water called off their search.

On Saturday three 40 ft. conservation patrol boats from throughout the north and a boat from Grand Rapids equipped with sonar took up the search which had continued through Wednesday without success.

Small world department: It all started back in 1925 when the U. S. Navy paid an official call on Australia. With the fleet was a young lieutenant named Hubert E. Paddock. While there he made friends with a fellow named Hutchinson who held the same rank in the Australian Navy. Through the years they kept up a correspondence and when Paddock, now a captain in charge of his own ship, returned to Sydney during World War II one of the first men over the side was Capt. Hutchinson. Capt. Paddock relates that they saw each other often throughout the war years and have kept in touch since then. Last week Capt. Hutchinson, now retired and employed by a private shipyard in Sydney, and his wife visited Capt. Paddock, now retired, and his wife in England on business and with his wife was returning home via this country. A combination business and pleasure trip. They left here Monday and were to arrive home the following Saturday. Which proves, we think, that the world is getting smaller all the time. We got quite a boot out of this little story. Cadillac Keeping Current... For Economy!

In the illustration above, you see a very happy man at a very wonderful moment.

The title, the keys and the car are his—and he's starting out on his first journey at the wheel.

Of course, there's not much doubt as to why he decided to purchase a new Cadillac.

Like everyone else who selects the "car of cars", he did it to "keep current", so to speak, on all of Cadillac's new miracles of performance and beauty and comfort.

But coming to Cadillac, as he did, at this particular time of the year, we also suspect that he was inspired by the added motive of practicality.

For in addition to the normal Cadillac economies of modest purchase price, low operating cost and high resale value—Cadillac dealers are, at this time, seasonally prepared to make Cadillac ownership even more attractive than ever.

Because of the demand for used cars and because of increased production of the Cadillac car itself, the odds are that this gentleman received both a generous allowance on his previous car and prompt delivery of his new Cadillac.

Have you considered how wonderful it would be to step into a Cadillac of your own? Then, you should pay your dealer a visit—spend an hour on the highway in the luxury of Fleetwood coachcrafting—and get the facts for yourself.

You'll agree, we know, that the car is Cadillac—and the time is now!

Zeidler-Raymon Exchange Vows At St. Marys Church Ceremony

St. Mary's church was the scene Saturday morning of the wedding of Janice L. Zeidler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Zeidler Sr., and Leonard Rayman, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Rayman.

The Rev. E. Francis Denay officiated at the double ring service in the presence of more than 100 guests. Arrangements of gladioli in pastel shades formed a setting for the ceremony. Mrs. Frank Olesky played a program of traditional music and accompanied the soloist, Barry Pischner.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a ballerina length gown of white embroidered nylon over lace fashioned with a fitted bodice, tucked at the waist, a jewel neckline and a bouffant skirt. Her short veil fell from a lace headpiece and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli.

Mrs. Ronald T. Shawhan of Detroit, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Shirley A. Lake of Grand Rapids was bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of bluish pink and white embroidered nylon over net styled along princess lines with bluish pink velvet accents at the neckline. They wore matching headresses and carried bouquets of bluish pink gladioli.

Fritz Allard assisted the bridegroom as best man and Albert Rayman, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsmen. Seating the guests were Walter Winslow of Flint and Gid Tukacs of Detroit, brother-in-law of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Zeidler chose a light blue print silk dress, white accessories and a corsage of red carnations.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. A tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom and an arrangement of bluish pink flowers centered the refreshment table. Mrs. Tukacs of Detroit and Mrs. Bernard F. Zeidler of Caro assisted.

Following a wedding trip through the upper peninsula, the couple will make their home in Flint. For traveling the bride wore a light blue tailored dress and white accessories.

Wedding guests were present from Detroit, Caro, Oxford, Flint, Grand Rapids, Lansing, East Jordan and Petoskey.

A fine choice of foods prepared by the parish's best cooks will be served at a buffet by Mrs. Leo Allard, Mrs. Emil Pischner, Mrs. Arthur Heilig and Mrs. Alfred Seheid.

Serving dessert and coffee and assisting in the dining room under the direction of Mrs. Marguerite Wallace will be Mrs. James Woodward, Mrs. George LaBlance, Mrs. George Plunin, Mrs. Louis McKenzie, Mrs. Herbert Moore and Mrs. Robert Withers.

Bernard Lederman and Edward Stanek will head a committee assisting in the dining room. Arthur Heilig heads the kitchen committee.

Ticket sales will be in charge of Mrs. Hugh Mayne and Charles Mitchell. Mrs. Frank Olesky will head the advertising and poster committee.

In addition to the dinner a number of valuable prizes will be awarded at the dinner.

Cherry Playhouse Books Popular Character Actor

Frank McHugh, popular character actor who starred last season in "Three Men on a Horse" at the Cherry County Playhouse in Traverse City, has been signed in "Harvey" later this month, according to Ruth Bailey, producer.

The side-splitting comedy will be presented at the Playhouse Aug. 27 through Sept. 1.

Mr. McHugh will replace Constantine Bennett who was forced to cancel her engagement with the Playhouse when she accepted the lead in the touring company of "Aunt Mame".

McHugh, who has appeared in more than 125 movies, has been in show business more than 30 years and is especially remembered for his appearance in "Going My Way" and "No Business Like Show Business".

This week at the Playhouse, Charles Ruggles, a veteran of stage and screen, is playing in "Jenny Kissed Me", a comedy portrayal of the life of a priest after a young girl comes to live in the rectory.

ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDING

Notes from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold E. Kohn

What Will It Grow?

One of the chief glories of the North Country is the presence of evergreen trees in great abundance. Hemlock, spruce and balsam, white pine, jack pine and others of their kin adorn the emerald hills, rim the cobalt-colored lakes, shelter birds among their ample boughs and spread a generous shade for drowsy deer. Their highest tips finger the first rays of rising sun and stroke the soft glory of sunset skies when day is done. When evening changes into night they point us to the farthest stars.

It is generally thought that evergreens prosper in the North because conditions here are ideal for them. Botanists say that this is not the reason why they stand here in such splendid profusion. It is not because conditions in the North are ideal for evergreens that these trees flourish here, but because the environment is unideal for other trees. Shorter summers and longer winters—when moisture is unavailable to the trees, being ice-locked in the soil—make growth difficult for such deciduous trees as maples, elms, hickories and other hardwoods. Some will grow here, but they seldom compete effectively with soft wood evergreens which flourish under the adversities of long winters and less fertile soil. Evergreen trees, growing at the east edge of Hidden Brook, make the best of an unideal situation. There are some things that the North cannot grow well, but its glory is in what it will grow—towering evergreens.

An architect who helped build a beautiful city in an Arizona desert once said that the architecture of any area is not determined by the materials available in the region, but rather by the materials that are lacking. When builders have a wide variety of supplies to choose from there is apt to be a diversity of construction, and no one distinctive type of architecture will predominate. But where there is a scarcity of some kinds of building goods, the architects are forced to use what is available. Scarcity produces an architectural type. If there is little lumber, stone will do. If there is neither lumber or stone, bricks will serve the purpose. If bricks are lacking, adobe houses can be built. Imaginative builders make their limitations work to produce beauty.

One wise way of handling life is to refuse to describe your situation in terms of its limitations alone. If your environment will not grow an abundance of hardwood trees, it may grow evergreens. If you cannot live in Florida or California, but must live in Northern Michigan, why describe the North in terms of what it lacks—orange groves, year-round deep sea fishing, flower gardens in January and bathing in the surf in February? Of course the North Country does not provide these luxuries. But it does afford lush growths of evergreens, some of the world's most beautiful inland lakes and streams, cool breezes in the summer, wildlife of wide variety and unending interest.

If you cannot be all you would like to be under the conditions that environ you, be all that you can be. If you cannot grow a spectacular life there, you can still grow a useful one. If you cannot be President, you can still be a good citizen. If you cannot be a great leader, you can still be a great follower—of the best. You cannot be God and fashion the world after your own heart, but you can be godlike and help to make the world better than it now is.

If the soil of your situation will not grow one thing, it will grow another, and like the evergreens adorning the North Country and the distinctive architecture of an Arizona city, even your limitations may produce a splendor uniquely your own.

Next Sunday's Sermon

By Dr. William Lampe

If you now regularly attend another church in our town, this notice is but a neighborly greeting and wish that you and your church may prosper. If you do not already have a church home, it is an invitation to attend Charlevoix's Congregational Church next Sunday.

Michigan Banks Handle Bulk of Farm Credit

Again in 1956, Michigan farmers met the bulk of their credit through loans from their local banks, according to Robert Bridge, President of Charlevoix Co. State Bank. During the year, the state's banks remained the leaders in farm credit service by providing far more financial aid to farmers than any other lending agency, he noted.

Using figures from the sixteenth annual farm lending summary of the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association, Mr. Bridge pointed out that on January 1, 1957, Michigan banks had a total of $125,880,000 in loans outstanding to farmers, compared with $122,703,000 a year ago. On the same date, $56,277,000 was held in Michigan farm loans by Federal Land Banks, the second largest lender to the state's farmers; $17,283,000 was held by insurance companies; $9,766,000 by Production Credit Associations; and $21,290,000 by the Farmers Home Administration.

The total of farm credit outstanding in banks was made up of $75,364,000 in production loans and $50,516,000 in farm mortgages. In addition, Michigan banks held $2,984,000 in C. C. C. paper not included in the above total.

Mr. Bridge commented especially on the greater use of bank real estate credit, which increased 3 per cent during the year, in relation to production loans. "The increase in farm capital requirements to the present very high levels," he said, "has created a growing need for loans with longer repayment periods, particularly intermediate-term loans longer than 1 year. At the same time, there is a high borrowing capacity in farm real estate on which farmers could draw for non-real estate purposes."

The shift to comparatively greater use of real estate credit for capital improvements and

City Golf Course Has Record Play For Season Sunday

The Charlevoix municipal golf course had its biggest day of the season Sunday when approximately 260 nine-hole rounds of golf were played on the course, Keith Carey, course manager said this week.

The first golfers appeared at 6:30 a. m. with the last players teeing off after 7 p. m. The number included the 75 day tickets, that is, those who did not hold season tickets.

In the city championship tournament for the Frank Poole trophy, Rev. E. F. Denay, first flight champion will take on Chuck Pontius second flight winner and Lyle Ance, third flight victor will meet the fourth flight winner, Bob Anderson, in the semi-finals to be played during the week.

In the consolation bracket of the same tourney, Pat Hawley is scheduled to meet Bill Baker and Ted Ager to take on the winner of the Kit Carson-Perry Smith match.

Play in the course championship tournament is continuing on schedule, according to Mr. Carey. In the early rounds Bill Supernaw defeated Joe Etienne Jr. 5-4; Bob Livingston downed Ken Celler 4-3; Ted Ager dumped Keith Carey 1 up in 19; in the championship flight.

In the first flight Grover Genet won over Ron Cunningham 4-3; Guy Swanson def. Chuck Pontius 1 up in 19; John Swanson def. Tip Riley 4-3; Don Meggison def. Bob Withers 7-6.

In the second flight Des Milligan defeated Herb Schofield 7-6; Charlie Dennis def. Bill Baker 1 up; Bill Graves def. Bob Anderson 2 up; Bob Pearl def. Lyle Ance 1 up in 19.

Playoffs in the third flight have not been completed.

Dr. William Lampe To Preach Sunday Morning Service

Dr. William Lampe, nationally known Presbyterian minister, will be the guest preacher at Charlevoix's First Congregational church this Sunday at 11 o'clock.

Dr. Lampe was the minister of West Presbyterian church, St. Louis, Mo., for 36 years. During the years 1945-1946 he was the moderator of the Presbyterian church, U. S. A.—the highest honor and position of leadership the Presbyterian church can bestow.

The ministry is something of a tradition in the Lampe family; Dr. Lampe's father was a minister and Dr. Lampe's two sons are now serving in the ministry of the Presbyterian church.

For many years Dr. and Mrs. Lampe, and their children have been summer residents of Sequoyia Club, near Charlevoix, and Dr. Lampe preached from the Charlevoix Congregational pulpit for the first time in the summer of 1919.

The first oil well in the U. S. was built in Titusville, Pa., in 1859.

Meeting of Rayders Called for Tuesday

cards which have been signed by parents or guardians will be allowed to practice. No equipment will be issued at that time.

In announcing the practice schedule Coach Carey said it was important that boys planning to play football attend all practice sessions. State regulations require that a boy have three weeks practice before he participates in a scheduled game. He went on to say that most injuries occur because of lack of good physical condition so it is important that all boys start right now to condition himself for the season ahead.

Coach Carey advised that prospective players wear his football shoes and work out every evening. If players need shoes they are asked to see Coach Carey now so they can be ordered. He said that there are 15 pairs in hand.

Charlevoix's opening game will be at Rogers City Sept. 20. Remember the time and date: 8 p. m. Tuesday at the high school gymnasium!

Supplies of all red meat in cold storage are down sharply from what they were last summer. Most of the reduction is in supplies of pork. It may mean a little brighter outlook for livestock producers.

An angry man is Sylvester T. Bly.
Who today was sold a piece of "blue sky."
He'd stepped in a showroom—out of the rain,
Was sold a new car before he could explain!
How he hated the styling—so high and square—
And in new features it was really bare.
"I got a real bargain—the buy of my life—
But how do I ever convince my own wife?"

Moral: You're paying for a new car... make sure you get one!

When you buy a new car, put your money on tomorrow—not yesterday. Swept-Wing Dodge actually obsolesces other cars in its field. Should you invest in high, boxy styling when Dodge offers the low, low look of tomorrow? Should you invest in outmoded coil springs when Dodge offers new Torsion-Aire Ride? Should you invest in an old-fashioned lever-type transmission when Dodge offers the ease of Push-Button Driving? In other things, too—engines, brakes, interiors—Dodge is years ahead. So put your money on tomorrow. See your Dodge dealer. Join the swing to the Swept-Wing Dodge!

News Round-up at Camp Charlevoix

The sixth week of camp started out with more trips leaving camp. Bill Fors and Al Kristensen took their cabins down to Sleeping Bear Dunes for an overnight. The boys on this trip were: Russell Washburn, Bob Scholten, Howard Holmes, Terry Summerfield, Jimmy Blackburn, Bruce Nyland, Stim Schantz, Stuart White, Jonsy Alderman, Scotty Emmmons, Michael Hagge, David Sawyer, Bill McInerney, Gary McInerney, and Don Strutz. Tom Richardson and Doug Graham, two assistant Counsellors were along to help off the trip. Cabin number 14, left for their second trip down the Jordan River. Bob Neff is the counsellor of this cabin, and the boys on the trip were: Roger Zvone, Greg Heffner, Ace Hoyt, Phil Huber, John Reedy, Tom Smith, Hank Holste, and Bill Newman. This was another week of "Mugwump", and Monday evening was spent by the boys looking for it and finally after much searching the Greys gained possession of it.

"Casey", our camp doctor, and Ross Hadley took their boys on a horseback overnight on Tuesday morning. Two of the cowboys went along on this trip to Bay-Shore by the Lake. Boys on this trip were: Steve Hayes, Arthur Brown, Ted Schmidt, Jack Hogan, Phil Barbour, John Fauver, Larry Parrott, John Teeter, Billy Birkhill, Randy Grossman, Geoffrey Carroll, Paul Kravitz, Stephen Wardrop, Roger Witherill, Frank Decker, and Chip Ransom. Cabin number 5, with Mitch Paul and Nick Cameron in charge went down to the Richardson's with the boys having the thrill of being picked up and returned by boat. They had another wonderful time, the boys being: Sandy Killins, Harry Carlson, John Chapin, Rusty Smith, Sam Gibbons, Doug Lake, Tom Coolman and Bobby Fife. In the evening six cabin groups went into town to see the Jerry Lewis movie, and reported that they enjoyed it very much. Cabins numbered 21, 20, 19, 18, 13, and 12 were in town that evening. It was quiet a delegation, but we felt the movie was a good one for boys, and from all reports, it was.

Another horseback trip left here on Wednesday morning for Mt. McSaubu. Buzz Fender and Bob Kelly were the counsellors along with two of the head cowboys. The boys were: Joe Reed, David Angst, John Haymon, Joe Mapes, Mike Goldberger, Bob Miller, Randy Skokely, Grant Washburn, Harold Ansell, Nelson Smith, Charles Sullivan, Bobby Sutherland, Doug Pearl, David Power, Chris Nyland, and John Baldwin. Two more cabin groups, with Bud Campbell, Monte McFadden, and Bob Miracle in charge left for an overnight to Eastport State Park. These boys were: Bruce Claycombe, John Foley, Jeff McLean, Ralph Miesel, Howard Rephan, George Steinhart, Todd Carroll, Tom Case, Jim Sprow, Doug Bethke, Tom Coakley, Roger Lundgren, Cal Matthews, John Richardson, Tom Ditzler, Don Smith, and Dick Hicks. Cabin number 1, our littlest boys in camp, were taken by Dean Heggemo and John Logie over to Lake Michigan for the afternoon and supper. These boys were: Hank Boyer, Geoffrey Browning, George Coakley, Howard Morgan, Parky Smith and Tom Rotz and Craig Shaw. Bill Schaeffer took his boys on a fishing trip to Susan Lake, Chris Cannon, Ricki Croy, Dave Meister, Merrick Pease, Tim Wurtz, Mike Million, Bill Washburn, David Wilson. Also in the afternoon, Bill Neumann took the camp tennis team into the Belvedere Club for a tennis match which our boys won 5-2. They enjoyed the competition very much. Bob Kelly took the fishing class up to Oden, Mich., to visit a State Fish Hatchery. All in all, it was quite a day, and the trips men and their department were working at double speed to get these trips in and out of camp on schedule.

Thursday morning found cabins 3 and 5, from the Junior Section, leaving for Sleeping Bear Sand Dunes. The counsellors were: Mitch Paul and Glen Starck, with Nick Cameron along as the assistant. The boys on this trip were: Sandy Killins, Rusty Smith, John Chapin, Sam Gibbons, Bobby Fife, Tom Coolman, Doug Lake, Harry Carlson, Sandy Coakley, Fletcher Cole, Ken McLean, Mike Roberts, Mike Studdler, John Weidner, Tom Swift, and Jim Baldwin. Several other cabins went into town to the beach and to the movies. At evening inspection, the "Mugwump" activity was over and Don Ring-sled lead his Grey team to five more points, giving the Greys a very substantial lead.

All during this week there have been several committee meetings on Saturday night's dance with Chippewa Trail Camp for Girls. The boys were busy talking about decorations, the menu for dinner, the records to be played, and how to entertain the girls between dinner and dance time. This is an annual affair and the boys work hard to make it a high light of the season.

Friday was the first rainy day we have had all summer, five weeks without rain so it was a welcome sight, and as it rained all day long, much good was done. No one complained, as one rainy day out of forty sunny days was not bad at all. We took 62 boys over to Algonquin for a day of competition, and though the rain forced cancellation of several of the events, the boys enjoyed winning the rifle match with Steart Crampton being high man with a 93 out of a possible 100. Bill Rands was second with a 94. Friday evening, the Juniors saw a movie on "Daniel Boone". They enjoyed that very much.

Saturday was a day of regular activities in camp, however, about six o'clock Camp Chippewa Trail arrived with fifty girls and counsellors to be our guests. At dinner followed by a dance in the clubhouse. It was gaily decorated with streamers, Japanese lanterns, balloons, to carry out the Mardi Gras theme. Assistant counsellor John Logie and his committee did a great job, and the new amplifying system worked wonders with the records. Gold carriage lanterns with red candles in them added to the color. Punch and cookies were served, and the evening was closed with each camp singing camp songs. As the Chippewa cars were pulling away, the girls were singing "Goodnight Ladies". It was a great party and the boys are still talking about it.

At the Sunday morning chapel service held in our outdoor chapel, we welcomed several parents and heard a very fine talk by Bill Townsend, Director of activities. He spoke on "Developing Your Personality". It was helpful to both campers, staff and parents. Rodney Deyo arrived in camp to start on Monday training the boys in Indian Dancing, getting ready for the Final Council Fire on Friday night, August 23rd at 8:30 p. m. He put on our show for two years several years ago, and is considered one of the top men in Michigan at Indian Ceremonies.

We are indeed very fortunate in having him with us this year. In the afternoon, the Annual Mile Swim was held, and as the number of men finishing in each section determined the points a side would get, the Greens won all three points. The running score is now Greens 17½, Browns 9. So the score is gradually narrowing down. The first three men to come in the Mile Swim were: Jim Baird, Peck Kunkel, and Clark Thomas. The Junior to finish this long endurance swim were: Howdy Holmes, Bruce Nyland and Stuart White, Bill McInerney, and David Sawyer. Congratulations to these boys. Altogether 70 boys finished the swim, and we are very proud of each of them.

This seventh week coming up is the week of the long trips. The most proficient boys in riding, canoeing, fishing, and sailing are chosen by the heads of each activity to go on each of these trips.

Once again, we would like to remind the parents to be sure to be up here for the closing events of this our 32nd. season. Friday, August 23rd. The Rodeo is in the afternoon at 3:00 p. m. with the Final Council Fire at 8:30 that evening. Do try to be here as it means so much to the boy to have his parents to enjoy these events with him.

More next week.

State Certifies County Modified Brucellosis - Free

Charlevoix county is one of 83 counties in the state now certified as modified brucellosis-free, Ed Rehman, county agricultural agent, has been notified by the Michigan Department of Agriculture. The county board of supervisors will be given official certification at the regular October meeting.

The battle to eradicate this highly contagious disease has been waged by the Michigan and U. S. departments of agriculture. A year ago only 16 counties in the state were certified.

Brucellosis is transmissible to man under certain conditions as undulant fever. The disease has cost cattle owners millions of dollars over the years in loss of milk and calves due to the fact that cows having the disease abort.

Certification as being modified brucellosis free is issued only to counties where not more than one percent of the cattle are infected and these cattle located in not more than five percent of the herds.

In order to achieve the record that Michigan is making it was necessary to milk ring test 129,000 herds containing nearly 900,000 cattle. All herds that reacted to the milk test and most of the non-milking herds were blood tested.

The present goal of the Michigan department of agriculture is to certify the entire state sometime in 1958. When the first steps to eradicate brucellosis were taken in 1937, eight percent of Michigan's cattle were infected. Today Department veterinarians estimate less than one percent of the cattle have the disease.

Justice Court News

Justice John Connolly reports the following cases which appeared in his court during the past week.

Ellsworth Leads Second Round in Softball League

Ellsworth seems to have clinched the second round title in the Class A league but in the other loops anything can happen. Dean Davenport, softball director, said this week.

All four teams in the Class B league have a chance to win the second round. In the peanut league the race has narrowed to the Dodgers and the Red Sox with the winner meeting the first round winners, the Cardinals, for the championship.

Closing Out Stock And Fixtures at Toy-Hobby Harbor

The sale of all stock and fixtures in the Toy and Hobby Harbor located at 411 Bridge st., was authorized by Judge Charles L. Brown at a special meeting held Monday at the county building.

The sale was authorized for the benefit of the store's creditors. King Saunders was named to manage the store during the sale.

Until June 6 the shop was operated by Bradley N. Stanton who opened the store at that site during the summer of 1955. Arrested on a morals charge on that date, Stanton has since been committed to the custody of the state hospital commission.

Pioneer Days of Charlevoix

A history of Charlevoix written and presented by Mrs. Albert F. Bridge at a meeting of the Shakespeare club in 1923.

In memory of his parents and in observance of Charlevoix's centennial year, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bridge have had "Pioneer Days of Charlevoix" reprinted in a booklet. It will be reprinted in the Charlevoix Courier during the next few weeks with early pictures of the community.

Stories of the real pioneer days, however, are the interesting part of our history and some which I have gathered from a paper written by Mrs. M. J. Stockman for the Historical Society in 1911 and from articles written for the "Sentinel" some years ago by Mr. D. C. Nettleton giving a detailed account of the opening of the channel between Pine Lake and Lake Michigan will complete this paper.

The Dixon family were among the very first settlers here, coming in 1855. Both Mr. and Mrs. Dixon were graduates of Oberlin College, he being a civil engineer.

There was a small Mormon settlement near the mouth of the river at that time and as they were determined that no Gentiles should settle here they, having no respect for the life or property of a Gentile became a real menace to those who made the attempt.

At one time when they were unusually active, Mrs. Dixon becoming much alarmed, left her home after night-fall, not daring to appear in daylight, and walked to Petoskey to secure aid of the settlers there. As there were no roads through the woods she walked on the beach and reached her destination about daylight, weary, faint, and almost speechless but she accomplished her purpose.

At another time the Mormons here being reinforced by a number from Beaver Island, erected a gallows on the high bluff at the mouth of the river intending to hang Mr. Dixon but their plans were frustrated as one of their number secretly warned him and with the help of Indians he escaped to Northport. The Mormons then conspired themselves by hanging him in affigy. I was told by one of King Strang's sons who lived here for a time practicing law that his mother, Strang's third wife, was among the Mormons that night, but he added that he wished people knew how she came to led into it. Evidently, although he showed no polygamous tendencies himself, his respect for his mother was not lessened by her unconventional way of living.

Mr. Dixon remained in Northport until the Mormons were driven out in 1856.

Mrs. Dixon organized the first Sunday School here holding it in her home. She also taught an Indian School near Susan Lake, walking four miles night and morning. The old log house of the Dixon's was located about where the Pere Marquette station now stands. Their land extended along the shore of Round Lake to Lake Michigan and north to Petoskey ave. But their home, when we came here, was a large square house near the Inn Hotel and our beautifully paved Dixon ave. was an unimproved dirt road leading to their home with woods in the north side of it almost the whole distance. It was used only by the Dixon family and those who visited them.

Mr. Dixon was the first postmaster. An Indian carrying the mail on his back from Traverse City to Cheboygan following a blazed trail through the then unbroken forest. This was undoubtedly an arrangement made by the settlers as there seems to be no record of a government mail route.

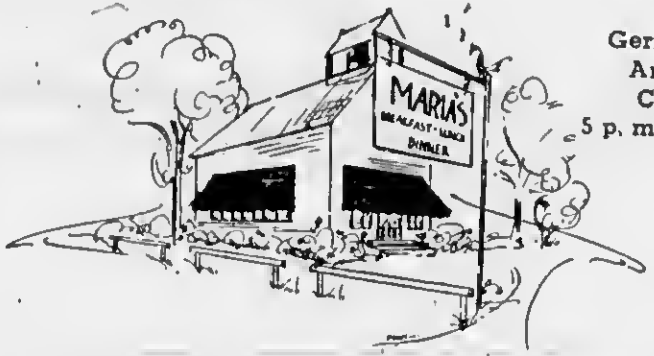

During the years 1855 and 1856 four families were located on Pine Lake. The Dixon and Thompson families were here, the Horton family at Horton's Bay and the John Miller family at the head of Pine Lake at Boyne City.

Late in October 1857, the small schooner "Sonora" worked its way into Pine River and Seth F. Mason, father of A. E. Mason and Mrs. Judd Markham, with his wife and two or three small children and Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Stockman were landed on its bank. They found shelter in a two-room log house which stood in the present lumber yard north of the river.

Mrs. Stockman describes the scenery as "Woods and Water as far as the eye could reach with a few half demolished huts left by fishermen or Mormons."

LES JOHNSON
Michigan Bell Manager

"LET'S CALL HOME and tell them how far we've come today." When you're on a long trip it's fun to phone the folks at home. And nowadays it's so convenient with outdoor telephone booths along the way. Be sure to take along a Telephone Credit Card, too. Then when you make a Long Distance call you won't have to worry about having the right change in your pocket. Call our Business Office to arrange for one of these handy Credit Cards. Like convenient outdoor booths, it will make your trip more carefree.

DO YOU USUALLY ASK PEOPLE to "speak a little louder, please" during phone conversations? Perhaps you haven't heard of the new volume control telephone. It's like other phones, but it has a small knob that lets you control the volume of the voice you're listening to. Volume control phones are invaluable for those with a hearing loss, and they're just the thing for use in places where there are distracting noises. If you need some help to hear "loud and clear" on the phone, ask for a volume control set when you order an extension.

A TELEPHONE MAN said years ago, "Nobody ever goes into telephone work unless he really likes people." Surely anyone who's talked with telephone people realizes the truth of that statement. That applies off the job as well as on it. You can tell by the number of telephone people who work with such groups as the Boy Scouts, fund-raising campaigns, and many Service Clubs. This liking for people helps explain why it's people who make your telephone service so good.

Three Trustees Re-elected to Hospital Board

Three trustees were re-elected without opposition to the Charlevoix Hospital board of trustees at the annual hospital meeting held Wednesday at the high school band room.

They were Fred W. Willis, Gordon L. Freedman and Mrs. E. K. Shanahan, all veteran board members, who were re-elected for three year terms.

At the business meeting the treasurer's report given by Charles J. Bleha revealed that the hospital was operated at a cost of $233,836.46 during the past year while its net income from hospital service was $221,544.30. Thus the hospital was operated at a loss of $12,292.16. This, however, included $26,126 allowed for depreciation so the loss was not actually a cash deficit.

Other income during the year included donations totaling $22,783.90, most of which was spent to build the solarium which is nearing completion.

The report also showed that the payroll for the year for 56 full-time and eight part-time employees was $137,400.

It was also revealed that approximately five lots to the south and west of the new hospital had been purchased to allow for future expansion.

The report made by Miss Anne Baumgartner showed that a total of 1,459 had been admitted during the year, the average number of patients for the year was 24 adults and one baby per day, 234 births, the cost per day $25.33 as compared with $21.90 last year, the average number of employees as 64 and the yearly collection percentage 98 per cent as compared with 95 per cent last year.

Mrs. Freedman, past president of the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Hospital, presented an annual report and listed the equipment the Guild had purchased and the services offered during the past year.

Mrs. Shanahan read the minutes of the last annual meeting.

Mr. Willis, president of the board, reported on the progress of the addition now under construction and said it would be completed later this fall. He said that a contribution had been made by Mrs. Charles Foster to underwrite the cost of completely furnishing the solarium.

Only 20 persons including the board members attended this important meeting.

New Transport Schedule Set Up By School Board

The problem created by new restrictions on the transportation of school students was one of the chief topics of discussion at the regular meeting of the Charlevoix board of education held Monday night.

Under the new regulations established by the state, schools will not be reimbursed for any students who live within the city limits or outside the city limits if within 1 1/2 miles of the school.

It was finally decided that the school district would continue to transport students, at its own expense with the following limitations:

No one in the fourth grade or above may ride the bus if he lives within the one-half mile limit of school.

No one in the seventh through the twelfth grades living within the city limits shall ride the bus.

The one-half mile limit on the north side was determined as including Nichols st. between Dixon and Michigan ave. On the south side the limit was determined as Garfield ave. and May st.

The new regulations will become effective when school opens Sept. 10.

60 Candidates Take Exam for Rayder Squad

More than 60 prospective football players reported for physical examinations at the Charlevoix high school locker room Wednesday, Coach Don Carey reported yesterday.

Physical examinations were given by Dr. A. F. Litzenger, director of District Health Department No. 3 in anticipation of the opening day of football practice Monday, Sept. 2.

Boys who had not already been issued equipment received it. Coach Carey who, with Mrs. Keith Miles, community and school nurse, was on hand to assist with the examinations.

The boys will report at Kipke field at 7 a. m. Sept. 2, for practice and until school starts the following week will practice each morning and evening.

On Tuesday night more than 50 boys and a small number of parents met at the high school study hall for a "kick-off" meeting.

Supt. R. G. Bennett spoke on the benefit plan for players and Dr. E. G. Martin talked on training and diet.

Training rules came in for extensive discussion.

Coach Carey spoke on what he expected from the players and concluded by saying that he felt the 1957 Rayder squad had the material and ability and could come through with a championship team if they tried.

An excellent film on the rules of football was shown to conclude the meeting.

New Equipment Used in Search For Down Plane

A new type of equipment was brought from Frankfort Wednesday to be used in the search for the single-engine plane which crashed into Lake Michigan off Good Hart, 20 miles north of here Aug. 8, carrying four Boyne City men to their deaths.

The Conservation department which is continuing the search will use the new sweep device which is hooked between two boats and dragged along the bottom of the lake, Ralph Woodward of the Boyne City office of the conservation department said.

If the plane which is believed to be in approximately 299 feet of water—about a mile offshore—is located the conservation department plans to engage a diver to descend to the wreckage, Mr. Woodward said.

Four 40-foot conservation department boats are working on the operation. The sonar-equipped boat owned by a Grand Rapids company gave up the search when rough water made it impossible to operate the equipment satisfactorily.

The bodies of the four men are believed to be trapped in the plane which fell into Lake Michigan while on a flight from Boyne City to Beaver Island. Al Phillips of McPhillips Flying Service at the Emmet county airport saw the plane go into the lake.

Donald Watkins, 66, Boyne City veteran insurance agent was the pilot in which Edward Starback, 57, of Boyne City, veteran Conservation officer, and his sons, Major Richard, of the U. S. Air Force, stationed at Dover, N. J., and Carlton 26, of Ypsilanti were passengers.

Youths Try Rifles; Bring Down Bobcat

Two local youngsters, "Doc" Berg and his cousin, Bruce Bartlett, truned big game hunters last Thursday while target practicing on the Berg farm in Hayes township.

The pair sighted a small bobcat which they had heard the night before and followed it until it climbed a tree. They then shot it and returned home with their catch, a little late for lunch.

Doc's mother, Mrs. Leo Berg, said the boys had just gotten their rifles and were just trying them out when they saw the bobcat which had been heard nightly in the area of the pasture where the cows were kept.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

He has a green thumb, that boy... the one who takes care of the colorful flower baskets which hang from the lamp posts up and down Bridge St. We've never seen them as pretty as they are this year... Of course we mean Charlie Dennis whose chore is to water and care for the flowers.

The baskets are placed from the top of the north side hill through the business district, to the south hill as you know. Every one enjoys them for they change the appearance of Bridge St. from just another street to a beauty spot... There's always someone to spot a thing like that... and someone did by stealing one of the baskets, the first one on the east side of the north hill.

We hope that whoever was so malicious in enjoying this bit of beauty... "cause we're sure missing it every time we pass the spot.

Round Lake's taken on a new look... have you noticed... It's so obvious it hops you right in the eye when you look across the dark waters of the lake and see the beautiful point job on the Chicago Club boathouse.

The green in the doors matches the color of the lake and the white gleams in the sun, attracting your attention to it.

It's that time of year again... when the hayfever sufferers begin to suffer... (or should we say 'drip')... One of the most vicious offenders is the ragweed... and is there a lot of it around... Just the other day we noticed some growing in a flower bed... You can't miss the weed so if you see it pull it... It will save someone a couple million or so sneezes and a lot of misery... We don't mean it grows in profusion but it's like poison ivy... any is too much.

Conclusion reigned supreme at one of our drugstores the other day... one of the warmest days we've had recently... The ice cream storage freezer went off and no one discovered it until the ice cream was melted... Can you imagine a thing like that this time of year... when it's stocked to over-flowing.

A big part of our summer population will leave us this weekend... the more than 400 campers at our three summer camps and the camp staffs... As always we'll be sorry to see them go but the boys and girls are looking forward to being united with their families so one can't feel too badly... They've had a wonderful summer, we understand... We'd like to say 'goodbye for now'... We'll see you again next year.

In case you campers think we never notice you, we do... We enjoy seeing you riding past on your trucks... or we get a bang out of seeing counselors 'rounding up' the young fry after a move... or seeing you on the way you come into town just to shop... You're a pretty wonderful part of our community every summer and we'd like you to know it.

One resident who lives out along Lake Charlevoix said she enjoyed nothing more than to see the youngsters camping out along the lake while on over-nights... We think it brings back a lot of happy memories when we're privileged to see you gathered around a camp fire... or singing in the moonlight... It takes us all back to the days when we were kids... We think it's pretty nice, too, that the people who live along the lake allow you to camp there.

Big weekend coming up in about 10 days... the Labor Day weekend when everyone has one final fling before settling down to the routine of every day work until next summer... Traffic-wise it's about the biggest weekend of the year, we understand.

And that's what we'd like to mention... For heavens sake, be careful... You're supposed to be taking the one last fling of summer... not one last fling... So when you get behind that wheel take it easy... mind your manners and watch the other guy as well as your-self... we'd like to see you around for a while yet.

Caught just a glimpse of a bright red beard going down the street the other day... Found out later that it belongs to Charlie Donaldson... We are grateful that this is not the era of long flowing beards... they're like dark glasses... you can't recognize your best friends behind them.

If a trio of local guys who went to the All-Star game recently still have their heads in the clouds, forgive them... Seems as though they didn't any more than get into Chicago for the big game when they ran into Central Michigan's fabulous Jim Podolety... Since he and young Dean Davenport were classmates at Central he invited them up to the hotel where the All-Stars... all 45 of 'em, were staying... And Dean, Kit Carson and Terry Davis were introduced to every last one of 'em with the coaches thrown in for good measure... Can you blame them any for having their heads in the clouds... Imagining... the All-Stars... Gee, we're excited and we just heard about it.

In the mail the other day a card from Fairbanks, Alaska... Couldn't imagine who it was from but it turned out to be Mrs. Florence Donaldson who had flown to the north country to visit her daughter and her family... Ann's husband's stationed there with the air force... Said the country was beautiful in the summer and that she'd enjoyed every minute of it... A few days later came a card from Bermuda... This one from the John Dutchers who are vacationing there and in Miami... How these people get around.

We'd like to wish a happy anniversary to one of our best loved couples who are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary this year... They're Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ashdon... We hope they'll have many, many more happy years together.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Ray Ashdon Observe Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. C. Ray Ashdon, pioneer residents of this community, are observing their golden wedding anniversary today (Thursday).

The occasion will be celebrated at a dinner for their family and close friends Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashdon were married at Boyne City Aug. 22, 1907 and have always resided here. Mr. Ashdon, a barber by trade, was employed in the barbershop operated by the late Lyman Benton when the couple was married 50 years ago. In 1936, however, he deserted the shears and razor to become a postman at the the south side route until his retirement in 1946. After a well-earned vacation trip to visit relatives in the west the couple returned to Charlevoix and Mr. Ashdon opened a barbershop in his home at 704 Bridge st. During the years he has clipped the hair of several generations of local families.

Born in Kalkaska county Aug. 23, 1884, Mr. Ashdon lived in Mancelona before coming to Charlevoix in 1905. He is a member of the Masonic lodge.

Mrs. Ashdon, the former Nellie Newton, was born at Fife Lake July 7, 1895, and as a child moved to Mancelona where she resided until her marriage. She is a member of the Methodist church and the Order of the Eastern Star.

The couple have two children, a son, Warrant Officer Robert C. Ashdon, presently stationed aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Sundev, at Grand Haven and a daughter, Mrs. Daniel (Marjorie) Dalton of Livonia. They also have four grandchildren.

Betrothed

Mr. and Mrs. Randall Crump have announced the engagement of their daughter, Susan Caroline, to James J. Haggard.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Gregory A. Shadko and the late George O. Haggard.

Wedding plans have not been completed.

Both are graduates of the Charlevoix high school. The bride-elect also is a graduate of Carnegie Institute in Detroit. Mr. Haggard is a sophomore at Ferris Institute.

Widow's Income Rules Clarified

A widow's income does not affect her eligibility for death compensation payments if her veteran husband died of a service-connected condition, according to an announcement by a Veteran Administration official.

This announcement was made because some misunderstanding may exist on this point.

However, income limitations do apply to VA death pensions which may be paid to a widow of a wartime veteran who died of a non-service-connected condition.

Further information may be obtained by calling Kenneth B. Forbes, American Legion service officer.

Wet weather is a good time to check your drainage systems. It makes it easy to tell where repairs will be needed.

Pre-School "HEALTH EXAMS" Every Child Should Take

Checklist for Pre-School Health Exam:

- HEALTH ☐
- EYES ☐
- EARS ☐
- WEIGHT ☐
- TEETH ☐

Give your youngster a healthy start on a happy school year. Take them to your family doctor and dentist now for pre-school physical and dental examinations. Such checkups can protect a child against "school daze" caused by unsuspected conditions that may retard his learning; make him inattentive and rebellious. Bright scholars are healthy scholars because good grades depend as much on good physical condition as they do on study.

ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDING

Notes from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold E. Kahn

Beginning with Mud

The white water lily is one of the loveliest flowers in all of North America. Resting among long-stemmed, rounded leaves on softly moving water that reflects their beauty, or courtship and swaying to the hum of orchestral insects, or dancing to the drumming of a grandfather frog, white water lilies are things of beauty. Yet, the elegant charm of this pure white loveliness rises only from muddy lake, pond and stream bottoms. Water lilies are rooted in mud.

Whenever I hear people excuse themselves for uselessness because of poor background, a limited environment, an unfavorable start in life or crippling circumstances, I think of the water lily, and its unpromising beginnings—starting from mud and developing into pure grace.

I think, too, of the many benefactors of our race whose unassuming beginnings and continued adventures seemed to doom them to an ineffectual existence, but whose spirits rose above it all to produce some beauty of thought or word or deed.

John Kepler, one of the pioneers of modern astronomy, came from a home where both parents were considered "peculiar" and both later went insane. John was a sickly child, a frail youth, and lived out his mature years as a semi-invalid. His first wife was a quarrelsome nag and his second wife a sullen pouter. John's employer, bachelor King Rudolph of Bohemia, was a near-lunatic, and the learned astronomer suffered mightily from the king's odd behavior and ridiculous demands.

In spite of all this, or perhaps because of it, John Kepler became one of the world's most noted scientists, preparing maps of the heavens and accurate tables of the stars by which sailors were to navigate for centuries to come. He laid the foundation for the construction of the modern astronomical telescope, discovered the three laws of motion of the planets, explained the actions of the tides, and helped establish the new mathematics of calculus. Judging by his poor start in life no one would have guessed his future fame.

One of the most repulsive-looking people of his time was Alexander Pope. His ragged teeth were reminders of an ancient and weathered plank fence, with many of the boards missing and the rest broken or rotting. His big bulging eyes were like shelled hardboiled eggs that had become discolored by age. He was so badly hunch-backed that he had to be laced tightly in stiff canvas before he could stand on his feet. Yet, Alexander Pope wrote poetry valued for the smoothness and sweetness of its versification and for brief and memorable phrasing—poetry that claimed for Pope the chief place in the literature of his day.

Frederic Chopin composed seventeen Polish songs, eleven polonaises, fifty-four mazurkas, as well as ballads, fantasies, waltzes, and preludes while struggling against an ailing body and ebbing time. Because he so often verged upon death, news was frequently circulated that he had passed away, and before he was forty years of age the newspapers several times printed the "news" of his death. His friends, George Sand, addressed him as "My dear corpse" and Chopin once gave this "summary of his physicians' reports: "One said I would die; the second said I was about to die; the third said I was already dead." The charm of Chopin's music arose from his suffering. Dostoevsky, whose novels of profound psychological insight have ranked him high among the world's literary figures, was an epileptic, painfully conscious of his handicap.

Pasteur did much of his most brilliant work, advancing the cause of modern medicine, after sustaining a crippling paralytic stroke.

Mozart wrote great operas and composed his immortal "Requiem" when heavily oppressed by debt and struggling unavailingly against onslaughts of disease which carried him off at an early age.

The happy poems of Frederic Schiller, including his triumphant "Hymn of Joy," were written amidst physical agony and weakness caused by a serious lung ailment.

The lively, lilting music of the light opera, "H. M. S. Pinafore," was written by Sir Arthur Sullivan while he was enduring the excruciating tortures of kidney stones.

What could people of two thousand years ago expect of anyone whose background was northern Palestine? Not much. They said of Jesus, "Could any good come out of Nazareth?" Rooted in those circumstances He didn't stand a chance. Or did he?

There are no circumstances so good but that the unwise and unimaginative will use them to their own hurt or destruction. There is not situation so adverse but that the wise and the good will turn it to advantage, and, like a lily rooted in mud, make beauty out of it.

Ellsworth Leads Second Round in Class A League

If Ellsworth of the Class A league can win their next three games they can clinch the second round title, Dean Davenport, softball director, said this week.

The Chamber of Commerce team defeated Freedmans 5 to 1 Monday night, were scheduled to play Carsons last night and a strong City Merchants nine to night.

Carsons 13: U.S. Coast Guard 10
The Coast Guard gave Carsons a close game before bowing to them by three runs. Red Kleckner's three hits led the service-men while Gary Vandenberg's homer and single paced the winners.

City Merchants 4: American Mold 3
The Merchants finally avenged two one-run losses to the Mold-men and defeated them by scoring two unearned runs in the fifth for the victory. All American Molds runs came in the third on two errors.

Carsons 12: American Mold 1
A big first inning in which all 12 runs were scored was all Carsons needed for the victory over the Moldmen. Ted Potter's bid for a no-hitter was spoiled by Jim Alger who singled sharply in the third. Potter homered for the victors.

Ellsworth 5: Freedmans 1
Ellsworth scored five runs in the third over Freedmans for their seventh win in the second round. Bob Klooster's homer was a big blow in the third.

Peanut League
Red Sox 12: Pirates 2
The Red Sox scored in every inning to hold on to first place in the Peanut league by defeating the Pirates 12 to 2 for an easy win. Cecil Drast led the attack for the winners with two safeties.

Cardinals 10: Cubs 9
The Cubs almost upset the Cardinals in the first inning and had the tying runs on base but lacked the push to get them across. Roger Towles paced the winners with a double and a single.

Cubs 14: Dodgers 1
The Cubs ended the chances for a tie as the season ends by soundly beating the Dodgers 14 to 1. Butch Wagner's hot bat with four for four including a triple, a double and two singles and his two-hit pitching spelled defeat to the Dodgers.

Cardinals 12: Pirates 1
The Cardinals buried the Pirates in this game by scoring in every inning. Denny Wojan and Roger Towles accounted for three hits apiece.

Tigers 10: Red Sox 9
The Tigers upset the league-leading Red Sox by scoring the winning runs in the last of the seventh inning. Larry Koker singled home the tying run and scored the winning run on Skip Seales infield grounder. Jim Ferguson and Koker had two Tiger hits. Bill Marme had two for the Red Sox.

Local All-Stars Take Ellsworth

Charlevoix's Peanut League All-Stars played a return game with the Ellsworth All-Stars Saturday and avenged an earlier loss by defeating the host team 11 to 8, behind some solid hitting and Billy Marme's pitching.

Ellsworth scored eight unearned runs in the last inning to tighten the score after the Charlevoix nine had led 11 to 0.

General Lee and Grant fought on the same side in the Mexican War.

A history of Charlevoix written and presented by the late Mrs. Albert F. Bridge at a meeting of the Shakespeare club in 1923.
In memory of his parents and in observance of Charle-voix's centennial year, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bridge have had "Pioneer Days of Charlevoix" reprinted in a booklet.
Booklets are available at Charlevoix County Bank. It will be reprinted in the Charlevoix Courier during the next few weeks with early pictures of the community.

The river was only about two feet deep, narrow and crooked with overhanging boughs almost reaching across. The upper river, the one we now call Old River, was also narrow, crooked and shallow and both had swift currents. At this time the land belonged to the government and the only way to obtain ownership was to settle on it, make improvements and after a certain length of time receive a government deed. The "squatters", as they were called, were loyal to each other and never interfered with another's claim.

Soon after the arrival of the Stockmans a man who had a claim on land overlooking Pine and Round Lakes and had built a small log hut offered to surrender this claim to Mr. Stockman if he would move him and his family to Northport with his sailboat. This trade was made and a part of the land which came to them in this way was sold by Mr. Stockman in 1878 to the Charlevoix Summer Home Association.

The Belvedere Hotel as it was first built and six cottages were erected in the spring of 1879. The log house which the Stockmans built and occupied as their home for some years was located a short distance south of where the Belvedere Hotel now stands.

Mrs. Stockman says of the early days that for lights they used fish oil in small lamps with often a strip of cotton for a wick, or perhaps they had only some fat in a saucer with a rag for a wick. They had plenty of fish to eat, but only a little fresh meat. No butter or milk, but maple sugar and sirup were plentiful. Sailboats and canoes were their only means of conveyance. In the winter they must walk with snowshoes. When the distance was too great for the women to walk the men drew them on hand sleighs.

Sometimes before the opening of navigation the provisions would get low. Then they would borrow and lend until all were nearly out when it would be necessary for two or three of the men to take a walk to Elk Rapids and bring back what they could on their backs. Once they crossed to Northport on the ice and brought back supplies on hand sleighs.

For amusements on summer evenings they had sailing, canoeing, fishing, etc., old and young enjoyed it together.

On winter evenings, they would gather at some home and have recitations, spelling matches, singing, etc., usually winding up with a dance. Mr. Hugh Miller being always present with his fife, the only musical instrument in the place.

In the fall of 1881 the necessity for a school house became apparent. Accordingly, a conference was called, a site selected and a day set to begin work. All turned out and worked with a will and by night the school house was ready for occupancy. It was 18 feet square built of rough logs chinked with moss and mud and had a shake roof. Mrs. Stockman explains that shakos are oak staves two feet long fastened down by saplings. Split logs of basswood were used for the floor, split side up. There were three windows of six lights each, six by ten glass. Benches on three sides of the room were made of split logs hewn smooth on one side with branches cut the proper length for legs.

Mrs. Stockman was chosen as teacher with a salary of one dollar per week. There were from 20 to 30 pupils enrolled, ranging in age from three to 20 years. The books brought were of all kinds and descriptions, some having been used by the parents and some of the grand parents of the children. The school week was 5 1/2 days or five days one week and six the next and she was seldom able to dismiss school until five o'clock because of the multiplicity of classes caused by the variety of books and ages of children.

Mrs. Stockman relates that two or three of the mothers formed the habit of bringing their small children, the older ones being in school, and coming to school every afternoon. Whether to absorb knowledge or not she could not say but she had a strong suspicion that it was to absorb something else as they always took their children and accompanied her home, their husbands dropping in about supper time. As soon as the process of absorption was accomplished they would all take their leave, none of them ever offered to help with any part of the work. There was no public school money at this time, so the parents paid according to the school. Probably these parents were only trying to get their money's worth.

When S. S. Illinois Grounded

Famous Rescue of 1907 Recalled

The steamer, Illinois, (left) hard aground on the beach at Charlevoix 50 years ago this week. Other boats in the picture are the tug, Taylor, on the port side of the stranded ship, the Favotita, at the end of the south pier and the Pine Lake entering the harbor. At that time the lighthouse was on the north pier and was reached via the catwalk in the foreground of the above picture.

Check Rayder Candidates

The Charlevoix high school locker room was a busy place last Wednesday as more than 50 prospective football players reported for physical examinations. Pictured is Dr. A. F. Litzinger, director of district health unit No. 3, checking Terry DeYoung as Buddo Cross, Scott Supernaw, Don Nowland and other unidentified students await their turn. All players are asked to report for the first practice session scheduled for 7 a. m. Monday at Kipke field.

Two Officials to Represent City at Municipal Meet

Mayor James Hiller and Alderman Edward Hansen will represent Charlevoix at the 59th annual Michigan Municipal League convention scheduled to open on Mackinac Island next Thursday, Sept. 5, for a two-day session.

Approximately 700 municipal officials from 400 cities and villages are expected to attend the meeting.

Included among featured speakers at the assembly will be Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Highway Commissioner John C. Burr C. Blanchard Named to Serve On FEA Committee

Burr C. Blanchard of Route 2, Charlevoix, is the new Farmers Home Administration committee man for Charlevoix County. He succeeds William Korthase Sr. who has served his full three year term, Carl B. Brown, the agency's county supervisor announced today.

Mr. Blanchard operates a dairy farm in Marion Township. The other two committeemen with unexpired terms are Harold Goebel, East Jordan, and Jasper Warner, Charlevoix. Committee members serve 3-year terms arranged so that one member is appointed each year. The term of office begins July 1. A member completing his term cannot succeed himself and at least two of the members must be farmers.

The county committee determines the eligibility of local farmers who apply for Farmers Home Administration loans. The committee also certifies the value improved with Farmers Home Administration loans and assists in adapting the loan program to local conditions.

Approximately 80 percent of the applications reviewed by the Charlevoix county committee during the past year were for operating loans while 20 percent were for real estate loans.

Metro Employees Hold Golf Tourney On Local Courses

The annual Metro open tournament sponsored by the Metro Co. of Detroit, manufacturers representatives, was held here last week.

Bob Wright, host to the two-day outing sponsored by his company, brought his 25 guests to Charlevoix for the first time. They stayed at the Tower hotel and played golf at both the Belvedere and Charlevoix municipal courses.

Charles Papineau, who is associated with the Metro Co. and whose family spent the summer here, was instrumental in bringing the group to Charlevoix from Traverse City where they had gone for the past 10 years.

Call Football Candidates for First Practice

Coach Don Carey has scheduled football practice for 7 a. m. next Monday morning. All prospective players must be at the locker room at 6:30 a. m. to dress before reporting at Kipke field.

Early practice sessions will be limited to conditioning, calisthenics and fundamentals.

Evening practice sessions will be scheduled Monday. After next week, the players will practice after school nightly in preparation for the opening game at Rogers City Sept. 20.

All players who have not had physical examinations are reminded by Coach Carey that they must have them before reporting for practice Monday.

Among the regulars from last year's squad expected to report Monday are Bob Mol, Larry Ingalls and Ted Mason, all seniors, and Scott Supernaw, Ken Wojan and Steve LaBlance, juniors who are expected to form the nucleus for this year's Rayder squad.

However, they will have plenty of competition from lettermen from the '56 team who will be trying for regular assignments on the varsity eleven. Among these are Stan Harwood, Ron Anderson, Larry Lambert and Larry Smith, seniors, Rod Osterum, Mike Geneit, Bill Poquette and Ron Vandenberg.

More than 60 players are expected to report for practice Monday. Underclassmen will report for practice with the reserves who will open their schedule early in October.

Missing from this year's list of prospective players will be Buddo Cross and Don Sanborn, both of whom will be moving to Holland with their respective families.

The cruise ship will dock here at 10 a. m. Thursday morning, Sept. 5, and leave at noon.

Beaver Island Soon Will Have Phone Service

Beaver Island, isolated from the mainland by a 32 mile stretch of Lake Michigan, will soon be as close as your telephone with the initiation of a new and improved service scheduled for Sept. 15. On that date the hookup of a microwave system will be completed.

Telephone service to the island is presently via the old U. S. Coast Guard cable with all calls going through the Beaver Island Lifeboat station to the three telephones on the island. Calls to others on the island are via messenger.

Under the new setup 40 telephones now being installed on island homes will be placed in service by mid-September by the Beaver Island Telephone Co. headed by Jewell F. Gillispie. The company was organized when the U. S. Coast informed island residents last spring that they planned to discontinue use of their antiquated cable.

The terminal point for the new microwave system will be Petoskey where an 80 ft. tower has been erected to serve as a direct air link with a similar tower erected at St. James on the northeastern section of the 17-mile long island.

When the system is placed in operation four digit numbers will be used. However, the four-digit numbers will eventually be preceded by the prefix, Ludlow 5. Michigan Bell Telephone Company's role in the project will be to handle all toll calls. The Beaver Island Telephone company will install and maintain all equipment and do its own building.

New PSC Order Increases Rate For Phones Here

The rate for individual-line residence telephone service at Charlevoix will go up 20 cents a month under last week's order by the Public Service Commission, at was announced today by C. Lester Johnson, manager here for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

Also affected by the order are business lines, private switchboard trunklines, and party-line residence service, he added.

Johnson said that the increase in residence individual lines applies to most of Michigan Bell's territory. The increase in this and other main services here was due largely to growth in telephones served through the local exchange, he said.

"Telephone rates," he pointed out, "have long been based on the number of telephone customers can reach on a local-call basis. Our customers in this area can now call more telephones in their local area than ever before. The number has increased substantially since 1948, the date last used for establishing rates. The new rate schedules will put this exchange on the same basis as communities of like size."

In communicating upon the Commission's order, the company stated that "it is a 'give and take' situation, with the increase in rates offset by the increase in service."

"Even with the increase, rate changes since 1940 have raised our revenues only 31 per cent. During the same period, the prices of other goods and services have almost doubled, and our own costs of providing service for each telephone have also nearly doubled," he said.

Plane Crashes in Lake Taking Life Of Phillip Ludwick

A Jackson boy, four-year-old Phillip Ludwick, was killed last Thursday when the plane piloted by his father, Dr. John P. Ludwick, crashed into Lake Michigan 2½ miles off the south end of Beaver Island.

The accident happened when the plane, a Cessna 180, developed a complete engine failure while Dr. Ludwick, his son, Phillip, and his brother-in-law, Richard F. Woodfield, also of Jackson, were flying to Beaver Island from Jackson.

The plane had passed over the Charlevoix airport at 5:07 p. m. and Dr. Ludwick had radioed the airport here and told he was flying over Lake Michigan. Mrs. Joseph McPhillips, who was at the office at the time, that he was flying over Lake Michigan to the island. As he continued over the lake he kept up a casual conversation with Mrs. McPhillips. At 5:15 p. m. came the curt report that the plane had developed a complete engine failure and that he was ditching it about 2½ miles off the south end of Beaver Island.

Mrs. McPhillips who assists her husband in the management of the airport immediately notified the U. S. Coast Guard at the Charlevoix Lifeboat Station and patrol boats were dispatched to the scene from both Charlevoix and Beaver Island Lifeboat stations.

Meanwhile Bud Klooster, a local pilot who was at the airport working on his plane, took to the air, flew to the scene and dropped life preservers to the trio in the water. The men, however, were unable to swim to them as they attempted to keep afloat and to keep the Ludwick child between them.

Klooster continued to circle the area until Coast Guardsmen from the Beaver Island lifeboat station pulled them from the water at 5:50 p. m.

Artificial respiration was given the boy but he failed to respond. It is believed he was drowned when the plane was ditched.

At the time of the accident Dr. Ludwick was enroute to Beaver Island to spend the weekend at Beaver Lodge which he and his father, Dr. John E. Ludwick, had purchased last spring. He had made it a practice to fly to the island for weekends and last week's flight was a routine one.

No reason could be given for the engine failure. The plane had been checked at the Jackson airport before he left on the trip and a new flight-check battery had been installed.

The body of the Ludwick child was returned to Jackson Friday for services at the Weckerby funeral chapel Monday. Burial was in Woodland cemetery.

Besides his parents, he is survived by a brother, John 5, and a sister, Amy 1; and his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. John E. Ludwick and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kayko, all of Jackson.

Meanwhile the search for another plane which crashed off Good Hart Aug. 8 killing four men continued this week.

Radle of Whitefish Bay, Wis., and Elmer of Hartford, Conn. A sister, Mrs. Marjorie Routley, preceded her in death.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

The sky has always held a fascination for us... maybe it's because it's so blue and the clouds are sometimes so big and fluffy... or because the stars at night twinkle so brightly and makes one feel as though he's not alone... We don't know one star or planet from another but we still enjoy watching the heavens... and once in a while see a falling star to wish on... But there's a few things we can't ever find... and that's the comets that have made their appearances this year... There's one discovered recently that you are supposed to see under the Big Dipper... But we can't find it... Can you?

One day recently we saw something else in the sky that puzzled us... and others too for we had never seen it... It was on a beautiful bright day recently we spotted what looked like pieces of silver paper tumbling across the sky... It was very high and evidently riding on a wind current... It was something to see... Some people even asked if it might be a number of flying saucers.

What do you know about the migration of the robins... We swear and we've mentioned this before that they hold conferences to plan the annual trip south... More times recently there have been up to a dozen of the birds gathered in our yard carrying on some sort of a confab... It's happening more, and more often and we wouldn't be a bit surprised to find them leaving for winter quarters anytime now... We mentioned it to Mrs. Ray Ashdon... She has a theory that, before starting the long trek south, they have a trial run to work out any 'bugs' in the plans... There might be something to that too.

We understand that Leo Alard and his crew are doing a super-duper job on the park along Lake Michigan... Seems they're using dirt from the Water main project to level off the park and make it even lovelier than it was before... But then, those guys always do a good job... For instance, how about

State st. now that the island removal has been completed... it's the best looking street in town.

Ron Geer stopped in the other day to shoot the breeze... He's the lifeguard on the Lake Michigan beach, in case you don't know... He tells us he's had a wonderful summer on the beach and has enjoyed every minute of it and everyone of the wonderful people he's met... Says the cooperation from everyone has been the best and it's been a pleasure... It's always good to hear someone say such nice things about his job and the people he works for and with.

Don't say we didn't warn you... Four months from last Sunday will be Christmas day... So how's about getting on the ball with that Christmas shopping and for once be already when the season arrives... You know, there are a few people who will do just that and come Dec. 25, when the rest of us are breaking our backs with Christmas shopping, these smart people will be going blithely on their way... making us feel as though we'd like to commit something just short of murder just because they're so smart and foresighted and what have you... But who can be so efficient?

In northern Michigan where we seldom have serious accidents or awful things happen to us... everyone has been more than shocked by the tragic plane crashes during the past three weeks... You know how it is... It happens to other people every day... you read about it in the paper but it's never going to happen to anyone you know... And then, whammy! it does... Though few of us can say this to the families of the people involved, we are all shocked by such things and feel only the deepest sympathy for them... So very many people are affected by such tragedies... and share the sorrow of the losses... We're saying this very badly but we'd like the families of all these people to know that the sympathies of all are with them... a small thing, we know, but meant sincerely.

A former local resident whose heart is still in Charlevoix, Allen Arnold, has made a contribution to the collection of centennial pictures collected during the year by Bob Miles... This is two pictures in one... taken from what is now Belvedere ave.

A photographer by profession (and a wonderful one), Mr. Arnold has come up with a print much better than the original it's to be added to the collection of old prints.

And speaking of old pictures, we'd like you to take a real good look at the picture which accompanies the story of the Illinois going aground some 50 years ago... That catwalk on the northside pier was really something... so if you haven't noticed it, take a good look.

Mrs. Floyd J. Bartholomew has called our attention to two stories about Charlevoix which appeared in the Detroit News recently... One on Turk Jarvis, skipper of the Ironport ferry, and the other about the Belvedere club written by the columnist, Jane Schormerhorn who was doing a series on the "Changing Resort Scene"... Today's Belvedere club as we know it is a far cry from the one she mentions.

With Labor Day coming up it's time to bid our summer residents a fond goodbye... until another season... We hope you have enjoyed the summer in Charlevoix... that you'll have a wonderful winter and that you'll all return again in '58... Don't know where it's gone... this summer... but it's been a pretty good one... as summer goes... So take care... we'll miss you... we'll think of you and speak of you often this winter and look forward to the day when you'll all return.

Tribute to Charlevoix

By Diane Hymen

I love Charlevoix for many reasons,
 Oh, so beautiful in all seasons.
 The waters, trees, meadows, and such,
 Make-me-like Charlevoix, Oh so much.

Charlevoix so beautifully green
 Could some day be the queen
 Of resorts in this whole nation.
 Wouldn't you go there on your vacation.

NOTE: The above tribute to Charlevoix was written by 10-year old Diane Hymen who is spending the month of August here with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Hymen of Detroit.

Joyce Doreen Paul Becomes Bride of Washington Man

After a wedding trip through western Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill A. Brown are making their home at Cheney, Wash.

The couple was married at the Central Seventh Day Adventist church in Spokane, Wash., Aug. 11.

The bride is the former Joyce Doreen Paul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Paul of this city. Mr. Brown is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard T. Brown of Cheney, Wash.

Elder Ernest J. Bergman officiated at the ceremony before an altar decorated with two large baskets of gladioli and Roman wormwood.

Marcella Russell of Spokane was the organist. She played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied the soloists, Robert E. Becker of Orofino, Ia., who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and Connie Kay Paul of Charlevoix, sister of the bride, who sang "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a ballerina length gown of white tulle with a fitted bodice, Peter Pan collar, long tapered sleeves and bouffant skirt. A beaded tiara secured her finger veil of nylon net and she carried a fan-shaped bouquet of pink roses, white carnations and stephanotis.

Cora May Paul attended her sister as maid of honor and another sister, Carol Rae Paul, both of Charlevoix, was bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of light blue tulle with short sleeves. The bride's veil was light blue net with a white face veil. Her hair was styled in a white bun. Her fan-shaped bouquets were of pink carnations.

Ellsworth Brown of Loomis, Wash., was best man and William Falls of Spokane was groomsmen. Ushers were David and Darrell Bond of Opportunity, Wash.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Paul wore a blue linen dress, white accessories and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Brown, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue-gray crepe and lace dress, pink and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

A reception followed at the Nile room of the Desert Hotel.

For traveling on their wedding trip the bride chose a light blue flannel suit, pink and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Cancer Society Need White Goods

The Charlevoix county unit of the American Cancer Society is in urgent need of white goods for cancer dressings, Mrs. J. C. Marshall, county chairman, said this week.

Any white goods which can be made into dressings such as old sheets, pillowcases, blankets or piece of material will be most acceptable, Mrs. Marshall said.

The unit is making dressings for a number of patients so if you have any material which could be utilized for this purpose, call Mrs. Marshall and someone will pick it up.

ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDING

Notes from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold E. Kohn

Size and Quality

A person does not need to observe the realm of plant life for long before he will notice two things. He will be awed by the diversity in form and sizes among members of the plant kingdom, and he will see that size and quality may be almost wholly unrelated.

Side by side near our brook grow towering trees and short shrubs of flowering raspberries. A large maple, or an ash, or a spruce will outweigh a lowly raspberry shrub many thousands of times, and to the calculating eye of a lumberman a tree's worth is far greater than that of a shrub, even though the latter is spangled with a glory of snowy white and pink flowers. But nature's scheme of values is different, and in the plan of things the raspberry will be wholly as important as the trees that shade it. Maples, ash, and spruce provide nesting sites for birds, shade for the stream and shadow-loving wild flowers, food for all manner of insect-eating song-birds and fuel for our fireplace. But the raspberry will feed ruffed grouse and chickadee, bluejay, kingbird, phoebe and robin, song sparrow, white-throated sparrow, scarlet tanager and wood thrush, red fox and varying hare, cottontail rabbit and ringtailed raccoon, squirrel and chipmunk, whitefooted mouse, and white-tail deer. Wild raspberries provide a summer banquet for the wild creatures on our acres. They are illustrations of nature's perpetual lesson that size and usefulness bear no necessary relationship to each other.

The smallest flowering plant in this country is a duckweed, or wolffia, a tiny speck of floating greenness, mere one twenty-fifth of an inch in diameter, often found in quiet ponds and streams. At the other extreme is a gigantic denizen of the dense forest of the Sierra Nevada mountains, the General Sherman tree, one of the sequoia trees. Its trunk is 36 feet in diameter and 272 feet high, and its weight is estimated at over a thousand tons. Yet in the economy of nature the giant sequoia and the minute duckweed each have a place of equal importance. The sequoia cannot be the food of multitudes of ducks and vast throngs of fishes. The duckweed can be and is. Nor can houses be built of duckweed, while they are built from sequoias. In nature the littlest and biggest things alike are parts of a wondrous plan and size and importance may be wholly unrelated.

What is true of plants is so of men. Big men are not necessarily big souls, nor are small men of necessity spiritual pigmies. Quality of life and size of body have little to do with each other, and little heads may produce great thoughts. During the past one hundred years the United States has had no president whom history has proven wiser or greater than Abraham Lincoln. During the bleak days of the Civil War Lincoln was nearly the only one in Washington to keep his head. Yet that head was singularly small for so large a man as Lincoln was. Abraham Lincoln wore a seven and one-eighth size hat, and no president since his time has worn a hat so small, with the exception of Calvin Coolidge. Garfield's hat was a big one—size seven and three-fourths. Grant, Taft and Franklin Roosevelt wore large hats—size seven and five eighths. Cleveland's and Benjamin Harrison's hats were seven and one-half. Seven, and three-eighths was the size of Theodore Roosevelt's hat. So was Warren Harding's. Truman's and Eisenhower's hat sizes are between seven and three-eighths and seven and five-eighths, as is Hoover's. Apparently there is no relationship between size of head and quality of mind.

This lesson learned from nature needs to be generously applied to other realms, for we Americans are so easily overwhelmed by size. We are like the disciples of Jesus who walked through the streets of Jerusalem with the Master one day and came to the temple. It was a huge building—much bigger than they were accustomed to seeing in their native Galilee, and they exclaimed, "Look, Teacher, what a size these stones and buildings are!" But Jesus remained unimpressed by size and bulk. He never was overawed by the size of anything—stones, buildings, crowds, purses. He gave as careful attention to one listener at his feet as he did to a crowd of five thousand. He showered as much affection on little children as he did upon adults. Jesus was unmoved by mere bigness. Not size, but quality impressed him.

What counts everlastingly is not the bigness of our churches, the size of the crowds an event may attract, the number of cubic feet of space in our houses, the pile of books we have read, the length of our cars or the size of

This is a fish story. The principals in the story are Marilyn Reinhart of Detroit who has been employed here this summer and a three pound bass, both pictured above.

The story started last Thursday afternoon when Marilyn, who had never fished before, borrowed a small june and a smaller hook from another fisherman on the north pier. She was about to give up after an hour when she got a bite. No one could believe that she had anything worthwhile on the hook but after a time she came up with the three-pounder.

Joseph L. Smith, one of several fishermen on the dock and the one who had loaned her the equipment, then strung the fish on a small chain. She promptly dropped both down between the rocks in the revetment and had to be lowered into the opening so she could recover her catch.

naw 1 up for the title after defeating Perry Smith 1 up in the semi-finals. Supernaw won over Bob Livingston on the twenty-first hole to advance to the finals. Don Meggison won the first flight title by defeating Guy Swanson 2-1 in the finals.

Charles Dennis defeated Bill Graves 1 up on the 20th hole to take the second flight title and Pete Withers, downed Dal Henry 4-8 to win the third flight title.

All were presented with trophies and named champions of their respective flights, Mr. Carey said. In the consolation bracket of the city championship for the Frank Poole trophy Kit Carson will meet Pat Hawley for the consolation title this week.

Mrs. William Supernaw won the title in the recent Women's tournament sponsored by the club. She shot nine hole rounds of 52, 43 and 47 for a total of 142 and the title. The score of 43 was a new course record for nine holes.

Mrs. Paul Burkhardt was second with rounds of 55-52-54-161; Mrs. Ron Swanson and Mrs. John Swanson, tied for third place with totals of 164.

The low net score for the tournament were Mrs. Supernaw, 115; Mrs. Robert Pearl, 116; Mrs. Robert Withers, 119; Mrs. Franklin Ochs, 121 and Mrs. Lyle King, 122.

The clubhouse at the municipal course will be closed after this weekend as Mr. Carey returns to his teaching duties at Midland high school.

In announcing the close of the season, Mr. Carey said the course had enjoyed one of its most successful seasons. On Thursday the club reached a new high for daily tickets, 86 which topped an earlier record of 85 set several years ago when the late Frank Poole was course manager.

IT HAPPENED ON . . . BEAVER ISLAND

By Loy Melloy

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sleighter and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sinke and son spent some time here recently.

Alvin and Loretta LaFreniere returned home on Saturday from a trip to South Bend and Chicago.

The Island was shocked last week when "Perry" Ludwig died in the plane crash. Our sympathy goes out to his parents and family.

Joe O'Donnell spent a few days on the Island during the past week. It was his first trip here in about 11 years.

Mrs. Elizabeth LaFreniere made a business trip to the mainland last week.

Janne and Eddie Wojan are visiting relatives in Ludington and Grand Rapids.

Mary Greene was called to Chicago last week. Her brother, Eddie Boyle passed away.

Dr. and Mrs. Dickerson and family of Wayland are vacationing on the Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Joseph of Chicago are visiting relatives and friends on the Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy White and son, Danny, visited briefly on the Island recently.

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. LaFreniere left Sunday to attend the funeral of "Perry" Ludwig in Jackson.

Mrs. Dorothy McGregor made a trip to Traverse City on Saturday.

Mrs. Ray Penwitt of Cheaigo spent the weekend with relatives on the Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kraft left here Monday after spending a week at their cottage here.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Duffy of Chicago visited with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gallagher.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Stromberg spent the weekend here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Malloy announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Bernadette Celeste, to Lowell Moore of Muskegon.

Fire Destroys Barn On Marion Center Rd.

Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed a barn on the Glenn Crain farm three miles south of here on the Marion Center road Thursday afternoon.

The Crain children discovered the fire in the barn which was not being used and called the Charlevoix fire department after first calling their father at his work.

Assistant Fire Chief Lawrence Supernaw said that when the fire department arrived the barn was beyond saving so firemen devoted their efforts to saving other smaller farm buildings. No estimate was made of the loss which was not insured.

Barnard News

Mrs. Arthur Steel

The Barnard 4-H Club met at the Grange hall last Tuesday evening. Ed Reberman, county agent, showed films on how to prepare and train calves for the exhibit at Whiting park on Labor Day.

Mrs. Edd Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Potter and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Potter went to Dor, Michigan on Thursday to attend the funeral of their cousin, Rhine Potter. They returned on Saturday.

Kenneth Boss who is employed at Trenton spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Boss.

The Barnard Farm Bureau women are collecting used clothing, costume jewelry, magazines and books, etc., for the Traverse City State hospital. Anyone who has articles to donate is asked to take them to Mrs. John Wieland's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Daugherty went to Chicago on Thursday. They will visit relatives there for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Steenhagen of Muskegon are visiting for several days with Mr. and Mrs. John Wieland.

The Ray Cunningham and Carlton Smith families enjoyed a picnic near Petoskey on Saturday evening.

Shaving was originally a protective measure since long beards were easy for opponents in combat to seize.

Guild Notes...

Thank you are in order this week for all the wonderful support the summer residents have given Guild projects during the past three months. Mrs. E. D. Hawley, president of the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix hospital, said "We don't know what we'd do without you. You are all so generous in your support of the Guild and its projects."

A bow, also, to Mrs. Alfred Brown and Mrs. Louis Hooper for substituting as library cart pusher and a welcome to Mrs. Darrell Dinwiddie who will be a regular Friday pusher.

Pioneer Days of Charlevoix

Heralding every gala occasion in the early history was the Charlevoix band riding aboard the elaborate bandwagon. Driver is the late George Burns. This Charlevoix bandwagon is said to have been designed and built in the wagon shop operated by Dave Nettleton. The picture is taken in front of the Lewis Grand Opera House which stood on the south bank of the channel on Bridge St.

A history of Charlevoix written and presented by the late Mrs. Albert F. Bridge at a meeting of the Shakespeare club in 1923.

In memory of his parents and in observance of Charlevoix's centennial year, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bridge have had "Pioneer Days of Charlevoix" reprinted in a booklet. Booklets are available at Charlevoix County Bank. It will be reprinted in the Charlevoix Courier during the next few weeks with early pictures of the community.

In 1864 Mr. Dixon sold to Messrs. Fox and Rose of Northport some land on the north side of the river on which to build a dock for steamers, their purpose being to sell wood. The work was rapidly pushed during the late summer and fall but in October a severe storm washed a part of it away. Early the next spring with a force of men and teams, the first horses to be brought here, the work was again started and during the summer the dock was completed.

It was built of piles driven out into the lake. The tops of the piles being several feet above the water and planked over like a bridge. It was located just north of the present north pier, extending out into the water about 900 feet and was wide enough to drive on.

This was the landing place for all passenger steamers for many years and also a favorite place for the young people to stroll on summer evenings to do their stargazing and castle-building.

Soon after the completion of the dock Messrs. Fox and Rose brought in a small stock of merchandise and opened a store, the first in Charlevoix, occupying a log building near Pine Lake for a time, while building a frame store near the dock into which they moved in the fall of 1865. They conducted a thriving business here until 1869 when they built a much larger building on Bridge st. and brought a large stock of goods. Mr. Archibald Butters moved his family here at that time and became a partner. This was the most important mercantile business in Charlevoix for many years as they dealt in wood, ties, posts and tanbark as well as groceries, dry-goods, shoes, drugs and hardware. The building is now occupied by Fred Myers.

In the fall of 1865 Messrs. Fox and Rose built a boarding house which in 1867 was bought by Richard Cooper, father of Mrs. Bedford and the late Henry Cooper, christened the "Fountain City House" and Charlevoix had a hotel.

In 1866 Mr. Dixon platted the little town of Charlevoix. The original plat containing 18 blocks and comprising all the land between the river and Antrim st. and between Round Lake and Lake Michigan except the park bordering on Lake Michigan.

In 1867 a government mail established. Mr. Neilson Ainslee, Mrs. Mayne's father, being given the contract for carrying the mail between Traverse City and Charlevoix. The State road, now our

M-11 (later changed to US-31) was opened about that time.

In 1867 it became apparent that the old log school house had become inadequate and the subject of a new one to take its place was agitated. The men being busy and not disposed to do anything about the matter the women took it up. They called a meeting, appointed committees and began considering ways and means to raise the necessary funds. Mrs. Stockman gives a long and interesting account of their first entertainment for the purpose, a supper and fair at which they raised $75.00. The result of their activities was of course a new school completed the next year. So it seems that the pioneer women, although they were not allowed the right of suffrage, and were not members of women's clubs, found it necessary to take the lead in matters of civic improvements.

The new school was located at the corner of State and Antrim streets. Mr. E. H. Green being the first teacher at a salary of $4.00 per week, partly cash and partly produce. Miss Lottie Ainslee (Mrs. Mayne) taught here in the summer of 1869. In 1873 a four-room building was built on the site of our present school buildings.

In the fall of 1867 Messrs. Redington and Nelson bought of Mr. Dixon the land north of the river now occupied by the Charlevoix Lumber Co., erecting a sawmill thereon, the next year Mr. O. S. Washburn coming from Wisconsin as foreman for the firm.

In 1870 this property was brought by my grandfather, Mr. George Esterly and in 1876 by my father. He enlarged and improved the mill, built the planing mill and with the help of his sons, continued to operate until no more logs were available, about 1915.

In 1868 Mr. Laister, a man with apparently no family ties came to Charlevoix, erected a building in the corner where the A. E. Mason business is now conducted and brought a stock of dry goods and groceries, the second in Charlevoix. He carried on until 1871, when he committed suicide. He was the first person buried in the Charlevoix cemetery.

There must have been some artists among the early pioneers of Charlevoix or they would not have wandered through the woods and selected that beautiful spot of which we are so proud. Mrs. Stockman says of it: "The cemetery was then in the rough and only partly cleared. It was reached by a road cut through the woods but not improved."

Retarded Children's Aid

Your Community Chest

(This is the first of a series of articles designed to acquaint you with the agencies which receive funds through your contribution to the Community Chest.)

The Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children has requested $850.00 for the coming year. The funds are to be used to finance the operation of a school for the retarded children residing in the Charlevoix area.

The request is $95.00 more than the sum received by the Association in 1956. Mrs. Frank Oleksy who represented the Association at the recent Budget and Administrations meeting said that the additional monies would be used to supplement funds from other sources in an effort to attract a teacher for the school.

The Association has operated the school for the past three years at the former Washington school on the north side. The cost of utilities has been paid by the Charlevoix board of education from funds received in rent for the building. The Army Reserve Unit used the school as its headquarters until early spring.

Because the Army Reserve Unit is no longer renting it, the board of education does not feel it can keep the building open. For this reason members of the Association are presently seeking a classroom site as well as a teacher.

Last year the teacher's salary was $875.00 or a major part of the Association's expenditures of $969.86. The Association has a total of $366.99 on hand to apply to next year's budget.

There are no state funds available for such a school. It must be supported locally if the school is to be continued.

The parents of the five children enrolled in the school themselves support it to the best of their ability by selling membership and by sponsoring fund-raising projects which net the Association some funds which are used to supplement the Community Chest monies.

All those closely associated with the school operated by the Association urge the continuance of the school and readily vouch for the advantages the children have received while attending the school.

Because it feels that the school has benefited children who would not otherwise receive this instruction, the Community Chest board has approved this worthwhile agency and urges that everyone support it by contributing to the Community Chest fund drive scheduled for Oct. 1.

Owners Cautioned About Riparian Rights on Lakes

Earth-moving equipment operators and owners were cautioned by the Conservation Department recently about laws governing the filling-in or reclamation of lands along the Great Lakes.

Charles E. Miller, chief of the Department's lands division, sent letters to heavy equipment operators in the vicinity of the Great Lakes, reviewing pertinent facts relating to submerged lands.

Miller pointed out that the riparian landowner's title to land between the water's edge and the ordinary high water mark, is "limited or qualified by the right of the public to use this space for the purpose of navigation and other public uses that take place during the time the area is submerged."

"No permanent structures, including dwellings, seawalls, etc., may be erected between the water's edge and the well-defined high water mark," Miller explained.

The 1955 State Legislature passed a bill pertaining to submerged lands along the Great Lakes, but this action does not give any state agency authority to permit riparian land owners to fill or reclaim bottom lands. All submerged lands of the Great Lakes and their bays are owned by the State of Michigan.

"The Great Lakes are a public highway, and no one can obstruct or interfere with public use of these waters," Miller said. "It is understood that any persons who fill or reclaim these lands do so at their own peril, acquire no title thereby, and are subject to prosecution for trespass under existing statutes. The equipment operator as well as the owner is named in such suits."

The Other Ten Months

Now that Labor Day has virtually marked the close of the tourist and resort season in Charlevoix, what is going to be the mainstay of our economy for the next ten months? It is a certainty we can't just trade dollars among ourselves because a percentage of those dollars must be sent to other localities to buy the merchandise we need. There are very few of us who can make a year's living from the resort business alone.

Fortunately, Charlevoix does have two types of businesses which send products to other communities and in return bring some of those dollars back to us so that we can again have them to trade among ourselves for the services and goods we need. And if our income of dollars is larger than our outgo it's possible to save a little for a rainy day and even have a bit left for a few added luxuries.

The two industries that provide the counter-balance to the flow of dollars are agriculture and manufacturing. The long distances to markets as well as to sources of supply exact an extra penalty from each. In addition, there is a limited supply of available labor. There are rewards, too. And we believe most of us, including farmer, businessman, employee, and employer stay in this area because they like it. They find the friendships and loyalties that exist in a community like ours far more conducive to a satisfying way of life than the feast or famine, dog eat dog, existence so often experienced in the larger and booming areas.

Here the farm worker and the farm owner, the employee and the employer, farm folk and town folk, constantly meet on common ground, exchange ideas and gripes, and work together for the common good, as well as give support to projects by special groups.

All are component parts and the success or failure of any one is reflected on the welfare of the entire community. To state it bluntly we need our agriculture and industry and they in turn need our loyal support in every way possible if we want to maintain and improve our year-around economy.

The stories included a variety of subjects including sports as well as other newsworthy items. Pfc. Walker is a 1956 graduate of the Charlevoix high school and

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

It's back to school this week and next for youngsters all over the land. In Charlevoix next Tuesday will mark the end of 12 months of carefree days for more than 1,000 boys and girls who will be returning to classrooms, showing off their summer tans and new wardrobes, both far more important at the moment than their studies.

School actually started this week for the foot ball squads. Players were out at the crack of dawn Monday, and throughout this week, going through their paces 'cause they'll soon be having a game.

And with Labor Day behind us the summer's over in Charlevoix. By the calendar there's another two weeks of it but if you live here you know it's long gone. But as summer's go it hasn't been too bad... a bit short, perhaps, but, as we said, not too bad.

We'd like to mention one more thing that means the summer season in Charlevoix and that's the softball program. Charlevoix certainly had a successful one here this year. The credit for this success goes to a lot of people, starting with Dean Davonport, our genial softball director, who's been doing a grand job on all phases of it... to the city crews who help keep the grounds in shape... and to the players and managers... who gave up many precious hours that Charlevoix can have this program. Everyone works hard at this but probably the peanut leaguers are the most serious about the program. There's no one who practices longer and harder than these kids. It's wonderful training for them... but lots of hard work for their managers... so to them and everyone involved an orchid... or rather a lei of the lovely flowers in a rainbow of colors... for a job well done.

Another guy who deserves a lot of credit is Keith Carey who's been doing a terrific job at the municipal golf course. He's had a record year... but only because he works at it. He has the grand cooperation of Walt Henley and his grounds crew... but the team is headed by Keith who, as we said, works hard at his job although it looks like play.

Wildlife around here is something we don't see much of but we've sure been hearing a lot about it. For instance, we were amazed when we heard about the bobcat Doc Berg and Bruce Bartlett killed on the Berg farm which borders Susan Lake. I didn't know there were any around but Mrs. Berg told us the animals had been screaming nightly in the area.

And then there're the raccoons. What we heard about them isn't fit for print in most cases. The destructive little animals have been living high, we understand, at the expense of some farmers we know. Among them is Pete Burns who couldn't get there ahead of the 'coons to get one ear of corn. The little ring-tails must have had scouts out for when the corn was just right... they ate it... right off the stalk.

The cottagers out along Oyster Bay were telling us that they don't even bother to bury the left over foods which are eaten by these coons and the skunks in the area. Those critters are having service and we hope they appreciate it... for these people sort out what may be eaten and leave it for the animals. This way it saves them digging holes which the animals in turn dig up once they're covered and the cottagers have to cover a second time. All very time saving as far as everyone's concerned. But we're wondering what's going to happen when these free-loaders are left high and dry... now that the season's over. It's going to be rugged if they have to work for a living.

The annual mid-September exodus is about to begin... to the campuses throughout the state and a good part of the Midwest as our teen-agers take off for the many institutions of higher learning. A few left this week but the trek will reach its peak in another 10 days. So, if you have someone taking off to continue his or her studies elsewhere how's about telling us about it. We have no way of knowing unless you do.

It's amazing the things you learn about people from their friends... just recently we had a story on the Ray Ashdons golden wedding anniversary. If we were to have picked a hobby for Mr. Ashdon we would have said it was probably kids and dogs. He loves the kids and will do anything for them... and he once raised the most adorable cocker spaniel we've ever seen. But, boy, did we guess wrong. Seems that planting trees and gathering rocks are his hobbies. Can you imagine that? Neither can we but we have it from Fred Cartier that it's a fact.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Williams. Mr. Elzinga is the son of Mrs. Albert Elzinga of Ellsworth and the late Mr. Elzinga.

The Rev. Lloyd M. Schlopp officiated at the double ring service in the presence of 200 guests. Arrangements of white gladioli and ferns and lighted tapers in candelabra formed a setting for the ceremony. Lighted candles and white satin bows marked the pews.

David Miles at the organ played the traditional marches and accompanied Donald Bogart who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white lace and net over tulle. Her finger ring was set in a small half-hat and she carried a bouquet of white blossoms centered with a white orchid.

Nancy Johnson of Cadillac as maid of honor wore a ballerina length gown of toast tulle styled with a champagne sash and worn with a toast and champagne headpiece. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Betty Blissett and Janet Todd as bridesmaids wore gowns identical to the honor attendant's in champagne tulle with toast sashes and headpieces. They also carried pink carnation bouquets.

Allan Elzinga of Ellsworth was best man. Groomsman were Bert Elzinga of Ellsworth and Warren Shadko, cousin of the bride. Seating the guests were Henry DeFries of Ellsworth and Don Darling of Lansing. Billie Williams was junior usher.

Miss Williams selected a blue silk print gown, matching accessories and a corsage of white roses for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Elzinga, mother of the bridegroom, wore a light rose print dress, matching accessories and a pink rose corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at Harmony hall which was decorated with baskets of gladioli. A tiered wedding cake centered the refreshment table. Assisting were Roberta Swanson, Anna Pontious, Mrs. Dean Davenport Jr., Janet Crump, Carolyn Miller and Susan Crump. The reception was in charge of the W. S. C. S.

Following a week's wedding trip to the Wisconsin Dells the couple will be at home at Ellsworth. For traveling the bride wore a gray wool suit, red accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of the Charlevoix high school and attended Alma College. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Ellsworth high school.

It was fashioned with a long torso length bodice featuring satin-covered buttons, a bateau neckline which, like the waistline, dipped to a point in the back and long tapered sleeves. The bouffant waltz length skirt dipped to the floor in back. Her fingertip nylon veil fell from a lace cap and she carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses and white mums.

She wore a gold tissue batiste gown made similar to the bride's with a long waistline which dipped in back, short sleeves, a high neckline which came to a point in back held by a soft tie flowing to the waistline, and a bouffant ballerina length skirt. She wore a headpiece of yellow daisy mums and carried an arm bouquet of the same flowers.

ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDING

Notes from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold E. Kohn

As Free as A Bird?

When I was a small lad and came northward with the great impression by, and inclined to ponder over the words and phrases used by my elders, an expression frequently spoken by people around me lodged deep in my mind. When someone was given a few days vacation from work, or when a mortgage was paid, or when a burdensome duty had been performed, this exclamation was made: "I feel as free as a bird."

This spring when tree swallows took up summer quarters in our martin house, I had occasion to review the meaning of the phrase, "as free as a bird." From the perches built around their new abode they would launch themselves into swooping, soaring, gliding flight over Lake Charlevoix. Sunlight glistened upon them, and the soft sheen of their backs glowed in blue and metallic green as they hunted for flying insects, their staple food. Then, one by one, they would return to the bird house again, descending from a great height or arising from near the water's surface where they had skimmed off hatching aquatic flies. These gay and unimpaired birds go and come as they please, eat when they're hungry, punch no time clock, answer to no employers, pay no taxes. To first appearance our swallow neighbors seem to have what mankind everywhere is yearning for—absolute freedom.

But the freedom of a swallow is a relative thing, and something of an illusion. A tree swallow is free to plow the air with keen-edged wings and turn up insects for its meals. But it is not free to eat fish like a gull, if insects should prove scarce, nor free to eat birds' eggs as does a crow. Its bill is not adapted to the task of catching fish or breaking egg shells.

A tree swallow is free to usurp a martin house if it can beat the martins to the door and hold it against all comers. But if martin houses and tree holes and hollow fence posts and other ready-made houses should prove unavailable, a tree swallow is not free to build nests on the tips of swaying branches as is the Baltimore Oriole, nor upon an open gravel bank as will a Killdeer. The instincts of a tree swallow have not prepared it for all emergencies.

Free as a tree swallow may be to come northward with the spring when insects become plentiful, and fly southward in the fall when insects die or hide. Our winged neighbor is not free to leave its troubles behind. The appearance of perfect freedom is an illusion, and wherever a tree swallow goes it is a captive of its restricted diet, in bondage to its inherited instincts, limited by its environment, and confined to a few years of time under the arching sky.

A casual glance at nature impresses the onlooker with the freedom of all wild things, but a more thorough familiarity with the natural order convinces the student that all creation is under a discipline. Planets are not free to roam wildly through the universe. They are confined to their appointed courses. Birds are free to act like birds, and birds of a certain species are at liberty, to behave like their breed. But tree swallows cannot act like elephants, nor even imitate a ruffed grouse, which is a not-too-distant relative. A trillium plant may be free to spread its off-spring through a shady, moist forest glade, but it is not free to look like a yellow lady's slipper nor to smell like an apple blossom. If we mean by freedom the capacity for a thing to be or do anything, just anything at all, there is no such thing as freedom.

The history of advancing civilization is largely the story of free forces submitting to discipline. Modern farming is the result of man's gathering wild leaf, root, bulb, and grain crops, bringing them into captivity, taming them, and keeping them in limited fields. Wild animals also have been domesticated; some being used as pets and others for milk, meat, clothing or transportation.

The conquest and discipline of fire was one of the first steps in the expansion of civilization.

A check for $5.5 million for the state primary school fund evokes a pleased smile from Lynn M. Barlett, state superintendent of public instruction. Largest single payment ever made to the fund, it represents one-half of the 1957 payment from the Michigan Bell Telephone Company. Louis M. Nims, state revenue commissioner, (center) received the check from Herbert F. Longe (right) vice president and treasurer of Michigan Bell.

Algonquin Indians Gave Names To Many of Michigan's Rivers

Those picturesque names given to rivers throughout Michigan can be attributed largely to the state's first settlers—the Algonquin Indians, a University of Michigan professor says.

Ivan Walton, professor of English at the U-M College of Engineering, says the French and English altered, some of the original Indian names, but most remain just as they have been spoken for centuries.

Among the Algonquians were the Chippewas (Ojibwas) in the north, Ottawas (Ojibwas) in the north, Pottawatomies (southwest), and the Hurons and Wyandottes (southeast) to the Hurons in the southeast.

The Indian language, professor Walton relates, was primarily oral with only a few crude symbols written, but was well-developed and not unimpaired. It was not by chance, he says, that most of the Indian names are attached to rivers and other geographical locations north of the Saginaw-Muskegon line. The south had been the scene of many bloody Indian battles while the north had remained peaceful. It followed that the newly blossoming communities in the south would adopt names of their own. In the north, however, more and more areas were being named after the Indians, Professor Walton says.

Fittingly enough, a river running through the central part of the Lower Peninsula was named in honor of the Chippewas. A county in the Upper Peninsula also has that name.

The Saginaw River, which flows from or bay by the same name, through a county and city by that name, was, oddly enough, named for an enemy of the Algonquians.

The word itself is derived from the Chippewa "Sak-e-nong" meaning "place of the Sauks," an ancient warlike tribe, which according to legend, occupied the Saginaw area until the combined forces of the Chippewas and Ottawas drove them out.

One of the main tributaries of the Saginaw River, the Shiawassee, stems from the Indian word meaning "the river that twists about." The county through which it flows also acquired the name.

Residents of Muskegon might be surprised to learn that the Chippewa equivalent "Maskigong" meant "to or at a swamp." The name now applies to the river, which empties into Lake Michigan, a lake, city, and a county.

About 90 miles north of "Maskigong" the Manistee River also empties into Lake Michigan. This word, which also applies to a Lower Peninsula county, city, and small inland lake, and a city in the U. P. (Manistique), comes from the Chippewa "Manistigweia" which means "crooked river," says Professor Walton.

The Menominee and Ontonagon rivers were both adopted from Chippewa names. The Menominees were a tribe closely related to the Chippewas and Menominee also applied to wild rice ("meno-min") which grew in the marshes of the area. It is also the name of a city and a baby responsible for the name county in the U. P.

The Pottawatomies were probably responsible for the name Kalamazoo which applies to a river, city and county. It means "bright sparkling water," says Professor Walton.

Native Origin Give The Great Lakes Colorful Names

How did the Great Lakes get their names?

Lake Huron was named first, according to Ivan H. Walton, professor of English in the University of Michigan College of Engineering.

This lake took its name from the Indians who at the time inhabited its eastern and southern shores. These people received their name in a quite unusual manner, says the professor.

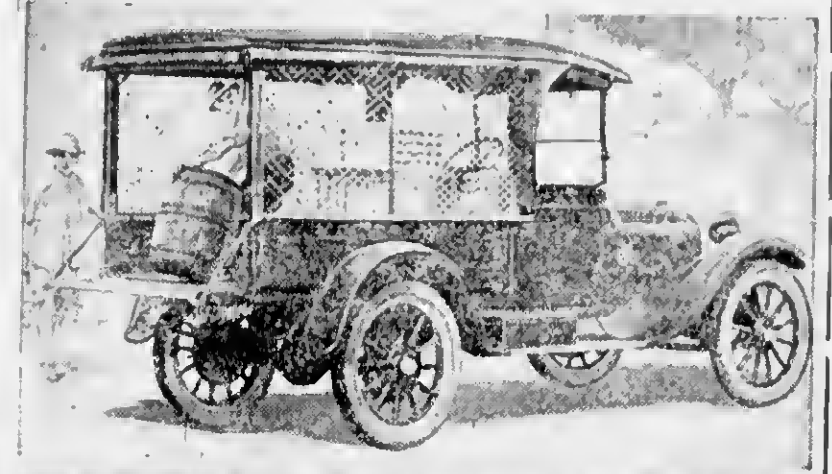

It seems that around 1600 when some natives from this region appeared at the French trading post, traders, seeing for the first time these Indians wearing their hair in ridges, called them Hurons from the French word "hure" meaning wild boar, because their hair reminded them of the bristles of the wild boar.

Lake Michigan also derived its present name from a native original. In the Jesuit "Relation" of 1666, in one of the earliest references to the lake, Fr. Alouez refers to it as Matchichiganong, Blackbird, an Ottawa Indian, states that the word Michigan is an Indian name which we pronounce Michichigan, and simply means monstrous lake.

The northernmost of the Great Lakes, the largest, deepest, and perhaps the grandest, Lake Superior, derived its present name directly from the French missionaries. The Chippewa nation, who lived in ancient times have lived about 100 miles, referred to it as Gichigami, meaning "great lake or sea." Fr. Alouez writes in "Relation" that the Savages reserve this Lake as a Divinity, and offer it sacrifices." Fr. Lalonde wrote "We call the lake Superior, from its position above that of the Huron."

Our present name for Lake Erie, last of the five to be discovered, is derived from that of

Petoskey Evening College to Offer Semester Courses

A full semester's work will be offered for the first time this fall at the Petoskey Evening College, according to A. D. Shankland, director of the college.

Registration for the fall term will be held in Room 11 of the Petoskey high school at 7 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 10.

This will be the third year of operation for the college which is sponsored jointly by the Petoskey board of education and Central Michigan College. During the first two years part-time work was offered and this fall will mark the first time that a student will be able to complete a full year's work while living at home.

It is planned to add the second year of College work in the fall of 1958.

The courses to be offered this fall are: English 101, Sociology 151, History 211, Psychology 201, Speech 101 and Speech 210. These courses are the same as those required of any student enrolling for the first year on a college campus.

Each class meets from 7 to 9:30 p. m. one night a week and, after registration on Sept. 10, classes will meet the week of Sept. 16.

Trout Loses Tag But Makes Getaway
Trout fisherman Eric Roberts, of Newberry has proof of "the one that got away."

Roberts was fishing the Two Hearted River in Luce county this year when he hooked a good-sized trout. He battled the fish for some time, but then felt the line slacken.

When he reeled in the line, Roberts discovered he had lost the trout, but did have the fish's mental jaw tag, which is placed on trout planted by the Conservation Department.

The disappointed angler reports that in his many years of fishing he has caught many tagless trout, but this is his first troutless tag.

Flakes Are New Market For Mich. Potato Growers

A new market may be developing for Michigan potato growers. Through a process recently developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Michigan potatoes can now be made into high-quality, dehydrated mashed potatoes called "potato flakes."

Before this process was developed only western grown potatoes with very high dry-matter content would yield an acceptable dehydrated product. Consequently the potato dehydrating industry is now centered in Idaho.

But this new process, according to Smith Greig, agricultural economist at Michigan State University, could easily cause a shift in producing areas and give Michigan growers a wider market. Michigan potatoes, made into flakes, can probably compete on an equal price basis with dehydrated potatoes from Idaho, he says.

The result of potato dehydrating in Michigan would not likely give any higher price to growers, says Greig, but it would allow them to produce and sell more without a cut in price.

Greig adds that market tests have already shown a promising potential for this product. He says, Michigan State University is now conducting additional market studies on potato flakes.

'Uncooked' Jams Are Easy to Prepare

Here's an easy, cool way for you to make jam. Impossible? Not so says Clare Brown, Charlevoix county home demonstration agent, who suggests you try making a batch of "uncooked" jam.

All you need is a quart of blueberries or two or one-half pounds of peaches, five cups of sugar, a package of powdered pectin and a cup of water.

Wash the fruit. Remove the stems from the berries or the pits and skins from the peaches. Crush the fruit and measure three cups of it into a large mixing bowl. Add the sugar and mix well. Let the fruit and sugar stand for 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. The sugar must be completely dissolved before you continue.

Now dissolve the pectin in water, bring to a boil and boil for one minute. Add the pectin solution to the fruit-sugar mixture and stir for two minutes.

That's all there is to it. Just ladle the jam into glasses (leaving one-half inch head space), cover and let stand for 24 to 48 hours or until the jam has set. Then cover with a one-eighth inch layer of hot paraffin. This will give you about nine six-ounce glasses of jam.

Uncooked jam must be stored in your refrigerator or freezer. You can keep it for several months in the refrigerator or a year in your freezer, but once you open a jar, you should use it within a few days.

If the jam is too firm or tends to separate when you open it, just stir it. No need to dread putting up jam—do it the cool, quick, uncooked way!

Yield Report Indicates Best Wheat Varieties

If you're beginning to think about what variety of wheat to plant this year, yield reports from Hubert Brown, farm crops authority at Michigan State University, should help you, says Charlevoix county agent Ed Rebmman.

Brown says Genesee has yielded one to two bushels more per acre than any other variety for the last seven years. Of the three soft white winter wheats certified in Michigan, Cornell 595 has the stiffest straw. Both Genesee and Cornell 595 are more resistant to loose smut than in Yorkwin.

These soft white wheats are bringing a premium over soft red winter wheat such as Seneca. Brown suggests that you grow the wheat which is common in your locality, either red or white. Mixing them in an area leads to difficulties in handling, both for farmer and the elevator.

Certified seed should be used because it is clean, pure in variety, uniform in size, free from noxious weeds and rye, and usually is treated for smutting.

If you plant seed that is not certified, it should be cleaned, graded and treated for smutting smut with panogen or ceresan.

Another very important factor is time of planting. The fly free date in Charlevoix county is September 3. Planting before the fly free date can result in as high as 70 per cent loss.

Rate of seed planted should be six to seven picks, Brown says.

The width of United States ships is determined by the Panama Canal, and the height by the Brooklyn Bridge.

Pioneer Days of Charlevoix

A history of Charlevoix written and presented by the late Mrs. Albert F. Bridge at a meeting of the Shakespear club in 1923.

In memory of his parents and in observance of Charlevoix's centennial year, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bridge have had "Pioneer Days of Charlevoix" reprinted in a booklet. Booklets are available at Charlevoix County Bank. It will be reprinted in the Charlevoix Courier during the next few weeks with early pictures of the community.

Early in the year of 1869 Charlevoix county was organized, it having previously been a part of Mackinac County. Practically simultaneous with this came the first issue of the Charlevoix Sentinel, which contains a complete account of the organization of the county and a list of officers elected. The Sentinel was a five-column folio printed on a hand press, Willard A. Smith being proprietor, editor, printer and printer's devil.

Mr. Smith continued as proprietor and editor until his death in 1917, almost 50 years, and Charlevoix owes much to the enthusiastic booster articles which always appeared in his columns when any matter of public improvement was under discussion. With him as with the other pioneers, it was "Charlevoix first, last and always".

Another undertaking of great importance to Charlevoix which was begun in 1869 was the widening and deepening of the channels between Pine Lake and Lake Michigan.

By this time settlers were coming in quite rapidly, many soldiers coming to take homesteads at the close of the Civil War. As they must clear land in order to raise crops and must raise crops in order to live, the result was that an immense amount of the finest lumber in the country was being sacrificed. All recognized wastefulness of this course and the only remedy was the opening of the river so the surplus might be shipped.

This indeed was an undertaking as it was necessary not only to make the channel but to protect it with piers to keep the sand from washing in. In June 1869 books were opened at the office of Reddington-Nelson & Co. and subscriptions solicited to obtain funds to prosecute the work. These subscriptions were payable in money, labor or anything that could be of use in the prosecution of the work. As a matter of fact very little money was paid but the response in labor was most generous and several thousand dollars was soon subscribed by the residents of the village and county tributary to Pine Lake, the latter having been assured that the upper river as well as the lower would be made navigable. Their task was a hard one, nothing but the undaunted courage and perseverance of the pioneer could have carried them through. Time after time their work was carried away by the storms.

Mr. Nettleton says "It was a contest of men versus the elements and the elements seemed to have a decisive advantage". Still they worked, after each disaster new plans were made and new funds raised. Finally a appropriation of sixteen sections of swamp lands was made and with the proceeds from this they were able to secure a dredge, which arrived in July 1873. Mr. Nettleton says the entire population of the village formed a committee of reception. When the dredge had finished they had a channel 35 feet wide and from 10 to 12 feet deep. Finally in 1876 Uncle Sam took hold of the work and made an appropriation of $10,000.00. The work has been continued by the government until our present harbor is the result.

On July 7, 1882 amidst the blowing of whistles, ringing of bells, the waving of handkerchiefs and the shouts of the people, the "Fountain City" steamed slowly and majestically up the river. The first large barge to enter Round Lake. Captain Gibson, who had been stopping at the outside dock for many years, was as proud to bring her in as the people were rejoiced to have him.

Fresh green vegetables need not take on a washed-out look if they are cooked properly. Cook them until tender, but still slightly crisp. Cooked under cover, they can look and taste good enough to bring calls for seconds.

Early Settlers Were Rugged

Any account of the early history of Charlevoix would be incomplete without including mention of Mr. J. Stockman who was one of the first settlers. He is seated center with gun across his knees. His companions on this deer hunting expedition have not been identified. Note the heavy wrappings on their legs to protect them from the cold and snow.

Divulging The Secret To Benefit Merchants

The most experienced retail advertiser in the world is Sears, Roebuck and Company. Sears' selection of an advertising medium is based on almost certain knowledge of what that medium will produce in sales.

For this reason it is of interest to any retailer to know how the enormous Sears advertising budget is spent.

The total retail advertising expenditure by Sears during 1956 amounted to almost $58 million. Nearly eighty percent, or more than $45 million, was spent on newspaper advertising. The Sears company increased its expenditures on newspaper advertising nine percent from 1955 to 1956.

Explaining the reason why his company continues to concentrate on the newspaper as an advertising medium, a Sears vice president said:

"The newspapers of the nation continue to play the leading role in Sears promotional efforts. Their effectiveness is demonstrated by the fact that Sears sales in 1956 reached record high proportions."

No special secrets are connected with the successful use of newspaper advertising by Sears. Sears uses the same methods employed by nearly every major retail establishment in the country. They use the newspaper to print news about their merchandise.

Whether it be Sears, Macy's, Gimbel's, or one of our local stores, the retailer who has a timely product to sell can sell most efficiently by giving the public complete information on the produce in the Charlevoix Courier.

Such advertising is news for the same reason that an article about local schools is news. It is information which affects the personal welfare of the reader—information which the reader searches for in the newspaper.

People who can easily pay any price say:

"Pay more...what for? Ford's the buy!"

Why? Because this 1957 Ford gives you the advanced features, the solid ride, the effortless handling that you once expected to find only in expensive cars. And when it comes to looks, where can you find fresher styling than in the sculptured-in-steel lines of this new Ford?

Ford's superiority is evident in many places. In the vital rear axle, the pinion gear that turns the rear wheels is straddle-mounted... supported between two anti-friction bearings instead of being "overhung" from a single bearing. This makes operation quieter, smoother and longer-lasting. It's a feature that Ford shares with only one other car maker in the world—Rolls Royce.

Or consider Ford's famous V-8 engine. No other manufacturer in the industry today electronically balances every V-8 engine, while operating under its own power, the way that Ford does. This means you get a smoother-running engine—the finest V-8 in Ford's 25 years of V-8 leadership.

These are only a few of the important hidden values that are yours in Ford. But they indicate why so many people who can pay almost any price for a car—people who have driven expensive cars for years—are buying Ford today. Action Test this great performing car at your Ford Dealer's just once and you, too, will ask, "Pay more... what for?"

YOU CAN SPEND HUNDREDS MORE... BUT YOU CAN'T BUY BETTER THAN THE NEW KIND OF FORD

Owner-Sampler Cow Testing Plan To Be Offered County Dairymen

The owner-sampler plan of dairy herd testing will be available to dairymen on an expanding and uniform basis beginning October 1, reports Ed Rebmman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

Like the dairy herd improvement association and weigh-a-day-a-month milk production record program, owner-sampler will be tabulated on I. B. M. equipment. A typed monthly record of each cow's milk and butterfat production for the month and the total to date for the year will be provided herd owners. In addition to the individual cow record, average production for cows in the herd will be shown on a monthly basis and on the twelfth month of the year, a yearly average per cow will be shown.

After the first month, a barn sheet will be provided with cow names listed for reporting the next month's record. Individual cow records sheets will be provided for the herd book so that yearly production records can be listed for each cow on the one sheet. If the dairyman would like to list the lactation record for each cow, a space will be provided. Also fresh and dry date information for each cow will be shown on the monthly sheet.

According to Agent Rebmman, details of the program are being worked out on an association basis either as a part of the local D. H. I. A. or an owner-sampler organization. Every cow in the state that is being milked should have a production record through one of the plans that are available.

For details on the various record production plans, and especially the new owner-sampler program, contact the Charlevoix county extension office at Boyne City. Do this now so that arrangements can be made to start your herd with the new testing year which begins October 1.

Capt. Nels Palmer, Former Resident, Dies in Florida

News of the death of Capt. Nels C. Palmer, 82, retired U. S. Coast Guardsman, at St. Petersburg, Fla., Tuesday has been received here.

Funeral services were held Thursday at Bay Pines, Fla. Burial was in a St. Petersburg cemetery.

A native of Sweden, Mr. Palmer came to this country at the age of 16 years. His first Coast Guard station was the local lifeboat station. Later he spent five years at North Manitou island before being transferred to the Ludington station in 1920. He was in command of that station for nearly 20 years.

Mr. Palmer received national recognition for taking a Coast Guard boat across storm-tossed Lake Michigan when attempting to rescue The Our Son, the last sailing vessel on the lake. With five men besides Capt. Palmer the life-saving boat crossed Lake Michigan without sighting The Our Son which had sunk 20 miles off Big Sable Point. He was also commended along with his crew for the rescue of 17 men from the burning fishing boat Leland in 1926.

Since retiring Capt. Palmer has resided in the south. He is survived by his wife, Anna, and a son, Stanley, of St. Petersburg.

Phone Service With Island Is Scheduled

Beaver Island, located in Lake Michigan 32 miles northwest of here, will be linked to the mainland by a two-circuit microwave telephone system this weekend.

The change-over from the one circuit telephone cable owned and operated by the U. S. Coast Guard to the microwave system is expected to take place at either 2:01 a. m. Sunday or Monday, C. L. Johnson, district manager of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., which has installed the microwave system, said Wednesday.

With the change-over 40 telephones of the Beaver Island Telephone Co. will be placed in operation.

At the time of the change the antiquated one-cable system operated for many years by the U. S. Coast Guard will be out of use. The old system had only one circuit and four telephones on the island. Calls to residents not having a telephone were relayed by a messenger service.

Three bids for the notes were submitted. The bid for the notes at the interest rate of 4.45 percent submitted by the Charlevoix County State Bank was accepted, according to Penton R. Bulow, Charlevoix county clerk.

The Michigan Municipal Finance Commission earlier approved the sale of the notes totaling $26,500 on the anticipated revenue from the courthouse sinking fund which allows one mill on the county's state equalized valuation.

The sale of the notes will provide enough monies to complete the county building now under construction.

Charlevoix Schools Have 990 Students

First day enrollment in the Charlevoix public schools this year was 866 students in the kindergarten through the twelfth grade or two less than on the opening day last year, Supt. R. G. Bennett reported Tuesday night.

This figure, however, is expected to increase with the return of several families who are now on vacation and whose children were not enrolled.

At St. Mary's parochial school the enrollment jumped from 111 last year to 124 this week. The school has students in the first through the eighth grades.

The combined enrollment in the two schools is 990 or 11 more than on opening day last fall.

The school's official enrollment on which state aid is allocated will be taken three weeks from now. At that time the figure is expected to be up.

This year's kindergarten class is the largest in the school's history with 84 beginners enrolled in the two classes for these youngsters. This is 10 more than were registered on the first day of school last fall.

With the exception of the fifth grade which has 81 students to rate the largest class in the entire school system, other classes are about the same as last year and will not necessitate additional teachers, Mr. Bennett said.

Miss Florence Moeller will continue her duties as librarian as well as teach mathematics and English in junior high school. Her name was inadvertently omitted from the list of returning teachers last week.

The first day enrollment figures in the Charlevoix public schools for 1956 and 1957 follow:

Elementary School		1957	1956
Kindergarten		84	74
First		58	67
Second		64	67
Third		67	73
Fourth		68	77
Fifth		81	50
Sixth		49	70
High School		471	478
Seventh		69	69
Eighth		72	54
Ninth		66	78
Tenth		76	65
Eleventh		62	58
Twelfth		50	68
		395	390

At St. Mary's school the enrollment has jumped from 111 on the first day of school last year to 124 on Tuesday.

Three classrooms will be open this year with Sister M. Ellen teaching the first, second and a section of the third grade, Miss Eleanor Gallagher the remaining students in the third grade plus the fourth and fifth grade students and Sister M. Scholastica the six, seventh and eighth grade students.

The first day enrollment figures are as follows at St. Mary's parochial school:

School Asks Voters to Approve 3 Mills Tax At Election Monday

Voters of the Charlevoix school district will go to the polls Monday to vote on a proposal which will allow the present tax limitation to be increased by three mill for a period of one year so that an additional three-mill tax levy, approved earlier by the taxpayers in the district, may be collected in order to give the school the additional funds for operating purposes.

The taxpayers approved the levying of the three mills tax at the July election.

The following proposition will be submitted to the voters of the school district in a special election Monday: "Shall the limitation on the total amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in 4th Class District 2 for Charlevoix and Antrim counties, Michigan, be increased by three (3) mills on the assessed valuation for the purpose of operation of schools in said District for the year 1957-58?"

If you, as a qualified voter, wish to give your approval to this proposal to increase the tax limitation so that the three mills, already approved by those who must pay the tax, may be levied then vote yes in the election Monday.

The polls will be at the Charlevoix high school gymnasium and will be open from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m.

The Charlevoix board of education has asked for the additional three mills for a period of one year in order to continue the school program now in operation.

In a statement prepared on the general condition of the school district, the Board of Education pointed out that financially the situation of the school has been influenced by a deficit, due to capital outlay from the operating fund.

In addition, the increasing enrollment has required increased expenditures for furniture, teaching supplies and textbooks. This increased cost, joined with both an increased deductible millage in the State Aid Formula and the decrease in allocated millage by the county, has made the problem of finances very serious.

It is for this reason that the Board of Education has found it necessary to ask for the special three-mill tax levy for the one-year period. The funds realized from this three-mill tax levy would place the school district in a position to carry on the regular program for the current school year. The additional three mills would also permit an expenditure equal to the general average in Michigan.

Since the taxpayers in the school district have shown their willingness to pay the three mill levy for a period of one year by approving this proposal in the July election, voters are urged to give their approval to the increase in the millage limitation by voting yes in the special election on Monday.

Any registered, qualified voter may vote in the election Monday.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

Have you noticed the northern lights recently? . . . Or have you been concentrating on that huge moon . . . almost a harvest moon . . . or haven't you taken time to look to the north? . . . We didn't happen to see them but we understand they were really beautiful . . . shooting all the way across the sky . . . not just a spear there and there as they sometimes are . . . Just another sign of fall, in case you need more than you already have.

What with a few trees losing their color . . . one of the first is in the Broder yard on Ainslee st. . . and the temperature in the '40's we have many reminders that the summer's over.

Add to that the fact that the majority of our summer residents are gone . . . and all the fall flowers are in bloom . . . and there's no mistaking the season of the year.

Speaking of flowers, we understand that Clarence Bartlett has some unusual rose trees in his yard on Antrim st. . . We haven't seen them but we're told they're most unusual so if you're up that way, take a look-see.

One of our oldest and, we might add, most beloved businessmen, George Glados, observed an anniversary last week . . . It was just 50 years ago Labor Day that George bought the Sugar Bowl which still bears that name although he has not operated it for some years . . . George has many, many happy memories of those days and a host of friends he made in those years . . . There was never a more avid sports fan than George and even today many of the boys who once played on Rayder squads stop to see him when they're in the area . . . Many are the banquets George gave for the athletes of yesterday . . . and he still follows the teams . . . We're sure you'll agree that Charlevoix's a much better community because George chose to buy that business just 50 years ago . . . We hope he'll be with us many more years.

Last week the Courier ran a picture of four old-time residents of this community in connection with its "Pioneer Days in Charlevoix" series . . . Only one of the four was identified as M. J. Stockman, one of the community's early leaders . . . Leon Vought, who is now at Grandvue Hospital, called to tell us that the man standing in the back was his father, Al Vought, who often hunted with Mr. Stockman . . . After some thought he also named the other two as Mr. Cram and a Mr. Ackert although he wasn't sure of their first names . . . All these men played prominent roles in the city's early history.

We'd like to say thank you to Bob Bridges for letting the Courier use "Pioneer Days" during this, the community's centennial year . . . and to Bob Miles for loaning the Courier the many old pictures of Charlevoix he has gathered and displayed this year . . . All have been most generous and we appreciate it . . . We have had many comments on the story and the accompanying pictures.

The story of the steamer Illinois going aground which was printed a couple weeks ago also brought much comment . . . all of it appreciated but most of it stories which cannot be verified so they cannot be used . . . However, they were mighty interesting . . . The story brought a letter from E. G. (Ned) Chase, who, we understand, spent a lot of time here as a youngster and who still visits here regularly . . . He wrote that the Illinois had only its usual number of excursionists aboard when it went ashore, that the ship suffered no severe damage and that the trip via breech-est' buoy was not an especially hazardous one because he made two round trips in it . . . Just for fun . . . The probably is true but you must admit the 500 excursionists makes the story a lot more dramatic than just a few . . . Many thanks, Mr. Case, and we'll take you up on that invitation to a fish fry.

It was back to school this week for all the youngsters . . . and was it a big event . . . especially for some 75 boys and girls who were enrolling for the first time . . . Don't know who shed the most tears . . . the kindergartners or their mommies who just can't believe that Judy or Jack are big enough to go to school . . . Among all those youngsters are two sets of twins . . . our neighbors, the Novak boys, Carl and Charles, who are so much alike that their mothers has to take a real good look before she knows which one she's talking to . . . and the Russell twins who look equally as much alike . . . Talk about double trouble.

Since the youngsters are back in school we'd like to remind motorists to be more careful . . . especially when passing the schools and at dismissal time . . . when close to a thousand kids of all ages are returning home . . . Everyone drills safety reminders into them . . . but there are times when they aren't as careful as they should be . . . that's why these children become your responsibility . . . so, remember, be twice or three times as careful as before . . . the kids are back in school.

Guild Notes...

Children who must be hospitalized will have the hours made shorter for them thanks to David B. Silberman who has given a copy of his charming children's book, "Fun on the Moon" to the library cart. His own grandchildren are the characters in the book and, in fantasy, he has taken them on an imaginary trip to the moon . . . It's a precious story and the illustrations are most entertaining . . . it's a book that even adults would enjoy if they are still children at heart. The Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Hospital which sponsors the library cart would like to thank Mr. Silberman for his generosity.

If you'd like to volunteer as a library cart pusher call Mrs. Gordon L. Freedman who will place your name on a list . . . You will be called when needed. The library cart which includes not only books and magazines but all sorts of items for the convenience of the patients is taken through the hospital three days each week and at other times is left near the nurse's station so patients may use its facilities at any time . . . it is one of several services offered by the Guild.

From the ways and means committee a big thank you to all those who assisted with the recent bake sale . . . Proceeds from this event will be used toward the purchase of a light for one of the hospital's operating rooms . . . Thanks, too, to all those people who made such tasty baked goods for the sale.

A number of contributions were made recently to the Guild in honor of, or in memory of, someone . . . Among these were those made in memory of John Kohler by Mrs. Oakley J. Hamilton; in memory of Robert McRae by Mr. and Mrs. James Coleman; in memory of Mrs. Gertrude Rosenthal by Mr. and Mrs. James Coleman.

Gifts in honor of Mrs. Bernard Rosenberg's birthday anniversary were given by Mrs. Hamilton Moses and Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Moses Jr.; in honor of Mrs. Thomas Loeb's birthday anniversary by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Zeman, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Rattner, Mr. and Mrs. James Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon L. Psychiatrist Is Guest Speaker At Kiwanis Club

Kiwanians were advised by Dr. L. G. Little, psychiatrist from Wichita, Kan., not to place too much stock in newspaper headlines reporting a person as mentally ill and suffering a "black-out" when he commits and outrageous crime. The "black-out" is used as an alibi which would make the perpetrator a mental patient rather than a criminal.

He further explained his points by referring to definite cases he had handled.

Dr. and Mrs. Little have made their summer home in Norwood township for the past ten years. While here he devotes his time to writing. His recent book, "Nervous Christians", deals with the alliance of Christianity and psychiatry in the treatment of mentally ill patients.

LOOKING FOR A "MODEL-YEAR-END" BARGAIN?

Then check these facts that prove that FORD is still your best buy—from any angle!

Throughout the 1957 season Fords have outsold every other make. And now that the model-year end is approaching, Ford is a better buy than ever! We Ford Dealers are determined to sell out our stock of '57's. And to do this we're offering deals and trades that can't be equalled. Just look at these savings:

Ford costs you less to buy!

When you investigate initial cost you'll find that model for model, right across the board, Ford cars are the lowest priced* of the low-price three. And when you compare Ford with the medium-priced cars, you'll discover you can buy a '57 Ford for hundreds of dollars less than a similarly equipped medium-price model.*

Ford costs you less to run!

Ford proved its saving ways in the only nationally recognized test of gasoline economy—the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run. A Ford Six delivered more miles per gallon than any other car entered.

Ford costs you less to trade!

Ford owners across the nation have learned that Fords hold their value better, too. Latest official auction sale figures on used cars show that the new kind of Ford commands a higher price than either of its two low-priced competitors.

A very large crowd of about 1,000 people attended the very successful 4-H Show and county picnic at Whiting Park on Labor Day, according to Ed Rebmman, county agricultural agent. The weather cooperated very nicely and many folks were at the park to have their picnic dinner.

The 4-H exhibits were set up in the morning, judging started at 10:30 and was completed by noon time. The dairy show was one of the best that has been held in many years. Competition was very keen and all 4-H club members had done an excellent job with their animals.

Pioneer Days of Charlevoix

A history of Charlevoix written and presented by the late Mrs. Albert F. Bridge at a meeting of the Shakespeare club in 1923.

In memory of his parents and in observance of Charle-voix's centennial year, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bridge have had "Pioneer Days of Charlevoix" reprinted in a booklet.
Booklets are available at Charlevoix County Bank. It will be reprinted in the Charlevoix Courier during the next few weeks with early pictures of the community.

The work on the upper river, bridge was of pile construction while not causing so many discouragements as that on the lower, was nevertheless a task worthwhile of the mettle of the pioneer.

The natural channel being long and crooked it was thought best to make an entirely new one.
Our present upper channel is the result. They chose the narrowest place about 150 feet, literally pulled the trees out by the roots, worked with teams and scrapers until they had a stream through and then put the little tugs
"Commodore Mit" and "Minnie Warren" to work backing their way through, their wheels throwing the sand to one side.

Mr. Nettleton says the first bridge across Pine River was made by driving small piles with a maul, placing rough stringers and making a walk about four feet wide and 20 inches above the river. A few planks were left loose for the passage of canoes being built in the spring of 1881.

This made the resort business quite a feature in the life of Charlevoix. The Belvedere and some cottages having been built two years before. A railway became the next necessary improvement. An effort was made to interest some road in the project but this not being possible a company was formed, funds raised, towns along the most feasible route between here and Traverse City visited and persuaded to cooperate the right of way obtained.
This being done the Chicago and North Michigan Railway Co. finished the work and in 1892 Charlevoix had through trains to Chicago.

All that was left of the Dixon farm was sold to the railroad.
The Inn was built and Charlevoix launched as the most perfect little resort town in Michigan.

The pioneer days are gone and the pioneers of the older generation except one or two have passed to the other shore. Shall we not, while reviewing the work of their hands, pause to take an inward glance and ask ourselves,

"Are we carrying on?" Can we point to any achievement in any way comparable with those accomplishments by them and say,

"This we have done". Are we worthy of the heritage?

The fourth bridge mentioned here was replaced with the present million dollar Memorial Bridge in 1949.

Community Nurse, Emergency Fund Your Community Chest

(This is the second of a series of articles designed to acquaint you with the agencies which receive funds through your contribution to the Community Chest.)

Two of the 10 agencies which receive funds through your contribution to the Community Chest fund drive which is scheduled to open Oct. 1 are the community nurse and the emergency fund.

A request for $1,300 has been submitted for the community nurse by Dr. A. F. Litzenger, director of District Health Unit No. 3, under whose direction the nurse carries out her duties in the community. Of this amount, $1,000 will be for salary and $300 for travel expenses while attending important health conferences.

Mrs. Jeanne Miles is community nurse in connection with her duties as school nurse. Her salary is paid by the Community Chest contributions, the school and the district health department.

Mrs. Miles' duties as community nurse are varied. She calls on all new mothers and advises them in the care of their new babies, teaches home nursing and other courses under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix county chapter of the American Red Cross, visits homes where children are ill, works with the Civil Defense programs and attends meetings and training courses relating to these duties.

The second agency which is seeking $300 is the Emergency Fund which is disbursed under the direction of Mrs. Miles. This fund is used to underwrite the cost of eye examinations and glasses and other expenses for children in the community whose parents are unable to afford these needs.

The fund is administered by Mrs. Miles with the approval of the Community Chest board of directors. Last year $226.45 was disbursed through the emergency fund.

Plans Underway For Recognition Roundup of Scouts

Plans are under way for the 1957 Recognition Roundup of the Boy Scouts of America, according to Donald E. Berg Scout Executive of the Scenic Trails Council with headquarters at Traverse City.

Through the 1957 Recognition Roundup, the Boy Scouts of America seek to bring more boys into its Cub Scout Packs, Boy Scout troops and Explorer units; to attract and train men of high character as unit leaders; to recognize successful boy leadership; to provide opportunities of service to others and to recognize the part that good uniforming plays in the organization.

Mr. Berg said that the local council is eager to meet its responsibility to make certain that every boy who wants to join gets that opportunity.

A program of neighborhood activities to be launched this fall includes a series of neighborhood roundup rallies at which non-Scouts will be guests. Each Cub Scout and Explorer unit will hold such a rally following a District Training Rally to be held in each of the five Districts of the Scenic Trails Council. The Northern District of which Charlevoix is a member will hold its rally at Walloon Lake Village Park Sept. 28.

Hunting Seasons For Most Game to Open October 1

Michigan's first hunting season of the fall is underway with bear hunters afield in the upper peninsula.

During the special September 1-15 season in the U.P., bears may be taken on a small game license and use of dogs is permitted. The same regulations also will apply to the October 1-November 5 statewide firearm bear season.

Bow and arrow hunters may take part in the October 1-November 5 season under an archery deer license, but may not use dogs. Deer are legal targets for archers, of course, during that season.

In addition, bear may be taken under a regular firearm deer hunting license during the November 15-30 deer season throughout the state. Use of dogs is prohibited in hunting bear during deer season.

Several other seasons will open October 1, including the statewide waterfowl hunting season which runs through December 9. Grouse hunters will be active during an October 1-November 10 season in Zone 1 (the upper peninsula) and Zone 2 (the lower peninsula north of highway M-20). In Zone 3 (the southern lower peninsula), grouse season opens October 21 with other small game seasons and closes November 19.

October 1 also marks the opening of squirrel and rabbit hunting seasons in Zones 1 and 2.

New Larvacide May Solve Sea Lamprey Problem

Wildlife management programs often have far-reaching effects on other species or resources, and sound conservation practices require a thorough consideration of these other factors.

A current example of this situation is the program being carried on to eliminate the destructive sea lamprey, which has depleted Great Lakes fish populations.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, working to develop a chemical which would destroy young lampreys in spawning streams, had to discover what effect the larvacide would have on other wildlife.

Various chemical compounds were tested for their ability to kill larval lampreys without harming game fish. Finally, the Service came up with two compounds which will be used experimentally in selected Michigan streams soon.

Before stream testing could begin, however, it was necessary to determine what effects the chemicals would have on animals drinking from the streams.

A cooperative study, conducted by the Michigan Conservation Department, was set up to provide these answers.

Captive deer, in pens at the Department's Houghton Lake Wildlife experiment station, were given water containing the larvacides and no harmful effects were discovered. When offered a choice, the deer drank freely from both treated and untreated water supplies.

With this related and necessary experiment successfully completed, the lamprey eradication program is going ahead as scheduled.

75th Anniversary

Congregational Church Plans Observance Dinner and Program

The date was Sept. 18, 1882. eholls, Mr. Hudson, J. Milo East. The occasion was the signing of the call for a council and a request that the signers, seven in all, be organized into a church to be known as the First Congregational church of Charlevoix, Michigan.

The following day, Sept. 19, 1882, the church was organized by a council composed of pastors and laymen from four neighboring churches under the guidance of the Rev. Leroy Warren of the Congregational Home Missionary Society.

Thus, a dream that had been nourished in the hearts of a handful of Charlevoix's early settlers became a reality.

The seventy-fifth anniversary of this momentous date in the history of the First Congregational church will be observed at an anniversary dinner and program at the church tonight (Thursday). Members of the present-day congregation and their families will gather at Friendship hall for a dinner at 6:30 p.m. An hour later they will assemble in the church for a special program in which the highlights of the history of the church will be reviewed.

It was not by chance that the early settlers signed the document that was to result in the organization of the church three-quarters of a century ago.

As early as 1866 the Rev. Mr. Warren who was later to assist in its organization, was holding preaching services here. Later the Rev. N. L. Otis began holding services regularly in the school house in 1879 but after a year no organization was effected and some supposed the Congregational interest had died out.

In 1882 the flame was re-kindled when the Rev. Mr. Warren asked the Rev. A. J. Hadley who was vacationing in northern Michigan to investigate the field. It was he who later found the seven people to sign the call for a council and the request to be organized into a church.

Signers of the first document were Mrs. John Nicholls, Mrs. J. S. Dixon, E. M. Clark, Mrs. Luella Clark, Briece Suffield, Mrs. Elizabeth Suffield and Mrs. A. J. McLeod.

Following the organization of the church the following officers were named: deacons, Elijah Hudson, Mr. Suffield and Mr. Clark; clerk, William Kanagy; trustees of the Society, Mr. Ni-

The Charlevoix Rayder, coached by Don Carey, will open their 1957 football season against the Class B Rogers City Ilurons on the latter's gridiron at 8 p. m. Friday night.

This will mark the third game in the Rayders series with the Ilurons. Both times in the past the local eleven has fallen victim to the Rogers City squad by slim.

After only three weeks of practice, during which the emphasis has been on conditioning and fundamentals, Coach Carey must select a starting line-up from among 27 candidates dotted with only a few veteran players and some lettermen.

Eight candidates are competing for backfield positions in the opening game this week. Coach Carey would not name a starting backfield Wednesday, stating that the starting team would depend on a number of things including injuries, but did say that Bob Mol or Mike Genett call the signals. Larry Ingalls or Stan Smith would fill the fullback spot and that Ron Anderson, Tom Lakies, Ed Loui-selle or Bud Balch would be called on to start in the halfback positions.

Steve LaBlance, Ron Vondenberg and Dick VanRaaphorst are candidates for the end positions; Ken Wojan, John Bingham, Dick Muma or Bruce Pease for the tackle spots; Scott Supernaw, Ted Mason, Larry Smith, Steve Wells or Chuck McDermott for the guard positions and Stan Harwood or Bill Poquette for the center assignment.

Raised Sights Scored Hit

Time and again we read about some town or small city coming into the limelight with a remarkable industrial development. Without further thought it is easy to conclude the town had a lucky break. If the facts were known, however, we would realize the lucky break was brought about by a few persons who had visions and were able to get the wholehearted support of their fellow citizens to make those vision materialize.

A case in point is Owosso, a city of 5,000 population in south central Michigan. A development corporation was organized. The corporation raised $70,000, bought two nearby farms and four smaller sites for industrial use. The result has been an industrial surge to Owosso accompanied by a residential building boom.

The score includes the building of six new industrial plants and keeping two other plants that strongly considered moving elsewhere. Small plants were built for two industries and sold to them on a contract and sites were made available to two other small concerns. One of the larger projects was promoted by the gift of a 30-acre plot now the site of a $3,000,000 plant. Another 15-acres induced another local industry to remain in Owosso and construct a multi-million dollar factory.

It all goes to show what can be done when a community gets behind a project with determination.

Charlevoix's school buses travel many miles in one year . . . so a seven-year old bus has quite a lot of mileage on it . . . But there's a family from Ypsilanti by the name of Cox who think that there's a lot of life left in the old bus yet . . . At least they have enough confidence in one that they've purchased one of Charlevoix' old buses, remodeled it and taken off for the west coast . . . It's the James Cox family and they have a family of three boys . . . There are those who think this is one of the Cox families that once lived here but we doubt it . . . Anyway, if they bothered to leave Charlevoix on the bus in the original paint, then we'll be in for a lot of publicity as the old bus crosses the country to Seattle . . . Thanks to Clarence McCalmon of Madison Heights and Mrs. Franklin Olmstead for sending us the clipping.

A call from Mrs. Lillian Moore identified the men in the recent old-time picture in the Courier . . . Seems that one of the men seated to the right of M. J. Stockman in the picture was her uncle, Frank Whitford . . . In front of him was Morris Cram . . . She tells us that there were a number of other people in the original of which this one was only a part . . . The picture was taken at a hunting camp.

She told us also that Mr. Whitford and the Cram brothers operated a sawmill where the municipal light plant is now located.

It's not true Indian summer, we know, but haven't these last few days been wonderful . . . Or perhaps we should say . . . haven't parts of these days been beautiful because some time during the 24 hour period it has managed to rain . . . There was a brisk breeze blowing Sunday afternoon . . . but despite this it was an ideal fall day . . . But we can't have Indian summer before we have "squares" winter . . . or so our friend Jake White tell us . . . So just enjoy this while you may . . . We hope there'll be three months of it . . . but don't bet any money on that.

Had some of the loveliest dahlias we've seen this year given to us recently by our good friend, Forrest Brown . . . We used to think we'd seen a lot of big ones until we saw those he raised . . . He apologized for these but he needn't have.

A belated "happy anniversary" wish to the Sam Sorensens . . . We met Mr. S. on the street the other day and he was telling us that he and his wonderful wife, Caroline, were married 42 years ago Sept. 10 . . . Our best wishes to them both.

Not long ago a passenger was awaiting the departure of the Emerald Isle on the municipal dock on Round Lake . . . Somehow or other he lost two rings he was wearing . . . one set with a diamond and the other a plain gold ring . . . Of course, losing even a pair of rings on the bottom of the lake was something . . . especially one as deep as Round Lake . . . But the rings were valuable and the fellow did have an idea where he lost them . . . So he engaged a skin diver, Jim Sawtelle, to go down and see if he could find them. Both rings had fallen into the hole of a concrete block that was lying on the bottom. Among other things he found one of the city's park benches (not so difficult to locate) plus lots of other truck. Boy, it used to be if you wanted to discard something you just tossed it into the lake . . . but not anymore . . . But all kidding aside, wouldn't you like to make a trip around the bottom of Round Lake. Norm Ketchman always threatened to do that but more important things are taking his time . . . so maybe some other day. And speaking of Normie, we hope to have a story on him and his doings shortly.

We received an invitation the other day that we would have loved to accept but it just wasn't possible. Roger Carlisle called from Beaver Island to invite us to a party that the island residents were having Monday night to celebrate their new link with the mainland . . . Telephones are a pretty routine thing to most of us but over there it has been a real luxury until now . . . with the new system . . . a radio telephone link with Michigan Bell, one can now call 4 stations on the Island and not have to call the Island and leave a message plus pay a messenger charge if you wanted someone other than the Coast Guard station and the two or three other places that had telephones—courtesy of the U. S.

Charlevoix IN UNIFORM

Pfc. Michael Gibbons, who is stationed in Germany with the U. S. Army, has been touring Europe while on leave, he has written his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Gerald C. Gibbons.

Coast Guard. But all that is in the past now. Knowing how lost we'd be without our phone, we can only be happy for these people. It's going to save them many steps and lots of time.

We might add that this new system was inaugurated only through the "stick-to-it-iveness" that has marked everything the island people have. They just simply went out and form ed their own company when all else failed and went into the telephone business. Who said the days of pioneering are over? It will never be as long as you have people like that.

But back to the party . . . we're sorry we missed it . . . we know you had a whale of a time. That's another Island event we'll take a raincheck on . . . And heaven help us the day we decide to turn them all in for we have quite a few . . . thanks to the hospitality of our Island friends.

This we liked, but don't ask why . . . The Northwinds blew the keel of Michigan summer . . . The white caps on the lakes making fishing bumper . . . Football fills the air and coaches yammer . . . And leaves the scene to natives and me . . . (With apologies to Mr. Gray) Now can you imagine anyone writing THAT . . . Well, he did.

Who has more fun than kids . . . especially youngsters who live near the Penn-house on the north side. Seems daughter Patty has a horse which she shares with her friends . . . He's such a good, patient old horse . . . And every one's having a grand time riding him 'round and 'round the old paddock.

ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDING

Notes from A. Northerner's Diary

By Harold C. Kohn

Perennial Pleasures

As fall comes on and moves toward winter a marked difference between two kinds of plants become apparent. Some plants are dying after a single season of growth. Their species will survive because of seeds the dead plants will leave behind, but the short-lived plants themselves will pass away. These ephemeral members of the vegetable kingdom we call "annuals." Some annuals are killed by frost. Others appear to die of sheer exhaustion, the production of flowers and fruit completely depleting their stores of energy and leaving them without the power to carry on. Then there are the "perennials" which possess the necessary vitality for bearing flower and fruit, surviving frost and winter snows to greet another springtime with blossom and another summer with growth and fruitfulness. Some perennials shed their leaves and seal their buds against winter rigors and withdraw all signs of life within the fortress of their woody stem. Others, like our evergreens, manage to hold their needle-like leaves through the worst freezings and heaviest snows a northern winter can offer. Still others form bulbs, or rhizomes or tubers which shelter and nourish the life of the plant until another growing season arrives. Even the novice gardener knows that there exists a great difference among the plants, some being short-lived annuals and others having a perennial vitality.

Pleasures are like plants. Some are annuals, here for a season, but soon gone. The first frost of adversity kills them, or age withers them, or they may die of sheer exhaustion. But there are perennial pleasures, too, that belong to no single season of the soul but have a built-in lasting quality that sees them safely through many a chilling crisis and past numerous bleak circumstances. The aging process tests our pleasures and manifests their durability. When the first bloom of life has faded and the raw new energies are gone, what is it then that makes some people enthusiastic, fascinated and fascinating, as was the famed naturalist, John Burroughs? Although Burroughs was nearly eighty-four years of age when he died in 1921, he was still a youngster at heart. To his family and friends the great student of nature was known as "the boy who never grew up." When eighty he could still squeeze as much enjoyment from a fishing trip as most boys could at eight. If his luck was good, he was as pleased as a barefoot lad with his first string of perch. If his reel remained empty, Burroughs still returned home with an exciting catch of new information about birds or beasts he had seen at lake's edge or some strange song he had heard from the topmost twig of a towering tree, or some new thought that stirred his mind while his hook and line plumbed the lake's blue depths. John Burroughs' capacity to force every experience to yield its quota of wonder and excitement accounted for his durable youthfulness. Anyone who learns to press the good out of every occasion will find perennial pleasure.

Moreover, perennial pleasure can be found in the enjoyment of things you cannot solely possess. Elbert Hubbard derived much satisfaction from visiting art galleries although he openly confessed he knew little about the fine arts. One time when he was enraptured in the beauties of an oil painting a friend jokingly asked, "Why do you permit yourself to become so enthusiastic over things you can never afford to own?"

Hubbard replied, "I would rather be able to appreciate things I cannot have than to have things I am not able to appreciate."

One reason for the restlessness of our times is that our civilization has provided us with too much, so much that we cannot appreciate it all, and some of the wonders that were here before civilization became so complex we don't take time to appreciate. How long has it been since you spent fifteen consecutive minutes looking up at the stars or at a sunset sky or at an old masterpiece of fine art? Let greedy possessiveness fade from lack of care, and begin cultivating appreciation for those things that are here for all who have open eyes and hearts.

Plant and nourish in the little children who are under your influence pleasure in the wonders of the world around them. With the best of intentions, but with the poorest of technique we attempt to make our children happy. We lavish upon them gifts and toys. We excuse them from duties around the house. Some toys are necessary for children and some freedom to do about what they please is important to their welfare, but toys are easily broken, and a youngster cannot be protected from work forever. If we teach a child to seek his satisfaction in gadgets and freedom from duty we doom him to misery, for there will always be gadgets he cannot afford or of which he will rapidly tire, and life will always thrust upon him responsibilities that must be borne.

But stimulate a child's growth and spur his development so that he constantly seeks information that will broaden his mind and experiences, that will enlarge his spirit, and enduring happiness will be his. Encourage his wonder at life's mysteries. Many parents are prone to discourage wonder rather than to promote its growth. John H. Crowe has reported how a little girl on a train trip with her mother kept looking out the window and shouting, "Look, Mama, a horse," and "Look, a cow!" After some time the embarrassed mother apologetically explained to other passengers sitting near, "You know, she still thinks everything is wonderful." And at sixty or eighty that girl can still think everything is exciting and marvelous if the tender plant of awe is not uprooted by a careless parent, for wonder is one of life's perennial pleasures.

Again, lasting enjoyment can be found, if we will look for it, in essentials rather than superficialities. A fisherman watched an overdressed summer visitor mince down the street of a resort town, and muttered to a friend, "I reckon the riggin's worth more than the hull." In many cases it is. We have invested more money in vehicles and less pleasure in travel than any nation in history. We spent more money on houses and less time in our homes than any modern people elsewhere in our world. Our recreation places more stress on appearances and less on moral health than any generation has for several centuries. We are a people interested in piecemeal self-improvement. What cannot be accomplished by a change in shade of face powder or by using a different brand of tooth polish may be achieved by reading book condensations. We get inoculated with small doses of religion in order to keep us from catching the real thing. We buy the prettiest clocks and have the least time for enjoyment of silence, solitude, blue skies country lanes, kind looks, leisurely contemplation and the company of a friend than have any people in the annals of the human race. And it's all because we have forgotten what counts most.

A little girl of kindergarten age one day came home from school with a kitten she had found wandering in the alley. She loved it as only a little girl can love a newly discovered kitten, and the kitten responded to her affection wholeheartedly. They were almost inseparable chums for some weeks, and then the kitten disappeared. The child cried and hunted among garbage cans, junk baskets and ash heaps in the alley and up and down the street, but to no avail. When the child had grieved so much that she became ill her grandmother went downtown to a pet shop and purchased a beautiful, aristocratic Persian kitten, with glossy fur and disdainful, sophisticated cat manners and brought it home and proudly presented the lovely creature to the little girl. But the child was not comforted. The grandmother chided the youngster, saying that she was behaving in an ungrateful and unreasonable manner. She reminded the girl that the other kitten was but a common alley cat with no good breeding and not nearly so beautiful as the feline Persian. But the child could not follow that line of adult reasoning and, between sobs burst out with, "But grandma! It's the inside of a cat that counts!"

Of course it is! And it's the inside of a child, and the inside of a man, and the inside of a civilization that counts, too. And life's chief perennial pleasure is in making the most of the essentials, in growing a bigger mind, in enlarging the soul, and in adding to the spiritual content of his time. For such a satisfaction every season is a growing season.

Red Rayders Get Briefing From Coach game at 2:30 p. m. Saturday. When Harbor Springs goes against Onaway Friday night, the Rams will field the most experienced team in the loop.

In the backfield Coach Hank Bruno will have veteran signal caller Richie Clarke, as well as veterans Jack Meyer, a fullback, and Sam Gokee, a halfback, plus lettermen John Barowskik in the other halfback position.

At Mancelona Coach Matt Jacobson has a number of veterans around which to build this year's team. Among these are veteran team manager, Ron Johnson, seasoned fullback John Phillips, veteran halfback Bob Phillips plus three candidates for the other halfback spot, Jerry Beihl, Glenn Collins and Bill Alder. Don Beihl may also see some action as quarterback.

At Boyne City the defending champions are having a siege of injuries, which, though not serious, are keeping key players on the bench, according to Coach Paul Pfahler.

Left end Steve Williams has a back injury, halfback Bob Christiansen a hand injury suffered when he was spiked, halfback Doug Newville an injured knee and guard Jim Camburn is on the sick list.

If he has to call on substitutes for the regulars he will name Dave Green to replace Williams, Carl Aimesbury for Christiansen, John Kirby for Newville and Art Rebec for Camburn.

Others in the line which will average 170 pounds will be right end Rick Casper, tackles George Shotelis, a veteran, and Paul Hubbard, guard Pat Bryan and center Don Tompkins.

Carl Charon, veteran fullback, will be called on to carry the backfield load while—Morrie Hobbs, a comparative newcomer will call the signals.

East Jordan has also been hit by injuries which have sidelined fullback Glenn Kowalski, center Buck Cihak and quarterback Jim Kinney.

A tentative line-up for Saturday's game will find Gene Richards in the quarterback spot, Allen Ingalls replacing Kowalski, and Jack Gee and Jack Kramer in the halfback positions. In the Jerry Chanda, Bob Sherman or line which will average 155 pounds will be ends Bob Crowell and in the guard positions and Alan Rod Steenburgh and Bill Johnson Dick Kramer or Larry Hayden, Louie Kramer in the tackle spots, Shepard at center.

Coach Don Burnison is also having injury trouble at Gaylord. Warner has a knee injury and Bob Burnison a fractured arm.

Will Wright will be called on to replace Warner, while Doug Bottomley has been assigned to the fullback position Keith Riddle to the halfback spot and John Burnison to the quarterback duties.

In the line will be ends Darwin Mason and John Berry, tackles Ernie Wolf and Jerry Petroska, guards Terry Couch and Tim Morey and center John Strolle.

At Pellston where the Hornets will appear for the first time under the guidance of Coach Francis McMahon, Basil Maganase, veteran quarterback, will call the plays, Jack Schmalzer, a former lineman, will play halfback, Larson Givens fullback, and Duane Johnson, the other halfback position.

In the line will be ends Bill McClutchee and Tom McLane, tackles veteran linemen Nelson Marshall and Al Ball, guards Bob Archer and Tom Coulter and center Jerry Malloy. He will depend on newcomers for depth.

Albert E. Cobo, 63, Dies Unexpectedly

Albert E. Cobo, mayor of Detroit and a frequent summer visitor here, died unexpectedly at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit Friday following a heart attack. Funeral services were held at the Scottish Rite Cathedral of the Masonic Temple Monday.

Mr. Cobo, 63, had served as the mayor of Michigan's largest city since 1950 and last year was the Republican candidate for Governor. He had planned to retire from politics later this year when his present term as mayor expired. He had become well known in this community while visiting her at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weinbaum on Mercer Blvd.

Shipment of Rams Due Next Month

Charlevoix county sheep men will have an opportunity of obtaining some good purebred rams when the ram truck reaches this area, says Ed Reiman, county agricultural agent. The ram truck this year will again stop at the feeder cattle yards at Gaylord on Saturday morning, October 5.

Sheep producers in Charlevoix county who would like to obtain a purebred ram are asked to let the County Extension Office know the breed they want and the price they would like to pay for this ram. Graydon Blank, extension specialist in animal husbandry at Michigan State University, will select the rams and bring them on the truck for the producers.

Benjamin Franklin was the first Postmaster of the United States.

Here's your once-a-year opportunity to get Blue Cross • Blue Shield protection without enrolling in a group

Now, for a two-week period—September 16 to 30—those who are not eligible to join Michigan Blue Cross • Blue Shield through a group can join through this special non-group plan.

No red tape . . . no physical examination needed. The only requirement is that you be a Michigan resident under 65 years of age.

If you are married, Blue Cross • Blue Shield coverage will protect your entire family . . . if you are single, you will be covered individually.

And remember . . . the non-group plan provides many of the broad benefits usually available only under group coverage. They include, after six months' membership, the same new out-patient benefits just made available to Group Members.

But you must act now. This special non-group offer cannot be repeated for at least another year. Clip and mail the attached coupon . . . no later than September 30 . . . and we'll send you complete information on rates and benefits.

Hospital and City Recreation Your Community Chest

The Charlevoix Hospital and City Recreation are two of the 10 agencies which receive funds through your contribution to the Community Chest drive which is scheduled to open Oct. 1.

The Charlevoix Hospital has requested $1,116.15 for its bad debt fund. Last year the hospital's request was for $963.61.

The Charlevoix Hospital lists the following bad debts for the year ending June 30: July, $96.52; August, $100.56; September, $77.62; October, $86.98; November, $79.25; March, $108.58; April, $90.66; May, $91.48; June, $102.53.

In presenting the request for funds Mrs. Kit Carson who represented the hospital board of directors at the Budget and Admissions meeting said that the above figures represented only one-half of one percent of the hospital's entire billings for the 12-months period and not the full amount of the debt. Actually, she added, the debt is much more but it is supplemented by contributions from other sources and from late collections.

The amount requested through the Community Chest is, in reality, a token sum representing the community's appreciation of the hospital and the fact that it is located here as well as its appreciation of the support given it by the summer residents, she continued. These part-time residents of the community are generous in their support of the hospital, contributing large sums for improvements, additions and equipment which would not be possible otherwise.

It is hoped that the people of the Charlevoix area will accept this request for funds as their responsibility to the hospital, to the board of directors who serve without compensation and all those who support it in other ways.

Economy-wise, the hospital also means a great deal to the community for it has a staff of 64 persons and in addition brings many people from throughout the area into the city.

A request for $800.00 to supplement the city recreation fund has been submitted by the city.

In asking for the amount which is $200.00 more than last year, city superintendent Hal M. Hill and Ray L. Kipke of the City Council recreation committee said that the city has plans to enlarge its recreation program and for this reason was asking for ad-

A financial statement for 1956-57 reveals that the city spent a total of $3,950.00 for recreation. This includes $1,533.49 for the skating rink, the cost of which was shared by the school until this past year; $586.72 for the softball program which, in paid for itself by taking in $278.72 and $1,829.37 for lifeguards on the city's three major beaches.

A Statement of the General Condition Of the School District And

Recommendations for the Succeeding Year

The membership of the Charlevoix School District has shown a continuous growth, slow but steady. This growth has gradually filled the Elementary School to approximately its capacity. The rooms that have had 26 to 29 pupils as an average will, in 1957-58, have in most rooms 31 to 35 pupils. The High School has gone beyond its efficient capacity for several years and will be far beyond the number for which it was designed. There will be approximately 420 in rooms planned for about 200. Also, the High School Building is inadequate for the program that is desired. There are plans for the Community to make a comprehensive study during the 1957-58 school year of the school needs, and a proper program to meet those needs.

Financially the situation has been influenced by a deficit, due to capital outlay from the operating funds. The increasing enrollment has required increased expenditures for furniture, teaching supplies, and text books. This increasing expenditure will continue this year. This increased cost, joined with both an increased deductible millage in the State Aid Formula, and the decrease in allocated millage, will make the problem of finances very serious. It is recommended that a special levy of 3 mills for operation be voted to permit an expenditure equal to the general average in Michigan. A one year levy would place the District in a position to carry on the regular program for 1957-1958.

The teacher demand has been met by employing four teachers on a part-time basis in the High School English and Speech departments, and girl's Physical Education. This has proven very successful and will be continued for 1957-1958.

Picnic A success

About 200 attended the Banks township business men's picnic held in East Jordan park Thursday afternoon of last week. Even the weatherman co-operated to make it a successful event. Speedboat rides, water skiing, pitching horseshoes were just a few of the activities during the afternoon and evening for the adults as well as the children. A potluck supper at 5 p. m. was another part of the good time. Following the supper and the games outdoors, the group assembled in the shelter house to enjoy movies.

Honored at this occasion was T. E. Boss who was presented a plaque in commemoration of his faithful service for years as township clerk and as village clerk. Paul Dwyer, Banks township supervisor made the presentation.

It was voted unanimously to hold a similar get-together next year. A committee of three, Mrs. Arthur Ruis, Harold Jansen and Hans DeYoung, were selected to plan for next year's event.

Artist Uses Local Setting

A Grand Rapids newspaper recently reported the achievements of artist Reynold Weidenaar, well known in the area where he and his family frequently visit with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Kuiper. Local scenes have been the inspiration for several of his paintings and other drawings. The article reports that two of his works, a water color "Home Town", a Grand Rapids inspired scene, and a charcoal sketch "Shingle Shed" are to be included in an exhibition of twentieth century American water colors and drawings which will go on tour to India, Pakistan, Indonesia, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand within the next two years.

The setting for the charcoal sketch is the interior of the shingle shed on the Kuiper farm south of the village.

Guild Notes...

A thank you to Mrs. W. R. Wood and Mrs. Stanley Epstein, who were regular library cart pushers at the Charlevoix Hospital during the summer months. . . . And an equally large word of gratitude to Mrs. Harold Totten, Mrs. J. L. Golt, Mrs. Charles Bellinger, Mrs. Alfred Brow and Mrs. R. G. Bennett who gave so generously of their time as substitutes in an hour of need. . . . If you would like to become a substitute call Mrs. Gordon L. Freedman who is chairman of this committee for the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Hospital.

Effective this week Mrs. Richard Malpass of East Jordan will push the cart on Monday, Mrs. Reginald Greenway on Wednesday and Mrs. Darrell Dinwiddie on Friday. . . . There still is a great need of substitutes so call Mrs. Freedman if you're interested. . . .

There's still plenty of candy on hand, reports Mrs. James Hiller. . . . if you'd like any of the various kinds offered for sale by the Guild, call here or Mrs. E. D. Hawley, Mrs. Freedman or Fran Martin.

If you'd like something new and different in the line of scrumptious sweets, keep an eye open for the new line of candies the Guild is planning to stock. . . . You'll hear more about it next month. . . .

Thanks are in order for Mrs. Arthur Weststaff, local author, who has given a copy of her exciting teen-age book, "Black Panther of the Great Lakes" to the Guild for the library cart. . . . It's so very different to find interesting books for young people of this age group so the Guild is more than happy to receive this donation which fills the need to perfection. . . .

To Mrs. Stanley Epstein for her contribution of a subscription to the always-entertaining "Jack and Jill" a thank you. . . . We're sure everyone is going to enjoy this all year long. . . . And to Mrs. Philip Lemieux, Mrs. L. E. Block, Mrs. Charles Godchaux and Mrs. D. E. Williams for their thoughtful contributions of books, another thank you. . . . If you have copies of any books suitable for the library cart, call or leave them with Mrs. Freedman or Frances Milner. . . .

If you'd like to help make puppets to be given to the children who must be hospitalized, call Mrs. Wilson Baker, chairman of the sewing committee, and offer your services. . . . You'll love making these lovable little characters, called Pinkie, and it will be one way of making a lot of little ones happy.

Community Chest Fund Drive Begins Today

The 1957 Community Chest fund drive to raise $9,150 for 10 participating agencies will be launched today (Thursday) under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Duerr, co-chairmen of the current drive.

The solicitation of business places, industrial plants and concentrated groups of people including those at the Charlevoix hospital, county building, post office, city hall and schools as well as professional people by volunteer workers will open the 1957 fund drive.

This will be followed by the solicitation by mail which is scheduled to open October 1. The campaign in the residential section and the outlying areas will begin October 8.

In announcing plans for the current drive, Mr. Duerr said that a concerted effort was being made to contact every person in the community for only by doing this will it be possible to meet this year's goal.

In launching the fund drive Mr. Duerr also asked every resident to give considerable thought to his or her contribution. "Remember," he said, "that by giving in a united drive such as the Community Chest campaign you are giving not to one but 10 agencies. If it was not for this united drive you would be expected to contribute to 10 separate campaigns. Keep this in mind when determining the size of your contribution and give accordingly."

Mr. Duerr and William Fochtman, president of the Community Chest board of directors, will head the fund drive in the business and industrial sections. They will be assisted by a group of volunteers.

Other special fund chairmen are: county building, Grover C. Gennett; schools, Mrs. John K. Reed; city hall, Mrs. Oakley J. Hammond; post office, Peter H. Timmer; Charlevoix hospital, Mrs. Clarence Murray.

Agencies and the amounts each is requesting through the community chest fund are: Michigan United fund, $1,436.00; Community Nurse, $1,300; Boy Scouts, $1,450; Salvation Army, $325.00; American Red Cross, $1,000; Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children, $950.00; Charlevoix hospital, $1,116.16; Girl Scouts, $750.00; City Recreation, $800.00; and Emergency fund, $300.00.

Born in Detroit, the former Gloria J. Morrison was married to Mr. Bird, a former Charlevoix resident, on Sept. 24, 1948. The couple resided in Detroit until this summer when they moved to their present home in Wayne.

Surviving besides her husband are three children, Hal, Craig, and Gary; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Morrison and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Abba Warning, all of Mt. Clemens.

Mr. Bird's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bird, have been in Detroit for some time.

Dockside Press Is Subject for Manhattan Artist's Canvas

Traffic on Belvedere ave., meant little to a famous Manhattan illustrator last week as he set his easel in the middle of the street and went about his assignment from a national magazine.

Object of his attention was the Dockside Press, quaint local fishing shanty which Charlevoix's William Ratigan converted into the so-called Great Lakes Writers Workshop several years ago.

The artist who paid no heed to the passersby or those who stopped to watch was Ezra Jack Keats who, during a five hour period, put on canvas the picturesque waterfront scene where five Great Lakes books, including "Soo Canal" and "Straits of Mackinac" were written by Mr. Ratigan.

Admiral Inspects Possible Docking Base for Sundew

Rear Admiral E. H. Thiele, Commander of the Ninth Coast Guard district with headquarters in Cleveland, was in Charlevoix early Tuesday to inspect the community as a possible home port for the U. S. Coast Guard tender Sundew now at Sturgeon Bay Wis.

He arrived by helicopter from the Traverse City air base at 7:45 a. m. and was met at the landing site, the area near the railway station, by WO Joseph Etienne, commanding officer of Coast Guard Group Charlevoix, Mayor James Hiller, Kit Carson, president and S. E. Coleman, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Hal M. Hill, city superintendent, other city and board of commerce officials and local business men.

Adm. Thiele made a visit to the Sundew which was tied up at the buoy depot dock, and the new Group office in the buoy depot before he was taken on a guided tour of the community. He was shown the harbor facility, utilities, Charlevoix hospital and other points in which he was interested.

Later he was the guest of honor at a 'coffee' at the Weather-vane Inn where he asked and answered questions regarding the possibility of bringing the Sundew to a port in the area.

This saw the rift stop during the tour of possible sites. Others were Potoskey, Harbor Springs, Mackinaw City and St. Ignace.

The visit followed many months of correspondence with the district office during which the city has supplied the U. S. Coast Guard with information regarding the proposed move of the Sundew.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

There's the feel of football in the air . . . And rightfully so 'cause our little ole Rayders racked up a win over Rogers City Friday night and are preparing for the big game with Mancelona at Kipke field Friday night . . . And it's going to be a toughie . . . the second of seven games, all of which are going to be rough ones . . . We know that Coach Carey and his boys don't think they have it made just because they won last week . . . but we're not so sure about the fans . . . So how's about getting behind the 1957 Rayders with your support . . . come win or lose . . . We think we've got a pretty fair team and we want to wish 'em all the luck in the world . . . But, as we've said before, we'll love 'em all Saturday morning . . . And we want all of you to feel the same way . . . How's about it?

And if you've been past Kipke field you've noticed the beautiful turf on the field . . . It's never looked lovelier . . . Thanks to Clarence Bartlett, Bernard Russell who was working at the field when we were there last week, and all the others . . . spoilsible . . . 'cause you don't get results like that without a lot of hard work.

Just in case you need to be reminded, it's one day less than three months 'til Christmas.

And how about that pennant race . . . As this is being written Milwaukee has the National league pennant all but won and New York, darn 'em, has the American league pennant in the bag . . . for how many years in a row . . . If something should happen that the Braves lose out again this year, they, along with the Giants and Brooklyn, will be looking for a new home . . . And if they should win, and we sure hope they do, wouldn't it be great fun to go to the World Series there . . . Not that you'd have a chance for tickets but it's fun to speculate . . . The one thing that amazes me about Milwaukee is that you can buy beer in the park . . . And not long ago the management issued an order that you couldn't bring your own any more . . . you had to buy it from the park concession . . . Can you imagine that? . . . The Umpires must be on the receiving end of beer can rather than pop bottles . . . You must admit they wouldn't hurt as much.

Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, Red Cross

Your Community Chest

The Charlevoix Girl Scout Council, the Salvation Army and Charlevoix county chapter of the American Red Cross are among the 10 agencies which receive funds through your contribution to the Community Chest fund to open Oct. 1.

The Girl Scout Council has requested $750, which will be used in conducting the Girl Scout program for 1958.

The request is $150.00 more than last year but this will be used for a leader training program which has not been held for several years and the attendance of local personnel at regional or national conferences; the council only contact with the national Girl Scout program since the local council does not operate under an area council.

The major part of the funds raised for the Girl Scout in the Community Chest fund drive are used for camping. This year the camping program, Day Camp for Brownies and Troop Camp for Girl Scouts, cost $1,178. Part of this was financed by campers' fees paid by the participating Scouts.

More than 150 girls benefit from the Girl Scout program in Charlevoix through the efforts of adults who serve without compensation.

The Salvation Army has requested $325, the same as last year. The requested amount is considered the community's share for use by the state organization which benefit residents of this area through its various services.

Services which the Salvation Army renders to non-corps area in the state include: Home and Hospital which helped 153 unmarried mothers in 1956; prison and police work; missing persons bureau which last year had 77 inquiries including several from this area; disaster and emergency; Alcoholism Center; Men's Social Service Institution; Camps; League of Mercy; Employment Service; Transient Welfare; Children's Home; Christmas program for the needy; Eventide Homes for the aged; Service to the Armed Forces and Family Welfare Department.

The Charlevoix County chapter of the American Red Cross has requested $1,000 which will be used to finance the cost of its services in the county and the area's quota to the National Red Cross.

During the year the local chapter assisted 195 servicemen, 59 veterans and 68 civilians.

In addition to aiding the above in a number of ways, the chapter also sponsored Home Nursing classes, a water safety program, made loans and grants to servicemen and contributed to the Hungarian Relief program during the year.

This is the third year the chapter has participated in the united drive through the Community Chest instead of conducting its own drive in March.

Donna Guild and Jerry Lee Paul Speak Vows in Ceremony at Church of God

The Community church of God was the setting Saturday evening for the wedding of Donna Lou Guild and Jerry Lee Paul.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jule R. Guild and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Paul.

The Rev. George L. Majors officiated at the double ring service before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli, palms and candelabra. Mrs. Leonard Burns, at the organ, played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied the soloist, Herbert Hamilton, who sang "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose an ice blue ribbon knit sheath dress fashioned with a scoop neckline accented by a satin bow. Her shoulder length veil fell from a lace cap and she carried a heart-shaped bouquet of pink gladioli and white stock.

Mrs. June Guild Ross was her sister's only attendant. She wore a coffee colored dress fashioned with a scoop neckline, cummerbund and full skirt and white accessories. Her fan-shaped bouquet was of bronze and yellow pom-poms.

Jack Paul of Paw Paw assisted his brother as best man. Ushers were George Smith and Donald O'Brien.

Mrs. Paul, mother of the bridegroom, wore a turquoise suit, black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and cream pom-poms.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents at 220 W. Garfield ave. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple centered the refreshment table which was decorated with lighted tapers. Assisting were the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Kibbe, Mrs. L. O. Isaman of Bellaire, the bride's aunt, Judy Reynolds, Mary Janice Supernaw, and Carol and Connie Paul, sisters of the bridegroom.

Following a wedding trip to the upper peninsula the couple will live at Pine Point. For traveling the bride chose a navy skirt, white blazer and red and blue accessories. Her corsage was of pink gladioli.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Paul are graduates of the Charlevoix high school. Mr. Paul is employed at Freedman Aircraft Engineering Corp.

Wedding guests were present from Mesick, Lansing, Muskegon, Flint, Hemlock, Saginaw, Paw Paw, Harrietta, Birmingham and Bellaire.

Raise Funds to Support School for Special Children

A recent fund-raising project sponsored by the Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children netted the organization approximately $200 which will be used to finance a school for retarded children of the community.

Prizes were awarded to the following: hand knit table cloth, Mrs. Holly Hubbell of Saginaw; fry pan and cover, Leon McDonald of Harbor Springs; fiberglass rod and reel, Mrs. Maurice Dixon; fiberglass casting rod and reel, Gladys Peters of Harbor Springs; and casting reel, David Novotny.

The National flower of the United States is the goldenrod.

Wright-Brun Vows Spoken in Civil Ceremony Here

Marge Wright of East Jordan and Thomas M. Brun exchanged their wedding vows at a simple ceremony performed by justice John Connolly at his office in the City Hall Saturday evening.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wright of East Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brun.

For her wedding the bride selected a turquoise knit suit, matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Alvin Buchfink, her only attendant, wore a navy knit suit, red accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Mr. Buchfink assisted the bridegroom as best man.

After a wedding trip the couple will return here briefly before leaving for St. Louis, Mo., where the bridegroom plans to attend diesel school.

The bride attended the East Jordan high school. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Charlevoix high school and a veteran of four years in the U. S. Navy.

Rexine and Sandra Wood Are Brides In Double Wedding Church Ceremony

In an impressive double wedding solemnized at the First Congregational church Saturday evening, Rexine Lee Wood became the bride of David Allen Dutcher and Sandra Jean Wood became the bride of William V. McClanaghan.

The brides are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Wood. The bridegrooms are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Dutcher and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McClanaghan.

The Rev. A. R. Gold officiated at the single ring services in the presence of more than 150 relatives and friends. Bouquets of yellow and white gladioli and candelabra decorated the altar of the church for the occasion. Mrs. Leonard Burns was the soloist and William Maxfield the soloist.

Given in marriage by their father, the brides chose identical waltz length gowns of imported Chantilly lace and tulle over traditional satin for their wedding. Hand clipped scalloped lace Sabrina necklines and long lace sleeves which tapered to points over the wrists were features of the fitted bodices. The bouffant skirts were fashioned with three tiers of gathered tulle and hand-clipped scalloped aprons of lace. Their short veils of illusion fell from Queen Anne caps of lace encrusted with seed pearls and multi-colored sequins. They carried bouquets of white pom-poms centered with yellow pom-poms. Merlene Kellogg of Berkley was Rexine's only attendant. She wore a ballerina length gown of pale blue eyelet embroidered nylon and carried a bouquet of yellow mums.

Elizabeth Ratliff of Bloomfield Hills, Sandra's only attendant, wore a ballerina length gown of yellow flocked nylon and carried a bouquet of yellow mums.

Patrick Collon assisted Mr. Dutcher as best man and Robert Geer assisted Mr. McClanaghan. Seating the guests were Raymond V. Wood and Berry W. Wood, uncles of the brides.

Mrs. Wood selected a gown of ice blue satin, deep brown accessories and a white gladioli pinned to her purse for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Dutcher wore a powder blue wool jersey sheath dress and navy accessories. Mrs. McClanaghan selected a copen blue sheath dress and black accessories. Each had a corsage of deep pink gladioli.

A reception at Friendship hall followed the wedding. Assisting were Mrs. Raymond V. Wood, Mrs. James Shaw and Mrs. Wayne Belding.

After wedding trips through the upper peninsula, the couples will reside at Ironton. The new Mrs. Dutcher chose a beige jersey sheath dress and brown accessories for traveling while Mrs. McClanaghan selected a blue sheath dress and pink accessories.

LES JOHNSON
Michigan Bell Manager

IF YOUR TEEN-AGERS are like everybody else's teen-agers, they'll be busier than ever now that school's open again. Why not have an extension phone installed for them—right in their own room? Then they'll be able to keep up with their hectic school and social activities in privacy, and the rest of the family will have the peace and quiet. An extension telephone in your home would cost less than four cents a day. And in a teen-ager's family, there's hardly an easier way to make everybody happy.

OF COURSE, the kids aren't the only ones who'll be busy this fall. With P.T.A., service clubs and church affairs all going strong, the whole family is pretty active. Think how hard it would be to make plans and keep track of things without your telephone! And wouldn't you be lost without the day-to-day help your phone gives you with all the little important things? Like that call to the hairdresser's for an appointment; or the call from your youngster, telling you he's stopping at Billy's after school.

THIS MONTH marks the 60th Anniversary of the United States Independent Telephone Association, representing more than 4,400 companies across the nation. They serve over nine million telephones, working in partnership with the Bell System to provide Americans with the best telephone service in the world. In Michigan, 116 telephone companies joined in celebrating Independent Telephone Week, September 8 to 14. Michigan Bell salutes these independent companies on the 60th birthday of their association. Side by side we build for Michigan's future, working together to bring people together.

Barnard Grange Wins Top Honor In Community Service Contest

Barnard Grange of Charlevoix has again been honored by the State and National Grange. This time the local rural fraternal group was named community service contest winner in a 10-county district of northwestern lower peninsula. It was the 10th annual contest sponsored by the National Grange and Sears Roebuck Foundation.

Early in the community service contest year Barnard Grange put on an outstanding Booster Night program, arranged by Mrs. Charles Weisler, Barnard Grange lecturer and wife of the Grange Master. Booster Night in Grange is a get-acquainted event that is one of the leading events of the year in many Granges. The program won first place in the State Grange Booster Night program contest and went on to place second in the nation. Included in the prize-winning program were: A talk by Charles Robinson, Charlevoix County superintendent of schools on "Special Education"; selections by the local Grange chorus and quartet; and a special act by Grange children. Legislative programs sponsored by the local, State and National Grange were discussed. The Barnard songsters are also well-known throughout the state.

Especially outstanding in the past year has been Barnard Grange's health program in the community, according to William Parsons, the Grange's community service chairman and a leading farmer in Norwood Township. "Barnard Grange feels that the health of the community is its business," said Parsons. "A survey showed that many young children had not received polio, diphtheria and smallpox vaccinations. Plans were made for a well-baby clinic, with the co-operation of the school nurse and the health district director. The first clinic was held March 18 at the Grange Hall. Transportation was provided by Grange members."

In January a Red Cross home nursing class was organized and meetings were held in the Grange hall. Nineteen women were certified as capable of caring for home patients. A vital part of the course was training for emergencies—national defense or acts of God. At one Grange program a Traverse City State Hospital social worker spoke on mental health. After this three large boxes of clothing, jewelry and games were sent to patients at the hospital. Another program was on nutrition and health with special emphasis on milk.

Safety is a Barnard Grange issue too, as exemplified by Rosalie Weisler, who won third place in the State Grange highway safety essay contest. The Grangers also man a Ground Observer Corps post.

Youth activities are encouraged. Square dances are held for the young people of the community, and youth leadership is encouraged through 4-H and the Grange. A juvenile Grange was organized by Barnard Grange in the past year, and the local 4-H club has use of the Grange hall for meetings and parties.

The Grange hall was remodeled

Grange Presents Silver Slippers to Rosalie Weisler

Rosalie Weisler, Charlevoix county Grange Cinderella, was presented with a pair of silver slippers by her Prince Charming, Leslie Burgess of Boyne Falls, at the monthly Pamona Grange meeting held Saturday evening at the Wilson Grange Hall.

Mr. Burgess was also presented with a gift from the Grange. At the business meeting which followed Miss Weisler and Mr. Burgess were named state delegates from the Pamona Grange. They will represent the organization at the state conference to be held in Sturgis in late October. This is the first time the youth of the group have been named as delegates to a state convention.

Jack Luebke of Petoskey, District Deputy of the Grange, presented the silver star awards to three veteran members of the for Grange and community use. Farm meeting and community social affairs have been held in the hall in the past year.

Barnard Grange Master is Charles Weisler and the secretary is Orville Hilton.

Barnard Grange at the booster night held Friday. Recipients of the awards for 25 year membership were Orton VanDusen, Emerald Bollhuis and Mrs. Victoria Jaskierski.

The Juvenile Grange entry of "Paint by number" pictures also placed first in district competition.

Minutes of School Board Meeting

September 23, 1957

Present: Martin, Hawley, Boss, Lieberman, Bennett, Supt. Absent: Smith.

The meeting was called to order at 8:10 p. m.

Minutes of the meeting of September 9 were read and approved. Minutes of a special meeting September 16 were read and approved.

Moved by Lieberman, supported by Boss, that bills in the amount of $2,747.01 be approved and ordered paid. Motion carried: 4-0.

Due to the number of students north and east of town, it was decided that an additional bus route be established and that Bruce Henley, present, substitute bus driver, be the driver. Willard S. Bodley was authorized to continue bringing in kindergarten children from Hayes Township, as he has in the past.

Due to the increased membership in the kindergarten to 88 children, it was moved by Hawley and supported by Lieberman that Colleen Wright, who has been a half-time clerical assistant in the kindergarten for the past year, be engaged as a full time assistant. Motion carried: 4-0.

It was moved by Hawley, supported by Lieberman, that the members of the Election Board be paid $1.00 an hour for 12 hours. Motion carried: 4-0.

Rayders Spring Upset in Non-Conference Game

Defeat Rogers City In Opener 19 to 6

The Charlevoix Rayders romped to their first victory over the Rogers City Hurons since the series began three years ago, when they racked up a 19 to 6 score under the lights on the latter's field Friday night.

This week the Rayders will take on one of the strongest teams in the loop, the Mancelona Ironmen, at Kipke field at 8 p. m. Friday.

Fresh from a 13 to 6 win over Oscoda while playing without veteran quarterback Ronnie Johnson who was the team's top scorer and ground gainer last season, the Ironmen will have their sights on the title, as they open their league schedule here this week.

If Johnson, who is recuperating from a kidney injury is back in the line-up against Charlevoix, the Ironmen will have three veterans backs including Bob Johnson and John Phillips along with two of the most experienced ends in the loop, Dick Holstad who scored both touchdowns against Oscoda and Dexter Bailey.

Coach Matt Jacobson has also been successful in molding a successful line from returning material and newcomers so should have an excellent defensive team which the Rayders may find hard to break through.

Charlevoix, on the other hand, has had to build its team around returning lettermen with limited experience and graduates from the J-V ranks. The same is true of the backfield in most instances.

In the game at Rogers City last week, the Rayders made plenty of errors which Coach Don Carey is busy correcting as best he can with practice and training before the big game this week.

Coach Carey said he planned to spend more time on passing drills, pass defense, kicking and middle-of-the-line drills as well as practicing plays and other fundamentals.

On the basis of veteran material, players who have had experience playing together, the visiting Mancelona Ironmen have an edge on Charlevoix but this week's Rayder squad seems to have a scrappiness and a determination that will count for a lot they may lack in experience so the game should be close.

In the game at Rogers City Friday night, the Hurons kicked off to the Rayders who moved the ball from their own 25 to the Rogers 10 where they lost it on a fumble.

After an exchange of punts as each team seemed to be feeling out the other, Charlevoix took the ball on the Rogers City 46 and a series of line and pass plays, picked up a first down and moved to the Rogers 23 where quarterback Bob Mol passed to end Steve LaBlance who went in to score.

Halfback Larry Ingalls booted the conversion to give the Rayders a 7 to 0 lead midway in the first period.

Ingalls, Mol, halfback Tom Lukies and LaBlance were the principal ground gainers as the entire line did its part.

End Dick VanRaaphorst did most of the team's kicking. As the quarter end the Hurons had the ball on their own 32 following the kick off.

After another exchange of punts early in the second quarter, Charlevoix took the ball on downs at midfield and were on the march, moving to the Huron 31 after picking up a first down, when quarterback Bill Kile intercepted a Rayder pass and romped 69 yards to score for Rogers City. The kick was not good and Charlevoix still led 7 to 6.

As if to avenge the bad break, Charlevoix took the kick-off and on a series of eight running plays moved the ball to the 23 where Mol passed to Ingalls who went the distance to score. The kick for the extra point was not good and Charlevoix led 13 to 6.

VanRaaphorst kicked off to Rogers City as the half ended.

The Rayders received to open the second half and after failing to move the ball punted to Rogers City, who, in turn moved to the Charlevoix 25 before their march was halted and the Rayders took the ball on downs.

Lukies, on two plays, moved the ball to the Rogers 40 for a first down. On the next play halfback Ron Anderson romped off to the 10 where he was halted but after moving the ball to the three on the next play, Lukies scored for the Rayders. The kick was not good and the score remained 19 to 6. The quarter ended with Charlevoix in possession of the ball on the 33 after taking a Huron punt.

Charlevoix picked up two first downs and moved the ball to the Rogers 10 yard line, before the Hurons took over on downs. The Rayders regained possession on the 18 after Rogers City failed to gain necessary yardage and moved to the one on a series of plays but the Huron line held and the Rayders lost the ball on downs as the game ended.

Coach Carey used 22 players.

Last Week With Class 'C' Teams

The 1957 football season got off to an excellent start last weekend with seven of the eight teams of the Northern Michigan Class C league, of which Charlevoix is a member, playing non-conference rivals.

The Pellston Hornets opened the season Friday afternoon by losing to Cheboygan Catholic Central by a score of 18 to 0.

Friday night the Charlevoix Rayders won over Rogers City; Harbor Springs trounced Onaway 39 to 0; Mancelona defeated Oscoda 13 to 6 while Gaylord lost to Cheboygan 12 to 6.

On Saturday East Jordan was damped by St. Ignace by a score of 34 to 0.

Cheboygan Catholic 18; Pellston 0

The Pellston Hornets, under the guidance of Coach Francis McMahon, opened their season against a more experienced Cheboygan Catholic eleven who downed them by a three-touchdown margin.

The first quarter was scoreless but in the second a long pass play from Les Atchison to end Joe Poirer put the ball on the Pellston 28 from where right halfback Dick Champagne carried it into the end zone for a six-point lead after the conversion kick went wide.

In the third period left halfback Dave Elliott scored from the one yard line following a drive that started at midfield and in the final period fullback Fred Trudeau scored from the seven for the 18 to 0 victory.

Boyer City 44; Petoskey St. Francis 0

At Boyer City where all the "injured" players found their way into the line-up, it was fullback Carl Charon who was the chief ball carrier, scoring five touchdowns and two extra points as the Ramblers continued their winning streak.

A 42 yard run on an end sweep accounted for Charon's first touchdown early in the game. A pass from quarterback Morcy Hobbs to the speedy back on a play that covered 40 yards accounted for the second tally as the quarter ended 12 to 0.

Charon scored from the 17-yard line to open the second period and made his total 19 to 0 by kicking the extra point. Halfback Doug Newville, who had been on crutches all week scored from the 30 later in the period and Charon booted the conversion to give the Ramblers a 26 to 0 halftime advantage.

In the third quarter Charon scored from the 48 yard line and later in the period from the 43 before right end Rick Casper took a 13 yard pass from Hobbs to end Boyer City's scoring for the game.

Harbor Springs 39; Onaway 0

Harbor Springs showed its strength Friday night by rolling over Onaway 39 to 0 as all four Ram backs scored freely.

Ram fullback Jack Meyer opened the scoring when he went over from the five early in the game. Later in the quarter right halfback Sam Gokee scored from the 40 and quarterback Richie Clark booted the extra point to give Harbor Springs a 13 to 0 lead as the period ended.

The second period was scoreless but in the third quarter Harbor Springs scored three touchdowns including one on a 45 yard punt return by Clarke, a 24 yard run around end by Meyer with Clarke adding the extra point on a kick and left halfback John Barowski going over from the five with Clarke booting the conversion for a 33 to 0 advantage going into the final period. Meyer scored the final touch-

Mancelona 13; Oscoda 6

Playing without regular quarterback Ronnie Johnson who is recuperating from a kidney injury received in practice, the Mancelona Ironmen showed their power by rolling over Oscoda by a 13 to 6 margin.

End Dick Holstad scored both touchdowns on pass plays. The first came early in the game when he took a pass from halfback Bob Johnson on the third play from scrimmage following the kick-off to romp 83 yards for the tally.

In the second quarter second-string quarterback Don Beil got off a short pass to Holstad who went 63 yards this time to score. Johnson passed to Holstad for the extra point as Mancelona took a 13-0 halftime lead.

Oscoda's lone tally followed a concerted drive with fullback Louis Alverson going over from the one foot line.

Cheboygan 12; Gaylord 6

Fumbles by the Gaylord Blue Devils cost them a victory as the visiting Cheboygan Chiefs capitalized on errors to win the opening game of the season.

The first quarter was scoreless but early in the second period end Al Wright picked up a Gaylord fumble at midfield and romped into the end zone for the tally.

Gaylord countered with a touchdown by end Bruce Walker who took a 22 yard pass from quarterback John Burnison in the end zone to tie the score as the half ended.

In the third quarter a triple fumble resulted in Wright scoring the winning touchdown from the 20 after picking up a Gaylord fumble. Gaylord had come into possession of the ball after Cheboygan had fumbled and a Blue Devil had picked up the loose ball and started to run with it.

St. Ignace 34; East Jordan 0. Six costly fumbles and three equally expensive intercepted passes were East Jordan's undoing as St. Ignace rode rough shod over the Red Devils Saturday afternoon.

The Saints quarterback John Frazier passed to end Dave Earl, a play that covered 20 yards, to give the host team its only first half touchdown with fullback John Gold kicking the extra point.

In the second half, however, St. Ignace rolled up four touchdowns including one on a 75 yard run by halfback Ken Smith on the first play from scrimmage after the third quarter started; a fumble recovery in the East Jordan end zone by Frazier; a 20 yard pass play from Frazier to Gold and a quarterback sneak from the five by Frazier. Gold kicked three extra points.

East Jordan never posed a serious threat to St. Ignace.

Notes from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold E. Kohn

On Seeing What Is There

The best fisherman is not one who merely knows how to play a flyrod or casting rod so as to make a lure look lifelike and tantalizingly desirable to his prey. The sportsman who consistently out-fishes his companions and returns home with his limit while his friends have near-empty creels, is one who recognizes a good fishing spot when he sees it.

The bluegill enthusiast will know that the likeliest place for his choicest panfish is a protected cove, where wind does not ruffle the water. He will seek out well sheltered places where lily pads cast a cooling shadow or where other water plants grow high from the lake bottom and provide hiding among their leaves. And he will be aware that, try as he might, he will catch no bluegills from cold, swiftly flowing shallow streams. That is good trout territory, but not for bluegills.

But the experienced trout fisherman will not seek brook trout in bluegill water, either. The ardent brookie fan knows that his intended victim will most likely be found in a cool stream that affords much concealment and in a spot that permits the trout to examine a current for floating food. Yet there must be a nearby cushion of more slowly moving water which allows the fish to stay in one place without undue expenditure of effort. The backwater of a large pool in a stream may be ideal. Or a trout may lie in the protecting shadow of a large mid-stream boulder and watch for passing food, under water stump roots, overhanging branches, undercut banks, spring-fed streamlets enter a sunken log and places where larger sweep of water—all of these signify the possible presence of trout.

When searching for delicately flavored walleyed pike in the springtime, the knowing angler will fish in shallow water over sand bars, along rocky reefs, in the rapids of tumbling rivers and over the bottoms of dark bays. But during the heat of summer the fisherman will try the cool depths of deep water during the days and the edges of weed beds, reefs and sand bars at night. The walleye like every other kind of fish has its favorite habitat, and the sportsman who, day after day, makes the biggest and best catches is one who can tell by a few outward signs what must lie underneath the surface awaiting his lure.

So it is with our daily living. Some people are making big catches of enjoyment, happiness, spiritual satisfaction and appreciation because they can read signs and imagine what is below the surface. Others see the same signs but do not properly interpret them as pointing to the hidden presence of something significant. They don't understand what they mean. They can't take a hint, and so their creels remain empty.

This is especially true of the opportunities life affords us. Two people will see the same thing or be confronted with the same circumstances, and one will moan about how cruelly life has treated him, while the other feels excited by the challenge of a problem to be mastered.

Some years ago two shoe salesmen, one American and the other British, embarked on the same boat to West Africa. Upon landing they looked around and were impressed by the fact that all the natives were barefoot. The Britisher, discouraged, called his home office: "Poor territory. Nobody here wears shoes. Will return home by next ship."

The American rushed to the cable office and fired off this message to his chief: "Market wide open. Nobody here wearing shoes. Send one million pairs on consignment." The conditions were the same for both men, but only the one recognized an opportunity when he saw it. Some see discouragement in every opportunity. Others see opportunity in every discouragement.

Everyone sooner or later faces a crisis in his life. When it comes, some people panic and others prove heroic. The difference between these two reactions is due to ones interpretation of what a crisis is. The Chinese word for "crisis" is made up of two characters, "way" meaning "danger" and "see" meaning opportunity. In the Chinese language a crisis is a dangerous opportunity. In any man's language the character of a crisis depends upon what he sees in the experience, final disaster or an occasion for building character and a better way of life.

The power to recognize good "fishing grounds" applies to our dealings with people, too. We are

Cancer Society Plans Contributions To Promote Work

The Charlevoix county unit of the American Cancer Society plans to make sizable contributions to the Charlevoix hospital, the University of Michigan Research Center and the Michigan Tumor Registry in Detroit as part of its program to assist in cancer research during the 1957-58 year, it was announced following the unit's annual meeting Thursday.

Mrs. J. C. Marshall, county chairman, said that the county unit voted to contribute $500.00 to the Charlevoix hospital toward the purchase price of a spot film device used in connection with x-ray to detect cancer. The device will cost approximately $8,000.00.

The unit, which has already made two contributions totaling $1,500.00 to the University of Michigan Cancer Research Center in Ann Arbor, voted to make a third contribution of $500.00 during the coming year as well as $25.00 to the Michigan Tumor Registry in Detroit.

Under the heading of service to the residents of the county Mrs. Marshall reported that six persons had been assisted through medication, equipment and dressings; that the unit had made more than 5,000 dressings during the year; had organized a group on Beaver Island and had established a $300.00 nursing scholarship to interest young women in professional nursing. Beth Lewis was the recipient of the first scholarship. She is presently enrolled at the Ford Hospital school of nursing in Detroit.

As part of its education program the unit underwrote the cost of sending the professional bulletin, CA, and the Cancer News to all doctors and dentists in the county; presented Dr. John Cameron's book "The Truth About Cancer" to all school libraries in the county; showed films on cancer to 927 persons in the county and introduced a cancer education program in the schools throughout the county in which 252 high school and 1,717 elementary students participated.

Max Hosmer Attends Management Meet

Max Hosmer of the Harbor Hardware was in East Lansing last week where he attended the sixth annual Store Management conference and the College of Management Knowledge at Michigan State University. The conference was sponsored by the Michigan Retail Hardware Association.

not so apt to make bad people good as we are to recognize and encourage the latent good that lies beneath the surface of commonplace-appearing lives. No king made ever a man a knight, a knight before he was knighted. The best a king could do was to recognize the knighthood already in a man. As Phillips Brooks once put it, "The king lays a sword on a man's shoulder and calls him a knight, but he was a knight before he was knighted, or he would not have received the title. It was the heroic endurance, the death-defying courage, the skill and coolness with which he achieved his notable deeds that made him a knight. He was in himself royal and noble and the king said to all men, I see it, when he laid his sword on his shoulder."

No church can make a saint. Not all of Christendom together could make a saint of a man who had not really been one. The best the church can do is to cultivate and then recognize the God-instilled saintliness in a person and call it to the attention of the world. Saint Augustine and Saint Francis of Assisi are not saints because the church says they are, but the church simply recognizes the saintliness of those men and called the world's attention to the holiness that was there long before the church discovered it.

The best man and Women who ever walked our earth were at the same time ridiculed by some and revered by others. Their scoffers and followers all saw the same persons, but some construed what they saw as signs of stupidity, or insanity, or unorthodoxy, or evil intent, while others interpreted what they observed as signs of greatness. Then the long years rolled by and the greatest and best are sanctioned by history. But history does not make men great. It merely recognizes the greatness that was there all along.

Whether we are dealing with discouragement, a sudden crisis or with greatness passing by, if we are to come to the end of life's brief day with crise full of enduring satisfactions we must learn to read the signs of value, so that in our circumstances and in our fellow men we may be aware of the good that is there.

Next Sunday's Sermon

"OUT OF THIS WORLD?"

By The Reverend A. R. Gold

If you now regularly attend another church in our town, this notice is but a neighborly greeting and wish that you and your church may prosper. If you do not already have a church home, it is an invitation to attend Charlevoix's Congregational Church next Sunday.

Why More Money?

The following are a few pertinent questions and answers regarding the proposed increase in millage on which you will be asked to vote at the coming election.

Question: Why does the Charlevoix school need more money?

Answer: 1. To pay off the deficit incurred by the relocation of the heating plant back in 1952—ordered by State Fire Marshall.

Note: Payment of this deficit has been postponed from year to year in the hope that it could eventually be paid from current income. Rising costs have prevented liquidation in this manner.

2. To buy desks and textbooks and other equipment for the increased enrollment.

3. To meet the general increase in operating costs.

Question: How much will taxes be increased?

Answer: Taxes will be increased $3.00 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation of your property.

For example, if your assessed valuation is $2,500, your increase in taxes would be $7.50. If your assessed valuation is $1,200, your increase in taxes would be only $3.60.

Question: For how many years will this increase in taxes continue?

Answer: It will be voted for only one year and then automatically cancelled.

Question: Who is eligible to vote?

Answer: Anyone 21 years of age who is a citizen of the United States, and a resident of the state of Michigan for six months, and a resident of the school district for thirty days next preceding the election.

Note: You do not have to be a taxpayer, or have a child in school. You do not have to be registered.

Question: When will the election be held?

Answer: October 11, 1957.

Question: What will happen if the needed millage is not approved?

Answer: A. Borrow more money to take care of the increasing deficit.
B. Cut back the educational program in Charlevoix to fit the income.

Larry Lambert Drowns Saving Companion When Boat Capsizes

Larry Lambert, 17-year-old Charlevoix high school senior, as drowned Sunday at Ironton when the 14-ft. outboard motor boat powered by a 30 hp. motor capsized 300 ft. south of the Ironton ferry on the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix.

Larry and his companion, Pauline Chew, 16, were cruising about the lake when a sharp turn flipped the boat, throwing them into the water. Pauline, unable to swim, was held up by Larry, who was said to be an excellent swimmer, until help arrived and then, apparently exhausted, he went down as rescuers pulled the girl to safety.

His body was recovered by skin-divers 3½ hours after the accident. Dragging operations were conducted by Coast Guardsmen from the Charlevoix Lifeboat Station, Sheriff's officers headed by Sheriff Glenn E. Rose and State Police from the Petoskey post before the trio of skin-divers were called in. Working as a team James Sawtelle and Wayne Sundberg of this city and John Blackenbury of Mt. Pleasant recovered the body three minutes after descending at the spot where the accident happened.

Pauline was treated for shock and exposure by Dr. Isaac Terr and taken to her home where her condition is reported as good.

Ray Williams, Ironton boat livery operator, and Hugo Mattson of Lansing who were watching the pair from the dock launched their boat, rushed to the scene and pulled the girl from the water as Larry went down.

Sheriff Rose said the boat was equipped with four life preservers which were stored in the bow of the boat.

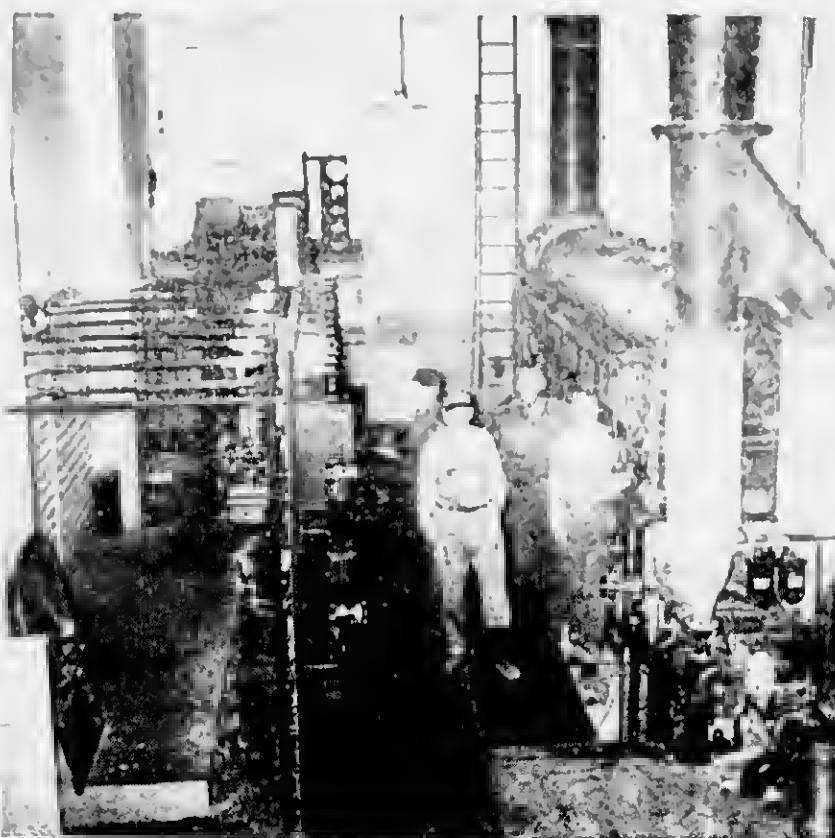

The accident happened about 2:20 p. m. 100 ft. off the east shore of the South Arm south of the Ironton ferry channel.

Funeral services for Larry, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Lambert, were held at the Pontius chapel Wednesday with the Rev. John Zoller of Shelby officiating. The body was returned to Cherokee, N. C., for burial in the Cherokee cemetery.

Born in Cherokee Dec. 30, 1939, Larry had come to Michigan with his parents 11 years ago and lived in the Detroit area before coming to Eveline township 1½ years ago. He attended the Charlevoix high school and last year was a member of the football team. His father is a contractor.

Besides his parents, he is survived by three brothers, Barry, Hugh and Paul Jr. and three sisters, Tahynah, Kathy and Elanah, all at home; his paternal grandfather, Hugh Noland Lamb, of Brevard, N. C., and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Shields of Murphy, N. C.

New Diesel Undergoes Tests

The first test run made last week on the city utility plant's newest installation, a Fairbanks-Morse 1800 h.p. opposed piston 38D8-18 10-cylinder diesel engine with an 1136 kw generator. Pictured supervising the early runs were (r. to l.) William Casey, Fairbanks-Morse installation; supervisor George Smith, chief engineer; Ernest Olney, operator, while Edwin Swanson, superintendent of utilities, checks the switchboard during the operation.

Community Chest Drive to Start

The 1957 Community Chest fund drive in the residential district of the city and in the townships will be launched Wednesday, Mrs. Charles A. Duerr who is heading this division of the Campaign, has announced.

A kick-off meeting for the captains and workers will be held in the high school industrial arts room beginning at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday. Community Chest board members will be on hand to distribute the materials and answer any questions captains and workers might have. The meeting will be an informal one. Office and donuts will be served during the evening. Materials may be picked up until 9 p. m., although workers are asked to come as early as possible.

The industrial and business division of the drive opened last Thursday under the direction of Mr. Duerr and William Fochtman and the mailing division Tuesday under the supervision of Frances Martin and Mrs. K. Reed.

In announcing the opening of the drive in the residential and township areas, Mr. Duerr, fund drive manager with Mrs. Duerr, urged everyone to be prepared for the visit of the Community Chest volunteer worker. He said that they were giving their time and that in many instances, particularly in the outlying districts where houses are far apart it created a hardship for the worker to call back after an initial visit.

The following captains have been announced with others to be named later: residential area: Mrs. Delbert Terrill, Mrs. Edwin McCann, Mrs. Perry Smith, Mrs. Leland Warner, Mrs. Andrew Essenberg Jr., Mrs. Robert Lieberman, Mrs. Henry Ingalls, Mrs. Robert Anderson and Mrs. William Fochtman.

In the townships: Mrs. William Parsons, Norwood area; Mrs. Carlton Smith, Barnard Road; Mrs. John Schroeder, Charlevoix township; Marion Center road; Mrs. Howard Stephens and Mrs. Russell Dehn; M-66 and Leeb School road, Mrs. James Martin.

In the Hayes township area, Mrs. Clarence H. Smith will have the Boyne City road from Greensky Hill to the Pincherry road; William Ilair the Murray school district; Mrs. Lloyd Kuebler will solicit the area from the Burgess school to the Bodley Hill and the old highway from Burgess to the viaduct and Mrs. George Goikee will have the Boyne City road from US-31 to Greensky Hill.

Mrs. Carl Kroll will head the drive in the Ironton district.

Effective this week, all offices in the county building will be closed all day Saturday until April 1.

The Charlevoix county board of supervisors adopted a resolution at its April meeting approving the closing of the offices on Saturday from Oct. 1 to April 1.

Central Drug To Construct New Building

Plans for the construction of a new one-story brick building to house the Central Drug store were announced this week by the owners, Harley I. Ochs and Franklin Ochs.

Mr. Ochs Sr. said the new building would be constructed on the site of the present drug store at the corner of Bridge and Clinton streets. However, the new store will have 30 foot frontage on Bridge st. several feet more than the present building.

The razing of the present three-story wooden structure will begin as soon as the owners can transfer stock and equipment to the Murdock building at 228 Bridge st. which the business will occupy until the new building is completed early next year. That is expected to be completed this weekend.

Mr. Ochs has been associated with the Central Drug Store since 1914. He has owned it since the 1920's and his son, Franklin, has been associated with him in the business since 1946.

Mr. Ochs said he did not know the history of the Chappell building. However, it is believed that the building was at one time a hotel before it was converted to use as a store.

Call Third Election To Vote Funds for Charlevoix Schools

Voters of the Charlevoix school district will be asked to go to the polls Oct. 11 for the third time in three months to vote on a proposal that would give the school district an additional three mills for a period of one year.

The special election was called after the Charlevoix board of Education was petitioned by a group representing the PTA who felt that it is imperative that the district be allowed to levy an additional three mills for one year in order to place the operation of the school on a 'pay as you go' basis.

Members of the Charlevoix county Republican committee will greet him upon his arrival here. Karl J. Erber is chairman of the county committee.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

Autumn arrived with a drip last week, if you'll excuse the pun. But over the last weekend it levelled off and it looks as tho' we're going to have some good weather. The days are cool but oh, so bright and pretty, that you can't help but be happy you live in northern Michigan. Now if we'll just have a couple months of this, or even three, we wouldn't mind at all.

And wasn't it a beautiful night for a football game last Friday. Not a breath of wind but cool. Just right for the players altho' the spectators complained a bit. But after the old Rayders got rollin' no one had time to even think of the cold. We don't mind saying that that game was about the best we've seen in three years. Even tho' the Rayders came out on the short end, one lousy point from tying the game. They were more than a bit alright. If they continue to hit like they did the other night our boys will do ok. Don't know why but the schedule seems tough this year. Maybe it's because there are so many good teams. And each game's greater challenge than the last. We understand that the Gaylord has themselves quite a club. We'll soon find out 'cause we're taking them on this week. So to the Rayders, every last one of 'em, and Coach Carey too, lots of luck. This is a big one but we hope you'll take it. But good.

How much you bettin' on the World Series? And on whom are you betting? We're not saying that they're going to do it but we're sure rooting for Milwaukee. Didn't realize 'til recently how many Milwaukee fans there were around here. We had just assumed that everyone was an American league fan because of Detroit. So keep your fingers crossed and hope that the Braves come through in great style. Like three out of five.
